Agri Park Cross Country Course

The University of Arkansas is known around the world for its outstanding distance runners. It is also one of the handful of universities in North America with its own dedicated cross country course.

Carved out of a portion of the University of Arkansas' on campus agricultural area, hence the name Agri Park, the course provides the men's and women's cross country teams with an excellent practice and competition area.

The 1996 season saw the first two events at Agri Park, the Chile Pepper Run and Arkansas Invitational. Starting in 1997, the two united into the single Chile Pepper Cross Country Festival.

The current course configuration has three distinct areas. The open area of the starting chute is separated from the pond and Razorback Meadow by a grove of trees surrounding the former site of one of Fayetteville's old eateries, the Farmer's Daughter.

Razorback Meadow is open and relatively flat. The former women's 5,000 trail does not use the Meadow. The men's 10K, however, snakes through three groves of trees in the Meadow. The pond section has more contour as the trail rises up along the rim of the course's water feature. For women, both the one and two-mile markers for a 5,000-meter race are in the pond area. The finish chute is shaded by a row of trees separating it from the starting line area.

The Agri Park site is extremely versatile. During the Chile Pepper Festival, seven divisions compete on distances ranging from the mile-long fun run for children to the collegiate/open 10,000 meters - all using the same start and finish areas.

The women's collegiate course was initially configured as a figure-8. In 1997, the collegiate races changed to a double loop for women, triple loop for men. Fans can watch the start, then walk up the Farmer's Daughter hill for view of the main loop and finish chute. In 2000, a new 6,000-meter course was created for the Chile Pepper Festival.

What is the Chile Pepper Cross Country Festival?

Beginning in 1992 to bring together three Northwest Arkansas cross country races under a single event, the Chile Pepper Cross Country Festival is one of the premier races in America.

The Festival united the Chile pepper Run, originally hosted in the spring by Jose's, the Arkansas Invitational, the annual Razorback home meet, and Fayetteville High School's Purple Dog Invitational.

Scheduling difficulties forced a split in 1996, but the original seven-race, one-day format returned in 1997. The Chile Pepper Run, a 10K open event, starts the day. The women's and men's collegiate divisions follow with elite and open high school boys and girls races ending the schedule.

From local meets to the NCAAs, the Razorbacks have a long tradition of home events...

Arkansas' cross country tradition includes its numerous home meets. Starting with the inaugural cross country season in 1978, the Razorbacks have hosted at least one invitational event in Northwest Arkansas. Four different courses in three cities served as the site for women's meets.

In 2004, the SEC returned to Fayetteville to compete on Arkansas' fourth course which opened its rolling hills in 1996 for cross country events. The Arkansas Cross Country Course at Agri Park opened with the 1996 Arkansas Invitational and 1996 Chile Pepper.

Home of the combined Chile Pepper Festival since 1997, Agri Park is one of a handful of permanent courses in America. Ranging from that first Oct. 7, 1978, dual meet to the 1994 NCAA Championship, the Arkansas Athletics Department has hosted a wide range of meets.

The NCAA South Central Regional Championships returned to Fayetteville for the 2012 season. The national-qualifying event was run Nov. 9, 2012, at Agri Park.

The first multi-team meets were known as the Arkansas Invitational and were held at Razorback Park Golf Course. The Razorbacks gained an infamous reputation for the single long climb on the back side of the course, but that experience in competition and training strengthened the Razorbacks.

The Razorbacks also employed Springdale Country Club for several dual and triangular meets in the early 1980s, and still hold occasional training runs.

For two years, Arkansas moved to Prairie Grove Battlefield Park. The picturesque setting plus the generous space for large fields and spectator parking were ideal for the SEC and NCAA.

The most successful coach in University of Arkansas and Southeastern Conference women's cross country and track and field history, Lance Harter is set to begin his 24th year at the helm of the Razorback program. During his tenure, Arkansas has won 20 SEC titles (13 cross country, four indoor track, and three outdoor track) and earned seven NCAA trophies, including four national runner-up awards in cross country. Throughout his 34-year career as a collegiate head coach, Harter has built programs that win.

Harter led his cross country teams to 13 league championships in 21 years and racked up an impressive 16 NCAA regional titles, bringing Arkansas to the brink of a national championship with four NCAA runner-up trophies. His student-athletes have earned 24 cross country All-America honors, numerous all-conference and all-regional certificates and collected 12 SEC individual titles.

While his list of accomplishments as a cross country coach at Arkansas is long, his record as a track coach is just as impressive, with a pair of SEC triple crown championships, three U.S. Track and Field and Cross Country Coaches' Association (USTFCCCA) National Coach of the Year honors and 10 top-10 finishes at the NCAA Championships.

Harter's leadership led the program to its best finish, third, in the Terry Crawford Program of the Year competition hosted by the USTFCCCA. The 2012-13 Razorbacks placed 18th in cross country, fourth during the indoor track season and eighth outdoors for 30 points in the program that measures the best overall program in the nation based on their NCAA Championship finishes.

The high water mark to his career at Arkansas, so far, is when his teams won a league-record seven-consecutive SEC titles including a pair of triple crowns (titles in cross country, indoor track and outdoor track in the same academic year). Harter's Razorbacks were just the second team in league history to accomplish the task in 1999-2000, then repeated the performance in 2000-01 making them the only squad in the SEC's 30-year history of women's cross country and track and field to accomplish the task twice.

Those banner seasons were not without other accolades outside the SEC titles. During that time period, Harter's Razorbacks posted school-best finishes at both the NCAA Indoor (third) and Outdoor (fifth) Championships, as he led his teams to five top-six NCAA finishes.

On a personal level, Harter was awarded numerous honors including six SEC Coach of the Year Awards, six South Central Region Coach of the Year trophies and the three USTFCCCA National Coach of the Year honors.

For his numerous achievements at Arkansas, Harter has been honored several times, including his induction into the University of Arkansas' Hall of Honor in the fall of 2006. His inclusion into the elite club makes him the only active Razorback women's coach to be enshrined and just the second women's coach at Arkansas to be included, joining former cross country and track coach and current Executive Associate Athletic Director Bev Lewis.

He has also seen his name inscribed in the Arkansas Track and Field Hall of Fame, Mt. SAC Relays Hall of Fame and Cal Poly Hall of Fame.

Harter's coaching prowess has been noticed not just by his peers but by national organizations like USA Track & Field who have asked him to coach at several international competitions. He has represented his country five times including the 1992 Olympic Games in Barcelona, Spain, where he was an assistant coach. He was also the head coach for the 1999 USA World Championships team and had the pleasure of once again coaching one of his pupils, multi-time U.S. Champion and 2004 Olympic bronze medalist Deena Kastor. His most recent appointment to a national coaching position came in 2003 when he was the head women's coach for Team USA's World Cross Country team in Brussels, Belgium.

Harter is quick to give credit for his success to his student-athletes and assistant coaches, but there is no arguing that with him at the helm the Razorbacks are one of the nation's elite programs. Harter has won almost as many SEC women's cross country championships (13) as all other member institutions combined in the history of the SEC (15).

For his efforts in cross country, Harter has earned 13 SEC Coach of the Year Awards, 14 NCAA Regional Coach of the Year honors and the 1999 NCAA National Coach of the Year Award. In total, he has been awarded the SEC's Coach of the Year honor 20 times and is the only women's coach to ever earn awards in cross country, indoor and outdoor track. In track and field, he has been given an NCAA Regional Coach of the Year award 18 times during his career and NCAA National Coach of the Year four times.

From a team perspective, Harter's influence on Arkansas cross country and track has been tremendous. He has led both the cross country and indoor track teams to number one national rankings, one of only three number one rankings by any women's team in Arkansas history (gymnastics). During his career, Harter has brought eight NCAA team trophies back to Fayetteville: four national runner-up awards in cross country, a third place for cross country and a third and two fourth-place finishes for indoor track.

Harter's career at Arkansas began in the fall of 1990, and it didn't take long for him to carry his previous success to the Razorback program. Picking up a Southwest Conference runner-up finish in his first year, he also guided that squad to the first of his 16 regional titles. As good as his team was in year one, it was the 1991 squad that made Arkansas cross country a household name. Leading a strong group of young women into the season, Arkansas took the first of three-consecutive NCAA runner-up trophies and finished the year with just a single loss.

The 1991 season also brought the Razorbacks into the SEC and it didn't take long for Arkansas to establish its superiority. The Razorbacks scored 30 points at their first SEC Championship, placing all five scorers in the top nine. The conference title was the first of five consecutive championships, a feat that has only been equaled once since (1998-2002).

While the end of the millennium raised the bar for the Razorbacks, Harter challenged himself to exceed the lofty expectations heaped upon his team. Since 2001, Harter has guided Arkansas to eight SEC Championships and watched former Razorback athletes win six medals in the Olympic Games. His eye for talent has been his best asset and developing those skills runs a close second. He often likens his coaching style and philosophy to a series of escalators where athletes get on at the ground floor when they arrive as freshmen and get off at the pent-house upon graduation.

A perfect example was a raw talent from Kendallville, Ind., that Harter groomed first into a conference and national champion then into the greatest female track athlete in SEC history. When Amy Yoder Begley completed her collegiate career with a pair of national titles, she became the all-time leader in SEC history with 15 individual championships, the all-time leader for a female athlete at Arkansas with 15 All-America honors, and only the third track athlete in conference history to become the SEC Athlete of the Year.

Harter arrived at Arkansas in 1990 after 11 years of building the nation's top Division II program at Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo. His teams at Cal Poly-SLO won a Division II record 14 national championships, including eight consecutive cross country and six track and field titles. He was Division II national coach of the year 10 times.

From the beginning of NCAA Division II Championships in 1981, Harter's teams controlled the awards ceremonies. The Mustangs finished runner-up the initial season and after that ran off a string of eight straight titles. In track and field, Harter won five NCAA and one AIAW championship. He was inducted into Cal Poly's Hall of Fame in the fall of 2004.

Before coaching at Cal Poly-SLO, Harter was the men's and women's track and field coach at Smoky Hill High School in Denver, Colo. During his five years with SHHS, his teams won five cross country and five track conference titles. Before SHHS, he was an assistant coach for two years at Colorado State.

A 1972 graduate of Texas Tech, Harter set several school records as a member of the cross country and track teams. A dean's list honoree every semester at Tech, he earned his degree in physical education and American history. He earned his master's in education from Colorado State in 1974, focusing on physiology of exercise. He has completed doctoral hours at both Colorado and Colorado State.

Harter and his wife, Kim, have five children, Jeff, Meagan, Alison, Kristy and Josh. They also have three grandchildren, Mason, Avila and Parker.

Chris Johnson begins his second season the associate head coach for the University of Arkansas women's track and field team in 2013-14 after a tremendous first year with the Razorbacks. The sprint and hurdle coach for the Razorbacks began his Arkansas career by coaching his student-athletes to 4 All-America honors, a national championship in the 4x400-meter relay outdoors and a pair of top 10 team finishes at the NCAA Championships.

Johnson's first year in the Ozarks was not unfamiliar to him as he spent two years as a graduate assistant with the Razorbacks in 2003 and 2004. During that time Arkansas won two Southeastern Conference titles and was a mainstay at the top of the leaderboard at both the SEC and NCAA Championships. Johnson had a hand in the development of multi-time Olympic gold medalist Veronica Brown-Campbell and NCAA Outdoor Champion and future U.S. Olympic Relay consideration LaShaunte'a Moore.

His second stint with the Razorbacks saw the sprint and hurdles program make significant improvements. Former Razorback and Nigerian Olympian Regina George won a NCAA title in 2013 by anchoring the Razorbacks' outdoor 4x400-meter relay to a national championship.

Johnson's student-athlete success was not limited to the national stage. He guided his squad to 5 All-SEC honors as well as 3 league championships. The Razorbacks also posted 30 marks that rank among the top 10 in Arkansas history highlighted by school records in 400m (indoor), 4x400m (indoor), 60 meter hurdles, DMR (indoor), 400 meters (outdoor), 400 meter hurdles and the 4x400 meter relay (outdoor). Those accomplishments were just a few of the many earned by Arkansas sprinters and with a year of recruiting under his belt, Johnson expects even more from his group in the years to come.

In between Johnson's two stops in Fayetteville, he spent eight years at Penn State University, as an assistant and associate head coach. He was named the 2012 United States Track & Field Cross Country Coaches Association's (USTFCCCA) Mid-Atlantic Men's Outdoor Assistant Coach of the Year, his seventh USTFCCCA honor after indoor awards in 2008-11 and outdoor accolades in 2008 and 2010.

Johnson's time at Penn State included two NCAA Championships by his student-athletes, 36 Big Ten titles and more than 50 All-America honors. Johnson also guided the Nittany Lions to their first Big Ten 4x400-meter relay championship in program history.

While in State College, Pa., Johnson's student-athletes played a pivotal role in Penn State women's fourth-place team finish at the 2010 NCAA Outdoor Championships. He coached his student-athletes to participation in four individual events and two relays at the championship while his crew earned seven All-America honors.

On the national stage, Johnson coached former Nittany Lion Shana Cox to a championship in the 400 meters and saw a Cox led 4x-400-meter relay squad take the relay championship in 2008.

Johnson graduated from Lamar University in 1999, earning a degree in kinesiology. An outstanding athlete in his own right, he was a Sun Belt Conference champion at 400 meters. He is married to the former Gi-Gi Miller, a 2001 NCAA triple jump champion and four-time All-American during her collegiate career at Arkansas. With Johnson as her coach, Miller competed at the 2005 and 2007 IAAF World Championships and was the 2006 U.S. champion in the heptathlon. The couple was married in October 2005.

Joining the Razorbacks in the fall of 1998, Bryan Compton has proven to Arkansas that he was an invaluable addition for its coaching staff. In 15 years of working with the Razorback field event personnel and multi-event competitors, Compton's student-athletes have set 17 school records a total of 78 times, not including numerous heptathlon marks.

Compton's role has grown since he first joined the Razorback staff and in the fall of 2012 he was charged with coaching all of the field and multi-event competitors. Prior to the change his main focus had been the vertical jumps, throws and assisting with the multis.

Since day one, Compton's coaching has produced almost magical results and the most recent example of that is former Razorback heptathlete Makeba Alcide. The Southeastern Conference four-time champion and eight-time All-American set the NCAA record in the Pentathlon when she scored 4,569 points at 2013 Indoor SEC Championships. Alcide was also an accomplished high jumper and played a pivotal part in the Razorbacks' run to the 2013 SEC Indoor Track Championship.

Perhaps the most decorated of all of Compton's recruits and student-athletes was pole vaulter Tina Sutej. A finalist for the prestigious award, The Bowerman, in 2011, Sutej ended her stellar career at Arkansas as the collegiate record holder in the pole vault both indoors and out, a two-time national champion, five-time SEC Champion and five-time All-American. She was also named the national indoor and outdoor field athlete of the year by the United States Track and Field Cross Country Coaches Association (USTFCCCA).

Individually, Compton has also been recognized for his student-athletes success as he was named the 2005 USTFCCCA Midwest Region Assistant Coach of the Year. Arkansas' team has also benefitted as each of the Razorbacks' seven SEC track and field championships have come since he joined the staff as well as three of Arkansas' four top-four national indoor finishes.

While Compton's broad-range of talents has been on display throughout his tenure, his expertise in coaching the pole vault has long been his calling card. Over the past 14 years, Compton has coached nine pole vault student-athletes to an Olympic Games, 26 All-America honors, 11 SEC championships and five SEC championship records. The Razorback success in the event dates back to the turn of the century when April Steiner Bennett became the first woman in league history to clear the 13 and 14 foot marks.

In the throws, Compton has led Razorbacks to the program's first ever SEC title in a throwing event and coached Marie LeJour to 2001 SEC Commissioner's Trophy, an honor that goes to the individual high-point scorer at an SEC track championship. LeJour's award made her the first non-distance runner from Arkansas to win.

As a high jump coach, Compton has also produced, leading former Razorback Jessica Johnson to a national runner-up finish and the first All-America honor by a high jumper in Arkansas history. Johnson also broke what was Arkansas' longest-standing school records both indoor and out.

Alcide's success in 2012 and 2013 highlights the Razorback multi-events, but she was certainly not the first to be thrust into the national spotlight. Former Razorbacks have gone on to compete at World Championships in the multis and earn 10 All-America honors. Compton was also the architect for teammates who each scored 5,900-points in the heptathlon making Arkansas one of just a handful of schools to ever accomplish that feat.

Not only has Compton been an accomplished coach over the past 20-plus years but he was also a good athlete in his own right. A varsity track athlete at Angelo State, Compton was a national qualifier for the NCAA Division II National Championships in both 1983 and 1984 in the long jump and the sprint relay. Compton earned his bachelor's degree in physical education and biology from Angelo State in 1985. He has a son, Austin.

Kent also acts as an on-campus recruiting coordinator for official visits and is in charge of coordinating official visits to Arkansas' campus for the distance program. He has also gained certification as a USATF Level 2 Track and Field Coach for Endurance.

Prior to his move to Fayetteville, Kent served as Delta State's graduate assistant women's cross country coach during the 2007-09 seasons. He was responsible for recruiting, budgeting, scheduling, fund raising and academic supervision, as well as other aspects of the program.

A native of Valparaiso, Ind., Kent received his bachelor's degree in health and sport studies from the University of Iowa and his master's degree in health, physical education and recreation from Delta State University in Cleveland, Miss. He was a member of the Iowa Hawkeye cross country and track and field teams during the 2004-07 seasons, posting what was the sixth-best indoor 5,000-meter time in school history and competed in multiple NCAA Championships.

Jeff Kent joined the Arkansas Razorback women's cross country and track and field staff in September 2009. He is in his fifth season as the director of women's cross country and track and field operations.

His day-to-day duties include overseeing the program's equipment needs, travel arrangements, meet management at Arkansas' home events and the coordination of details in the coaches' recruiting efforts.

Bolstered by a pair of top-10 national finishes last year, the University of Arkansas women's cross country and track and field program finished third with 30 points in the 2012-13 Terry Crawford Program of the Year standings. Now in its fifth season, the award is given by the U.S. Track and Field and Cross Country Coaches Association (USTFCCCA) to the most successful combined program during the academic year. The Razorbacks were the top-ranked team from the Southeastern Conference on the list.

During its track and field campaign, Arkansas had two top-10 NCAA finishes for the first time since the 2004 season. The Razorbacks were a trophy team with a fourth-place showing at the NCAA Indoor Championships in Fayetteville and wrapped up their season with an eighth-place finish at the NCAA Outdoor Championships in Eugene, Ore. In the fall, Arkansas finished in 18th place at the NCAA Cross Country Championships in Louisville, Ky.

"Our philosophy as a program is to be nationally competitive in all three areas of our program," head coach Lance Harter said. "With this recognition, there is confirmation that not only are we competitive but we're also one of the top programs in the country."

For the second time in three seasons, the Razorbacks finished in fourth place to earn a team trophy at the NCAA Indoor Championships. The team finished the meet with a program-best 42.5 points. Arkansas had runner-up finishes at 400 meters from Regina George and in the 4x400-meter relay, and school-record performances by George and the team's distance-medley relay of Keri Wood, Gwendolyn Flowers, Martine Borge and Grace Heymsfield.

Most recently, the Razorbacks finished in eighth place at the NCAA Outdoor Championships. In the final event of the meet, the program claimed its first-ever national title in the 4x400-meter relay. The team of Flowers, George, Sparkle McKnight and Chrishuna Williams broke the school record with their time of 3:27.09. School records were also broken by Makeba Alcide in the heptathlon and Heymsfield in the 3,000-meter steeplechase. The Razorbacks finished the four-day meet with 30 points.

In the team's first national competition of the year, Arkansas was the top-performing team from the SEC with its 18th-place finish at the NCAA Cross Country Championships. The team's top-five scoring lineup featured Heymsfield, Andrina Schlaepfer, Paige Johnston, Semehar Tesfaye and Wood, respectively. The Razorbacks qualified for the national meet by winning the NCAA South Central Regional in Fayetteville.

The Terry Crawford Women's Program of the Year Award is named after USTFCCCA Hall of Famer and former Cal Poly head coach Terry Crawford. Crawford's teams won five NCAA Championships and more than 20 conference crowns. Her 1986 Texas squad remains the only women's program to ever win the NCAA Triple Crown. The USTFCCCA Program of the Year award is now in its fourth year of existence.

A Tradition of Excellence...

Arkansas has decades of history as a national power. From Olympians to SEC Athletes of the Year, the University of Arkansas women's cross country program has become the standard by which others are judged.

Since 1990, the Razorback cross country team has:

- More Southeastern Conference titles than any other member institution.
- A near-perfect record at the NCAA Regional Championships.
- Fourteen-consecutive team appearances at the NCAA Championships.
- Four national runner-up finishes and five national meet trophies.

For a lot of cross country programs this would be enough, but at Arkansas, it is just a part of a grand tradition of women's cross country performance.

It started in 1978 when freshman Jody Rittenhouse finished 19th in the nation at the AIAW cross country championships. The 1980s saw the rise of future Arkansas Hall of Honor member Melody Sye and the first top 10 teams. It continued into the early 1990s with Deena Drossin's runner-up performance in 1992 and Megan Flowers' fourth-place finish at the 1994 NCAA Championship. It reached a new peak with three-peat SEC champion, four-time All-American and first-ever in SEC history Honda Award winner Amy Yoder Begley in the late 1990s. The newest generation of Razorbacks are hungry for success and dedicated to preserving the storied history. It is a tradition of excellence in cross country for the Arkansas Razorbacks.

A Contender From the Beginning...

From the first year of varsity competition, the Hogs were players on the national scene. Rittenhouse's run started a streak of continuous Arkansas appearances at the national cross country championship, first in the AIAW, then starting in 1982 with the NCAA.

Rittenhouse was the first star, earning three All-America honors as a distance runner at Arkansas. She was the queen of the mile during her time, winning 10 race titles, and was the runner-up at the National Indoor Championships in 1979.

The 1980s...

As Arkansas reached the mid-1980s, a new wave of distance runners came ashore from the Emerald Isle. Led by 5,000-meter All-American Edel Hackett, these European champions helped build the Razorbacks into a team fixture at the NAAs. Hackett, along with country women Siobhan Kavanaugh and Michelle Byrne, Austrian Isabelle Hozang and a tough, young New Jerseyite named Melody Sye led Arkansas to a 13th-place finish in 1984.

In two years, Sye inherited Rittenhouse's crown as queen of the middle distance. She spurred Arkansas to back-to-back top-10 finishes in cross country and earned for herself a place in Arkansas history as the first five-time All-American Razorback and the first two-time cross country All-American.

Jackie Mota emerged after Sye as Arkansas' top cross country runner and became Arkansas' third cross country All-American with her 20th-place finish in 1989. Mota and Sye were the keys to Arkansas' first Southwest Conference title in any sport, leading the Hogs to the 1988 league cross country championship.

The 1990s...

Arkansas reached new heights in 1990 with England's Claire Lavers becoming the fourth individual to take cross country All-America honors. Her 17th-place finish led Arkansas to a sixth-place finish under first-year coach Lance Harter.

Michelle Byrne of Richardson, Texas - not to be confused with Michelle Byrne of Ireland - ushered in a new generation of distance stars as the first cross country freshman All-American.

In 1992, Deena Drossin took a step toward making herself the brightest star in the Razorback sky. Her runner-up finish at NAAs was just part of a fantastic career at Arkansas. With five race wins in her career, Drossin passed Rittenhouse's record for an Arkansas cross country athlete. In 1994, Drossin surpassed Sye's Arkansas mark with her third cross country All-America selection.

For all her grand accomplishments, Drossin was just part of Arkansas' 1992 success. The team almost doubled its All-Americans with one race, placing three in the top 15 at NCAAs. Shelley Taylor announced herself as the highest freshman finish in the nation and joined Byrne as the second All-American rookie.

Their performance drove Arkansas to its second NCAA runner-up trophy in the closest three-way race for the national title to that time, falling just seven points shy of the national championship.

Arkansas drew even closer to the title in 1993 with four Hogs, again led by Drossin, earning All-America honors. Arkansas scored a new school low for the NCAA meet with 71, but was five points shy of the championship.

Megan Flowers replaced the venerable Drossin at the head of the Arkansas class. She claimed the career (nine including 1995) and season (four) meet victory records in 1994. After a fourth-place national finish and a SEC title as a junior, she closed her career in 1995 by leading Arkansas to a fifth SEC title and earning her third All-America award.

The End of the Millenium...

Arkansas faced a watershed season in 1996. It was the first time since Harter became the head coach that the Razorbacks went into a fall campaign without an All-American. But it didn't take long to find one as Amy Yoder Begley earned All-America honors in her first season (1996) to become only the third freshman All-American for Arkansas cross country.

With Yoder Begley leading the way as SEC individual champion in 1997, Arkansas opened a new era of national rankings and NCAA appearances, including a win at the new NCAA South Central Regional in 1997. Yoder Begley also broke one of the longest-standing cross country records by notching five 5,000-meter runs under 17 minutes in a single season, bettering Hall of Honor member Sye's four from 1987.

Yoder Begley paced Arkansas back to the SEC Championship in 1998. With her teammates Jessica Koch Dailey and Tracy Robertson, Yoder Begley set new school records. She teamed with each for a sub-17 double. Yoder Begley and Robertson recorded the fastest double sub-17 in school history as Yoder Begley broke the decade-old all-time performance mark of Sye with a 16:29 at the Chile Pepper Festival. Yoder Begley, Dailey and Robertson swept the top three spots at the SEC Championships to notch only the second triple sub-17 meet in school history.

The addition of German national team member Lilli Kleinmann in 1999 took Arkansas to unprecedented achievements. Arkansas scored the first perfect 15 in SEC Championship history as the Razorbacks swept the top five spots behind Yoder Begley's three-peat as league champion. She was the first woman to win three-straight SEC titles, and only two men had achieved the feat - the last in 1935. Yoder Begley and Kleinmann led Arkansas to its fourth NCAA runner-up trophy and both were on the Honda Award ballot. Yoder Begley, the first four-time cross country All-American in Hog history, added one last first - the first woman in SEC history to win the Honda for cross country.

The 21st Century...

As the 21st century of cross country opened, the Razorbacks found another way to distinguish themselves on the national level. Kleinmann and senior Tracy Robertson became an unstoppable tandem, sweeping first and second place in five consecutive meets - including Stanford, SEC and NCAA South Central. Kleinmann's five meet victories tied Yoder Begley for a single season and Robertson had the distinction of being undefeated against outside competition throughout the regular season.

Arkansas continued in 2001 to dominate both the SEC and NCAA Region as Andreina Byrd swept both titles and all post-season awards. Byrd also shattered the UA and SEC best marks for 6,000 meters with her 19:07.29, the second-fastest collegiate run in the nation for 2001. Her teammate, Christin Wurth, has the distinction of the second-fastest time in both SEC and UA history with her 19:33.55. Penny Splichal became the first Razorback to earn the SEC's Freshman of the Year award.

At the opening of the 2002 season, Arkansas was poised for more records. Kleinmann joined Byrd to make Arkansas the only SEC team to return two league cross country champions in the same season and a team victory in November gave Arkansas as many SEC titles as the rest of the league combined.

The 2006 season ushered in the next wave of Razorback cross country as the team dominated the SEC landscape. Arkansas took the conference championship with 17 points, the second lowest in league history and then went to the NCAA meet and took a fifth-place finish, its best since 1999.

Like years past, freshmen dominated the Razorback roster during the 2007 season. With Dacia Perkins being held to limited action while returning from knee surgery, Jillian Rosen and Catherine White, in their inaugural seasons, made for a strong tandem. Rosen went on to earn SEC Freshman of the Year honors and was the first Razorback to cross the finish line at the NCAA Championships.

In 2007, Arkansas was atop the podium at three of the seven meets it entered, including winning the SEC title, and earned runner-up honors in three meets, including the NCAA South Central Regional Championships.

The 2008 season was the year of sophomore Catherine White. She earned top-10 finishes in six of the seven meets she competed in and won Arkansas' 11th SEC individual title. The Razorbacks won the SEC and NCAA South Central titles in 2008.

The senior-freshman duo of Miranda Walker and Stephanie Brown paced the Arkansas cross country team in 2010. Walker capped her collegiate career with an at-large selection to the NCAA Championship while Brown became the sixth SEC Freshman Runner of the Year for Harter.

Since joining the NCAA in 1982, Arkansas is the only team in the South Central Region to finish in the top three every year at the district/regional meet.

The Razorbacks joined the SEC in 1991. Upon their arrival, the league landscape changed as Arkansas captured five consecutive team titles. With its sixth cross country title in 1998, Arkansas became the winningest cross country program in SEC history. Completing another five-peat in 2002, Arkansas' 2008 championship gave it almost as many titles (13) as the remainder of the league (14), at the time. Prior to the SEC, Arkansas was a charter member in women's athletics of the Southwest Conference starting in 1983.

While 2001 saw Arkansas sweep the top two spots for the second-consecutive year, the 1999 SEC Cross Country Championships was record-setting. Along with yet another team title, the Razorbacks registered the first-ever perfect score at the women's meet in SEC history behind a course record by Amy Yoder Begley. In fact, four Razorbacks surpassed the 1994 course mark by Jessica Fry of Alabama. Yoder Begley became the first woman - and only third athlete - to win-three straight league championships.

With the shift to 6,000 meters in 2001, Arkansas had a similar dominating impact as Andreina Byrd crushed the course record at Auburn with a 19:07.29 that still stands as the all-time league best.

Women's athletic championships started during the 1979-80 season for the SEC with the crowning of a volleyball and basketball champion through a league tournament. In the spring of 1980, the SEC added tennis. Golf, gymnastics, swimming and outdoor track titles followed in 1981. Cross country (1983) and indoor track (1984) were next, with soccer (1992) and softball (1997) bringing the total number of league-sponsored titles to 11.

Prior to Arkansas' arrival, cross country was one of the most evenly balanced sports in the SEC with four different universities winning championships. The Lady Wildcats of Kentucky won the NCAA Championship in 1988.

The NCAA Regional Championships are the gateway to the NCAA Championships and the Razorbacks have used them most effectively over the years. Since the regional meets were first conducted in 1982, Arkansas has been among the top three teams every season and has been one of the two automatic bids to the NCAA Championships 23 times. Arkansas' most recent regional title came in 2011 with a 20-point margin of victory over Texas. Since 1997, the country has been divided up into nine regions and the Razorbacks are a part of the South Central, which includes schools from Arkansas, Louisiana and east and central Texas.

Regional Facts and Notes

- Six Razorbacks have taken the individual championship at the regional meet
- Only three Razorbacks have won two individual titles (Deena Drossin, Megan Flowers, Lilli Kleinmann)
- Arkansas' largest margin of victory was 67 points at the 1994 meet
- Arkansas' closest victory was in 2005, one point

You can't hold a collegiate cross country championship without the Razorbacks.

Arkansas has an unbroken record of appearances at the NCAA Women's Championships, starting with the 1982 meet. The Razorbacks joined the NCAA after membership in the AIAW in 1981.

The 2000 meet at Iowa State marked the 10th-straight team appearance for Arkansas, a perfect record for the 1990s.

The Razorbacks' involvement with the NCAA Championship extends beyond its run of consecutive team and individual bids. Arkansas' executive associate athletic director Bev Lewis served for six years as a member of the NCAA Division I Track and Field Committee, which administers the race. The Razorbacks hosted the championship in Fayetteville in 1994 and hosted the 2007 South Central Regional.

1994: The Year America Came to Town

The University of Arkansas became the first deep South host in the history of the NCAA Division I Women's Cross Country Championship in November, 1994. Held on a specially constructed site in Prairie Grove Battlefield State Park, the 1994 NCAA Championship drew thousands of spectators.

As a team, Arkansas finished third, marking the fourth consecutive NCAA trophy finish for the Razorbacks. Megan Flowers was fourth overall. As an institution, the Athletic Department scored high marks as the event set records for attendance and media participation, including the first national television coverage for the meet.

The unique setting of the Prairie Grove course, run amongst 19th-century farm homes and across the pivotal areas of the Dec. 7, 1862, Battle of Prairie Grove, made the 1994 championship a once-in-a-lifetime event.

The NCAA was one of three championship events hosted in 1994. The Southeastern Conference elected to move Arkansas forward in its site rotation to hold its championship at Prairie Grove. The NCAA Preview Meet in early October doubled with the Chile Pepper Cross Country Festival III, which also set records for participation and attendance.

The Razorback cross country team became the first Arkansas women's athletic team to achieve national top 20 poll recognition. It was the Oct. 9, 1984 poll of the NCAA cross country committee that saw Arkansas break in at No. 19.

On Sept. 27, 1993, the Razorback women's cross country team made history again as the first Arkansas women's team to achieve the No. 1 national ranking. The 1993 team went on to reach a consensus No. 1 ranking later in the season and held the top position in every week of the poll. Since 1984, the Razorbacks have been a regular member of the cross country poll with the 1985, 2009 and 2010 seasons as the only time out of the final poll.

The final poll, listed below, is voted prior to the NCAA Championships.

Four-Time All-Conference

It isn't easy to finish among the top 14 runners at a conference championship and to do it four times is even more impressive. Six Razorbacks have accomplished the task, the first being Jackie Mota in the Southwest Conference days. Seven Razorbacks have done it in the SEC era with Denise Bargiachi and Christine Kalmer being the most recent.

Each year the membership of the University of Arkansas "A" Club votes on nominations for the University of Arkansas Hall of Honor. To be on the ballot, a former Arkansas student-athlete must have been at least a two-time letterwinner, a starter, all-conference or All-American and five years past their last competition for Arkansas. Current coaches or administrators are eligible after 10 years' service.

Melody (Sye) O'Reilly, 1996

Sept. 6, 1996, Melody (Sye) O'Reilly became the second Razorback woman in University of Arkansas history to receive induction into the University of Arkansas Sports Hall of Honor. By joining 1994 inductee basketball all-time leading scorer and legend Bettye Fiscus Dickey in the Hall of Honor, Sye's position as one of the greatest track and field athletes at Arkansas was complete.

Sye was the rock upon which former track coach, current executive associate athletic director, Bev Lewis built her program during the mid-1980s. The Ocean City, N.J., product was the first major East Coast female athlete to cross the Mississippi to run for Arkansas.

Her impact was immediate. Arkansas made three team appearances during her four cross country seasons. The Razorbacks' first two-time All-American in cross country, Sye paced Arkansas to its first top-10 finish at the NCAA Championship with 10th at the 1986 meet.

1987 was Sye's season. On the hills, she shattered the Arkansas marks for best 5,000-meter cross country performance - a record that stood for 11 years - with her blistering 16:34.29 at the Arkansas-hosted Southwestern Conference Championship. She backed it up at the end of November with a 16:36.82 for 14th at the NCAA Championship in Charlottesville, Va., as the front-runner for a ninth-place team finish.

The next week Sye paced Arkansas to a first-place finish among the associated team entries at The Athletic Congress national cross country championship. Her 20:12 at the New York City-hosted race also remains as the best 6,000-meter run in Razorback history as Sye was 10th overall and the second collegian at the national.

Sye's November to remember was just part of one of the best all-around individual track years in Razorback history. Earlier in 1987, she was the youngest entrant in the world-class field at the TAC/Mobil U.S. Indoor Championships, and captured the SWC 1,000-yard indoor title as well as All-America honors.

Sye became the first Razorback woman to earn five All-America honors in any sport - two cross country (1986 and 1987), two indoor track (1986 indoor mile and 1,000 meters) and one outdoors (1989 1,500 meters). She was an eight-time NCAA Championships qualifier.

Although she won only three SWC championships, the 1987 1,000 yards, 1989 indoor mile and 1989 outdoor 3,000 meters, she was one of Arkansas' highest point-scorers at the conference meets. She closed her collegiate career holding 10 Arkansas records. When the SWC selected all-decade teams to celebrate the 10th anniversary of women's championships, Sye was the only student-athlete named first team in cross country, indoor and outdoor track.

Bev (Rouse) Lewis, 1998

On Sept. 5, 1998, Bev (Rouse) Lewis became the first Razorback women's coach or administrator to join the University of Arkansas Sports Hall of Honor. It was fitting since she was both an outstanding coach and landmark administrator for the University of Arkansas. The current executive associate athletic director at the University, she established the Razorback women's cross country and track and field tradition.

Long before Lewis made her mark as an administrator in the former women's athletics department at the University of Arkansas, she was earning accolades as a coach of the Razorback women's cross country and track and field program. She served as the head coach for cross country and track for nine years, including one after she had been named women's athletics director.

Her teams claimed three major milestones in Razorback history. Her 1984 team was the first women's team to earn a national ranking. Two years later, she led Arkansas to its first ever women's top-10 finish at the NCAA Championships in any sport. The crowning achievement was the University's first women's Southwest Conference championship, earned by her 1988 team led by Sally Ramsdale and Jackie Mota. In 1990, she coached Team USA at the World Cross Country Championships before turning her full attention toward her duties as athletic director.

Under her direction, the former women's athletics department has shown incredible growth. She was instrumental in remarkable improvements in facilities, personnel and programs. Her management skills were recognized by Arkansas Business as she was named in 1996, 1997 and again in 1998 to the magazine's "Top 100 Women in Arkansas." She has served on the NCAA Championships Cabinet and the NCAA Management Council.

Deena (Drossin) Kastor, 2001

One of the most decorated athletes in Arkansas history and a two-time Olympian, Deena (Drossin) Kastor added another title to her lengthy resume at the games in Athens - bronze medalist. The 10-time All-American distance runner became the first Razorback woman in University of Arkansas history to make the U.S. Olympic team as a competitor in 2000 then the first American medalist in 2004. Kastor picked up her first international title with the 1997 World University Games gold medal in the 10,000 meters at the Italian-hosted games.

The five-time USA cross country champion captured two spots on Team USA for the 2000 Sydney Olympics, then returned in 2004 to take spots in the marathon and 10,000 meters. Competing in just the marathon in Athens, Kastor ran what could only be described by insiders as a near flawless tactical race when she crossed the Greek mainland from Marathon to the birthplace of the modern Olympic games in Athens in 2:27.20. Staying behind the leaders for most of the competition, Kastor was not affected by the heat of the day, then turned it up a notch when the sun began to fall and picked off competitors one by one until she entered the stadium in bronze-medal position.

Kastor is America's top world-class distance runner. In 2002, she was the silver medalist at the 30th IAAF World Cross Country Championships in Ireland and led Team USA to the team silver medal in the 8,000-meter long course competition. She broke the world record for 5,000 meters on the roads at the 2002 Carlsbad 5,000 meters with a 14:54 and became the first American since PattiSue Plumer in 1986 to hold the record. It came less than a month after crushing the American record for 15,000 meters.

A member of Team USA at the IAAF Championships since 1997, Kastor reached new heights in March 1999 at the Worlds hosted in Belfast, Ireland. After winning her second USA cross country title (long course), she was one of the early race leaders at the IAAF. Kastor finished 10th in the world with a 28:53. At the 1998 World Championships in Marrakech, Morocco, Kastor clocked a 27:06 to finish 21st overall leading the USA to a fifth-place team finish.

After representing the USA at Sydney, Kastor finished 12th in the world at the IAAF in Ostende, Belgium. She also became the first American in years to win the Boulder-Boulder and notched one of the fastest half-marathon times in the world at the USAT&F Championship.

In 2000, she won both the long (8K) and short (4K) USA cross country titles and had another top 15 finish at the IAAF Championships.

Amy (Yoder) Begley, 2006

There is a simple way to sum up Amy (Yoder) Begley's cross country career at Arkansas. Number One. The Kendallville, Ind., distance runner completed her cross country eligibility at Arkansas with the 1999 season and she left no significant Arkansas or Southeastern Conference record standing. Among her notable firsts: first woman to win three-consecutive SEC titles; first woman to receive three SEC Cross Country Runner of the Year awards; first SEC student-athlete to receive the Honda Award for cross country; first four-time cross country All-American at Arkansas. She was also the 2000 SEC Female Athlete of the Year and the winner of the 1999 Honda Award for Cross Country.

By the close of her senior year, she removed any doubt that she was the greatest distance runner in SEC history. A 15-time All-American, Yoder Begley won an astounding 15 SEC individual titles, the most ever for a female track athlete, and two NCAA Championships, the 2000 Indoor 5,000 and the 2001 Outdoor 10,000. Captaining the first back-to-back women's triple crown in SEC history, she was voted by the league's athletic directors as the Female Athlete of the Year in 2001. Yoder Begley is only the third track athlete, male or female, in SEC history to receive the all-sport Athlete of the Year honor.

From the day she arrived in Fayetteville, Yoder Begley held legend status. She was late for the start of fall classes, but with an outstanding excuse as she was busy taking two world junior titles in Australia. As a freshman, she ran in only five races due to the late start. She made up for lost time as Arkansas' front runner in all five meets, a place that she would yield only three times in her career. She was third at the SEC Cross Country Championship and 29th at NCAAs, two places she would never finish again.

Yoder Begley came into her own in 1997 with her first SEC Championship and a seventh-place finish at the NCAA Championships. She won or was second in every cross country race except the NCAAs, and only five collegians bested her all season.

As a junior, she became a dominant force. Capturing five meet titles including the Stanford Invitational along with the SEC and NCAA South Central Region Championships, Yoder Begley brought her team back to the SEC trophy. She destroyed the school record for the fastest 5,000-meter performance at Arkansas with a 16:29 at Chile Pepper. The year also marked her first appearance on the Honda Award ballot. In 1999, she and Arkansas had a date with destiny. The only significant achievements left for Yoder Begley were those set by Deena Drossin and her 1992 team. Drossin was national runner-up and the team took home the runner-up trophy at the Indiana-hosted NCAAs. On Nov. 22, 1999, Arkansas returned to the same course for the NCAA Championships.

Yoder Begley did not disappoint. Despite a late-season injury that slowed her at the regional meet, she took the race from the gun and held onto the lead until the closing 1,000 meters. She equaled Drossin with her second-place finish, and with teammate Lilli Kleinmann on her heels, led her team back to the awards stand for the first time since 1995. She capped her senior season with the one award that eluded Drossin - the Honda - as America's number one female cross country athlete.

Her achievements on the track were equally stunning. Currently the all-time leader for any woman, any sport, at Arkansas with 15 All-America honors, she won more SEC titles than any other Razorback woman, and became the first Arkansas athlete to win a national title at the Randal Tyson Track Center with her 5,000-meter NCAA Championship in 2000. Her victory in the 10,000 meters in 2001 made her the first double national champion for Arkansas women's track.

Lance Harter, 2006

The winningest coach in Razorback women's history, Lance Harter has brought 19 Southeastern Conference Championships to Fayetteville and nine NCAA trophies, including four second-place awards.

Included in Harter's impressive resume are the second and third Southeastern Conference triple crowns, titles in cross country, indoor and outdoor track in the same academic year, and his string of seven straight SEC titles is a conference record. He has twice led his cross country team to five straight SEC championships, a feat never duplicated, and his 1999 team recorded the conference's first perfect score of 15 at the league meet.

On the national level, Harter's 20+ years in Fayetteville have brought nine NCAA trophies back to campus including four national runner-up finishes with the most recent in 1999.

While Harter's teams have been impressive, the work that he has done with his student-athletes is even more so. Thirteen of Arkansas' 15 cross country All-Americans were students of Harter's, and among them, they earned a combined 24 honors. Deena (Drossin) Kastor and Amy (Yoder) Begley each finished their careers with NCAA cross country runner-up attached to their resume and Yoder Begley was Arkansas' and the SEC's first Female Athlete of the Year.

Harter's tutelage has not just been beneficial to a few Razorbacks, but to a wide range of runners. He has coached eight women to SEC Cross Country Championships over 20 years and an additional 30+ have earned all-conference honors, including a group of seven women who have accomplished that task in each of their four years on the cross country course.

Megan Flowers, 2008

One of the Razorbacks' best during her time, Flowers' career at Arkansas bridges the gap between previous inductees Deena (Drossin) Kastor and Amy (Yoder) Begley.

A career filled with honors and awards, Flowers holds the Razorback record for career winning percentage at 98.6%. During her tenure she won 2,189 races while losing just 30 times and tying three. When she completed her eligibility in 1997, she was Arkansas' career leader for races won with nine and now ranks second on the list behind Yoder Begley (12).

Her Arkansas records are certainly impressive, but even more so is her list of honors. She was a three-time All-American in cross country and took 10 All-America honors overall, including indoor and outdoor track, making her just one of three individuals in Arkansas history to post double-digit All-America honors. She was a three-time All-SEC performer as a harrier and also earned three all-region honors. Her 1995 cross country season was perhaps her most impressive as she ran away with the SEC individual championship, then finished fourth at the NCAA meet. The finish gave her the second All-America honor of her career and led to her being a finalist for the prestigious Honda Broderick award that season.

Flowers' cross country eligibility expired after the 1995 season and it was another banner year for the Fort Worth, Texas, native. She led the Razorbacks to their fifth-consecutive SEC team title and nearly repeated as the conference champion in the event but was barely edged at the finish. She earned her third cross country All-America honor that season and ended her career with the fifth-fastest 5,000-meter cross country race in Arkansas history.

Following her cross country career, Flowers continued to run on the Razorback women's track teams and following her collegiate eligibility she was named the NCAA Woman of the Year for the state of Arkansas in 1997 while also being tabbed as an SEC Boyd McWhorter nominee.

In the classroom, Flowers was a two-time ESPN the Magazine, then GTE, third-team academic All-American in 1994 and 1995 and a three-time all-district selection between 1995-97. She was named to the Cross Country Coaches Association of America's Academic team in 1995 and the SEC Academic Honor Roll in both 1995 and 1996.

Tracy Robertson, 2010

Tracy Robertson, a 2010 inductee, was a member of head coach Lance Harter's cross country and track and field teams from 1997-2001. She competed in cross country and distance events ranging from the 1,500 meters and the mile to the 3,000 meters. She is the 10th representative of women's cross country and track and field inducted into the UA Sports Hall of Honor.

A nine-time All-American for the Razorbacks' cross country and women's track and field program, Robertson was a key member of both of Arkansas' Southeastern Conference triple crown championship teams in 1999-2000 and 2000-01. She was named the SEC high point scorer at the 2000 SEC Indoor Championships after accumulating 26 points.

Robertson was part of eight SEC team championships while at Arkansas. She won the program's sixth individual NCAA Championship during the 2001 indoor track season in the mile besting the field by three seconds while setting a new personal best in the event with a time of 4:39.10. In the Arkansas record book, Robertson's mile personal best still ranks as the No. 5 time in school history.

Her All-America honors came in the 2000 and 2001 mile, the 1998, 2000, and 2001 3,000 meters and as a member of the distance medley relay in 1998 and 1999 during the indoor season. Outdoors, she picked up All-America status in the 2001 1,500 meters and the 1998 3,000 meters.

Robertson took home five SEC individual and relay titles in her four seasons. She won the SEC indoor mile in 2000 (4:41.12) and was part of the title-winning distance medley relay (11:31.80) in 1998. Outdoors, she took 1,500 meter titles in 1998 (4:25.90) and 2001 (4:20.89) and the 3,000-meter title in 1998 (9:35.82). Robertson was a nine-time All-SEC performer for the Razorbacks.

A native of Ottawa, Canada, Robertson earned her degree from the University of Arkansas before a brief professional career in track and field.

Jessica Dailey, 2012

In the ever-growing line of long-distance standouts for the University of Arkansas women's cross country and track and field programs, the name of Jessica Dailey shines brightly on the list of successful Razorbacks. Dailey donned the Cardinal and White for head coach Lance Harter and the Razorbacks from 1998-2000.

Dailey was a 12-time All-American for Arkansas, the second-largest collection by a Razorback, trailing only former teammate and fellow Hall of Honor member Amy Yoder Begley. In addition to her accomplishments at the national level, Dailey was an eight-time Southeastern Conference champion, earning at least two league titles in each of her three seasons in Fayetteville, and a nine-time All-SEC performer.

At the 2000 SEC Outdoor Championships in Baton Rouge, La., Dailey ran to a share of the Commissioner's Trophy as the meet's top female scorer. With her victories in the 1,500 and 3,000 meters and runner-up result in the 5,000 meters, she totaled 28 points. Dailey helped Arkansas win the outdoor SEC title that year, capping the team's run to the conference triple crown that season with victories in cross country, indoor track and field and outdoor track and field.

That season, Dailey was part of the highest-finishing national indoor team in program history. Arkansas finished third at the 2000 NCAA Indoor Championships. The momentum carried over to the outdoor season with Dailey and the Razorbacks posting a sixth-place performance at that year's NCAA Outdoor Championships.

Her name is still scattered throughout Arkansas' records book. Dailey owns the school record in the outdoor 5,000 meters with a time of 15:48.89 run at the 2000 Mt. SAC Relays. She ranks third all-time with 64 career points scored at the SEC Outdoor Championships and fifth with 48.5 career points scored at the SEC Indoor Championships.

Dailey was as accomplished away from the track as she was on it. In 2000, she was the NCAA Woman of the Year for the state of Arkansas and went on to become the first Razorback selected as one of the top 10 national finalists for the overall award. For her achievements in the classroom, Dailey was also recognized as a three-time CoSIDA Academic All-American.

Edel Hackett, 2013

Edel Hackett earned All-America status and won four Southwest Conference championships during her accomplished cross country and track and field career at the University of Arkansas.

A member of the team's potent distance crew, she was a two-time conference indoor champion in the two-mile run during the 1983 (10:40.59) and 1984 (10:26.20) seasons and collected titles in the 3,000 meters (9:25.64) and the 5,000 meters (16:52.08) at the 1984 outdoor conference meet. That same season, she continued her momentum at the NCAA Championships with an All-America performance in the 5,000 meters.

Hackett was a four-time NCAA Cross Country Championship participant and was the program's lone representative in 1983 and 1985. In 1982, she helped lead the Razorbacks to a regional cross country championship in the first year of regional competition. Arkansas went on to earn a 16th-place finish at the NCAA meet. Hackett was named to the all-region team in cross country in 1985 and earned All-SWC honors in cross country in 1983 and 1984.

The 2013 class will be inducted during the Hall of Honor weekend, Aug. 30-31. Hall of Honor weekend includes a golf tournament at the Fayetteville Country Club and an induction banquet at the Holiday Inn Convention Center in Springdale. Inductees will also be recognized during half-time Arkansas' season opening football game against Louisiana at Donald W. Reynolds Razorback Stadium.

The Arkansas cross country team has a reputation, championship-caliber performance both in the classroom and on the course.

During his years as head coach, Lance Harter's cross country teams have produced 19 Capital One Academic All-America honors as selected by CoSIDA, 30+ runners named to the Cross Country Coaches' Association team and several other scholastic awards and postgraduate grants.

In 1995, Harter's team became one of the first programs to receive the Academic All-America Cross Country Team award. It has since won the honor nine times. Harter added the honor as the top academic team in the nation by the Collegiate Track & Field Coaches Association in 2002.

One of the greatest combinations of classroom and cross country talent was Andreina Byrd. Not only did she sweep the SEC's athletic awards by winning the 2001 meet and receiving the Athlete of the Year from the league's cross country coaches, she used her 4.00 GPA to become the Academic All-American of the Year. Byrd also was named the No. 1 track athlete in the country for athletic and academic achievement by the coaches' association.

Byrd follows in the footsteps of a true scholar-athlete legend, Amy Yoder Begley. Another Capital One Academic All-American as selected by CoSIDA, she was named the NCAA Woman of the Year for the state of Arkansas and voted by the SEC athletic directors as the Female Athlete of the Year. In her final semester at Arkansas, Yoder Begley won her second NCAA title to claim her 15th All-America honor, she also posted a perfect 4.00 GPA for the semester.

Arkansas' history as a center for athletes and academics goes back to the early '90s when Razorbacks were earning All-America honors on the course and academic honors from the University and national organizations. Since that time, five have garnered national recognition in both areas while each of Arkansas' 14 All-Americans have earned some type of academic award.

NCAA Woman of the Year

Representing Arkansas for scholarship, service and athletics

Every year Arkansas nominates one woman to be considered the NCAA Woman of the Year. Prior to 2005, Arkansas' nominee was judged against other women from the state of Arkansas, but the program changed and now nominees are forwarded to the NCAA by their respective conferences.

The University of Arkansas has been very fortunate to have more than 10 of their nominees make it to the final 50 selected for the Woman of the Year banquet. The last cross country runner was Amy Yoder Begley in 2001 and is one of four Razorback women's cross country runners to advance to the final stages of the award.

The YOU of A

The University of Arkansas provides a student-centered learning experience focused on research, innovation and outreach as a part of educating future leaders. Consistently ranked among the top public universities and best values in the U.S., the U of A is classified among the top two percent of institutions nationwide with the highest possible level of research activity.

The university's 25,000 students represent all 50 states and more than 120 countries. The U of A has 10 colleges and schools offering more than 210 academic programs — while maintaining a low student-to-faculty ratio that promotes personal attention and mentoring opportunities.

Founded in 1871, the university is the oldest publicly supported institution in the state and is the flagship of the University of Arkansas System. The U of A campus features distinctive architecture, including its signature building, Old Main, finished in 1875. The iconic building now houses the J. William Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences. The college is named in honor of former U of A President (and, later, U.S. Senator) J. William Fulbright, who helped create the prestigious international scholarship and fellowship programs that bear his name.

The university promotes undergraduate research in virtually every discipline and has an outstanding national reputation in many areas, including agriculture, architecture, business, creative writing, engineering, high-density electronics and nanoscience, as well as sustainability and environmental sciences. Programs such as Supply Chain Management, Rehabilitation Counseling, Industrial Engineering and Biological and Agricultural Engineering rank among the best in the country.

The University of Arkansas offers a vibrant campus life that is culturally, intellectually and socially enriching. On our campus you'll find more than 300 registered student organizations, from special interest to professional groups, as well as 33 Greek organizations, making it easy and rewarding to get involved. Every semester offers opportunities to attend musical performances, theater productions, art exhibits, concerts, free films, poetry readings, visiting speakers and hundreds of other varied events.

Visit arkansas.edu for more information about the University of Arkansas.

HISTORIC SENIOR WALK

As you make your way around campus, you're sure to notice something unique about many of the sidewalks. Historic Senior Walk showcases the names of more than 150,000 University of Arkansas graduates, grouped by year of graduation. Senior Walk is the university's longest tradition in both length and years. It's concrete proof of the university's commitment to students.

Senior Walk is also a perfect example of how the University of Arkansas celebrates its history and traditions while focusing on innovations for the future. When the costs involved in hand-etching names into concrete forced numerous other universities to give up, the U of A turned to its physical plant and engineering school grads to create a one-of-a-kind computerized sandblasting machine: the SandHog. Each summer, the SandHog roars across campus etching the names of new graduates into sidewalks.

Arkansas is a natural wonder of forests, mountains and lakes framed by picturesque rivers and streams. Some of the nation's best outdoor amenities and most spectacular hiking trails are within a short drive of campus.

OLD MAIN

One of the original buildings on Arkansas' campus, Old Main symbolizes the strong connection to the past and the focus upon the future which come together in the present at the University of Arkansas. Completed in 1875, Old Main stood the test of time until the mid-1980s when age and modern building codes threatened to send it to the wrecking ball as had happened to its sister building at the University of Illinois. A major fund-raising campaign by alumni totally renovated Old Main. Reopening in 1992, the building maintains the feel of a Victorian-era building with high ceilings and elaborate wooden trim. Just below the surface of the period hardwood floors, Old Main is hard-wired to the internet and built to last well into its second century.

Even with renovation, Old Main remained unfinished until 2005. One of the gifts during the Campaign for the Twenty-First Century specified the installation of a clock, originally planned for the blank faces of the south tower.

As mentioned, Old Main was built from shared plans with its counterpart on the Illinois campus, with one important difference. The north tower of Arkansas' Old Main is taller than the south tower. Legend says this was symbolic of the Civil War as the lead engineer was a northern veteran.

BEYOND CAMPUS

Fayetteville is routinely considered among the country's finest college towns and the surrounding Northwest Arkansas region is regularly ranked one of the best places to live in the U.S. You'll find a number of attractions that will contribute to a rich college experience.

Three of America's largest corporations have their world headquarters in the region: Walmart, Tyson Foods and J.B. Hunt Transportation, Inc. Their close proximity to the U of A campus, along with their executives' and employees' active involvement in university life, offers students and faculty exceptional opportunities for research partnerships, internships, and post-graduation employment.

Chancellor Dr. G. David Gearhart

Dr. G. David Gearhart became the chancellor of the University of Arkansas on July 1, 2008. Before that he served for 10 years as vice chancellor for university advancement. In that position he oversaw the most successful capital campaign in Arkansas history, the Campaign for the Twenty-First Century, which raised more than $1 billion. The Campaign transformed the U of A in many ways including substantial increases in faculty fellowships and student scholarships, as well as major capital improvements, and the creation of the Honors College.

As Chancellor, Dr. Gearhart implemented a $243 million campus building renovation and refurbishment plan, as well as a campus-wide energy savings plan. Dr. Gearhart also developed a major cost savings program that has already resulted in $62 million in cost reduction and savings for the flagship campus since 2009. Campus enrollment has also grown by nearly 6,000 students in the past five years and the fall 2013 enrollment is expected to exceed 25,000 students for the first time in school history. At the same time, diversity in the student body has increased significantly.

A Fayetteville native, Dr. Gearhart received his bachelor of arts degree from Westminster College in Missouri. He earned his law degree and his doctor of education degree at the University of Arkansas.

Before joining the U of A administration he served as senior vice president of Penn State University, during which time he was named a Fulbright Scholar, studying at Oxford University in Oxford, England. He and his wife Jane have been married for 38 years and have two children and three grandchildren.

DR. SHARON HUNT FACULTY ATHLETICS REPRESENTATIVE

Chancellor G. David Gearhart appointed Dr. Sharon Hunt to be the faculty athletics representative (FAR) for the University of Arkansas in August 2010.

Dr. Hunt is the first woman and non-lawyer to hold the post. Dr. Hunt has been on the University of Arkansas faculty since 1990, and she served as the department head of the recently renamed Department of Health, Human Performance and Recreation from July 1, 1990 until June 30, 2011 except for the 2000-01 academic year, when she served as the interim dean of the College of Education and Health Professions. On June 30, 2011 Dr. Hunt stepped down as department head and returned to the faculty at the rank of Professor giving her more time to devote to the FAR position.

A high school athlete, Hunt's involvement with collegiate athletics dates back to her own college days at the University of Arkansas when she played extramural sports with the women's basketball and tennis teams prior to the enactment of Title IX. After receiving her bachelor's and master's degrees in physical education from the university, she went on to earn a Doctor of Education degree from the University of Georgia, where she taught a variety of undergraduate courses as a graduate assistant. Upon the completion of her doctoral degree, she joined the faculty of the University of Kentucky for 13 years, where she taught both undergraduate and graduate courses and served as the graduate coordinator for the Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation. In 1990, she and her family returned to Fayetteville.

The FAR's responsibilities lie in three broad areas: academic integrity within the athletics program, student-athlete well-being, and institutional control of the athletics program. Dr. Hunt is involved in the student-athlete advisory council on campus and chairs the Academic Credential Review Committee and Athletic's Academic Integrity Committee, and serves as an ex-officio member of the Faculty Athletics Committee. In addition, she travels to represent the University of Arkansas at various SEC and NCAA meetings.

Dr. Hunt was instrumental in establishing the graduate athletic training education program in the College of Education and Health Professions, and she has worked closely with athletics on that program. The athletics department provides support to students in the athletic training education program in the form of a stipend, books and travel to the Arkansas Athletic Trainers' Association annual meeting. Two endowed scholarships for athletic training students in honor of longtime Razorback trainers Dean Weber and the late Bill Ferrell were established through the athletics department. Dr. Hunt has been married to David Hunt since 1973, and they have an adult son and daughter as well as one grandson and granddaughter.

Jeff Long

VICE CHANCELLOR AND DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

Entering his sixth full year as Vice Chancellor and Director of Athletics, Jeff Long has helped transform the University of Arkansas' Department of Intercollegiate Athletics into one of the most successful and nationally respected programs in the country. Along the way, Long has gained national attention and earned numerous awards for his progressive leadership of a program encompassing 19 sports and more than 460 student-athletes.

Long leads a comprehensive athletics program committed to the development of student-athletes academically, athletically and socially. A member of Chancellor G. David Gearhart's Executive Committee, Long is helping to chart the course for the future of higher education at the University of Arkansas while integrating Razorback Athletics into the campus community.

Long's leadership and unwavering commitment to the student-athletes and maintaining integrity within intercollegiate athletics has not gone unnoticed. In 2013, Long was named as an Under Armour Athletics Director of the Year for the Football Bowl Subdivision. In 2012, Long was named a finalist for the SportsBusiness Journal and SportsBusiness Daily Athletic Director of the Year. In the spring of 2012, the Donald W. Reynolds Foundation and longtime chairman Fred W. Smith made a combined gift of more than $1.25 million to the program in recognition of Long's leadership of Razorback Athletics.

In each of the past four years, Razorback Athletics has transferred funds totaling more than $1 million to support the university's academic mission. The department's total support of university and student programs and initiatives includes $1.9 million in direct funding of academic programs. In 2012, Razorback Athletics committed an additional $1.2 million annually to help fund a new classroom and laboratory building to serve the entire University of Arkansas student population.

In Long's tenure, Arkansas has captured 15 conference championships and advanced to 81 post-season competitions, including the school's first Bowl Championship Series appearance in football and a national title at the 2013 NCAA Men's Indoor Track and Field Championships. In 2012-13, Arkansas finished No. 23 in the Learfield Sports Directors Cup, a year-long competition ranking the nation's most successful intercollegiate athletic programs, marking the fifth time in the past six years the Razorbacks have finished in the top 25.

In the classroom, the Razorbacks continue to set new standards including posting a school record student-athlete grade point average of 3.09 in 2012-13. It marked the fifth consecutive year Razorback student-athletes posted a GPA exceeding 3.0. In 2013, for the first time in history, Arkansas exceeded the national APR multi-year rate in all 19 sports and had a record five teams earn NCAA Public Recognition awards. Graduation success rates continue to rise with a total of 94 current or former Razorback student-athletes graduating in 2012-13.

Student-athlete development has also been a priority including the establishment of the Razorback Leadership Academy, the first of its kind in the Southeastern Conference. In the community, Razorback student-athletes are more active than ever volunteering more than 6,500 hours of time for more various agencies, organizations and schools around the state.

One of the nation's most active athletic directors on Twitter, Long embraces the opportunity to interact with members of the Razorback Nation whether in person or through social media.

Long was selected to replace legendary athletic director and former Razorback football coach Frank Broyles and even before he officially took the reins on Jan. 1, 2008, Arkansas announced that it would combine its previously independent men's and women's athletic programs into one combined athletic program. Long adeptly blended the men's and women's athletic departments into one unified department and established a new administrative structure.

Long has also worked tirelessly to maintain long-time relationships and to forge new relationships for the benefit of the Razorback program including extending Arkansas' relationship with War Memorial Stadium and partnering with former Razorback Jerry Jones to develop the Southwest Classic, a football series with Texas A&M played at the spectacular Cowboys Stadium.

Under Long's leadership, the program has fortified its financial standing ensuring more support for the development of student-athletes. According to USA Today, Arkansas is one of only 23 financially self-sustaining Division I-A athletic programs in the nation.

As economic indicators were beginning to point toward challenging economic times, Long signed Arkansas to a deal with IMG College to form Razorback Sports Properties that guarantees the Razorback program $73 million during the course of the decade-long agreement.

Long also negotiated an extensive all sports apparel and footwear agreement with NIKE, Inc. that will outfit all 19 Razorback sports programs through the 2014-15 season. In December 2012, Forbes Magazine estimated the value of the Razorback Football program at $83 million, ranking the University of Arkansas in the top 10 nationally for the second consecutive year.

In 2010, Long moved to help meet the growing financial needs of fielding a nationally competitive all sports program. The athletic department launched the "Answer the Call" campaign through the Razorback Foundation which resulted in more than 2,600 new members and helped generate more than $6.5 million in additional support for Razorback student-athletes. In 2012, Long guided the program to a record breaking fundraising year further bolstering Arkansas' financial strength.

With an eye towards the future, Long commissioned a comprehensive plan to assess the future facility needs of the program. Unveiled in October 2011, the Razorback Athletic Facilities Master Plan provided a vision and the road map for $320 million of facility renovations and additions that will help all 19 Razorback sports remain competitive in the Southeastern Conference and nationally over the next 30 years. The first major project from the master plan, the $40 million Fred W. Smith Football Center, opened in the summer of 2013. Three other facilities, a Student-Athlete Success Center, a basketball indoor practice facility and a baseball and track indoor training facility have all been approved and are moving forward to construction. As part of the next step in the plan, a market and cost analysis study is being conducted on a potential north end zone expansion to Donald W. Reynolds Razorback Stadium.

According to a recent economic impact study, Razorback Athletics will have an estimated economic impact of more than $1 billion in the next five years. The study estimated that Razorback Athletics generates $153.6 million annually to the region's economy including the benefits of drawing more than a million fans annually to campus to cheer on the Razorbacks. Planned athletic construction during the course of the next five years will generate another $239.7 million.

A veteran administrator with a track record of the highest commitment to the concept of "student-athlete," Long has had more than two decades of experience in athletic administration at the Division I level including at the University of Pittsburgh, University of Oklahoma, University of Michigan, Virginia Tech University, Eastern Kentucky University and Rice University. Long also understands the coach's perspective from time spent in coaching staff positions at Duke University, University of Michigan and North Carolina State University.

His experience as an athletic director and administrator in five of the six Bowl Championship Series conferences – the Big 12, Big Ten, Big East, Atlantic Coast and SEC - gives Long a uniquely informed perspective on intercollegiate athletics.

On the forefront of NCAA governance, Long has served on the NCAA Management Council, the NCAA's Sports Wagering Task Force and as a member of the Executive Committee of the Division I-A Athletic Directors' Association. Long currently serves on the NCAA Championships/Sports Management Cabinet.

Prior to assuming his current roles at Arkansas, Long served for four years as the athletic director at the University of Pittsburgh. Long redefined Pitt athletics, most notably through the "Quest for Excellence" campaign that raised nearly $34 million to enhance the student-athlete experience. During his tenure the Panthers' were selected as the No. 17 overall program in the nation in the December 2006 Sports Illustrated on Campus' All-Sport Rankings.

Before arriving at Pitt, Long was senior associate athletic director at Oklahoma for two and a half years overseeing external affairs for the Sooners. In addition, Long was the primary administrator for the Sooners' highly successful football and men's basketball programs, along with sport supervision of baseball, wrestling and both golf teams.

Long's first appointment as a director of athletics was at Eastern Kentucky where he served for two and a half years. Prior to Eastern, Long had a brief stay with Virginia Tech as an associate athletics director.

He began his career in college athletic administration at Michigan, hired by legendary coach and athletics director, the late Bo Schembechler. During his seasons with the Wolverines, Long was promoted through a series of posts to the position of associate athletics director.

A former two-sport athlete at Ohio Wesleyan, Long earned seven varsity letters for the Bishops in football and baseball before completing his degree in economics in 1982. He started his post-graduate career in athletics working on head coach Tom Reed's staff as a graduate assistant football coach at the cradle of coaches, Miami University of Ohio. Long earned his master's in education at Miami in 1983, moving on to football staff positions at Rice, Duke and N.C. State prior to joining Michigan.

An Ohio native from Kettering, Long is married to the former Fanny Gellrich of Ann Arbor, Mich. The Longs have two daughters, Stephanie and Christina.

During the campaign, Lewis received one of her greatest personal honors as Bob and Marilyn Bogle requested that Arkansas' new facility be named the Bev Lewis Center for Women's Athletics. The Foundation assists our student-athletes by providing for scholarships, facilities and various programs that enable them to realize their dreams of achieving a quality college education while participating in athletics on a nationally competitive level.

ABOUT THE FOUNDATION

Performing the vital role of supporting the student-athletes at the University of Arkansas with financial support, the Razorback Foundation, Inc., is in its fourth decade of working alongside the athletic department to advance Razorback Athletics.

Over the past several years, with the support of our dedicated members, the Razorback Foundation has experienced dynamic growth in multiple areas. Our membership and annual fund dollars have continued to grow each year and this growth can be directly attributed to the passion and commitment of those who love the Razorbacks. Additionally, the Razorback Foundation played a role in securing Capital gifts, that resulted in the construction of the Fred W. Smith Football Center, which was completed in the summer of 2013.

The Foundation, officially incorporated and relocated off campus in 1988, has also helped provide financial aid for the construction and/or renovation of the Broyles Athletic Center (football and administrative offices), Charlie Baum Stadium at George Cole Field (baseball), John McDonnell Field (outdoor track and field), Randal Tyson Track Center (indoor track and field), Dills Indoor Tennis Center, the George M. Billingsley Tennis Center (outdoor), Donald W. Reynolds Razorback Stadium (football) and Bogle Park (women's softball). In the future, as new facilities are planned and others enhanced, we will again need the support of all those who have a strong desire to provide the very best for our student-athletes and the University of Arkansas.
