GOODBYE TO DR. DIRK PHILIPP, FACULTY IN RESIDENCE

Dirk Philipp, Assistant Professor in Animal Science, has served as the Faculty in Residence (FIR) for the past three years in Residence Education. The Faculty in Residence position was created to help strengthen the academic/intellectual cultures of the residence halls at the University of Arkansas. Throughout his three years as the FIR, Dr. Philipp worked to foster and shape the social, cultural, and educational life of residential students and connected with both individual students as well as groups of residents in order to promote the values of academic success and citizenship/community engagement. Dr. Philipp coordinated and lead several educational activities per semester in collaboration with Resident Assistants from various residence halls. In three years Dirk participated in over 40 events sponsored through Residence Education. In addition to programs on campus, Dirk attended a service trip to Galveston, TX over Thanksgiving break in Fall 2008 and two Alternative Spring Break service trips with students in southwest Arkansas in Spring 2010 and Spring 2011. Highlights from his time as the FIR include:

- A tree planting and volunteering for the Illinois River Watershed partnership
- Fall of the Berlin Wall – a video presentation including student discussion
- A Haunted hayride at Devil's Den State Park
- A Gentry Zoo visit with Holcombe Hall students
- A movie event "The Boy in Striped Pajamas" preceded by a discussion on Nazi Germany with the history professor J. Laurence Hare

We would like to take the time to thank Dirk for all of his hard work and dedication over the past three years. We will certainly miss Dirk as he moves on from his role as FIR and wish him the best!

TRASH TO TREASURE: WRAP-UP

Our traditional Trash to Treasure sale was June 10th & 11th. We collected $1010.50 for the Fayetteville Animal Shelter from the sale of items our residents left behind this academic year. Even though, this was the largest amount ever collected at Trash to Treasure there were still a lot of leftovers! Two sofas were donated to assist an Iraqi family participating in a resettlement program and the remaining items were donated to the Joplin relief effort.

WHAT'S THE BIG DEAL WITH WEBCHECKIN?

WebCheckIn is an online tool used to check in students as they arrive on campus.

When a student is checked in through WebCheckIn, the information is immediately available to all staff. This information is important for the following reasons:

1. Worried parents call to see if their student has arrived. When WebCheckIn is used correctly, this information is in the database.
2. In the event of a building or campus emergency, there is an accurate list of which and how many students should be accounted for.
3. Check-in numbers are used to make staffing decisions and to identify problems.

The last reason is the heaviest use of WebCheckIn information. Numbers are watched constantly during move-in days and reports are sent hourly to Student Affairs, Chartwells and Housing Staff.

When the numbers do not change as they should for a particular building, it indicates a problem. Often the problem is a failure to follow procedure but sometimes it can indicate an area is overwhelmed and needs help.

These numbers are also used at the end of one move-in day to determine staffing levels for each building for the next move-in day. An example: for at least the last two years, Reid Hall has about 95% of their residents checked in on the Sunday early move-in day. Once a hall has most of its residents moved-in, their assigned move-in staff and volunteers can be moved to busy areas.

Remember:

- Check in students through WebCheckIn as they arrive.
- Only check-in students to the room to which they are assigned in WebCheckIn.
- Report any outage or technical problems.
