ARKANSAS GYMNASTICS

LEWIS CENTER - WHERE WE TRAIN

At nearly 15,000 square feet, the training facility is one of the largest in the nation. It is located on the first floor of the Bev Lewis Center.

Named in spring 2003, the Huntley Gymnastics Training Facility is one of the finest practice facilities in the country.

The Huntley Gymnastics Training Facility features state-of-the-art design with an open floor plan to work every area of gymnastics training.

Designed to reduce hard landings, the Huntley Gymnastics Training Facility is home to three vault runways with cushioned tracks and both foam and "resi" pits. With three bar work stations to train on, the Razorbacks can also use the channel pit for training. The practice facility has five beam stations with a variety of landing choices and a full-size, 40x40 floor exercise near the center of the room.

The gymnastics training room is located just steps from the floor exercise area and has a hydro-therapy room as well as a treatment area for athletes. The glass wall facing the practice facility allows the full-time staff to remain in the training room while still keeping the gym in full view.

The coaches' offices are also adjacent to the gym and also feature large windows facing into the practice facility.

The Razorbacks enter their facility through the reception area and can directly access the gym or their locker room. The locker room area includes locker and dressing facilities, showers, a team meeting area, lounge and kitchenette.

In addition to the offices and locker room suite, the Huntley Gymnastics Training Facility has a laundry and equipment room as well as storage exclusively for the Razorbacks.

2009 NCAA⁶ SUPER SIX

2000 NCAA CHAMPION SIX HUNTLEY FACILITY - TRAINING CENTER

The vault runways allow athletes to choose from several landing surfaces. The Razorbacks can also work on their tumbling passes on the floor exercise area and fall off the mat into a large "resi" pit.

The coaches' offices and training room can be seen near the bars work stations.

A view of the bars from the observation deck, and a look at the vault tables from the floor exercise.

The full-size floor exercise area anchors the room.

Five different beams make practices efficient, and the Razorbacks have several soft landings to choose from when trying new dismounts.

The curved entryway allows Razorbacks to pass through the reception area and head down to the coaches offices and out into the gym or turn left through the door and into the locker room.

ARKANSAS GYMNASTICS

BARNHILL ARENA - WHERE WE COMPETE

When the University of Arkansas made the decision to welcome gymnastics in 2001, the entire Athletic Department underwent a change.

The continued growth of the Athletic Department, including the addition of four sports in 10 years, has impacted the facilities at the University on a grand scale. The addition of gymnastics prompted Barnhill Arena, previously the largest volleyball-only facility in the country, to welcome its new roommate.

And Barnhill Arena did its best to throw one heck of a welcome party!

Barnhill began its adaptation to a volleyball/gymnastics facility with an internal face lift. Some of the changes included a new paint job in areas immediately surrounding the playing surface, new lights to accommodate the space requirements of gymnastics and a state-of-the-art sound system and scoreboards that are both Razorbacks and fan friendly.

When the Razorbacks finally reached campus in the fall of 2002, the fans came. In fact, fans came in droves and by the end of the 2003 season, Arkansas ranked fourth in the nation in attendance, averaging 4,739 people per event.

Arkansas' season best came against No. 4 Alabama when 5,524 fans passed through the turnstiles for the meet. That mark ranked sixth-best in the nation for a single meet in 2005. The Alabama meet attendance was just one of a pair of 5,000-plus fans as Arkansas welcomed 5,427 against No. 5 Florida.

The Razorbacks saw 4,732 fans against No. 4 Georgia and 4,231 fans packed Barnhill against No. 16 Denver in the first meet ever in the arena.

And that was just the first season.

Arkansas' attendance numbers have continued to flourish and the Razorbacks have ranked in the top 15 each of their seven seasons.

The Razorbacks welcomed the program's first NCAA Regional Championship in 2005 and hosted a big meet with the Super Six Challenge in 2006. Arkansas hosted the NCAA South Central Regional in April 2009.

2009 NCAA ALL-TIME ATTENDANCE RANKINGS SIX

The Razorbacks have ranked among the nation's elite teams in attendance from the first season the doors opened in Barnhill Arena. The first-year Razorbacks averaged 4,739 fans and ranked fourth in the country for average attendance.

Arkansas repeated the following year, again ranking fourth as the program made its first appearance at the NCAA Regional Championship.

Since the program's inception in 2003, Arkansas has ranked in the top 15 in attendance every year. The Razorbacks have had three home meets with more than 5,000 fans in the seats, topping out at 5,525 against No. 4 Alabama in 2003.

Arkansas ranked fourth in the country in 2003 and 2004, sixth in 2005, 11th in 2006, 12th in 2007, 15th in 2008 and up to 10th in 2009.

Coming off the best season in its short seven-year history, here's what Arkansas accomplished in 2009:

- Earned a spot in an NCAA Regional for the sixth time in seven years
- Won the NCAA South Central Regional
- Advanced to the NCAA Championship for the third time in seven years
- Advanced to the NCAA Super Six for the first time
- Finished the year fifth in the nation
- Recorded wins over No. 1 Florida, No. 2 Utah, No. 4 Stanford, No. 6 LSU, No. 6 Oregon State, No. 7 UCLA, No. 7 Oklahoma and No. 9 Alabama
- Ended the year ranked No. 5 in the country
- Casey Jo Magee, Sarah Nagashima, Jaime Pisani and Michelle Stout earned All-America honors
- Stout, Nagashima and Alexandra LaChance advanced to the NCAA event finals
- Co-head coaches Mark and René Cook were named NCAA South Central Regional coaches of the year

Was it the best year ever for the program? Yes. Can it get even better? According to the Cooks, yes.

"The team is focused, driven and has a lot of energy," René Cook says. "Our expectations are higher and we're looking to improve on last year's success. Having been there makes it harder and easier at the same time. Our focus is on keeping them calm and in the moment. By doing that, we can hopefully reach our goals."

Arkansas was No. 4 in the nation on vault, No. 5 on beam, No. 6 on bars and floor, and No. 5 overall.

Six returning lettermen, including All-Americans Magee, Nagashima and Pisani, are back to help the Razorbacks duplicate or even top last year's finish.

Magee and Nagashima are seniors while Pisani is a sophomore. Joining that trio are junior Stacy Bartlett, senior Amy DeFilippo and sophomore Mariah Howdeshell.

Newcomers include freshmen Natalie Bohonsky, Amy Borsellino, Kelci Lewis and Amanda Siebert.

Last year may have been a breakthrough season for the Razorbacks, but it could be just a sign of things to come.

"Our fans will see some changes and will be excited," Mark Cook says. "We're all on the same page. The expectation is to go out and compete for a national championship. We went for it last year and we're going for it again this year."

VAULT

Arkansas recorded the top six vault scores in school history last year, including a program-best 49.450 at the NCAA Session II to send the Razorbacks to their first Super Six. That score was also recorded earlier in the season against No. 3 Georgia.

Magee and Pisani were second-team All-Americans in the event, and they are joined by returnees DeFilippo, Howdeshell and Nagashima. DeFilippo did not compete in the event last year, but Howdeshell and Nagashima's score counted in the team total nine times, and Magee and Pisani all 15 times.

Sophomore Jaime Pisani was a two-time SEC Freshman Gymnast of the Week last year.

Howdeshell recorded a season-best 9.85 in the Session II meet and matched it in the Super Six. Magee won the event twice – against No. 3 Georgia and with a career-best 9.950 at Texas Women's University in a quad-meet with Bowling Green and Penn. Nagashima had a 9.825 at both the NCAA South Central Regional and in the Session II meet. Pisani had a best of 9.925 against No. 9 Alabama, and won the event six times, including against No. 1 Florida, No. 3 Georgia, No. 7 Oklahoma and No. 9 Alabama.

"Vault will again be one of our biggest team scoring events," Mark Cook says. "All of our start values are from a 10.0, and three of the incoming freshmen (Amy Borsellino, Kelci Lewis and Amanda Siebert) are capable of scoring very high. Casey Jo and Jaime Pisani are returnees who are very strong."

"Vault is a one-skill element," he says. "Their dynamics and execution are very good. It's all about the landing. I think our potential is really, really good."

UNEVEN BARS

Arkansas scored three of the school's top 10 bars scores last year, and six returning lettermen are back in the event, including Pisani, a second-team All-American.

The Razorbacks had a 49.225 against both No. 31 Kentucky and No. 9 Oregon State to tie for the third-best mark in program history.

DeFilippo's score counted 10 times, Howdeshell and Nagashima eight, Magee all 15 and Pisani 13.

DeFilippo had a season-best of 9.825 against No. 31 UK and won the event against No. 14 Auburn in 2008. Howdeshell had a career-best 9.85 in the win over No. 7 Oklahoma. Magee had a 9.875 against No. 7 OU and at No. 9 Oregon in a tri-meet with No. 45 Cal. She has won the event six times, including against No. 8 OU, No. 6 LSU, No. 9 Alabama and No. 21 Ohio State last season. Nagashima matched her career-best with a 9.850 at No. 9 Oregon and again in the NCAA South Central Regional, and she won the event in the quad-meet at TWU. Pisani had a best of 9.850 in the NCAA Session II meet and at No. 9 Oregon. She won the event against No. 9 Alabama and in the quad-meet at TWU.

2010 SEASON PREVIEW

"We will continue to be as strong as we were last year with the addition of a couple of changes in routines," Mark Cook says. "Casey Jo will probably be our strongest with one small change along with her strength and casting ability. Amy DeFilippo has upgraded her dismount to a double layout. Jaime Pisani has increased the difficulty in her routine by adding a major release. Sarah Nagashima has added a double layout with a full twist dismount. Mariah Howdeshell will look to add a third release to increase the difficulty of her routine. The three freshmen round out this event with routines that are very strong."

BALANCE BEAM

Magee returns as both the SEC and NCAA South Central Regional defending champion in the event while Nagashima was a first-team All-American and finished third in the NCAA Championship event finals. Magee is also the school record holder in the event with a 9.95 at No. 23 Arizona State in 2007 while Nagashima won the event title at the NCAA Session II meet.

Arkansas recorded two of the school's top 10 beam scores last year with a 49.275 (ties for fourth-best) against No. 7 Oklahoma and a 49.250 (ties for seventh-best) in the NCAA Session II meet

Bartlett missed the final five meets with an injury, but her beam score counted in seven of the first eight. DeFilippo matched her personal best with a 9.90 in the win over No. 7 Oklahoma, and won the event against OU, No. 9 Alabama and No. 18 Minnesota. Magee won eight beam titles last year, including the SEC and NCAA South Central Regional titles in addition to wins against No. 1 Florida, No. 6 LSU, No. 8 Alabama, No. 21 Ohio State, No. 31 Kentucky and at TWU. Nagashima recorded a 9.90 at the NCAA Championship Session II meet and in the NCAA event finals. Pisani had a best of 9.850 in the win over No. 7 Oklahoma.

DeFilippo's score counted 13 times, Magee 12, Nagashima 14 and Pisani 12.

"Beam is always about consistency," René Cook says. "With Sarah, Casey Jo, Amy (DeFilippo) and Jaime, we should establish confidence and stability with this group. Among the freshmen, Amy Borsellino and Kelci Lewis will fight it out to get in the lineup.

"Casey Jo has changed her routine, Sarah was third at nationals and provides stability, Amy (DeFilippo) has upgraded her dismount and Jaime provides leadership to get the group going in the right direction."

FLOOR EXERCISE

Magee and Pisani were each second-team All-Americans on floor a year ago, and Magee is the defending NCAA South Central Regional champion.

Arkansas notched three of the school's all-time best floor scores last season with a 49.375 (fifth-best) against No. 1 Florida, a 49.350 (sixth-best) against

No. 18 Minnesota and a 49.325 (eight-best) against No. 9 Alabama.

Magee scored a career-best 9.925 against No. 9 Alabama, and won the event in that meet, against No. 21 Ohio State and in the NCAA South Central Regional meet with a 9.90. She also recorded a 9.90 in the Super Six. Nagashima had a best of 9.850 against No. 9 Alabama, and had a 9.80 against No. 1 Florida, No. 3 Georgia and in the Super Six. Pisani had a best of 9.925 against No. 1 Florida, and she won event titles against the Gators, No. 3 Georgia and at TWU.

Magee's score counted 12 times, Nagashima 11 and Pisani 14.

"This should be our most improved event this year," René Cook says.

"We have routines with E-tumbling, which is the highest level of difficulty. In addition, our choreography and music will be crowd friendly. Our freshmen will make an impact and compete for a spot in the lineup.

One reason for optimism in this event is the return of DeFilippo, who last competed on floor in 2008.

"Amy (DeFilippo) is back on floor this year," she says. "She's an amazing dancer."

Considered one of the finest technicians in women's collegiate gymnastics, co-head coach Mark Cook may now also be considered one of the finest architects. Cook has built one of the top programs in the country, which is coming off its fourth-straight top 15 national ranking and an NCAA Super Six appearance.

In his seven seasons overall with the Razorbacks, Arkansas has competed in six NCAA Regional Championships in seven years, won a 2009 NCAA Regional, had individuals win three NCAA regional titles, advanced to the NCAA Championship three times in seven years, had five individuals advance to the NCAA Championship and had five All-Americans earn 14 honors.

In the gym, Cook focuses on the vault and bars events. Arkansas has ranked in the top 20 in both each of the last three years.

In addition to the Super Six appearance, national fifth-place finish and a final ranking of No. 5, the 2009 team recorded wins over No. 1 Florida, No. 2 Utah, No. 4 Stanford, No. 6 LSU, No. 6 Oregon State, No. 7 UCLA, No. 7 Oklahoma and No. 9 Alabama. Arkansas' No. 5 final team ranking included a No. 4 ranking on vault and a No. 6 finish on bars.

Michelle Stout was a first-team All-American on vault and bars, and Casey Jo Magee and Jaime Pisani were second-team All-Americans on the vault.

In 2008, Arkansas had wins over No. 6 Alabama, No. 8 Or-regon State, No. 9 UCLA, No. 12 Penn State and No. 14 Auburn. Arkansas finished second in the NCAA North Central Regional and advanced to the NCAA Championship. Arkansas finished the year ranked No. 10 in the nation, including No. 11 on vault and No. 14 on bars.

Stout was a first-team All-American on vault, and Magee was a second-team All-American on vault and bars.

The 2007 squad finished third in the NCAA Northeast Regional and had regular-season wins over No. 14 Auburn and No. 14 Penn State. The Razorbacks were ranked No. 15 at the end of the season with No. 16 rankings on both vault and bars.

Cook has coached three All-Southeastern Conference selections, five SEC Gymnasts of the Week picks, five SEC Community Service Team members, 53 SEC academic team selections, 49 NACGC/W Academic Scholar Athletes and five All-Americans to 14 honors.

STARTING A PROGRAM

Cook came to Arkansas in May 2001 to build the Razorback program from scratch.

He was consulted on the construction of one of the top practice facilities in the nation; he selected, ordered and assembled equipment; and he helped Razorback fans and Northwest Arkansas quickly accept and learn about his sport. He was also scouting, recruiting and signing the first recruiting class in school history.

Arkansas' first team, an all-freshman lineup in 2003, finished its inaugural season ranked No. 41 in the nation with No. 37 and No. 43 rankings on bars and vault, respectively.

In 2004, Arkansas earned an NCAA Regional appearance and a top 20 national ranking in just the second season in program history. In addition, the Razorbacks had their first all-conference athlete in Melissa Leigh on bars. Arkansas was No. 24 in the nation on bars and No. 32 on vault.

The 2005 team also advanced to a regional and finished with an overall ranking of No. 26. The Razorbacks were No. 18 on bars and No. 27 on vault.

In 2006, the first recruiting class in school history helped Arkansas upset No. 9 UCLA in the NCAA South Central Regional, took the Razorbacks to their first NCAA Championship and ended the year No. 12 in the nation. Arkansas was No. 20 on both vault and bars.

PRIOR TO ARKANSAS

Cook coached at Stanford for four seasons, leading the Cardinal to two Pac-10 titles, four NCAA Regional appearances and coached the program's first individual national champion. In addition, Cook guided Stanford to a pair of NCAA Championship team appearances, finishing as high as eighth in the nation. Cook's success at Stanford is sprinkled throughout the record books with marks that still remain.

Prior to Stanford, Cook helped build NCAA and Pac-10 champions at UCLA as an assistant coach from 1994 to 1997. During Cook's three years at UCLA, the Bruins won two Pac-10 titles, three NCAA Regional championships and the 1997 NCAA Championship. Cook's work led to UCLA moving from fourth at NCAAs the season he arrived in 1995 to national runner-up in 1996 before taking the team title in 1997.

Before moving into the collegiate coaching ranks, Cook was considered one of the top club coaches in the country. Serving as the head coach for Clovis (Calif.) Academy of Gymnastics from 1980 to 1994, Cook helped build Clovis into a 900-student club. In his final two years at Clovis, Cook also served as the academy director. Cook was named the rookie Elite Coach of the Year by the United States Elite Coaches Association in 1989.

Mark and René Cook were married in 1999, and make their home in Fayetteville.

In René Cook's first seven seasons as a head coach, she's taken an Arkansas program from non-existence to its first NCAA Super Six appearance with a fifth-place national finish in 2009.

In her seven seasons overall with the Razorbacks, Arkansas has competed in six NCAA Regional Championships in seven years, won a 2009 NCAA Regional, had individuals win three NCAA regional titles, advanced to the NCAA Championship three times in seven years, had five individuals advance to the NCAA Championship and had five All-Americans earn 14 honors.

The primary beam coach, Cook has helped Arkansas earn four-straight top 15 overall national rankings, including a top 20 rating on beam every year since 2004.

On the beam, Arkansas earned a final national ranking of No. 5. Alexandra LaChance and Sarah Nagashima earned first-team All-America honors in the event while Casey Jo Magee was a first-team All-Southeastern Conference selection. Magee also won 2009 SEC and NCAA South Central Regional beam titles.

In addition to the Super Six appearance, national fifth-place finish and a final ranking of No. 5, the 2009 team recorded wins over No. 1 Florida, No. 2 Utah, No. 4 Stanford, No. 6 LSU, No. 6 Oregon State, No. 7 UCLA, No. 7 Oklahoma and No. 9 Alabama.

In 2008, Arkansas had wins over No. 6 Alabama, No. 8 Oregon State, No. 9 UCLA, No. 12 Penn State and No. 14 Auburn.

Arkansas finished second in the NCAA North Central Regional and advanced to the NCAA Championship. Arkansas finished the year ranked No. 10 in the nation, including No. 16 on beam.

The 2007 squad finished third in the NCAA Northeast Regional and had regular-season wins over No. 14 Auburn and No. 14 Penn State. The Razorbacks were ranked No. 15 at the end of the season with a No. 10 ranking on beam.

Cook also spearheads Arkansas' commitment in the classroom with the Razorbacks ranking 16th in the nation among gymnastics teams with a 3.4309 grade point average in 2009. Arkansas was also No. 14 in 2003, No. 10 in 2004, No. 7 in 2005 and No. 21 in 2007.

Cook's teams have posted a 3.30 GPA or better each year. She has coached three All-SEC selections, 53 SEC Academic Honor Roll members, 49 National Association for Collegiate Gymnastics Coaches for Women Academic Scholar Athletes and numerous Arkansas Athletics Department Honor Roll selections.

Cook also plays an integral role in educating Northwest Arkansas about collegiate gymnastics. Other responsibilities include selecting music, and assisting with lighting and sound decisions for a 15-minute introduction in Barnhill Arena. In addition to her full complement of coaching duties in the gym, she spends numerous hours recruiting and coordinating the staff's recruiting efforts.

STARTING A PROGRAM

When Cook moved to Fayetteville in 2001, her assignment was to turn Arkansas gymnastics into a nationally competitive, academically superior crowd-pleasing program – from scratch.

When she arrived, there was no gym, no equipment, no leotards and no team, but on May 7, 2001, she accepted that challenge and quickly built Arkansas into a program any coach would be proud of. Cook's initial duties included consulting on the construction of one of the nation's best practice facilities and assembling a team good enough to compete in the country's toughest gymnastics conference, the Southeastern Conference.

Cook, along with husband and co-head coach Mark Cook, inked a recruiting class of 11 freshmen, convincing the team to take a chance on building a program from the ground up.

The first team finished the year with a No. 41 national ranking, including a No. 38 rating on beam.

The second season, 2004, Arkansas made its first NCAA appearance and was ranked No. 20 overall and tied for No. 16 on beam.

The 2005 team also advanced to a regional, and finished with an overall ranking of No. 26 and a beam ranking of No. 13.

PRIOR TO ARKANSAS

Together with her husband Mark, René helped lead Stanford to its first Pac-10 championship in women's gymnastics in 1998 and repeated the feat in 2001. Under the Cooks' tutelage, the Cardinal had its first national champion gymnast, Larissa Fontaine, in the vault in 1997.

The Cooks produced Stanford's first NCAA Regional champions as well, picking up four in their four seasons with the Cardinal. Stanford enjoyed success in the classroom as well with 14 Scholastic All-America selections and 17 selections to the Pac-10 All-Academic Team during the Cooks' time in Palo Alto.

Before moving to Stanford as the assistant coach, Cook was the assistant coach at Penn State for the 1997 season. She helped the Lady Lions to the NCAA Northeast Region title and an 11th-place finish at the NCAA Championship.

Cook worked for three seasons as the assistant coach at Massachusetts prior to Penn State. At UMass, she was responsible for balance beam and assisting with recruiting.

Assistant Coach

Arkansas, 2010-present

A former collegiate head coach and NCAA South Central Region Coach of the Year, Tom Farden is in his first season as an assistant at Arkansas after joining the staff on Oct. 22, 2009.

Farden spent the previous six seasons as the head coach at Southeast Missouri State where he compiled a 70-46 record and guided the Redhawks to NCAA Regional appearances in 2006 and 2008. He coached 14 individual regional qualifiers, his teams won academic national championships each of the last three seasons with 70 total Scholastic All-Americans and he helped raise $257,000 for facility upgrades.

He guided SEMO to a 14-3 record in 2009 and its first Midwest Independent Conference championship in more than a decade. Farden was named MIC Coach of the Year for the fourth-straight season while three student-athletes combined for seven all-conference awards.

The Redhawks reached as high as No. 25 in the national rankings and ended the season No. 36.

In the classroom, Southeast earned the National Association of Collegiate Gymnastics coaches/Women National Academic Team Championship for the third-straight year. SEMO recorded the top grade point average in the nation with a 3.9124 with all 17 student-athletes earning Scholastic All-America honors.

In 2008, Farden's team reached the highest ranking for a Southeast squad in over a decade by reaching as high as No. 22 in the country and finishing fifth in the NCAA South Central Regional. The Redhawks finished 17-9 overall and 11-3 in the MIC while increasing their Regional Qualifying Scores on bars, beam, floor and overall team score.

The 17 wins marked the most wins for Southeast in over a decade. Nine Redhawks earned honors for first and second-team All-MIC, and Farden was named NCAA South Central Region Coach of the Year.

In 2006, Farden took Southeast to the NCAA South Central Regional Championship in just his third season. SEMO was 9-12, but after competing at the NCAA Regional against Florida, UCLA, Arkansas, Illinois and Illinois-Chicago, the team's national ranking was 35th, the highest final ranking in a decade.

In Farden's first season as head coach (2004), the program had its first winning season (15-7) since 1998 and the best winning percentage (.682) since 1991. Southeast went undefeated at home, compiling a 5-0 record.

As head coach, Farden oversaw all aspects of the program, but primarily worked with recruiting, uneven bars and vault.

Farden, who is originally from Dayton, Minn., earned his bachelor's from SEMO in recreation and was an assistant coach with the Redhawks from 1999-2003 before becoming head coach. He has also been the owner of Spectrum Training Center since 2002, worked as the team coach for TAGS Gymnastics and has been on the National Association of Collegiate Gymnastics Coaches/Women Ethics Committee since 2006.

AS A JUNIOR (2009)

Although she battled illnesses all season, Amy DeFilippo was a three-time event champion in 2009. She competed primarily on bars and beam last year. She won beam titles with a 9.90 in the win at No. 7 Oklahoma, with a 9.875 in the home win over No. 9 Alabama and with a 9.85 in the win over No. 18 Minnesota. Her 9.80 on beam ties for the 10th-best mark in school history at the Southeastern Conference Championship meet.

She competed in all 15 meets in both beam and bars, and her score counted 13 times on beam and 12 times on bars.

On bars, she had a season-best 9.825, which tied for third, in the win at No. 31 Kentucky.

She had six top five finishes on beam and two on bars. She scored a 9.775 on beam and a 9.70 on bars at the NCAA Super Six.

Named to the National Association of Collegiate Gymnastics Coaches/Women Academic Team and to the SEC Academic Honor Roll, she also received the team's Katie Hardman Gym'Back Pride Award.

AS A SOPHOMORE (2008)

With experience comes expectation and DeFilippo lived up to hers in 2008. DeFilippo expanded her skill set as a sophomore to include vault after shinning on bars and beam in 2007. The addition to the vault lineup was needed and she recorded a career-best 9.85 twice, first against No. 3 Florida and again against top-ranked Georgia. On bars, DeFilippo scored a season/career-high with a 9.875 in an SEC win over No. 14 Auburn and tallied a season-best 9.825 on beam. DeFilippo competed for the all-around title in the first two meets of the season, scoring a career-best 38.925 in a Michigan quad meet. DeFilippo tied for the bars win against No. 14 Auburn for her only event title of the season.

DeFilippo also enjoyed success in the classroom, earning selection to the SEC Academic Honor Roll in 2008.

AS A FRESHMAN (2007)

DeFilippo focused her attention on bars and beam for the Razorbacks in her freshman season and her efforts were noticed. One of the most graceful gymnasts on Arkansas' roster, DeFilippo posted a career-best 9.90 on the beam at No. 14 Auburn. That mark was good for a tie for the event win and helped the Razorbacks to a big SEC win over the Tigers. DeFilippo finished the regular season with a career-best 9.850 on bars and was consistent for Arkansas at the NCAA Regional Championship with a 9.80 on bars in a gutsy team performance. DeFilippo also scored well with a 9.825 in Arkansas' win at No. 23 Arizona State and rallied the Razorbacks with a solid performance at the 2007 NCAA Regional Championship, scoring a 9.825 as well.

SCATS GYMNASTICS

DeFilippo capped off her club career with an all-around title at the Southern California state meet, winning the beam title and finishing second on both the floor and bars. She finished seventh in the all-around at the Region I meet and was 17th in the all-around at the Junior Olympic National meet in 2006. DeFilippo captured a fifth-place all-around finish at the 2003 American Challenge and was fourth at the JO Nationals on beam in 2004. She added third-place finishes on beam, bars and the all-around at regionals that same year. She won the Junior Olympic national floor title in 2002 and was fifth on the vault, fourth on bars and fifth as an all-arounder that year.

PERSONAL

Born April 12, 1988, Amara Daniela DeFilippo is the youngest of four children to Rocco and Tippi DeFilippo of Torrance, Calif. She has three older siblings: Smith, Mittira and Patty. DeFilippo is a kinesiology major at Arkansas.

All-American Michelle Stout.

All-American Jaime Pisani.

The Southeastern Conference is widely regarded as the most dominating gymnastics conference in the NCAA, and Arkansas has enhanced that reputation with six NCAA Regional appearances and three trips to the NCAA Championship in just seven years of existence.

Since the inaugural NCAA Championship in 1982, the SEC has had at least one team in all 28 national championship meets, with Florida being one of only two teams nationally (Utah is the other) to have appeared at all 19 contests prior to the Gators barely missing the cut in 2000. The SEC has also had at least one team finish in the Top 10 in the NCAA every year since 1982.

The SEC entered the record books at the 1998 NCAA Championship, becoming the only conference in women's collegiate gymnastics to sweep the top three spots. Georgia won its fourth championship title with the largest margin of victory in over 10 years. The Bulldogs outdistanced second-place Florida, which finished just ahead of Alabama. It marked the 12th consecutive year the SEC placed at least two teams in the final top five.

At the 1999 NCAA Championship, Georgia won its second consecutive and fifth overall first-place title. Alabama, Florida and LSU all finished in the top 10. In 2000, both Georgia and Alabama finished in the top five, with LSU coming in at ninth. Georgia was the national runner-up in 2001, with Alabama finishing fourth and Florida seventh.

In 2002, Alabama once again brought the NCAA title back to the SEC by claiming its fourth National Championship, and brought the SEC its eighth overall title. The Crimson Tide edged out SEC rival Georgia 197.575-197.250, making the Bulldogs the NCAA runner-up for a second consecutive year and having SEC teams claim the top two spots for the first time since 1998. LSU finished eighth at the nationals, while Florida placed 10th.

In 2003, the first year Arkansas fielded a team, the SEC sent five teams to the NCAA Championship for the third time, with four of those finishing in the top 10. Alabama finished as the runner-up with Georgia finishing third. Florida finished seventh and LSU finished 10th. It was the 12th time the SEC had two teams finish in the top three. The SEC also brought home an individual title as Alabama's Ashley Miles won the vault.

In 2004, the SEC placed three teams in the top five at the NCAA Championship. Georgia won the SEC's 10th, 11th, 12th, 13th and 14th national championships in 2005, 2006, 2007, 2008 and 2009. Arkansas advanced from NCAA regionals to the NCAA Championship in 2006, 2008 and 2009, and the SEC set a record with five teams advancing to the Super Six in 2009, including the Razorbacks.

In addition to phenomenal success on the team level, SEC athletes have also excelled at the individual level, claiming a total of 74 individual championships, including all five in 2009.

In its own right, the SEC has swept all five individual titles on three separate occasions - 1991, 1993 and 1994.

SEC Gymnastics Notes

- 2009 marked the 25th consecutive year the SEC placed at least two teams in the final top five and the 17th consecutive year placing three in the top 10. A record five SEC teams advanced to the Super Six in 2009, including Arkansas.
- Georgia won its 10th national championship and fifth in a row in 2009, and brought home the SEC's 14th overall title.
- In 1998, the SEC entered the record book as the only conference to sweep the top three spots at the NCAA meet (Georgia, Florida, Alabama).
- 19 times in the past 25 years, the SEC has placed at least four teams in the Top 10 at the NCAA meet, including 1991 1993, 2008 and 2009 when five teams were ranked.
- SEC leads all Division I conferences in NCAA Individual titles with 74.
- The SEC was awarded 28 first team All-America honors in 2009.

SEC Championship Heads to Jacksonville

The Southeastern Conference Championship has been in five cities in the seven years Arkansas has fielded a team. The Championship moves to a sixth for 2010, taking place in Jacksonville, Fla.

Arkansas first competed at the SEC Championship in 2003 when Birmingham hosted the event at UAB. The championship moved to Duluth, Ga., in 2004 and 2005 when teams competed in a multi-purpose facility that also hosted a hockey team. The SEC Championship returned to Birmingham in 2006 at the Birmingham Jefferson Convention Center. For the first time in league history, the championship was competed on a platform with all of the events raised off the floor in a set-up that more closely mirrored the national championship.

In 2007, the league championship moved to North Little Rock, Ark., and the platform was used. The North Little Rock venue has seen its share of high profile Southeastern Conference events, having hosted the SEC Women's Basketball Tournament twice, first in 2003 and again in 2006. The 2008 event moved back to the Gwinnett Center in Duluth and Nashville's Sommet Center made its debut in 2009.

2009 SEC REVIEW

Junior All-American Casey Jo Magee became the program's first event winner, tying for the victory on balance beam with a 9.90 and earning first-team All-SEC honors at the 2009 Southeastern Conference Gymnastics Championship in Nashville, Tenn.

Magee also tied for eighth in the all-around competition and teammate junior All-American Michelle Stout tied for third on the vault and earned All-SEC second-team honors. They are just the second and third all-conference award-winners for the Razorbacks.

"It's great to see the two of them honored," said co-head coach Mark Cook. "They really have worked hard all year and it's nice to see that pay off at the SEC meet."

All-SEC honors are based on finish at the league championship.

Arkansas finished sixth as a team, scoring a program-best 195.65.

"We performed very well on three events," said Mark Cook. "We tightened up on beam and that was the difference. You have to be able to hold it together on all four events."

Arkansas counted a fall on beam, taking the Razorbacks out of contention for the fifth-place finish.

Arkansas had to wait through a first-round bye before opening on the floor in the second rotation. The Razorbacks opened the meet with an SEC program-best 49.100 on the floor led by the final two performers, Magee and freshman Jaime Pisani, who tallied 9.875s. Senior Alex LaChance and Stout both scored 9.80s for Arkansas as the Razorbacks got out to a good start.

"It was an awesome start," said Arkansas co-head coach René Cook. "We were calm and took care of business. We followed our game plan and got out strong."

Arkansas had to return to the locker room after the floor exercise to endure another bye before returning for the vault.

The break didn't seem to bother the Razorbacks who responded with another SEC Championship program-best 49.200 on vault paced by Stout's 9.90. That mark was also an Arkansas-high at the league meet.

Pisani chipped in with a 9.875 followed by a 9.85 from LaChance and a 9.80 from Magee as Arkansas' confidence soared. Arkansas' landings were nearly flawless as their scores continued to climb.

But again the Razorbacks retreated to the locker room after the vault, waiting through the team's third and final bye. Arkansas would now have consecutive rotations on bars and beam to end the meet. At this point, Arkansas was the only team with two events left. Alabama led the meet with a 147.825 followed by LSU with a 147.650, Georgia with 147.425, Florida at 147.400, Auburn with a 147.225 and Kentucky with 145.775.

Arkansas was able to break 49.00 again with a 49.075 – just shy of its SEC best on bars. Stout paced Arkansas with a 9.90 while junior Sarah Nagashima helped with a 9.825. Arkansas did have some tense moments when the fourth gymnast fell from the bars on the exchange but the final two performers, Nagashima and Stout, stepped up and stayed on the equipment.

The Razorbacks finished on beam and, like most of the rest of the field, scores were tough to come by. Pisani opened with a solid 9.60, but LaChance's score was lower than expected, putting some pressure on the remaining gymnasts. Junior Amy DeFilippo stepped up with a 9.80, but a fall by the next gymnast put Arkansas in a pinch with two performers remaining. Nagashima calmly scored a 9.80 and Magee finished with her event-winning 9.90 for the Razorbacks.

Michelle Stout won the individual event vault title at the NCAA South Central Regional.

The 2009 Razorbacks won the program's first NCAA Regional title in Barnhill Arena last year.

The 10th-ranked University of Arkansas gymnastics team won the program's first NCAA Regional Championship, scoring a 196.300 to win the 2009 South Central Regional in Fayetteville and advance to the NCAA Championship in Lincoln, Neb.

The Razorbacks won their first team regional title and Arkansas co-head coaches Mark and Rene Cook earned South Central Regional Coach of the Year honors. Former assistant coach Dave Kuzara was named South Central Regional Assistant Coach of the Year.

Juniors Casey Jo Magee and Michelle Stout were individual winners, also a program first for the Razorbacks. Magee won the beam title with a 9.90 and tied for the floor win with the same score. Stout captured the vault title with a 9.875.

"I'm extremely excited and proud of the team," Magee said. "We did everything we planned to do. I had a dream last night that we won regionals and it came true. It's awesome."

"Regionals is a tough pressure situation," Stout said. "We were able to come in and hit our routines and of course we're happy with how it turned out. We're ready for nationals."

Arkansas won the meet, edging No. 4 Stanford, which was second with a 196.200. No. 16 Michigan was third with a 195.700, followed by Arizona with 194.350, Arizona State with 193.900 and Southern Utah with 192.650.

"We knew it was a close meet," Rene Cook said. "It was a great competition. The girls felt we could win and it's great to accomplish that goal. It was great to see the team leave it all on the floor and go out and be aggressive."

Arkansas opened the meet on bars, scoring a 48.950 and added a 48.975 on beam in a solid routine.

"That was the best beam we've done all year," Cook said. "We competed with a lot of confidence and did what we needed to."

The Razorbacks moved to floor, scoring a 49.200 behind Magee's 9.90. Arkansas got 9.85s from Stout, senior Alex LaChance and freshman Molly Lewis as the Razorbacks built scores through three rotations.

"We had a sense it was close," Cook said. "We knew our vault scores were going to be good. We just had to go out there and leave it all on the floor."

Arkansas posted a 49.175 in the final rotation behind a 9.875 from Stout. Magee and freshman Jaime Pisani added 9.85s, leading Arkansas to the win.

With the win, the Razorbacks advanced to the program's third NCAA Championship.

To the rest of the world, the 10th-ranked University of Arkansas gymnastics team might have been the Cinderella story, but the Razorbacks acted liked they belonged at the 2009 NCAA Super Six Championship in Lincoln, Neb.

The Razorbacks made the program's first Super Six appearance and might well be the youngest team to reach the second night of competition. The highlights continued as Arkansas scored a 196.475, finishing fifth overall in the final team event of the 2009 season. Arkansas edged SEC-foe No. 4 LSU, beating the Tigers for the first time in program history.

Arkansas drew nearly the same rotation for the Super Six as the Razorbacks had in their session the previous night. They opened the meet in the locker room with a bye in the preliminaries followed by the floor. The second day, the Razorbacks opened the meet on the floor exercise and would end the meet with the final bye.

It was difficult to hear the floor music over the roar of the SEC-friendly crowd as it erupted for each competitor on every event. Despite the distractions, All-American Sarah Nagashima knocked it out of the park, opening with a 9.8 on the floor. Freshman Molly Lewis followed with a 9.825, tying her career-high mark.

Senior All-American Alex LaChance took center stage and posted a 9.85 as the Razorback scores continued to climb. All-American Michelle Stout was fourth in the order for Arkansas and was solid in her tumbling passes, earning a 9.80.

All-American Casey Jo Magee took it to another level, leading the team with a 9.90 – the top Razorback score of the night. All-American Jaime Pisani finished strong with a 9.875, leading the Razorbacks to a 49.25 on the floor – the highest floor score for Arkansas at the NCAA Championship.

The leadoff on back-to-back events, Nagashima was up first on the vault and stuck her landing, earning a 9.775.

The sticky feet continued for Arkansas with freshman Mariah Howdeshell tying her career-best with a 9.85. LaChance added a 9.80 and Magee tallied a 9.875, but Arkansas saved the best for last. Pisani and Stout both finished with 9.90s, giving Arkansas a 49.325 for the event.

The Razorbacks sat through their second and final bye in the third rotation and when the dust settled and all six teams had two events done, Arkansas was tied with LSU in fourth place. Just as in the preliminaries, Arkansas would finish on bars and beam as the night continued.

Arkansas had the task of following third-ranked Alabama on the bars after the Crimson Tide posted a 49.325 on the event. Scores were a bit tighter for the Razorbacks staying in the 9.7s for the first four routines.

Nagashima finally broke through with a 9.80 and Stout finished with a team-leading 9.875 for a 48.975. Meanwhile, top-ranked Georgia and No. 2 Utah separated themselves with the Gym Dogs scoring a 49.575 on floor with no score lower than 9.90. The Utes tallied a 49.525 on the vault and after three events and four rotations, Georgia led the field with a 148.200, followed by Utah at 148.150 and Alabama in third with 148.075 in a very close race for the top spots.

The Razorbacks closed their evening on the balance beam and scores were again tough to come by for Arkansas. Pisani opened with a 9.75, followed by a 9.65 from LaChance and a 9.775 from junior Amy De-Filippo despite some solid performances.

Arkansas' next performer fell putting a bit of pressure on the final two to stay on the equipment – and they did just that.

Nagashima stepped up with a 9.85 and Magee put a cap on the meet with a 9.90 as the Razorbacks' first Super Six appearance wound down.

With one rotation remaining, all Arkansas could do was wait for the finally tally and the trophy presentations.

With the final numbers in, top-ranked Georgia won its fifth consecutive national title scoring a 197.825. Third-ranked Alabama was second with a 197.575, followed by No. 2 Utah with 197.425. Florida was fourth scoring a 196.725, with No. 10 Arkansas fifth at 196.475. The sixth-ranked Tigers of LSU rounded out the scores in sixth place with 196.375.

Stout, Nagashima and LaChance advanced to the event finals with Nagashima finishing third on beam, Stout fifth on vault and tied for seventh on bars, and LaChance ninth on beam.

Where Dreams Come True

The long wait was over and the No. 18 University of Arkansas gymnastics team made the program's first appearance at the NCAA Championship in Corvallis, Ore., in 2006.

Arkansas, wrapping up its fourth season of gymnastics, became one of the final 12 teams competing after a second-place finish at the South Central Regional in Barnhill April 8.

Arkansas opened in the evening session Thursday facing Georgia, Iowa State, Oregon State, Florida and Arizona State.

Arkansas entered the meet as the underdog as the program's first senior class had guided the Razorbacks from a start-up to a contender. Seniors Katie Hardman, Melissa Leigh, Audra Loveless, Hannah McLeod and Dana McQuillin competed in their final meet in the Cardinal and White in Corvallis.

Arkansas scored a 194.375, finishing behind a blistering 197.300 from defending national champion Georgia, which won the second session to advance. Iowa State snuck in ahead of Florida with a 196.250 while the Gators posted a 196.225 as both teams advanced to the finals.

2009 NCA A CHAMP SIX RAZORBACK ACADEMIC HONORS

For the seventh straight year, Arkansas was in the top 35 in the nation academically, peaking at No. 7 in 2005, according to the National Association for Collegiate Gymnastics Coaches for Women. Arkansas has ranked among the top 20 four times, including in 2009.

Last year, Arkansas posted a 3.4309 team grade point average with five Razorbacks earning individual academic honors. As a team, Arkansas was No. 16 in the nation.

"We are so proud of the team academically as well as athletically," said co-head coach René Cook. "We set out each year with a team goal of a 3.5 GPA and to finish with a 3.4 is certainly a great accomplishment. As for our five scholar-athletes, their hard work in the classroom has earned them this honor and they are excellent representatives of our program. We are also proud of the accomplishments given the diversity of the majors we have in our program."

Genny Salvatore led a group of five gymnasts who earned selection to the all-scholar team. Salvatore was tied for first overall with a perfect 4.00 GPA in art. Sarah Nagashima was next with a 3.61 in apparel studies, followed by Jaime Pisani with a 3.60 in kinesiology, Amy DeFilippo with a 3.56 in kinesiology and Stacy Bartlett with a 3.54 in nutrition.

ARKANSAS GYMNASTICS

The University of ARKANSAS

The University of Arkansas is one of America's leading land-grant universities, and despite tough economic times nationwide Chancellor G. David Gearhart is optimistic: "There has never been a better time to be a student at the University of Arkansas."

The students and faculty have never been more academically accomplished, the university's facilities have never been more sophisticated, the research done on campus has never been more innovative. The more than 19,000 students have satisfied the highest academic standards in the university's history, while also being the most diverse student body ever on campus.

The 2009-10 academic year will be very challenging for everyone in higher education, especially students and their families, but the University of Arkansas is in a strong position to meet those challenges. The University avoided increasing student tuition for the first time in 24 years, thanks to careful budgeting and generous financial support from the state of Arkansas, alumni and university donors, as well as from the Department of Athletics. Chancellor Gearhart has also placed a priority on providing more scholarship support for students who are struggling to afford a university education.

The University of Arkansas, as a land-grant university, strives to fulfill a three-fold mission of teaching, research and service. The Fayetteville campus also serves as the flagship institution of the University of Arkansas system, which includes branch universities and the University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences. The University of Arkansas, as lead campus, serves as the state's major center of professional education, as the state's main source of theoretical and applied research and as a major engine for economic growth.

We Prepare Students to Succeed

At the University of Arkansas, we strive for excellence in everything we do, and we achieve it with nationally ranked academic programs as well as with our athletic teams. Here, successful students will join with other graduates to succeed as business executives, scientists, engineers, teachers, writers and Olympians.

Arkansas' true success is measured by its students. In the past 10 years, Arkansas has brought home more than its share of the nation's most prestigious undergraduate awards. In 2001-2002 the University of Arkansas was the only public or private institution in the country to have Rhodes, Marshall, Goldwater, Udall, NSF and James Madison recipients in the same academic year. The university continues each year to add to the overall total of highly competitive post-graduate awards won by Arkansas students. Walk through campus on Senior Walk. It features the names of all our graduates -- more than 120,000 of them. You will immediately feel connected to the pride, quality and tradition that go with an Arkansas degree.

World-Class Faculty

At Arkansas, excellence begins in the classrooms and laboratories. Faculty members value research and the creation of knowledge, knowing that investigating the unknown translates into first-rate teaching. They publish nearly 100 books each year, participate in conferences around the world, file patents for their innovative projects and win prestigious honors and awards.

World-Class Facilities

Over $700 million in construction projects were completed on campus in the past decade, are now under construction or are in the planning stages. These include plans to upgrade or renovate several of our historic buildings. The university is also engaged in an ambitious program to improve the energy efficiency of 35 of our buildings, in an on-going effort to create a sustainable campus.

Old Main

One of the original buildings of Arkansas' campus, Old Main symbolizes the strong connection to the past and the focus upon the future which come together in the present at the University of Arkansas. Completed in 1876, Old Main stood the test of time until the mid-1980s when age and modern building codes threatened to send it to the wrecking ball as it did its sister building at the University of Illinois. A major fund-raising campaign by alumni totally renovated Old Main. Reopening in 1992, the building maintains the feel of a Victorian-era building with high ceilings and elaborate wooden trim. Just below the surface of the period hardwood floors, Old Main is hard-wired to the internet and built to last well into its second century.

Even with renovation, Old Main remained unfinished until 2006. One of the gifts during the Campaign for the Twenty-First Century specified the installation of a clock, originally planned for the blank faces of the south tower.

As mentioned, Old Main was built from shared plans with its counterpart on the Illinois campus, with one important difference. The north tower of Arkansas' Old Main is taller than the south tower. Legend says this was symbolic of the Civil War as the lead engineer was a northern veteran.

The link to the past . . .

. . . that lives on today

Senior Walk

The University of Arkansas is proud to be the last university in the nation maintaining what once was a common tradition of etching its graduates' names into the campus sidewalks. The 100,000th graduate's name went down in cement during the 1990s. Senior Walk stretches over five miles of campus sidewalks. The story of Senior Walk is a perfect example of how the University of Arkansas brings its commitment to the past together with innovations for the future. When the costs involved in hand-etching names into concrete forced numerous other universities to give up, the University of Arkansas turned to its physical plant and engineering school grads to create a one-of-a-kind computerized sandblasting machine -- the SandHog. Each summer, the SandHog roars across the front lawn of Old Main, etching the names of graduates into sidewalks.

J. William Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences

The J. William Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences is named after former University President and U.S. Senator J. William Fulbright. The College, which includes the School of Social Work, offers degrees in the liberal arts, which span everything from ancient Egyptian dynasties to the latest discoveries in nanotechnology. Fulbright College students uncovered the world's largest nautiloid fossil, an eight-foot specimen that lived 325 million years ago and was found buried in a culvert near Fayetteville.

Our graduates are known throughout the world. We can thank alumnus Robert Maurer for the revolution in communications made possible by his invention of fiber optic cable. The College consists of 19 departments in the arts, sciences, humanities, and social sciences. Our flourishing honors program is built on the continuing success of our students. They regularly win competitive national awards, such as Marshall Scholarships, Barry Goldwater Scholarships, and NSF Fellowships. The College offers the premier Sturgis Fellowship for undergraduates.

World-Class Support

Investment in the future is critical, and the unprecedented Campaign for the Twenty-First Century that concluded in 2006 resulted in a billion dollar infusion of gifts to the University of Arkansas. The effort included the largest single gift to a U.S. public university in the history of American philanthropy: a $300 million gift from the Walton Family Charitable Trust. Primary among the programs created by the Walton gift was the designation of $200 million toward the establishment of the Honors College.

That kind of commitment from the state and the region is not uncommon. It was the effort of the city of Fayetteville and Washington County in submitting the highest bid to the state in the 1870s that resulted in the University of Arkansas opening its doors here on Jan. 22, 1872.

Broad range of degrees

At Arkansas, students can major in one of over 120 undergraduate disciplines, many of which prepare them for entry into graduate studies ranging from law to medicine.

Nine Colleges and Schools: One University

The University has five colleges and four schools to provide a wide range of majors, from agricultural business to biological engineering, from architecture to nursing, from transportation and logistics to international relations, all taught by nationally acclaimed faculty.

A program in nanoscience that combines students and faculty in physics and engineering has made the university the leader in production of nanomaterials for universities across the country.

No matter what students choose to study the University of Arkansas has the programs, the faculty and the facilities to prepare them for the careers they want in the future.

Sam M. Walton College of Business

The Sam M. Walton College of Business is ranked among the top 25 public business schools in the United States. Named in honor of the world's most successful retailer and his family's generous 1998 gift of $50 million, the Walton College is Arkansas' flagship business school. The college offers two bachelor's degrees in six disciplines: accounting, economics, finance, information systems, management, and marketing and logistics, as well as five master's degrees, including the MBA, and two Ph.D. programs. In 2003, the Walton College introduced an innovative new business curriculum that integrates the business disciplines and better prepares its student for jobs. By connecting these disciplines, students see the big picture of a business. The college seeks to provide each student with experiences in and out of the classroom that simulate actual business so they are prepared for real-world and global opportunities. Established in 1926, the Walton College has been accredited by the AACSB International since 1931.

ARKANSAS GYMNASTICS

College of Engineering

You're competitive. You like a challenge. You like being part of a team. If this sounds like you, then check out the College of Engineering at the University of Arkansas.

Why choose engineering? It's a broad, flexible field full of diverse options. You can choose to work in a corporation, pursue entrepreneurial research or apply your engineering background to a career in law, medicine or business. Whichever career path you choose, your engineering degree will prepare you to analyze situations and solve problems. You'll also be highly employable. According to the American Society for Engineering Education, starting salaries for engineers' average around $50,000.

Why choose the College of Engineering at the University of Arkansas? We're the only comprehensive engineering program in the state that offers undergraduate, graduate and doctoral degrees in seven different disciplines. We're also ABET-accredited, which means that your degree is recognized and respected by industry and academia.

Our low undergraduate student-to-faculty ratio (16 to 1) results in plenty of one-on-one coaching opportunities. Even as an undergrad, you'll work elbow to elbow with nationally and internationally recognized faculty and researchers.

Incoming freshmen benefit from the support of our Freshman Engineering Program. This program provides proactive support to students through orientation, peer mentoring, tutoring and supplemental instruction, academic advising, basic career advising, and academic skills development.

The 2,300 students, 15,650 alumni and 200 faculty and staff members are passionately pursuing our goal of becoming and being perceived as one of the top-tier graduate and undergraduate engineering programs in the United States. We'd love for you to join our team.

College of Education and Health Professions

The College of Education and Health Professions, which includes the Eleanor Mann School of Nursing, prepares the professionals who touch people's lives every day - teachers, coaches, nurses, speech pathologists, counselors, school administrators and specialists in health science, exercise and recreation. The college's mission is to enhance the quality of life of the people of Arkansas, the nation and the world through the development of scholar-practitioners in education, health and human services.

Our students are involved in the community in many ways, including educating elementary children about health care at fairs sponsored by the Eleanor Mann School of Nursing and working as classroom teaching interns in local school districts.

Students enjoy hands-on learning in such partnerships with school districts and through research with faculty members. Research includes examining school reforms, studying treatment methods to reduce hospital stays for chronic diseases and learning about language acquisition by children.

Faye Jones School of Architecture

The Fay Jones School of Architecture, named for one of the foremost architects of the 20th century, enjoys a national reputation for producing outstanding designers who are well prepared for professional practice in architecture and landscape architecture. Fay Jones was a member of the School's first graduating class and later served on the faculty and as the school's first dean. He received the AIA Gold Medal in 1990 at a White House ceremony; in 2000 the AIA ranked his Thorncrown Chapel in Eureka Springs as the fourth-best building by an American architect in the twentieth century.

Current faculty members continue to win national and international acclaim for their work. Students gain hands-on experience at the school's community design center, which has won numerous national and international design and teaching awards, and Garvan Woodland Gardens, the school's woodland botanical garden in Hot Springs. International study programs in Rome, Mexico City, and summer field studies in Europe also expand our students' perspective.

Honors College

One of the major benefits of the $300 million Walton gift was the dedication of $200 million for the Honors College to fund undergraduate University of Arkansas Honors College fellowships ($50,000 for four years), to establish special study abroad and undergraduate research opportunities, and to support outstanding faculty in their research and honors teaching efforts.

The Honors College serves all undergraduate majors. Honors students enjoy small classes, priority registration, special housing, increased interaction with faculty, and enhanced opportunities for hands-on research.

Within the college, the Scholarship Office and the Office of Post-Graduate Fellowships provide additional services. Promising high school seniors are assisted with their applications for the many available Sturgis, Bodenhamer, Boyer, and University of Arkansas Honors College fellowships, as well as Chancellor's and University scholarships.

Fulbright Peace Fountain

Honoring J. William Fulbright, the 41-foot fountain is the heart of a main plaza behind Old Main. A bronze statue of the former UA president and world-renowned U.S. Senator stands facing the fountain. Inset, former President Bill Clinton speaks at the dedication of the statue.

School of Law

Named by U.S. News and World Report among the "most diverse" law schools in America, the School of Law builds on more than 80 years of tradition and alumni success to promote professionalism, civility and leadership. Our students follow a rigorous course of study that prepares them for success in law practice, business, public service and more. Whether pursuing a J.D. or an LL.M. in the nation's only agricultural law program, students have the opportunity to expand and refine their lawyering skills - and to serve their community and state - through the Legal Clinic, an active and effective pro bono program and various skills courses. Students also may participate in the publication of one of three law journals - Arkansas Law Review, Journal of Food Law & Policy and Journal of Islamic Law & Culture. The law school's outstanding faculty not only nurtures and challenges our students, but is committed to research and outreach. A recently completed expansion of the law center includes a state-of-the-art courtroom and classrooms, two-story entrance hall, reading room, conference room and coffee shop, making it one of the most striking buildings on campus and a popular gathering place for the university community.

ARKANSAS GYMNASTICS

Dr. G. David Gearhart, Chancellor

Dr. G. David Gearhart became the fifth chancellor of the University of Arkansas on July 1, 2008, following 10 years of service to the university in his capacity as vice chancellor for university advancement. During that decade leading up to his appointment as the campus' chief executive, he was the architect of the Campaign for the Twenty-First Century – the largest, most successful capital campaign in Arkansas history, which raised more than $1 billion for academic programs and increased the endowment from $119 million to almost $900 million.

A native of Fayetteville, Ark., Chancellor Gearhart was born and raised in the shadow of Old Main. An alumnus of the university whose name is twice inscribed on Senior Walk for the law degree (J.D.) and doctor of education degree (Ed.D.) he earned, Gearhart feels that his entire adult life has prepared him for this singular honor and challenge.

"I believe the ultimate success of the University of Arkansas will be measured to a large extent on how it demonstrates its usefulness to society," Gearhart says. "Of all of the rich contributions that America has bestowed on the world, American higher education is among the most important. Our colleges and universities have become, perhaps, the most vital expression of the American political and social philosophy."

The path that would lead him back to his alma mater began in 1976, when Gearhart became assistant to the president at Westminster College in Fulton, Mo., where he received his baccalaureate two years earlier. In 1977, he was appointed the director of development at Westminster and led fundraising efforts for The Winston Churchill Memorial and Library. Thus was launched a nationally respected career in university advancement.

In 1978, he returned to his native state to become vice president for development at Hendrix College. After four years at Hendrix, Gearhart returned home for the first time when he was selected to be the director of development at the University of Arkansas. In this role, he spearheaded the Campaign for Books, which added more than 100,000 volumes to the University of Arkansas Library.

In 1985, Gearhart took another career leap in being appointed vice president for development and university relations at The Pennsylvania State University. Three years later, he was promoted to senior vice president, responsible for the external relations programs for 23 campuses statewide. While at Penn State, he launched a major capital campaign, which raised in excess of $352 million. Total private gifts to

Penn State during his 11 years at the university surpassed $950 million, and Gearhart's division was cited three times by the Council for Advancement and Support of Education (CASE) with its grand gold medal, awarded to the nation's top advancement program.

In 1995, Gearhart joined the international consulting firm of Grenzbach, Glier, and Associates as senior vice president and managing director, but stayed closely connected to advancing the mission of higher education. The Chicago-based philanthropic management firm has hundreds of clients in the United States, Canada and Europe, and fundraising goals in excess of $40 billion. Clients managed by Gearhart included nearly two dozen non-profit organizations, colleges and universities, among them American University, Brigham Young University, Rutgers University, University of Alabama, University of Connecticut, University of Miami (Fla.), University of Pittsburgh and University of Washington.

In 1998 Gearhart once again returned to his native state as vice chancellor for university advancement at the University of Arkansas. He was responsible for development, alumni relations, constituent relations, special events and university relations programs. Arguably, his most significant impact in this role was the stunningly successful Campaign for the Twenty-First Century, a billion-dollar capital campaign that concluded in June 2005 with the University of Arkansas taking its place as one of only 13 public universities at that time to have exceeded a billion dollars raised.

The centerpiece of this campaign was a $300 million gift from the Walton Family Charitable Support Foundation, the largest gift ever made to a public university. The direct results of Gearhart's leadership in this effort included the creation of 132 new endowed faculty positions, 1,738 new student scholarship and fellowship funds, dozens of new and renovated facilities and classrooms, and growth of the overall endowment from $119 million in 1998 to nearly $900 million by the time he assumed the chancellorship.

In every imaginable way, the university was transformed by this campaign.

"At the University of Arkansas our ultimate purpose is to improve the human condition, to make life better for our citizens and our state and to contribute to the general welfare of our nation," says Gearhart. "Thanks in part to the Campaign for the Twenty-First Century, we've become recognized as a rising star as a major public research university in a state where higher education must play an increasingly larger role in the lives of its citizens. Working with our sister public institutions and in partnership with our own university system, we must work hard and smart to increase the college participation rate and to strengthen the quality of Arkansas' higher education. We must be seen as enthusiastic leaders in this venture, all in a time of diminished public resources nationally that will not make it easy, but a challenge that we at the university must embrace."

Gearhart was named a distinguished alumnus of his undergraduate alma mater, Westminster College, in 1992, and the same year was named a Fulbright Scholar and studied at Oxford University, Merton College in Oxford, England. In 1996, he was named an honorary alumnus of Penn State, where he finished his doctoral coursework in higher education administration.

In addition to his responsibilities as chancellor, Gearhart is a tenured member of the faculty in the College of Education and Health Professions, holding the rank of professor. A nationally respected expert in capital campaigns, he is the author of two books, The Capital Campaign in Higher Education and Philanthropy, Fund Raising and the Capital Campaign, as well as numerous articles.

Among his current professional affiliations, Gearhart serves as vice president of the University of Fayetteville Campus Foundation, is a member of the board of advisors for the Arkansas World Trade Center, is a member of the Northwest Arkansas Council, and is a member of the advisory board of the Pryor Center for Oral and Visual History. He also is a licensed attorney in the state of Arkansas.

Gearhart is married to the former Jane Brockmann, whom he married in 1974. They have two children: Katy, who is a graduate of Penn State University currently working as a speech pathologist; and Brock, a graduate of the University of Arkansas who is now a vice president of investments for Greenwood and Associates.

Gearhart's late father, George A. Gearhart, was publisher of the Northwest Arkansas Times in Fayetteville. His mother, Joan Gearhart Havens, lives in Fayetteville.

"I have many dreams and aspirations that I've long held for the University of Arkansas," Gearhart says, "and I look forward in the months and years ahead to sharing that vision and working with our outstanding students, faculty, staff, alumni and friends, and certainly the board of trustees, on reaching our lofty goals and realizing the full potential of our university."

Howard Brill, Faculty Athletics Representative

In his 15th year as the university's faculty representative for athletics is Howard W. Brill. A law professor at Arkansas since 1975, Brill served as the interim dean of the UA Law School during 2005-06. He previously served as a member of the Faculty Athletics Committee from 1991-94 and was on a special committee to prepare the SEC's Gender Equity Policy in the spring of 1994. He chaired Arkansas' NCAA Self-Study committee (1998) and co-chaired the second Self Study Committee (2004).

Brill is a 1965 graduate of Duke and earned his law degree at Florida in 1970. He received his Master's of law degree at Illinois in 1979. Brill has written two books on Arkansas law and has received several awards honoring his teaching. He is licensed to practice law in Arkansas, Florida and Illinois; he is on the Professional Ethics Committee and the state Judicial Ethics Advisory Committee.

He is the Vincent Foster Professor of Legal Ethics and Professional Responsibility. Along with other courses, he teaches Baseball and the Law. He has served on the Governor's Code of Ethics Commission and as a Special Justice of the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Active in community service, Brill has served as chairman of the City of Fayetteville's Civil Service Commission, has coached youth soccer and basketball and is a Sunday School teacher. He and his wife Katherine have three children, Christian, Elizabeth and Andrew.

Student - Athlete Academic Support and Achievement

for Student-Athlete Support Services

STUDENT-ATHLETE ACADEMIC SUPPORT AND ACHIEVEMENT MISSION STATEMENT

The primary focus of the Razorback Student-Athlete Academic Support and Achievement Program is to provide the student-athlete with the opportunity to develop the skills necessary to be a success in college and in life. This is accomplished through superior academic counseling, life skills training and preparation to enter the job market upon graduation.

The Bogle Academic Center

There is no higher priority for the University of Arkansas Athletic Department than the academic progress of its scholar-athletes. Thanks to the generous gift of Bob and Marilyn Bogle, the home of the Razorback Athletic Department's Student-Athlete Academic Support and Achievement program is the Bob and Marilyn Bogle Academic Center. The 15,000-square foot Bogle Academic Center is located in the east side of Donald W. Reynolds Razorback Stadium. Under the overall direction of Senior Associate Athletic Director Jon Fagg, the Bogle Academic Center houses the Arkansas Razorbacks Academic Support Program, the Razorback Office of Student Life and the Career Development Program.

Associate Athletic Director for Student-Athlete Support Services Melissa Harwood-Rom oversees the staff of professionals dedicated to directing student-athletes to reach their personal academic goals, and to do so in ways that balance their academic, athletic and personal lives.

Travis Sample (left), named to the SEC Spring Academic Honor Roll, and Zack Cox (right), a member of the SEC Freshman Academic Honor, were two of the 14 Arkansas baseball student-athletes to be recognized by the conference for their academic performance in 2009.

Student-Athlete Academic Support and Achievement Services

The Mission Statement for the Razorback Student-Athlete Academic Support and Achievement division -- SAASA -- speaks for itself, but the improvements and achievements of the Razorbacks over the past academic year are what is most important.

At Arkansas, academic services are not just good grades and eligibility. Along with 18 of 19 teams exceeding the NCAA standard for APR, Razorbacks earned some of the highest conference and national academic honors in the 2008-09 year including a pair of Southeastern Conference Scholar-Athletes of the Year

It is also not about honoring the "A" student. Arkansas Athletics is committed to every single athlete improving his or her academic performance every semester, working to achieve academic "personal bests" with each class just the same as we would expect our athletes to hit personal records in competition.

ARKANSAS GYMNASTICS

University of Arkansas Academic Game Plan for Graduation

Student-athletes are expected to meet specific academic criteria in order to maintain eligibility. This is easily achieved by following the Academic Game Plan created by the Student-Athlete Academic Support and Achievement team.

The SAASA designs programs and sets specific goals to help student-athletes achieve academic success. An example of a key goal is the successful completion of 30 hours of coursework during each academic year. By maintaining this course load, Razorback athletes not only stay on track to graduate in four years, but easily meet eligibility requirements set by the NCAA.

Study Hall and Tutors

A quiet setting for uninterrupted study, the Bogle Academic Center provides three types of study hall space. The computer lab (above) has over 30 stations for individual computer-based study. An open study hall is available for group or individual study, and monitored by staff members of the SAASA. There are 17 individual study carrels that provide space for tutors to meet with student-athletes for individual instruction in specific subjects.

Each Razorback team sets its own criteria for study hall attendance. The use of tutors is a key element for academic success, allowing for individualized assistance and for reaching academic excellence in advanced subjects.

Class Attendance

The University of Arkansas Razorback Athletic Department has an overall student-athlete class attendance policy. Student-Athletes Academic Support and Achievement assists with the enforcement of this policy through regular checks on class attendance. If traveling with a team, student-athletes notify instructors early in each semester regarding assignments or exams.

Student Life

The social and personal development of student-athletes is as important to the University of Arkansas as the academic and athletic achievement. The Office of Student Life focuses on the personal development and community service components of the NCAA CHAMPS/LifeSkills program. Training is provided in a variety of areas including financial planning, drug and alcohol education, time management, study skills and developing community service activities.

Career Development

The purpose of the Career Development Program is to assist student-athletes in making a smooth transition from the University of Arkansas into the workplace. This process begins during the freshman year with a one-hour course on career options.

Workshops are held to provide student-athletes training in resume writing, interviewing skills and etiquette. Individual assistance with locating summer internships and job placement gives student-athletes a head start into their chosen careers.

Arkansas Razorbacks in the Community

Community service is a vital part of the educational process for any college student, and Razorback athletes took the lead in 2008-09 by registering a record number of hours of community service work.

The often reported bad news in college sports sometimes masks the overwhelming good things done by the vast majority of student-athletes.

Among the programs that built the more than 2,500 volunteer hours performed in the past academic year:

Participation in the campus-wide clean-up after the disastrous ice storm of the winter of 2009.

Going out to area elementary schools to support the Book Hogs reading program and the Sweat Hogs physical education awareness program.

Individual team projects ranging from volunteering at the Fayetteville Public Library, working with Habitat for Humanity, assisting with area shelters or helping the local youth programs like the Scouts.

The quiet efforts of our 19 Razorback teams have a long-lasting impact on the youth of our state. The incredible positive benefit of the time spent by the Razorbacks helping the community pays tremendous dividends, not only for the University of Arkansas, but for the entire state.

And while we focus here on the positive benefits for the fresh young faces who receive an autograph or a kind word of encouragement from a Razorback, we know that there is a considerable impact upon our student-athletes, our future leaders. The opportunity to give back impresses upon them that no matter their personal circumstances when they arrived in Fayetteville, they have a chance to not only improve their lives, but touch the lives of others.

For the second year, Razorback athletes turned out to support Lift Up America. Football player Elton Ford (above) helps load a vehicle for one of the regional charities benefiting from the gift of food

The members of the Razorback SAAC participated in the South-eastern Conference's "Yes We CAN" drive to collect canned food items for regional food banks. Working over two weekends and incorporating home events at football, soccer and volleyball, the SAAC members gathered 10,000 pounds of non-perishable food items. In addition, the SAAC coordinated Razorback student-athletes volunteering as celebrity sackers at Fayetteville area grocery stores to raise awareness and collect more food items.

One of the largest department outreach programs is Book Hogs, an elementary school reading program that takes Razorback athletes into area schools for assemblies to emphasize the power of reading. Several athletes reached out to inspire future Razorbacks with their stories of the importance of reading and studying at 13 elementary schools in the area. Above left, Michael Smith and D.J. "I am always proud of my degree from the University of Arkansas. I had the good fortune to go to on to UAMS in Little Rock to train in surgery after Fayetteville. When I left Little Rock to study at Cornell in New York, I was very pleased to find that my education and training at the University of Arkansas was equal to that of my colleagues from Ivy League schools. My time as a Razorback was my most life-shaping experience, and I have always been proud of how I was trained and what I learned at the University of Arkansas."

"The University of Arkansas isn't a huge university, but it has a huge reputation. My professors were concerned with my personal goals; concerned about how I wanted to develop as an individual. There is a great amount of one-on-one mentoring with the teachers. I think one of the greatest things about Arkansas is that you are an individual, a real person — not just an I.D. number — to the faculty and staff."

ARKANSAS GYMNASTICS

Jeff Long

Vice Chancellor for Intercollegiate Athletics and Director of Athletics

Entering his second full year as Vice Chancellor and Director of Athletics, Jeff Long has not only guided the University of Arkansas' Department of Intercollegiate Athletics through a period of unprecedented transition, he has transformed and revitalized a tradition-rich athletics program encompassing 19 sports and nearly 460 student-athletes. Long has not only accepted, but embraced the challenge of leading a Razorback program that serves as a source of pride for so many at the University of Arkansas, in all corners of the state and to thousands of Razorbacks all around the world.

Long has established a multi-faceted combined athletics program uniformly committed to the development of student-athletes academically, athletically and socially. A part of Chancellor G. David Gearhart's Executive Committee, Long and other members of the University's leadership team are charged with developing policies and charting the course for the future of higher education. Since his arrival, Long and his staff have re-engaged the athletic department with the University Community working to more fully integrate Razorback Athletics into the campus environment.

The success of Long's approach can be measured in part by the remarkable accomplishments of the Razorback program in his tenure. Arkansas has captured five conference championships and advanced to 25 post-season competitions while drawing more than a million fans annually to campus to cheer on the Razorbacks. In the classroom, the Razorbacks exceed national APR standards in 18 of 19 sports while nine of 15 sport programs improved their team GPA from 2007-08 to 2008-09. In the community, Razorback student-athletes are more active than ever volunteering more than 2,500 hours of time in between the rigors of school and athletic practice and competition.

Administratively, landmark agreements have been negotiated with ISP and with Southeastern Conference television partners to guarantee future revenue streams and secure the financial base of the program in uncertain economic times. Even the most optimistic outlook would have been hard pressed to foresee the level of success that the Razorback program would attain in such a short time after Long was selected to replace legendary athletic director and former Razorback football coach Frank Broyles in September of 2007. Before Long officially took the reins, the University of Arkansas announced that it would combine its previously independent men's and women's athletic programs into one combined athletic program.

Shortly after that announcement, Long was busy engineering the first coaching search of his tenure. Long not only found the next head football coach, he convinced Bobby Petrino, one of the most successful collegiate coaches in recent history, to return to the college game and to Arkansas. Long made four other head coaching hires in his first year and a half, including hiring men's track and field coach Chris Bucknam to be the successor for John McDonnell, the most successful NCAA Division I track and field coach in history. In addition, Long added head coaches Robert Pulliza (volleyball), Erin Aubry (soccer) and Mike Larabee (softball) to the Razorback staff.

By the time, Long officially started his new position on Jan. 1, 2008, he had already accomplished a list of tasks vital to the short and long-term health of the Razorback program. He had begun the process of carefully blending the men's and women's athletic departments into one unified department and establishing a new administrative structure. Under Long's leadership, Arkansas revised policies governing class attendance, drug testing, the NCAA Opportunity fund as well as other compliance and business office procedures. The academic support services division was re-organized and a formal division of student life was created focusing on student-athlete development and community service.

Long was busy on external issues as well. In 2008, Arkansas returned to the classic Razorback logo and dropped the usage of Lady Razorbacks as a nickname for women's athletic teams. The new branding was featured in the launch of a new website ArkansasRazorbacks.com.

Long worked tirelessly to maintain long-time relationships and to forge new relationships for the benefit of the Razorback program including extending Arkansas' relationship with War Memorial Stadium in Little Rock. Perhaps his most impressive accomplishment came when he brokered a new partnership with ISP to form Razorback Sports Properties. As economic indicators were beginning to point toward challenging economic times, Long signed Arkansas to a deal that will guarantee the Razorback program $73 million in the next 10 years.

A number of athletic facilities also saw a transformation with Bud Walton Arena undergoing extensive renovations, including replacement of the lower seating bowl and the addition of courtside seating, ribbon boards and a courtside club room. In the spring of 2009, Bogle Park, arguably the nation's best softball facility, was dedicated on the University of Arkansas campus.

Jeff Long announces the donation of $1 million to the University of Arkansas' general fund in the summer of 2008. University Chancellor Dr. G. David Gearhart (seated) indicated the effort by athletics was crucial to the University avoiding a tuition increase for the general student body for the first time in 24 years.

2009 NCAA SUPER SIX

"We will provide opportunities for student-athletes to achieve their fullest potential academically, athletically, and socially, while competing successfully at the highest level."

Arkansas Vice Chancellor and Director of Athletics Jeff Long

Arkansas' program flourished in Long's first year, finishing 24th in the NACDA Directors Cup, its best finish in nearly a decade. In his first full year at the helm, Arkansas scored a program record 730 points on its way to a 25th-place finish. The back-to-back top 25 Directors Cup finishes marked only the second time in school history the Razorbacks accomplished that feat.

A veteran administrator with a track record of the highest commitment to the concept of "student-athlete," Long has had more than two decades experience in athletic administration at the Division I level including at the University of Pittsburgh, University of Oklahoma, University of Michigan, Virginia Tech University and Eastern Kentucky University prior to arriving at the University of Arkansas. While known as an innovator in athletic department management, Long also understands the coach's perspective from time spent in coaching and administrative staff positions at Duke University, Rice University and North Carolina State University.

On the forefront of NCAA governance, Long served on the NCAA Management Council as one of the athletic administrators who oversaw the operations and regulation for Division I. His experience as an athletic director and administrator in America's most prestigious conferences – the Big 12, Big Ten, Big East, Atlantic Coast and now Southeastern Conference gives Long a uniquely informed perspective on intercollegiate athletics. During his career, Long has served in five of the six Bowl Championship Series leagues.

Prior to assuming his current roles at Arkansas, Long served for four years as the athletic director at the University of Pittsburgh. During his tenure, Long redefined Pitt athletics, most notably through the "Quest for Excellence" campaign. Designed to enhance the student-athlete experience for Panther athletes through scholarship endowments and capital gifts for facility construction and renovation, the Quest resulted in almost $34 million in just over two and a half years.

His commitment to building the Pitt athletics brand resulted in a new primary mark for the Panthers which returned the powerful "PITT" brand to the University of Pittsburgh. He established a partnership with adidas for uniforms and apparel for all 19 Pitt teams and an agreement with ISP Sports.

Long's four-year tenure added up to Pittsburgh becoming one of the nation's top programs, notably the Panthers' selection as the No. 17 overall program in the nation in the December 2006 Sports Illustrated on Campus' All-Sport Rankings.

As an athletic leader, Long was a key advocate for the Big East during the league's time of membership transition. Due in part to his leadership, the Big East maintained its position as a key member of the Bowl Championship System, and the Pitt Panthers earned the Big East's automatic berth in 2004 at the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl. Along with his tenure on the Executive Council, Long also served on the NCAA's Sports Wagering Task Force in 2004, and as a member of the Executive Committee of the Division I-A Athletic Directors' Association.

Before arriving at Pitt, Long was senior associate athletic director at Oklahoma for two and a half years. Responsible for the external affairs of the Sooners, he oversaw key brand areas of marketing and promotions, licensing, media relations, ticketing, radio and television rights and SoonerVision productions. In addition, Long was the primary administrator for the Sooners' highly successful football and men's basketball programs, along with sport supervision of baseball, wrestling and both golf teams.

Long's first appointment as a director of athletics was at Eastern Kentucky where he served for two and a half years. He made several revisions to the ECU athletic infrastructure and completed several facility projects. Long created the first modern corporate partner and sponsorship structure at ECU. Prior to Eastern, Long had a brief stay with Virginia Tech as an associate athletics director.

He began his career in college athletic administration at the University of Michigan, hired by legendary coach and athletics director, the late Bo Schembechler. During his seasons with the Wolverines, Long was promoted through a series of posts to the position of associate athletics director.

A former two-sport athlete at Ohio Wesleyan, Long earned seven varsity letters for the Bishops in football and baseball before completing his degree in economics in 1982. He started his post-graduate career in athletics as a graduate assistant football coach at the cradle of coaches, Miami University of Ohio. Long earned his master's in education at Miami in 1983, moving on to football staff positions at Rice, Duke and NC State prior to joining Michigan.

An Ohio native from Kettering, Long is married to the former Fanny Gellrich of Ann Arbor, Mich. The Longs have two daughters, Stephanie and Christina.

The Razorback Foundation, Inc.

Performing the vital role of supporting the student-athletes at the University of Arkansas with financial support, the Razorback Foundation, Inc., is in its fourth decade of working alongside the athletic department to advance Razorback Athletics.

The goal of the foundation is ensuring that the nearly 460 student-athletes at Arkansas have the equipment, facilities and overall support to achieve the goals of graduation and athletic achievement.

For the first time in school history, all 19 Razorback head coaches and members of the athletic department's executive and senior administrative staffs are members of the Razorback Foundation. The pledge of personal support by those inside the department led the way for a growth in membership that saw the membership total increase from 10,390 in November 2008 to 10,530 in June 2009.

From January to June 2009, Razorback Foundation staff visited with more than 11,000 people at 50 Razorback Club functions, ranging from chapter meetings to scholarship fundraising golf events hosted by local Razorback Clubs.

Another key factor in raising the profile of the Razorback Foundation and fostering membership growth was a renewed commitment to increasing A Club membership (former Razorback letter winners) and enhancing communication and coordination with Razorback Clubs throughout the region. To help facilitate communication with all foundation members, a new web site (RazorbackFoundation.com) was launched.

The Foundation, officially incorporated and relocated off campus in 1988, has helped provide financial aid for the construction for the Broyles Athletic Center (football and administrative offices), Charlie Baum Stadium at George Cole Field (baseball), John McDonnell Field (outdoor track and field), Randal Tyson Track Center (indoor track and field), Dills Indoor Tennis Center, the George M. Billingsley Tennis Center (outdoor tennis) and Donald W. Reynolds Razorback Stadium (football).

Mission Statement

The stated mission of the Razorback Foundation, Inc., is to support the athletic endeavors of the University of Arkansas Razorbacks. The Foundation assists our student-athletes by providing for scholarships, facilities and various programs that enable them to realize their dreams of achieving a quality college education while participating in athletics on a nationally competitive level.

Membership Levels

The opportunity to participate in the annual fund giving to the Razorback Foundation, Inc., has several levels, beginning at the $50 Razorback level and continuing up to Broyles-Matthews Scholarship Platinum. Regional Champion & NCAA Super Six

Five NCAA Regional Champions, four Southeastern Conference titles, one NCAA national championship runner-up and a third-place tie highlighted a season of athletic achievement for the University of Arkansas. Of the 19 Razorback teams, 14 made post-season team appearances.

It all added up to a record performance in the NACDA Director's Cup for the Arkansas Athletic Department in its first full season under Jeff Long. The Razorbacks were 25th in the 2008-09 standings, and second in the nation among programs with less than 20 sports.

The 25th place gives the Razorbacks their first back-to-back finishes in the NACDA top 25 since the mid-1990s.

Four Razorback teams reached the pinnacles of their sport tournaments, led by the baseball team's run to the College World Series and gymnastics' first-ever appearance in the Super Six.

Men's Outdoor Track
Regional Champion & SEC Champion

Men's golf returned to the championship round, and powered its way through the match play to within a single putt of the NCAA Championship. The thrilling runner-up performance is the highest finish by men's golf in Razorback history. Men's and women's cross country advanced from the South Central Regional with the women taking the regional title. The women's tennis won their own regional first and second round event to repeat in the NCAA Championship with a finish in the round of 16. Softball and women's golf rounded out the Razorback teams advancing to the NCAA Regionals, while women's basketball reached the round of 16 in the Women's NIT.

Both track and field programs and the swimming and diving team scored national performances in their respective meets. Coming off a 2009 NCAA Midwest Regional team title, the Razorback men's track team placed ninth at nationals. The men were also eighth at the NCAA Indoors. Arkansas' women went 20th indoors and 29th outdoors. A record-setting season in the pool led the Razorbacks to a 27th finish at the NCAA Championships.

Women's Tennis
NCAA Regional & SEC West Champion

In conference, Arkansas captured the men's track and field sweep with both indoors and outdoors. Women's cross country added another running trophy to continue their dominance as the leading distance program in the SEC. Women's tennis repeated as the SEC Western Division champions in 2009.

Celebrating a Century of Razorbacks

The legend of the Razorback began after the turn of the century when Arkansas football coach Hugo Bezdek called his players "a wild band of Razorback hogs," after guiding his team to a 16-0 victory over Louisiana State on Nov. 13, 1909.

At the time, the university mascot was a Cardinal bird, matching the school's Cardinal and White colors.

Alluding to the Razorback, characterized by a ridge back and tenacious, wild fighting ability, Bezdek never forgot this idea and often called his team "a fighting band of Razorbacks." This new nickname became increasingly popular, and soon references to "razorbacks" began to appear in yearbooks and press accounts of athletic activities. By the following fall, the student body voted to change the official University mascot from the Cardinal to the Razorbacks in 1910.

To mark the 100th year since Coach Bezdek's proclamation and the student body vote, the Athletic Department proclaimed a year-long series of events to highlight the start of Razorbacks during the 2009-10 academic year.

All 19 Razorback teams join in the department-wide celebration with special logos on all uniforms and placed in all home venues.

There are dozens of Lions, Tigers and Bears, but in all of college athletics there is only one Razorback. The distinctive logo of the Arkansas teams is officially known as the Classic Razorback, but is known to many fans as the Helmet Hog -- a fixture of the football team's helmet for almost half a century.

There are plenty of powerful mascots in college athletics, but none as unique as the Razorback. Not many school mascots have escaped from their homes, not once, but twice, to ravage the local country side. By their nature, the Razorbacks are hard to contain.

A Mascot Like No Other

The wild hogs known as razorbacks native to the Arkansas wilderness bear no resemblance to the typical barnyard pig of today. The untamed razorback hog was a lean, feral animal that was ill-tempered. It fought and defeated anything that crossed its path, man or beast. Turn of the 20th century outdoor magazines lauded the razorback as "the most intelligent of all the hogs and is likewise the most courageous. . . . He has a clear, farseeing eye."

Except for the rare sighting in the Australian Outback, the Razorback only exists today in the form of Arkansas' players and fans. A Russian boar, which closely resembles the wild hog of Hugo Bezdek's day, currently serves as the official live mascot.

Tusk III is cared for by the Stokes family of Dardanelle, Ark., and travels to home games and special events for the Razorbacks. Tusk III is supported by the legacy program known as the Tusk Fund, and fans can participate by sending their support care of the Razorback Foundation, Inc. Tusk II passed away in January 2010, and his brother, Harry, became the reigning Tusk III.

While yearbook references as early as 1914 of a hog on the sideline at football games, a formal live mascot prior to the Tusk line dates back to the 1960s with a series of hogs that represented Arkansas. In addition to appearances at games, they have gained a reputation for fierce behavior.

Big Red III escaped from an exhibit near Eureka Springs in the summer of 1977 and ravaged the countryside before being gunned down by an irate farmer. Another live mascot, Ragnar, was a wild hog captured in south Arkansas by Leola farmer Bill Robinson. Before Ragnar's spree was done, the mighty animal had killed a coyote, a 450-pound domestic pig and seven rattlesnakes. Ragnar died in 1978 of unknown causes.

"To sit in the stands now, I still get chill bumps every time."
1989 All-American offensive tackle Jim Mabry on what it means to a Razorback to run through the "A"

Running Through The "A"

For Razorback football players, there is nothing to compare with entering the stadium for a home Arkansas game. The emotion of running through the "A" stays with a player for life.

Lloyd Phillips won the Outland Trophy more than three decades ago. The veteran of the 1964 national championship team, Phillips remembers it like it was yesterday.

"The butterflies are flowing and you are [running], but it doesn't feel like your feet are even touching the ground," the 1966 Outland winner recalls.

Two-time Doak Walker Award winner and two-time Heisman runner-up Darren McFadden agrees.

"It is hard to describe the feeling you get as a Razorback player right before you take the field for a game," McFadden said. "You can hear more than 70 thousand fans calling the Hogs and can feel the excitement building. I will always remember that special feeling of running through the 'A.'"

The Razorback Marching Band sets the stage by forming a huge "A" as they march the length of the field playing Arkansas Fight. When they finish, the "A" stretches from the Razorback locker room to midfield. To the roar of the crowd and the band blasting out Arkansas Fight, the current Razorbacks run onto the field through the "A," connecting them to generations of previous men in the Cardinal and White.

"Just to be able to run through that 'A' and hear the fans cheer for you is unbelievable," 1989 All-American offensive tackle Jim Mabry said. "To sit in the stands now, I still get chill bumps every time the band starts playing and I see the guys running out."

Tusk II in his travel trailer meets up with Big Red.

A Proper Hog Call

A chant of "Woo Pig Sooie" is known worldwide as a Hog Call. Just like any good tradition, there are lots of versions of the Hog Call (even spellings).

A properly executed Hog Call is composed of three "calls," slowly raising one's arms from the knees to above the head during the "Woo." Traditionalists prescribe an eight second "Woo." The fingers should be wiggled and the "Woo" should build in volume and pitch as the arms rise.

Upon completion of the "Woo," both arms are brought straight down with fists clinched as if executing a chin-up while yelling, "Pig". The right arm is extended up and out with the "Sooie."

A full Hog Call -- the kind one will always hear victorious Razorback teams execute after contests -- requires two more Hog Calls, followed immediately by a "Razor-Backs" yell, coordinated with a pumping motion of the right arm after the third "Sooie." So, in order, the full Hog Call is:

Wooooo. Pig. Sooie!
Wooooo. Pig. Sooie!
Wooooo. Pig. Sooie!
Razorbacks!

The Hog Hat

It is true; no Razorback fan's closet is complete without an official Hog Hat. The original style was a hard plastic hat with a long snout, rough razorback ridges across the top and wickedly sharp, pointed curly-cue tail. The modern versions are often sculpted from softer material. Regardless, the Hog Hat is undoubtedly the most recognized piece of fan apparel in college athletics. Just ask ESPN GameDay's Kirk Herbstreit as he dons the traditional Hog Hat.

Razorback Spirit Squads

Along with being a Razorback, serving as a Razorback cheerleader has a long tradition at the University of Arkansas. Currently, the Razorbacks have two squads, a Red and White, that inspire the crowds at all home sporting events.

Arkansas also has a dance team, the Razorback Pom Squad, which performs at halftime of many events. Members of the Pom Squad also serve at baseball games as RBI Girls.

Arkansas has a team of uniformed mascots, led by the original Big Red, the Fighting Razorback. Sue E. joined the family along with kid-sized Pork Chop in the late 1990s. Boss Hog is a 9-foot-tall inflatable mascot that rounds out the team.

Jean Nail serves as the coordinator for cheerleaders and mascots. For more information on the cheer squads and tryouts, go to the Spirit Squad section of ArkansasRazorbacks.com.

Arkansas Fight

One of the first tasks of a new Razorback is learning to sing the University of Arkansas fight song. Arkansas Fight was written in the late 1920s. It is a unique tune, fitting of the only college in America with a Razorback mascot. Several other colleges have adapted the tune, but the lyrics remain unique to Arkansas.

Hit that line! Hit that line!
 Keep on going!
 Take that ball right down the field!
 Give a cheer. Rah! Rah!
 Never fear. Rah! Rah!
 Arkansas will never yield!
 On your toes, Razorbacks,
 to the finish,
 Carry on with all your might!
 For it's A-A-A-R-K-A-N-S-A-S for Arkansas!
 Fight! Fight! Fi-i-i-ight!

The UA Alma Mater

Brodie Payne and Henry Tovey wrote the University of Arkansas Alma Mater in the early 1900s. They were inspired by the Ozark Mountain sunrise as it illuminated Old Main. Pure as the dawn on the brow of thy beauty, Watches thy Soul from the mountains of God.

 Over the fates of thy children departed,
 Far from the land where their footsteps have trod.
 Beacon of hope in the ways dreary lighted,
 Pride of our hearts that are loyal and true.
 From those who adore unto one who adores us,
 Mother of Mothers, we sing unto you.

Fayetteville: Top 10 Town

Don't take our word for it. The largest city of the Northwest Arkansas routinely ranks top 10 in national surveys for quality of life. Here's just a few of the 2009 top 10's:

- #4 Best Places for Business and Career
Forbes Magazine
- #6 Top College Sport Town
Forbes.com
- #7 Best Places to Live, Work and Play
Kiplinger's
- #9 Healthiest Housing Market
National Builders

With over a 1/3 of a million residents in the two-county area, there's always something happening. And if not, Fayetteville is just hours away from major cities like Dallas, Kansas City, Memphis and St. Louis.

Fayetteville's famous Dickson Street is much more than a college hangout, adding upscale condominiums and specialty retail to its long-standing reputation as the center of entertainment and dining. From hosting major national events like Bikes, Blues and BBQ or serving as the final resting place for the goal posts after Razorback football upsets, one thing remains constant -- Dickson is the heart of what's happening.

Fayetteville

From Robert Redford to James Earl Jones, the University of Arkansas hosted numerous famous speakers in recent years. Ranging from political satirist, now Senator, Al Franken to CNN's Anderson Cooper, and to former world leaders like George H. W. Bush to Israeli prime minister Ehud Barak we've also had one of our more famous former law professors speak several times, President Bill Clinton.
