

2014

Animal Science E-Newsletter, December 2014

University of Arkansas, Fayetteville. Department of Animal Sciences

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarworks.uark.edu/ansc-eneews>

Citation

University of Arkansas, Fayetteville. Department of Animal Sciences. (2014). Animal Science E-Newsletter, December 2014. Animal Science e-Newsletter. Retrieved from <https://scholarworks.uark.edu/ansc-eneews/19>

This Periodical is brought to you for free and open access by the Animal Science at ScholarWorks@UARK. It has been accepted for inclusion in Animal Science e-Newsletter by an authorized administrator of ScholarWorks@UARK. For more information, please contact ccmiddle@uark.edu.

Animal Science E-Newsletter

December 2014

ANSC Quadrathlon Team Selected

On Dec. 4, a tie breaker quiz bowl was held to determine who would represent the Department of Animal Science at the Southern Sectional Academic Quadrathlon in Georgia in January. The tie-breaker was comprised of three rounds, and each team won a round. The rounds included questions covering all aspects of animal science from genetics to meat science and dairy, including equine and small animal questions. In the end, the winning team won by one question.

Caleb Crelian, Lyndsie McGee, Lensey Watson and Hunter Burnett work together to identify items from the university farms and abattoir.

“It was obvious that these students were well prepared,” said Dr. Janel Yancey, staff advisor for the team.

The students that will represent the university are Hunter Burnett of Greenbrier, Caleb Crelian of Dayton, Lyndsie McGee of Quitman and Lensey Watson of DeCatur.

They will compete against universities from the southern U.S. The four parts will include a lab practicum, written exam, oral presentation, and a quiz bowl competition. }

Animal Science Christmas Party

On December 9, the Department of Animal Science faculty, staff and graduate students met up at The Catfish Hole for their annual Christmas Party. The party included an “ugly sweater” competition, dirty Santa gift exchange and of course lots of good food and excellent company.

