Classical studies are the oldest discipline in the humanities and will teach you a lot about why our world is the way it is. Based on the Greek and Latin literature, the Classics remain essential to many fields in the liberal arts, including the study of ancient art, architecture, history, mythology, and philosophy. Based on Greek and Latin literature, the program draws faculty from five different departments. In addition to Greek and Latin, courses are offered on various aspects of classical civilization. Study abroad options in Greek and Italy are available.

Requirements for a Major in Classical Studies: In addition to the University Core (http://catalog.uark.edu/undergraduateregulations/universitycore/) requirements and the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences Graduation Requirements (p. 271), the following departmental and major course requirements must be met.

<thead>
<tr>

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Students should also complete appropriate courses from the following:

- 15 hours of Ancient Greek or 15 hours of Latin.
- 18 hours of additional work in classical languages and/or specific classical studies-related electives, to be selected from the following courses:
  - ARCH 2233: History of Architecture I
  - ARHS 4833: Ancient Art (prerequisite ARHS 2913 Art History Survey I)
  - ARHS 4843: Medieval Art (prerequisite ARHS 2913 Art History Survey I)
  - CLST 2323: Greek and Roman Mythology
  - HIST 4003: Democratic Athens
  - HIST 4013: Alexander the Great and the Hellenistic World
  - HIST 4023: Roman Republic
  - HIST 4043: Late Antiquity and the Early Middle Ages
  - HIST 4053: Late Middle Ages
  - PHIL 4003: Ancient Greek Philosophy (prerequisite 3 hours of philosophy)
  - PHIL 4013: Platonism and Origin of Christian Theology (prerequisite 3 hours of philosophy)
  - PHIL 4023: Medieval Philosophy

- 3 Hours of Classical Studies Colloquium

Total Hours: 54

1 Honors students who complete the HUMN 1114H, HUMN 1124H, HUMN 2114H (H2P) sequence will have fulfilled the World Civilization HIST 1113 and HIST 1123 requirement for this major as well as the major's 6-hour Humanities requirement (equivalent of WLIT 1113 and WLIT 1123).
2 This fulfills 6 hours of social science university/state core; the remaining 3 hours in the social science core must be fulfilled by a non-HIST social science university/state core course.
3 No more than nine hours of electives from the medieval period may be applied to the major requirements.

Total Units in Sequence: 120

1. Meets 40-hour advanced credit hour requirement. See College Academic Regulations (p. 271).

2. Meets 24-hour rule (24 hours of 3000-4000 level courses in Fulbright College), in addition to meeting the 40-hour rule. See College Academic Regulations (p. 271).

* Note: 1003 Elementary I world language courses may not count towards the 120 hours required for degree credit; see College Admission Requirements for further details.

Requirements for a Minor in Classical Studies:
Students should select appropriate courses from the following areas:

1. 9 hours of Ancient Greek or Latin courses numbered above 2000,
2. 6 hours of additional work in classical languages and/or specific classical studies-related electives, to be selected from the following courses:

   - ARCH 2233 History of Architecture I
   - ARHS 4833 Ancient Art
   - ARHS 4843 Medieval Art
   - CLST 1003 Introduction to Classical Studies: Greece
   - CLST 1013 Introduction to Classical Studies: Rome
   - CLST 2323 Greek and Roman Mythology
   - HIST 4003 Democratic Athens
   - HIST 4013 Alexander the Great and the Hellenistic World
   - HIST 4023 Roman Republic
   - HIST 4043 Late Antiquity and the Early Middle Ages
   - HIST 4053 Late Middle Ages
   - PHIL 4003 Ancient Greek Philosophy
   - PHIL 4013 Platonism and Origin of Christian Theology
   - PHIL 4023 Medieval Philosophy
3. Three hours of a classical studies colloquium (CLST 4003H).

Requirements for Honors in Classical Studies: The Honors Program in Classical Studies gives students of high ability the opportunity to strengthen their study of classics by intensifying their experience with ancient languages and cultures.

In addition to the requirements for graduation with a major in classical studies and the general college requirements for a B.A. degree, honors candidates in classical studies must

1. Be accepted as honors candidates by the Classical Studies Committee,
2. Complete at least three semesters in a second classical language,
3. Enroll in at least two 1-hour units of CLST 399VH and pursue independent-study topics under the guidance of classical studies faculty,
4. Enroll for two hours of CLST 399VH and write an honors thesis, and
5. Defend and discuss their entire honors program in an oral examination.

Successful completion of the requirements will be recognized by the award of the distinction “Classical Studies Scholar Cum Laude” at graduation. Higher degree distinctions are recommended only in truly exceptional cases and are based upon the whole of the candidate’s program of honors studies.

Communication Department Website (https://fulbright.uark.edu/departments/communication/)

The Department of Communication offers a major leading to the Bachelor of Arts degree in communication as well as a minor in communication.

As a subject for academic study, communication bridges the humanities and the social sciences. It focuses on all forms and modes of communication and its consequences for individuals, groups, organizations, communities, and cultures. Our program of study applies communication theory and principles to a wide variety of settings, including interpersonal relationships, business and political systems, cultural interaction and communication technologies.

Communication students may concern themselves with the dynamics of persuasion, media technologies, gender roles, the family, organizational structures, cultural myths, and rhetoric. Because the program offers many diverse interests, there is a place for anyone with a genuine curiosity about human communication and its effect upon society.

The Department of Communication offers courses in five principal areas of study, though students can also choose to follow a broad range of courses across these areas:

- Film studies
- Interpersonal communication
- Mediated communication
- Organizations and communities
- Rhetoric and public communication

Communication majors from recent graduating classes now hold positions in government and public affairs, business, public relations, non-profit organizations, education, and media. Many others successfully pursue further education in graduate and professional schools.

Admission Requirements for a Major in Communication: For standing as a major, entering freshmen must have ACT composite scores of 20 or higher, and those transferring into the program after the first semester of college study must have a cumulative grade-point average of 2.00 or higher.

University and College Requirements for a Major in Communication: In addition to the university/state core requirements (http://catalog.uark.edu/undergraduatecatalog/academicrogulations/universitycore/) and the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences Graduation Requirements (see under College Academic Regulations and Degree Completion Policy (p. 271)), the following course requirements must be met. Bolded courses from the list below may be applied to portions of the University/state minimum core requirements.

Requirements for Honors in the Department of Communication: The Honors Program in communication gives an opportunity for a student to achieve an additional level of intellectual growth and a satisfaction of accomplishment. A student engages in independent research and writing, under the supervision of a member of the communication faculty, and participates in special honors classes, seminars, and colloquia.

Faculty recognize outstanding achievement by a student by recommending that the bachelor’s degree in communication be awarded with the distinction “Communication Scholar Cum Laude.” Higher distinctions may be awarded to truly outstanding students based upon the whole of their academic program and quality of honors research.

To enter the Honors Program, a student must possess a 3.5 minimum grade-point average on all academic work and receive the recommendation of a faculty member in communication to the Honors Council of Fulbright College. A student may pursue an independent research program of a historical, critical, descriptive, or experimental nature, within any of the areas of rhetorical or communication theory, history of public address, interpersonal, small-group, or organizational communication, persuasion, argumentation, political communication, freedom of speech, communication education, or in any closely related areas of inquiry. A student interested in mass communications, broadcasting, or film may choose to pursue either a research project or a creative study. In addition to satisfying the general college and departmental requirements for a bachelor’s degree, a student must satisfy departmental honors requirements, which include the following:

1. Become an honors candidate no later than the junior year of study. Students are encouraged to establish honors candidacy as early as possible.
2. Enroll in COMM 3991H no later than the junior year of study.
3. Enroll in COMM 499VH a minimum of one hour of credit each semester after the completion of COMM 3991H and until completion of the honors thesis.
4. Achieve a 3.5 minimum grade-point average in communication.
5. Complete 12 hours (which may include 6 hours of thesis) in Honors Studies, and
6. Write and successfully defend before a faculty examining committee a thesis based on the investigative or creative project undertaken in COMM 499VH.

For a full description of the Honors Program and its requirements, consult with the Undergraduate Director in the Department of Communication.

Department of Sociology and Criminology Website (https://fulbright.uark.edu/departments/sociology/)
The Department of Sociology and Criminology offers a major leading to a Bachelor of Arts degree in criminology. The Criminology BA provides marketable skills and knowledge that relate to crime prevention, law enforcement, and the court system. The program in criminology is comprehensive, adding the skills in research, theory, and data analytics that prepare students beyond an understanding of criminal procedures or evidence. This major will educate students in the complexities of criminal behavior and familiarize them with the justice system processes and the causes, correlations and consequences of criminal behavior. The department offers robust undergraduate internship opportunities (https://fulbright.uark.edu/departments/sociology/internships/) that help criminology students develop a better understanding of a prospective career and determine whether their interests match a chosen career path, while simultaneously gaining experience with professionals in the field.
The department also offers a major in sociology (https://fulbright.uark.edu/departments/sociology/), double major in criminology and sociology, a minor in sociology (https://fulbright.uark.edu/departments/sociology/undergraduate/minor-in-sociology.php) and a fully online minor in criminal justice (https://online.uark.edu/programs/minor-criminal-justice.php).

For requirements for an M.A. degree in sociology, with criminology concentration, see the Graduate School Catalog (p. 1525).

University and College Requirements for a Bachelor of Arts in Criminology: In addition to the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences Graduation Requirements (see under Degree Completion Program Policy (http://catalog.uark.edu/undergraduatecatalog/collegesandschools/jwilliamfulbrightcollegeofartsandsciences/)), the following course requirements must be met. Bolded courses from the course list below may be applied to portions of the University/state minimum core requirements (http://catalog.uark.edu/undergraduatecatalog/academicregulations/universitycore/).

University Residency Requirement Electives 2
40-hour Rule Electives 4
General Electives 33
Total Hours 120

For transfer students, a minimum of 18 hours of coursework in the major at the University of Arkansas is required.

Writing Requirement: To fulfill the Fulbright College writing requirement, each criminology major will submit, prior to graduation, a substantial research or analytical paper, with a grade of “A” or “B” from an upper-division criminology course (3000-, 4000-, or 5000-level) to their departmental adviser. Satisfactory completion of an honors project or a senior thesis may fulfill this requirement.
Criminology B.A.
Eight-Semester Degree Program

Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) in the Academic Regulations chapter for university requirements of the program. Core requirement hours may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all core requirements are met, students may substitute a three-hour (or more) general elective in place of a core area.

Requirements for a Minor in Criminal Justice: 18 semester hours in criminal justice and sociology to include CRIM 2003, CRIM 3023, SOCI 3313, and at least nine hours of 3000-level classes or above (no more than 3 hours may be SOCI). A student must notify the department of her or his intent to minor.

Requirements for Departmental Honors in Criminology: The Departmental Honors Program in Criminology is an upper-division course of study based on a topic in the area of criminology. To be eligible for criminology honors candidacy, students normally will have completed 28 semester hours and not more than 85 semester hours with a minimum cumulative grade-point average of 3.5. They must take 12 hours (which may include 6 hours of thesis) in Honors Studies. The honors project may be an intensive study of a topic in criminology or an empirical research investigation. The candidate is expected to pass an oral examination given by an Honors Council Committee. Projects of extraordinarily high quality may be designated High Honors by the Committee. Successful completion of the requirements will be recognized by the award of the distinction Criminology Scholar cum laude at graduation. Higher degree distinctions are recommended only in truly exceptional cases and are based upon the whole of the candidate's program of honors studies.

Social, political, and criminal justice responses to terrorism are also considered. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Spring)
This course is cross-listed with SOCI 4443.
Data scientists make sense of huge sets of data to help businesses, governments, nonprofits and other organizations make smarter decisions. The university’s interdisciplinary Bachelor of Science in Data Science will prepare students for a successful career in data science with a strategic skill set, including the ability to:

- Use and apply state-of-the-art technologies for data representation, retrieval, manipulation, storage, governance, understanding, analysis, privacy, and security.
- Develop descriptive, predictive and prescriptive models to abstract complex systems and organizational problems, and to use computational methods to draw data-supported conclusions.
- Use foundational knowledge and apply critical thinking skills to identify and solve problems, make decisions, and visualize data, all with an awareness of societal and ethical impacts.
- Adapt analytics concepts to interpret and communicate findings and implications to senior decision-makers.
- Work effectively in an interdisciplinary team and transfer findings between knowledge domains and to others with no domain experience.
- Communicate using technical and non-technical language in writing and verbally.

Three colleges at the university — the College of Engineering, the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences, and the Sam M. Walton College of Business — contribute expertise to the overall major while providing deeper insight into the concentrations they offer, including:

- Accounting Analytics
- Bioinformatics
- Biomedical and Healthcare Informatics
- Business Data Analytics
- Computational Analytics
- Data Science Statistics
- Geospatial Data Analytics
- Operations Analytics
- Social Data Analytics
- Supply Chain Analytics

Requirements for B.S. in Data Science with Accounting Analytics Concentration

Below are the general requirements for a Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Data Science, followed by specific requirements for the Accounting Analytics Concentration. Below those is a recommended eight-semester plan to achieve those requirements in a timely fashion.

Requirements for B.S. in Data Science

Each student in Data Science is required to complete 120 hours of coursework including the state minimum core (p. 96). To be eligible for graduation, all students must complete at least 60 hours of Data Science (DTSC) Core required classes at the University of Arkansas. Each student in Data Science is also required to complete an additional 20-21 hours (depending on the student’s chosen concentration) of required and elective concentration courses to meet the requirements for a concentration.

Additional opportunities are available to enhance the educational experience of students in these areas. Students should consult their academic adviser for recommendations.

State Minimum Core and General Education (36 hours)

Requirements for B.S. in Data Science with Bioinformatics Concentration

Below are the general requirements for a Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Data Science, followed by specific requirements for the Bioinformatics Concentration. Below those is a recommended eight-semester plan to achieve those requirements in a timely fashion.

Requirements for B.S. in Data Science

Each student in Data Science is required to complete 120 hours of coursework including the state minimum core (p. 96). To be eligible for graduation, all students must complete at least 60 hours of Data Science (DTSC) Core required classes at the University of Arkansas. Each student in Data Science is also required to complete an additional 20-21 hours (depending on the student's chosen concentration) of required and elective concentration courses to meet the requirements for a concentration.

Additional opportunities are available to enhance the educational experience of students in these areas. Students should consult their academic adviser for recommendations.

Requirements for B.S. in Data Science with Computational Analytics Concentration

Below are the general requirements for a Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Data Science, followed by specific requirements for the Computational Analytics Concentration. Below those is a recommended eight-semester plan to achieve those requirements in a timely fashion.

Requirements for B.S. in Data Science

Each student in Data Science is required to complete 120 hours of coursework including the state minimum core (p. 96). To be eligible for graduation, all students must complete at least 60 hours of Data Science (DTSC) Core required classes at the University of Arkansas. Each student in Data Science is also required to complete an additional 20-21 hours (depending on the student’s chosen concentration) of required and elective concentration courses to meet the requirements for a concentration.

Additional opportunities are available to enhance the educational experience of students in these areas. Students should consult their academic adviser for recommendations.

Requirements for B.S. in Data Science with Geospatial Data Analytics Concentration

Below are the general requirements for a Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Data Science, followed by specific requirements for the Geospatial Data Analytics Concentration. Below those is a recommended eight-semester plan to achieve those requirements in a timely fashion.

Requirements for B.S. in Data Science

Each student in Data Science is required to complete 120 hours of coursework including the state minimum core (p. 96). To be eligible for graduation, all students must complete at least 60 hours of Data Science (DTSC) Core required classes at the University of Arkansas. Each student in Data Science is also required to complete an additional 20-21 hours (depending on the student's chosen concentration) of required and elective concentration courses to meet the requirements for a concentration.

Additional opportunities are available to enhance the educational experience of students in these areas. Students should consult their academic adviser for recommendations.

* SOCI 2013 General Sociology is a required course for the Social Data Analytics Concentration. The course may also be used to meet three hours toward the University Core Social Science requirements. As such, students may complete three hours of general education electives in lieu of an additional University Core Social Science requirement for a total of 7 hours of general education electives.
Requirements for B.S. in Data Science with Supply Chain Analytics Concentration

Below are the general requirements for a Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Data Science, followed by specific requirements for the Supply Chain Analytics Concentration. Below those is a recommended eight-semester plan to achieve those requirements in a timely fashion.

Requirements for B.S. in Data Science

Each student in Data Science is required to complete 120 hours of coursework including the state minimum core (p. 96). To be eligible for graduation, all students must complete at least 60 hours of Data Science (DTSC) Core required classes at the University of Arkansas. Each student in Data Science is also required to complete an additional 20-21 hours (depending on the student’s chosen concentration) of required and elective concentration courses to meet the requirements for a concentration.

Additional opportunities are available to enhance the educational experience of students in these areas. Students should consult their academic adviser for recommendations.

Courses

DASC 1001. Introduction to Data Science. 1 Hour.

Introduction to Data Science is a course providing an overview of Data Science and preparation of Data Science First Year students for the Data Science program and for choosing one of the Data Science program concentrations: Bioinformatics, Biomedical and Healthcare Analytics, Business Data Analytics, Computational Analytics, Data Science Statistics, Geospatial Data Analytics, Operations Analytics, Social Data Analytics, or Supply Chain Analytics. Corequisite: Lab component, drill component and MATH 2554. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

DASC 1104. Programming Languages for Data Science. 4 Hours.

Programming Languages for Data Science provides a semester-long introduction to basic concepts, tools, and languages for computer programming using Python and R, two powerful programming languages used by data scientists. This class will introduce students to computer programming and provide them with the basic skills and tools necessary to efficiently collect, process, analyze, and visualize datasets. Students will gain hands-on experience with de novo programming in R and Python, finding and utilizing packages, and working in both interactive (Jupyter and RStudio) and non-interactive (Unix) environments. Corequisite: Lab component. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)
DASC 1204. Introduction to Object Oriented Programming for Data Science. 4 Hours.
Introduction to Object Oriented Programming for Data Science, introduces object-oriented programming in JAVA. It covers object-oriented programming elements and techniques in JAVA, such as primitive types and expressions, basic I/O, basic programming structures, abstract data type, object class and instance, Methods, Java File I/O, object inheritance, collections and composite objects, advanced input / output: streams and files, and exception handling. Students will gain hands-on programming experience using JAVA. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: DASC 1104. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

DASC 222. Role of Data Science in Today’s World. 2 Hours.
Role of Data Science in Today’s World is a survey course providing an overview of the Data Science Curriculum and an introduction to the essential elements of data science: data collection and management; summarizing and visualizing data; basic ideas of statistical inference; predictive analytics and machine learning. Students will gain hands-on experience using the Python programming language and Jupyter notebooks. Prerequisite: DASC 1104. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

DASC 188V. Special Topics in Data Science. 1-6 Hour.
Special Topics in Data Science is a course for data science topics not covered in other courses. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 9 hours of degree credit.

DASC 2103. Data Structures & Algorithms. 3 Hours.
Data Structures & Algorithms focuses on fundamental data structures and associated algorithms for computing and data analytics. Topics include the study of data structures such as linked lists, stacks, queues, hash tables, trees, and graphs, recursion, their applications to algorithms such as searching, sorting, tree and graph traversals, divide-and-conquer, greedy algorithms, and dynamic programming, and the theory of NP-completeness. Students will gain hands-on experience using Python or Java. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: DASC 1204. (Typically offered: Fall)

DASC 2113. Principles and Techniques of Data Science. 3 Hours.
Principles and Techniques in Data Science is an intermediate semester-long data science course that follows an overview of data science in today's world. This class bridges between introduction to data science and upper division data science courses as well as methods courses in other concentrations. This class equips students with essential basic elements of data science, ranging from database systems, data acquisition, storage and query, data cleansing, data wrangling, basic data summarization and visualization, and data estimation and modeling. Students will gain hands-on experience using Python and various packages in Python. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: DASC 1204. (Typically offered: Fall)

DASC 2203. Data Management and Data Base. 3 Hours.
Data Management and Data Base focuses on the investigation and application of data science database concepts including DBMS fundamentals, database technology and administration, data modeling, SQL, data warehousing, and current topics in modern database management. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: DASC 1204. (Typically offered: Fall)

DASC 2213. Data Visualization and Communication. 3 Hours.
Data Visualization and Communication is a seminar providing an essential element of data science: the ability to effectively communicate data analytics findings using visual, written, and oral forms. Students will gain hands-on experience using data visualization software and preparing multiple formats of written reports (technical, social media, policy) that build a data literacy and communication toolkit for interdisciplinary work. In essence, this is a course emphasizing finding and telling stories from data, including the fundamental principles of data analysis and visual presentation conjoined with traditional written formats. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: DASC 1104 and DASC 1222. (Typically offered: Spring)

DASC 2594. Multivariable Math for Data Scientists. 4 Hours.
Multivariable Mathematics for Data Scientists provides an in depth look at the multivariate calculus and linear algebra necessary for a successful understanding of modeling for data science. Students will gain an understanding of the mathematical and geometric concepts used in optimization and scientific computation using mathematical and computational techniques. At the end of the course, students will be equipped with the calculus and linear algebra skills and knowledge to be successful in courses in optimization and advanced data science methods.Prerequisite: MATH 2564 and DASC 1104. (Typically offered: Fall)

DASC 3103. Cloud Computing and Big Data. 3 Hours.
Cloud Computing and Big Data covers: introduction to distributed data computing and management, MapReduce, Hadoop, cloud computing, NoSQL and NewSQL systems, Big data analytics and scalable machine learning, real-time streaming data analysis. Students will gain hands-on experience using Amazon AWS, MongoDB, Hive, and Spark. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: DASC 2594 and DASC 2203. (Typically offered: Fall)

DASC 3203. Optimization Methods in Data Science. 3 Hours.
Optimization Methods in Data Science is an advanced mathematical course providing the foundations and concepts of optimization that are essential elements of machine learning algorithms in data science, ranging from mathematical optimization to convex optimization to unconstrained and constrained optimization to nonlinear optimization to stochastic optimization. Students will gain hands-on experience using Python and various optimization packages in Python. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: DASC 2113 and DASC 2594. (Typically offered: Spring)

DASC 4123. Social Problems in Data Science and Analytics. 3 Hours.
This course explores the ways data analytics and data science are impacted by or intersect with issues of social justice, poverty and economic inequality, racial and ethnic relations, gender, crime, education, health and healthcare, and other contemporary social problems. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: DASC 1104 and ((MATH 3013 and STAT 3003) or (INEG 2313 and INEG 2333)). (Typically offered: Spring)

DASC 4113. Machine Learning. 3 Hours.
Machine learning covers: logistic regression, ensemble methods, support vector machines, kernel methods, neural networks, Bayesian inference, reinforcement learning, learning theory, and their applications in text, image, and web data processing. Students will gain hands-on experience of developing machine learning algorithms using Python and scikit-learn. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: DASC 2103 and DASC 3203. (Typically offered: Fall)

DASC 4123. Social Problems in Data Science and Analytics. 3 Hours.
This course explores the ways data analytics and data science are impacted by or intersect with issues of social justice, poverty and economic inequality, racial and ethnic relations, gender, crime, education, health and healthcare, and other contemporary social problems. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: DASC 1222. (Typically offered: Fall)

DASC 4533. Information Retrieval. 3 Hours.
Information Retrieval is a course providing expertise in processing unstructured data as a key component of data science. It covers text processing, file structures, ranking algorithms, query processing, and web search. Students will gain hands-on experience developing their own search engine from scratch, using Python, C, C++, or Java on a Linux server and making their search engine web accessible. Note: Prior user-level knowledge of Linux for file and directory management and remote login is required for this course. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: DASC 2103. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)
DASC 4892. Data Science Practicum I. 2 Hours.
Application of data science, analytics, business intelligence, data mining, machine learning, and data visualization to existing problems. Data Science techniques using current and relevant software and problem-solving methods are applied to current problems for presentation to management. This is the first semester of the required full-year multi-college interdisciplinary practicum using real-world data to solve real-world problems. Corequisite: Lab component, DASC 3213, DASC 4113 and DASC 4123. Prerequisite: DASC 2113, DASC 2213 and DASC 3203. (Typically offered: Fall)

DASC 4993. Data Science Practicum II. 3 Hours.
Application of data science, analytics, business intelligence, data mining, machine learning, and data visualization to existing problems. Data Science techniques using current and relevant software and problem-solving methods are applied to current problems for presentation to management. This is the second semester of the required full-year multi-college interdisciplinary practicum using real-world data to solve real-world problems. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: DASC 4892 with a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Spring)

Fulbright College offers a major in earth science leading to the Bachelor of Science degree. Prospective secondary teachers may plan a program, in cooperation with the College of Education, which will satisfy the teacher licensure requirements. Students interested in environmental problems, teaching earth science in public schools, or wishing to pursue graduate work in either geography or geology will obtain much of the necessary foundation through this degree. Because the program outlined below lists only minimum science requirements, it is expected that most students will use some of their elective credit hours to strengthen their mathematics and science backgrounds in areas other than geography and geology. These areas of additional study will be determined through consultation between the student and the adviser.

Requirements for the B.S. Degree with a Major in Earth Science: In addition to the University Core (http://catalog.uark.edu/undergraduatecatalog/academicregulations/universitycore/) requirements and the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences Graduation Requirements (p. 271), the following course requirements must be met. Bolded courses from the list below may be applied to portions of the University/state minimum core requirements.

At least 6 additional hours, at the 3000 level or above, in GEOS. 6

Total Hours 65-66

1 World language courses taken are dependent on placement level in sequence.

Writing Requirement: The college writing requirement is to be met by completion of a term paper deemed satisfactory by the student's adviser and instructor of an upper-level geoscience course. The college writing requirement may also be met by the completion of an honors thesis.

Earth Science B.S.
Eight-Semester Degree Program

Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) for university requirements of the program. Core requirement hours may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all core requirements are met, students may substitute a three-hour (or more) general elective in place of a core area.

Total Units in Sequence: 120

1. Meets 40-hour advanced credit hour requirement. See College Academic Regulations (p. 271).
2. Meets 24-hour rule (24 hours of 3000-4000 level courses in Fulbright College), in addition to meeting the 40-hour rule. See College Academic Regulations (p. 271).

Earth Science (B.S.) Teacher Licensure in Life/Earth Science or Physical/Earth Science Requirements: Students wanting to teach science in middle or secondary school should consult with an adviser in the College of Education and Health Professions.

Courses

GEOS 1111L. Physical Geology Laboratory (ACTS Equivalency = GEOL 1114 Lab). 1 Hour.
Laboratory exercises concerning the identification of rocks and minerals, use of aerial photographs and topographic maps, and several field trips. Prereq: GEOS 1113. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

GEOS 1111M. Honors Physical Geology Laboratory. 1 Hour.
Survey of geological processes and products and their relationships to landforms, natural resources, living environments, and human beings. Lecture 3 hours, laboratory 2 hours per week. Corequisite: GEOS 1113H. (Typically offered: Fall) This course is equivalent to GEOS 1111L.

GEOS 1113. Physical Geology (ACTS Equivalency = GEOL 1114 Lecture). 3 Hours.
Survey of geological processes and products, and their relationships to landforms, natural resources, living environments and human beings. Corequisite: GEOS 1111L. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)
GEOS 1113H. Honors Physical Geology. 3 Hours.
Survey of geological processes and products and their relationships to landforms, natural resources, living environments, and human beings. Lecture 3 hours, laboratory 2 hours per week. Corequisite: GEOS 1111M. (Typically offered: Irregular)
This course is equivalent to GEOS 1113.

GEOS 1123. Human Geography (ACTS Equivalency = GEOG 1113). 3 Hours.
Basic course in human geography stressing the interrelationships between the natural factors of the environment and man's activities, especially the role of geography in the understanding of social problems and economic and political activities. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GEOS 1123H. Honors Human Geography. 3 Hours.
Basic course in human geography stressing the interrelationships between the natural factors of the environment and man's activities, especially the role of geography in the understanding of social problems and economic and political activities. Prerequisite: Honors candidacy. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)
This course is equivalent to GEOS 1123.

GEOS 1131L. Earth Science Laboratory (ACTS Equivalency = GEOL 1124 Lab). 1 Hour.
Laboratory exercises concerning human interactions with the physical environment including the study of earthquakes, volcanoes, flooding, erosion, mass wasting, water supply and contamination, and waste disposal. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GEOS 1133. Earth Science (ACTS Equivalency = GEOL 1124 Lecture). 3 Hours.
The application of earth science principles and knowledge of problems created by human occupancy and exploitation of the physical environment. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

Survey of problems, development potential, and physical and human resources of the developing and developed world. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GEOS 2003H. Honors World Regional Geography. 3 Hours.
Survey of problems, development potential, and physical and human resources of the developing and developed world. Prerequisite: Honors candidacy. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)
This course is equivalent to GEOS 2003.

GEOS 2313. Mineralogy. 3 Hours.
General principles of mineralogy, study and identification of common minerals, igneous & metamorphic rocks using hand samples. Prerequisite: GEOS 1113 and CHEM 1103. Corequisite: Lab component. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 2813. Digital Earth. 3 Hours.
This course introduces the fundamental concepts and practical geospatial techniques of the digital earth initiative. Students will learn how digital geographical information is produced (also referred to as geospatial data) and utilized in a variety of economic, environmental, and scientific applications. The class will concentrate on how digital geospatial data are produced, integrated and applied in daily life and will review a variety of environmental and socioeconomic applications. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 2813H. Honors Digital Earth. 3 Hours.
This course introduces the fundamental concepts and practical geospatial techniques of the digital earth initiative. Students will learn how digital geographical information is produced (also referred to as geospatial data) and utilized in a variety of economic, environmental, and scientific applications. The class will concentrate on how digital geospatial data are produced, integrated and applied in daily life and will review a variety of environmental and socioeconomic applications. Prerequisite: Honors standing. (Typically offered: Fall)
This course is equivalent to GEOS 2813.

GEOS 3013. Foundations of Geospatial Data Analysis. 3 Hours.
Basic mathematical tools applied in geospatial technology, including trigonometry in mapping, linear algebra in remote sensing, optimization in spatial decision support, and graph theory in routing. Course develops the framework for spatial data analysis and decision support. Students may receive credit for the course through testing. Prerequisite: GEOS 3543. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GEOS 3023. Introduction to Cartography. 3 Hours.
Students learn basic principles of map design, cartographic theory and field surveying to produce a variety of computer-generated maps. An introductory course designed for students in a variety of different disciplines using AutoCad software and various new technologies. Field trips may be required. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 3033. Building Materials Field Studies. 3 Hours.
Study of durable building materials, their availability, strength, deterioration, limitation and utility. Historic construction techniques, identification of architectural materials, architectural elements assessment, causes and mechanisms of deterioration, conservation and treatment of architectural materials, preservation philosophies and standards and creation of a practical field identification kit will also be covered. Corequisite: Lab component. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 3043. Sustaining Earth. 3 Hours.
Theory and growth of conservation and sustainability, the wise use of the major natural resources of the United States. This course meets the requirement in conservation and sustainability for teachers. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 3043H. Honors Sustaining Earth. 3 Hours.
Theory and growth of conservation and the wise use of the major natural resources of the United States. This course meets the requirement in conservation for teachers. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall)
This course is equivalent to GEOS 3043.

GEOS 3063. Geology of Arkansas. 3 Hours.
A survey of the distribution, genesis, and age of the rocks, fossils, structures, landforms and geological processes of Arkansas. Equivalent to two hours of lecture per week. Field trips required. Prerequisite: GEOS 1113 or GEOS 1113H. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 3073. Geospatial Technologies Computational Toolkit. 3 Hours.
Basic computational tools and processes applied in geospatial software, related computer hardware components, systems and applications software, and spatial database fundamentals. Python, including SciPy and NumPy, geospatial implementations will be emphasized. No programming experience is required. Students may receive credit for the course through testing. Prerequisite: GEOS 3543. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 3114. Paleontology. 4 Hours.
Survey of the phyla commonly preserved as fossils emphasizing their physical and biological characteristics. Lecture 3 hours, laboratory 2 hours per week. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: GEOS 1133 or (BIOL 1543 and BIOL 1541L) or equivalent. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 3213. Principles of Remote Sensing. 3 Hours.
Fundamental concepts of remote sensing of the environment. Optical, infrared, microwave, LiDAR, and in situ sensor systems are introduced. Remote sensing of vegetation, water, urban landscapes, soils, minerals, and geomorphology is discussed. The course includes laboratory exercises in GIS software and field spectroscopy. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 3313. Igneous and Metamorphic Petrology. 3 Hours.
Megascopic study and classification of igneous and metamorphic rocks. Lecture 2 hours, laboratory 2 hours per week. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: GEOS 2313. (Typically offered: Spring)
GEOS 3333. Oceanography. 3 Hours.
The sea, its landforms; its winds and currents as related to the atmosphere, world climates, and world trade; its basin as avenues for continental drift; its waters as habitat for plant and animal life; its marine and submarine resources as presently and potentially useful to man. Offered as physical science. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Spring Even Years)

GEOS 3413. Sedimentary Geology. 3 Hours.
An introductory study of sedimentary rocks from the standpoint of classification, field and laboratory description, genesis, and preservation. Lecture 2 hours, laboratory 2 hours per week. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: GEOS 2313. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 3514. Structural Geology. 4 Hours.
Survey of deformational features and their geological significance in the crust of the earth. Lecture 3 hours per week. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: GEOS 1113. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 3543. Geospatial Applications and Information Science. 3 Hours.
An introduction to the methods and theory underlying the full range of geographic information science and collateral areas - including GNSS, remote sensing, cadastral, spatial demographics and others. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring) This course is cross-listed with ANTH 3543.

GEOS 3553. Spatial Analysis Using ArcGIS. 3 Hours.
Applications of analysis of spatial data using ArcGIS tools in map design, on-line mapping, creating geodatabases, accessing geospatial data, geo-processing, digitizing, geocoding, spatial analysis including basic spatial statistics, analysis of spatial distributions and patterning and 3D application using ArcGIS 3D Analyst. Prerequisite: GEOS 3543. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GEOS 3563. Geospatial Data Mining. 3 Hours.
Basic tools for analyzing, summarizing and visualizing geospatial data. Exploratory data and spatial data analysis, probability distributions and application, single and multivariate analysis and hypothesis testing, and spatial smoothing and interpolation. Emphasis will be on problem solving in geospatial settings using the R statistical language. Prerequisite: GEOS 3543 and (GEOS 3013 or MATH 2554 or MATH 2043 or DASC 2594) and (GEOS 3103 or DASC 1104 or DASC 2113). (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GEOS 3593. Introduction to Geodatabases. 3 Hours.
Fundamental concepts and applications of geospatial databases. Schema development and spatial data models for geodata. Spatial and attribute query and optimization, properties and structures of relational and object-oriented geodatabases, Spatial extensions of SQL, spatial indexing, measurement, and geometry. Prerequisite: GEOS 3543 and (GEOS 3013 or MATH 2554 or MATH 2043 or DASC 2594) and (GEOS 3103 or DASC 1104 or DASC 2113). (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GEOS 360V. Undergraduate Special Problems. 1-6 Hour.
Library, laboratory, or field research in different phases of geology. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

GEOS 3873. Geological Data Analysis. 3 Hours.
Quantitative methods and techniques for analysis and interpretation of geological data. Corequisite: Lab component. Pre- or corequisite: MATH 2564. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 3901. Junior Honors Course. 1 Hour.
Special honors research in geology. One hour credit each semester. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

GEOS 3911. Junior Honors Course. 1 Hour.
Special honors research in geology. One hour credit each semester. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

GEOS 3923H. Honors Colloquium. 3 Hours.
Covers a special topic or issue, offered as part of the honors program. Prerequisite: Honors candidacy (not restricted to candidacy in geology or geography). (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for degree credit.

GEOS 399VH. Honors Course. 1-6 Hour.
Honors course. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

GEOS 4033. Hydrogeology. 3 Hours.
Occurrence, movement, and interaction of water with geologic and cultural features. Lecture 3 hours per week. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: MATH 2043 or MATH 2554, and GEOS 3514. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4043. Geography of the Middle East. 3 Hours.
Physical and cultural landscapes, natural and cultural resources, art and architecture, land use, political history, OPEC, and current problems of North Africa and the Middle East region west of Afghanistan are discussed. Class participation, discussions, slides and films, and student presentations will round out the class. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4043H. Honors Geography of the Middle East. 3 Hours.
Physical and cultural landscapes, natural and cultural resources, art and architecture, land use, political history, OPEC, and current problems of North Africa and the Middle East region west of Afghanistan are discussed. Class participation, discussions, slides and films, and student presentations will round out the class. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Irregular) This course is equivalent to GEOS 4043.

GEOS 4053. Geomorphology. 3 Hours.
A quantitative, mechanistic overview of surface processes and landscape evolution. Lecture 2 hours, laboratory 3 hours per week. One to two field trips on weekends (2 day total) are required during the semester. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: GEOS 3873 or instructor consent. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4063. Principles of Geochemistry. 3 Hours.
Introduction to fundamental principles of geochemistry from historic development to modern concepts. Prerequisite: CHEM 1121L, CHEM 1123 and GEOS 2313. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4073. Urban Geography. 3 Hours.
Areal patterns of modern urban regions and the focus shaping these patterns. Emphasis is placed on American urban areas and their evolution and functional areas. Field work. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4083. Economic Geology. 3 Hours.
Introduction to mineral deposits used as economic resources. Covers basic geology and geochemistry of mineral deposit formations and the formation of major classes of deposits. Examines the relationship between the distribution of ores, oil, gas, coal, and Plate Tectonics. Explores environmental issues associated with the extraction of earth resources. Prerequisite: GEOS 2313. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 4093. History and Philosophy of Geography. 3 Hours.
This course familiarizes students with the history of geography, the contributions of geographers to scientific thought and theory, and research techniques that are used in geography. Emphasis is given to the integration of statistical and spatial analysis, and their applications in field research. The course includes short field-based projects in and around Northwest Arkansas. (Typically offered: Spring Even Years)

GEOS 410V. Special Problems in Geosciences. 1-6 Hour.
Designed to meet the needs of students who wish to study one particular geographic topic in some detail. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.
GEOS 410VH. Honors Special Problems in Geosciences. 1-6 Hour.
Designed to meet the needs of students who wish to study one particular geographic topic in some detail. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit. This course is equivalent to GEOS 410V.

GEOS 4113. Global Change. 3 Hours.
Examines central issues of global change including natural and human induced climate change, air pollution, deforestation, desertification, wetland loss urbanization, and the biodiversity crisis. The U.S. Global Change Research Program is also examined. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4113H. Honors Global Change. 3 Hours.
Examines central issues of global change including natural and human induced climate change, air pollution, deforestation, desertification, wetland loss urbanization, and the biodiversity crisis. The U.S. Global Change Research Program is also examined. Prerequisite: Honors candidacy. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4113. Radar Remote Sensing. 3 Hours.
Introduction to radar remote sensing and its applications in geology, geography, archeology, engineering, and agriculture. Focuses on Synthetic Aperture Radar (SAR) and advanced techniques including radar stereo, polarimetry, and interferometry. Covers Interferometric SAR (InSAR) for mapping topography and modeling Earth’s surface motions due to earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, landslides, and subsidence. Prerequisite: GEOS 3023 or equivalent. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4153. Karst Hydrogeology. 3 Hours.
Assessment of ground water resources in carbonate rock terrains; relation of ground water and surface water hydrology to karst; quantification of extreme variability in karst environments; data collection rationale. Field trips required. Prerequisite: GEOS 4033. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 4223. Stratigraphy and Sedimentation. 3 Hours.
Introductory investigation of stratigraphic and sedimentologic factors important to the study of sedimentary rocks. Lecture 2 hours, laboratory 3 hours per week. A required weekend, two-day field trip will be conducted during the semester. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: GEOS 3413. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4223. Geography of Religion & Sacrality. 3 Hours.
Explores the spatial nature of the World’s major faiths and religious institutions, focusing on the distribution and origins of these religions. Examines the religious beliefs, rituals, architecture, demographics, and art in different societies, cultures, and countries. Considers the tenets and practices of what is sacred and/or spiritual, held in common by a group or community. Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 4243. Political Geography. 3 Hours.
Contemporary world political problems in their geographic context. Development of the principles of political geography with emphasis upon the problems of Eastern Europe, Africa, and Southeast Asia. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall Odd Years)

GEOS 4253. Petroleum Geology. 3 Hours.
Distribution and origin of petroleum. Lecture 2 hours, laboratory 2 hours per week. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: Geology major and senior standing. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4263. Geospatial Data Science - Sources and Characteristics. 3 Hours.
Covers the wide range of geospatial data sources and characteristics with emphasis on data science applications through hands-on experience recognizing the unique requirements of major sources. Techniques for the integration of disparate, heterogeneous data sets will be covered. Corequisite: GEOS 3563. Prerequisite: GEOS 3543. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 430V. Internship in Physical Geography. 3-6 Hour.
Supervised experience in municipal, county, state or private natural resource management agency, or any other such organization approved by instructor. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

GEOS 4353. Meteorology. 3 Hours.
Examination of the atmospheric processes that result in multifarious weather systems. Offered as physical science. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4363. Climatology. 3 Hours.
Fundamentals of topical climatology followed by a study of regional climatology. Offered as physical science. Prerequisite: GEOS 1133 or GEOS 4353. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 437V. Geology Field Trip. 1-2 Hour.
Camping field trip to areas of geologic interest, usually conducted during Spring Break. Prerequisite: GEOS 3313. (Typically offered: Spring) May be repeated for up to 4 hours of degree credit.

GEOS 4383. Hazard & Disaster Assessment, Mitigation, Risk & Policy. 3 Hours.
Comprehensive introduction to interdisciplinary approaches to natural and environmental hazards and risk. Hazards and disaster assessment, mitigation, and policy are the focus of the class. Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing. (Typically offered: Spring) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

GEOS 4383H. Honors Hazard & Disaster Assessment, Mitigation, Risk & Policy. 3 Hours.
Comprehensive introduction to interdisciplinary approaches to natural and environmental hazards and risk. Hazards and disaster assessment, mitigation, and policy are the focus of the class. Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4393. American Public Lands & Policy. 3 Hours.
The course examines the role of American federal public lands in 19th-21st century geography, history, policy, and art. It investigates the growth of conservation, preservation, and management movements in the US by looking at America’s national parks, forests, dams, wildlife refuges, wilderness areas, managed and agricultural lands. Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4393H. Honors American Public Lands & Policy. 3 Hours.
The course examines the role of American federal public lands in 19th-21st century geography, history, policy, and art. It investigates the growth of conservation, preservation, and management movements in the US by looking at America’s national parks, forests, dams, wildlife refuges, wilderness areas, managed and agricultural lands. Prerequisite: Honors standing and Junior or senior standing. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 4393H. Honors American Public Lands & Policy. 3 Hours.
The course examines the role of American federal public lands in 19th-21st century geography, history, policy, and art. It investigates the growth of conservation, preservation, and management movements in the US by looking at America’s national parks, forests, dams, wildlife refuges, wilderness areas, managed and agricultural lands. Prerequisite: Honors standing and Junior or senior standing. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 440V. Internship in GIS & Cartography. 3-6 Hour.
Supervised experience in GIS and/or cartographic applications with municipal, county, state, or private enterprises. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

GEOS 4433. Geophysics. 3 Hours.
Derivation from physical principles, of the geophysical methods for mapping the Earth. Computational methods of converting gravity, magnetic, radiometric, electrical, and seismic data into geologic information. Lecture 3 hours, laboratory 2 hours per week. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: MATH 2564 and PHYS 2033 and PHYS 2031L and GEOS 3514. (Typically offered: Irregular)
GEOS 4443. The Solid Earth: Structure, Composition and Evolution. 3 Hours.
Modern views for the origin of the solid Earth and its structure, composition, and evolution through geologic time. Topics will include examination of relevant geophysical and geochemical constraints used to develop global models for the Earth. Prerequisite: CHEM 1123, GEOS 3313, MATH 2564, PHYS 2074 or instructor consent. (Typically offered: Regular)

GEOS 4463. 3D Seismic Exploration. 3 Hours.
Interpretation of the spatial component of three-dimensional seismic data in geologic structure and stratigraphy with emphasis on hydrocarbon exploration. Prerequisite: GEOS 3514 or instructor consent. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4473. Applied Climatology. 3 Hours.
Applied climatology involves the use of climatic data to solve a variety of social, economic and environmental problems, such as for clients in agriculture, water and energy management. The basic purpose of applied climatology is to help society, at all scales and levels, to achieve a better adjustment to the climatic environment. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4473H. Honors Applied Climatology. 3 Hours.
Applied climatology involves the use of climatic data to solve a variety of social, economic and environmental problems, such as for clients in agriculture, water and energy management. The basic purpose of applied climatology is to help society, at all scales and levels, to achieve a better adjustment to the climatic environment. (Typically offered: Fall)

This course is equivalent to GEOS 4473.

GEOS 4483. Severe Weather. 3 Hours.
Focuses on the formation and impact of weather phenomena such as blizzards, floods, tornadoes, thunderstorms, hurricanes and droughts. Covers the mechanisms and physics that control severe weather, advanced terminology, physical concepts and scientific methods used in meteorology, and the analysis and interpretation of meteorological data. Prerequisite: GEOS 1133 and GEOS 1131L. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4493. Geography of Political Violence. 3 Hours.
This seminar focuses on the rise of civil conflict in the post-World War II world. We are particularly interested in understanding the institutional challenges facing countries that experience such conflict. The class will develop a contextually-informed understanding of the international system and how it is shaped by civil war. Pre- or Corequisite: INST 2013. Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing. (Typically offered: Fall Even Years)

This course is cross-listed with INST 4103.

GEOS 4493H. Honors Geography of Political Violence. 3 Hours.
This seminar focuses on the rise of civil conflict in the post-World War II world. We are particularly interested in understanding the institutional challenges facing countries that experience such conflict. The class will develop a contextually-informed understanding of the international system and how it is shaped by civil war. Pre- or Corequisite: INST 2013. Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing and honors standing. (Typically offered: Fall Even Years)

This course is cross-listed with GEOS 4493, INST 4103.

GEOS 4503. Advanced Cartographic Techniques & Production. 3 Hours.
Covers advanced production and techniques in cartography, including animation, geospatial visualization, pchache, and advanced visualization. Emphasizes client relationships in creating and producing cartographic materials. Prerequisite: GEOS 4523. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 4513. Introduction to GIS Programming. 3 Hours.
This course introduces fundamentals of GIS software engineering and offers hands-on tutorials in customized applications using ArcGIS through programming ArcObjects in VBA / VA.net environment. Topics covered include ArcObjects, different programming syntax and styles, and fundamental routines and functions in ArcGIS. After completing the course, students will have the capability to develop customized ArcGIS applications. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4523. Cartographic Design and Production. 3 Hours.
This course addresses advanced cartographic concepts (i.e. visual hierarchy, aesthetics, image cognition) and production techniques as they relate to computer-assisted mapping. Students produce a variety of maps using Adobe Illustrator (CS 4-6) software to build a map portfolio. Field trips may be required. Prerequisite: GEOS 3023. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4533. Introduction to Petroleum Geophysics. 3 Hours.
Introduction to seismic wave propagation and petroleum seismology with particular emphasis on seismic events, elastic waves, and seismic survey design. Prerequisite: MATH 2564, (PHYS 2033 or PHYS 2074), and GEOS 3514 or instructor consent. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4533H. Honors Introduction to Petroleum Geophysics. 3 Hours.
Introduction to seismic wave propagation and petroleum seismology with particular emphasis on seismic events, elastic waves, and seismic survey design. Prerequisite: MATH 2564, (PHYS 2033 or PHYS 2074), and GEOS 3514 or instructor consent. (Typically offered: Fall)

This course is equivalent to GEOS 4533.

GEOS 4553. Introduction to Raster GIS. 3 Hours.
Theory, data structure, algorithms, and techniques behind raster-based geographical information systems. Through laboratory exercises and lectures multidisciplinary applications are examined in database creation, remotely sensed data handling, elevation models, and resource models using boolean, map algebra, and other methods. Prerequisite: GEOS 3543 or ANTH 3543. (Typically offered: Fall)

This course is cross-listed with ANTH 4553.

GEOS 4563. Geology of Our National Parks. 3 Hours.
This course examines the underlying geology responsible for selected parks, and explores the interplay of geology, biology, climate, topography, and humans to evaluate the value of the parks, and to anticipate the problems they will face in the near and long-term. Prerequisite: GEOS 1113. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4583. Enterprise and Multiuser GIS. 3 Hours.
GIS practice that's typical of collaborative team-based geospatial organizations. Solve real-world problems through end-to-end GIS design and implementation using ArcGIS Enterprise, extensive federal, state, and local repositories, and high-quality software documentation. Includes relevant training in geospatial provenance and metadata, and in enterprise and multiuser GIS administration. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4593. Introduction to Global Positioning Systems and Global Navigation Satellite Systems. 3 Hours.
Fundamentals of navigation, mapping, and high-precision positioning using the Navstar Global Positioning System. Topics include datum definition and transformation, map projections, autonomous and differential positioning using both code and carrier processing, and analysis of errors. Prerequisite: GEOS 3543 or GEOS 5543. (Typically offered: Fall)

This course is cross-listed with ANTH 4593.

GEOS 4653. GIS Analysis and Modeling. 3 Hours.
Unlike conventional GIS courses that focus on studying ‘where’, this course will teach students to address beyond ‘where’ using various GIS analysis and modeling techniques to explore ‘why’ and ‘how’. The course will provide theoretical and methodological reviews of the principles of cartographic modeling and multi-criteria decision-making. (Typically offered: Spring)

This course is cross-listed with ANTH 4653.

GEOS 4653H. Honors GIS Analysis and Modeling. 3 Hours.
Unlike conventional GIS courses that focus on studying ‘where’, this course will teach students to address beyond ‘where’ using various GIS analysis and modeling techniques to explore ‘why’ and ‘how’. The course will provide theoretical and methodological reviews of the principles of cartographic modeling and multi-criteria decision-making. (Typically offered: Spring)

This course is cross-listed with GEOS 4653, ANTH 4653.
GEOS 463. Low-Temperature Geochemistry of Natural Waters. 3 Hours.
Covers the low-temperature geochemistry of waters and their associated minerals at Earth's surface. Examines the controls on the chemical composition of natural waters and the minerals precipitated from them. Topics covered will include water-rock interactions, pH, redox, the carbonate-water system, clay minerals and exchange, heavy metals, and a brief introduction to stable isotopes and geomicrobiology. Prerequisite: CHEM 1121L, CHEM 1123, GEOS 1113, and GEOS 1111L. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4673. Volcanology. 3 Hours.
A broad introduction to volcanic processes and their associated hazards. Emphasis will be placed on applying basic physical and chemical principles to understanding volcanic systems. Prerequisite: GEOS 2313. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 4686. Geology Field Camp. 6 Hours.
A professional course taught off campus emphasizing occurrence, description, mapping, and interpretation of major rock types. May not be taken for graduate credit. Prerequisite: GEOS 3413 and GEOS 3514. (Typically offered: Summer)

GEOS 4693. Environmental Justice. 3 Hours.
This course deals with the ethical, environmental, legal, economic, and social implications of society's treatment of the poor, the disenfranchised, and minorities who live in the less desirable, deteriorating neighborhoods, communities, and niches of our country. The class integrates science with philosophy, politics, economics, policy, and law, drawing on award-winning films, current news, and case studies. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4693H. Honors Environmental Justice. 3 Hours.
This course deals with the ethical, environmental, legal, economic, and social implications of society's treatment of the poor, the disenfranchised, and minorities who live in the less desirable, deteriorating neighborhoods, communities, and niches of our country. The class integrates science with philosophy, politics, economics, policy, and law, drawing on award-winning films, current news, and case studies. (Typically offered: Spring)

This course is equivalent to GEOS 4693.

GEOS 4783. Geography of Europe. 3 Hours.
Geographic regions of the area with emphasis on their present development. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 4793. Geospatial Unmanned Aircraft Systems. 3 Hours.
Geospatial unmanned aircraft systems (UAS) are becoming key technologies in a number of disciplines. This course will introduce safe and legal operation of UAS in aerial photography, multispectral, thermal and LiDAR applications, geodetic control, photogrammetric and computer vision processing, and the creation of accurate 2D and 3D digital information products. Pre- or Corequisite: GEOS 3213 or GEOS 4593 or equivalent. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4793H. Honors Geospatial Unmanned Aircraft Systems. 3 Hours.
Geospatial unmanned aircraft systems (UAS) are becoming key technologies in a number of disciplines. This course will introduce safe and legal operation of UAS in aerial photography, multispectral, thermal and LiDAR applications, geodetic control, photogrammetric and computer vision processing, and the creation of accurate 2D and 3D digital information products. Pre- or Corequisite: Honors standing and GEOS 4593 or equivalent. (Typically offered: Fall)

This course is equivalent to GEOS 4793.

GEOS 4813. Geography of Eurasia. 3 Hours.
Introduction to the culture, society, and politics of Eurasia using the organizing concept of empire from the moment of its consolidation in 1945 to its dissolution in 1991. Focuses on places that have emerged from this order and emphasizes experience and memory at each of these different times and places. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Spring Even Years)

GEOS 4863. Quantitative Techniques in Geosciences. 3 Hours.
An introduction to the application of standard quantitative and spatial statistical techniques to geoscientific analysis. Students will use both micro and large system computers in the course. (Typically offered: Spring)

This course is cross-listed with ANTH 4863.

GEOS 4924. Earth System History (ACTS Equivalency = PHSC 1104). 4 Hours.
Physical and biological events that form the history of the earth from its formation to the beginning of the historical era. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: GEOS 3413 and (GEOS 4223 or GEOS 3313) and GEOS 3514. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4933. Ancient Forest Science and Sustainability. 3 Hours.
Ancient forests preserve beautiful habitat with high ecological integrity. This course will examine the development, spatial distribution, and ongoing destruction of ancient forests worldwide, and how science can contribute to the understanding and sustainable management of these valuable resources. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4972H. Senior Honors Course I. 2 Hours.
Special honors research in geology. Two hours of credit each semester. Prerequisite: Junior honors. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

GEOS 4982H. Senior Honors Course II. 2 Hours.
Special honors research in geology. Two hours of credit each semester. Prerequisite: Junior honors. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

GEOS 4993. Dynamics of Sediment Transport. 3 Hours.
This is a course focused on how fluids transport sediment and construct stratigraphy. Lectures will develop environmental fluid mechanics and sediment transport from first principles so they can be used to evaluate sedimentological and stratigraphic problems. This framework will be applied to a sedimentological problem using original data and analysis. Pre- or Corequisite: GEOS 4223. Prerequisite: GEOS 3413. (Typically offered: Fall Odd Years)

Economics (ECON)

Department of Economics Website (https://walton.uark.edu/departments/economics/)

Students in Fulbright College may pursue one of two degree plans leading to a Bachelor of Arts degree in economics. The first is a traditional major in business economics and the second includes a concentration in international business and economics.

The concentration in business economics is intended for those students who are interested primarily in business, but at the same time have a desire to understand the more advanced tools of economic analysis. Such a background is excellent preparation for careers in corporate research and planning, as well as careers with government and regulatory agencies, for graduate study in business and economics, and for law school.

The international economics and business concentration is intended for students who wish to learn more about the international aspects of economics and business. It provides preparation for a broad range of careers in business, including management, marketing, and finance.

Requirements for a Major in Economics

In addition to the University Core requirements (http://catalog.uark.edu/undergraduatecatalog/academicregulations/universitycore/) and the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences Graduation Requirements
The following course requirements must be met. Bolded courses from the list below may be applied to portions of the University Core requirements.

30 hours of ECON courses including:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Course Title</th>
<th>Units</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ECON 2013</td>
<td>Principles of Macroeconomics (ACTS Equivalency = ECON 2103)</td>

</tbody>
</table>

Choose two of the following three courses:

- ECON 4743 Introduction to Econometrics
- or ECON 4753 Forecasting
- or ECON 4033 History of Economic Thought

12 hours of ECON Electives

Select one of the following:

- MATH 2043 & MATH 2053 Survey of Calculus (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 2203) and Finite Mathematics
- MATH 2554 Calculus I (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 2405)

Note: It is strongly recommended that economics majors who plan to continue their studies at the graduate level take at least two semesters of calculus (MATH 2554 and MATH 2564) and linear algebra (MATH 3083).

Writing Requirement: Students may satisfy their senior writing requirement with a paper in any 3000 or 4000-level ECON class. A student must inform their professor in writing by the end of the second week of class that they would like to use a particular course to fulfill this requirement. Work cannot involve a group project, and students must have senior standing. Completion of an honors thesis will also satisfy this requirement.

Economics B.A.

Eight-Semester Degree Program

Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) for requirements. Core requirement hours may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all core requirements are met, students may substitute a three-hour (or more) general elective in place of a core area.

| Twelve hours of international economics and business electives that may be selected from:
| ECON 3843 Economic Development, Poverty & the Role of the World Bank and IMF in Low-Income Countries | 3 |
| ECON 3853 Emerging Markets                            | 3    |
| ECON 3933 The Japanese Economic System                 | 3    |
| ECON 410V Special Topics in Economics                  | 1-6   |
| ECON 468V International Economics and Business Seminar  | 1-6   |

Course pre-requisites for non-economics international business courses will count toward this 12-hour requirement and include FINN 3703, MGMT 4583, MKTG 4633 and SCMT 3643. Thus, if a student wants to take MKTG 4633 as an international economics and business elective, the student must also take the prerequisite MKTG 3433. These two courses would then satisfy 6 hours of the elective requirement.

9 hours of upper-division course work in Fulbright College that focuses on a country or region of the world related to the foreign language, which might include upper-division courses in the same language, which should emphasize literature or cultural topics. Courses must be approved by the departmental adviser. Students who meet the requirements of the Fulbright College area studies programs in Asian Studies, Middle East Studies, Latin American and Latino Studies, or European Studies will be considered to have fulfilled this requirement.

(Students must also complete WCOB 1120, ISYS 1123 or equivalent.)

Six hours of a World Language at the intermediate level, or above.\(^2\)

Three hours of upper-division world language in the same language covering business communications, or equivalent. Any student whose minimum 6-hour requirement under (#6) above includes an upper-division course may choose to include business communications among the 6 hours of required University course work in the world language.

Total Hours 65-75

\(^1\) Course pre-requisites for non-economics international business courses will count toward this 12-hour requirement. Thus, if a student wants to take MKTG 4633 Global Marketing as an international economics and business elective, he/she also must take the prerequisite MKTG 3433 Introduction to Marketing Strategy. These two courses will satisfy 6 hours of the elective requirement.

\(^2\) This is usually accomplished through completion of a sequence of world language courses: 1013 Elementary II, 2003 Intermediate I and 2013 Intermediate II.

Note: It is strongly recommended that economics majors who plan to continue their studies at the graduate level take at least two semesters of calculus (MATH 2554 and MATH 2564) and linear algebra (MATH 3083).

Writing Requirement: Students may satisfy their senior writing requirement with a paper in any 3000 or 4000-level ECON class. A student must inform their professor in writing by the end of the second week of class that they would like to use a particular course to fulfill this requirement. Work cannot involve a group project, and students must have senior standing. Completion of an honors thesis will also satisfy this requirement.

Economics B.A. with Concentration in International Economics and Business

Eight-Semester Degree Program

Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) for university requirements of the program.

Total Units in Sequence: 120

Requirements for a Minor in Economics: 18 hours in economics. Required courses are ECON 3033 Microeconomic Theory, and ECON 3133 Macroeconomic Theory, plus 12 additional hours in economics, six of which must be in courses numbered 3000 or above.

Requirements for Departmental Honors in Economics: The Departmental Honors program provides upper-division students the opportunity to engage in independent study or research under the guidance of an individual member of the faculty. In addition to satisfying the general college requirements for the bachelor's degree with honors, honors candidates in economics are required to complete and orally defend an honors thesis based upon independent study under ECON 399VH for 3 to 6 hours) and to have a minimum grade-point average of 3.5. Outstanding student achievement will be recognized by awarding the bachelor's degree with the distinction "Economics Scholar Cum Laude." Higher distinctions may be awarded to truly outstanding students based upon the whole of their academic program and quality of honors research.
Some courses in the Walton College of Business are given credit toward an economics major for the B.A. degree. See departmental adviser for designation.

Economics (B.A.) Social Studies Teacher Licensure Requirements:

Please refer to the Secondary Education Requirements for Fulbright College Students (p. 274). Students wanting to teach social studies in middle school should consult with a middle level adviser in the College of Education and Health Professions.

Covers special topics in economics not available in other courses. Prerequisite: (ECON 2013 and ECON 2023) or ECON 2143. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

ECON 410V/H. Honors Special Topics in Economics. 1-6 Hour.
Covers special topics in economics not available in other courses. Prerequisite: (ECON 2013 and ECON 2023) or ECON 2143. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit. This course is equivalent to ECON 410V.

ECON 4173. Nation Model United Nations. 3 Hours.
This class is designed to prepare students for their participation in a Nation Model United Nations (NMUN) Conference. The NMUN Conference is sponsored by The National Collegiate Conference Association (NCCA), which is the largest college-level Model United Nations conference. This course is designed to advance the research skills of the students by requiring extensive background position papers covering various economic and social issues of their assigned committee and ultimately preparing resolution documents they develop during the conference. They will present their positions via speeches and in caucus settings. This course will broaden the students' international perspective while they gain a thorough understanding of the primary activities of the United Nations. Prerequisite: Junior standing and departmental consent. (Typically offered: Fall)

ECON 4333. Economics of Organizations. 3 Hours.
An economic perspective on the design of organizations. Applies developments in game theory and contract theory to analyze the role of information and incentives within and between firms. Covers the boundaries of firms, integration and outsourcing, authority and incentives, and alternative organizational structures in an evolving business environment. Prerequisite: (ECON 2013 and ECON 2023) or ECON 2143. (Typically offered: Fall)
ECON 4423. Behavioral Economics. 3 Hours.
Both economics and psychology systematically study human judgment, behavior, and well-being. This course surveys attempts to incorporate psychology into economics to better understand how people make decisions in economic situations. The course will cover models of choice under uncertainty, choice over time, as well as procedural theories of decision making. Prerequisite: ECON 2023 or ECON 2143. (Typically offered: Fall)

ECON 4433. Experimental Economics. 3 Hours.
The course offers an introduction to the field of experimental economics. Included are the methodological issues associated with developing, conducting, and analyzing controlled laboratory experiments. Standard behavioral results are examined and the implications of such behavior for business and economic theory are explored. Prerequisite: ECON 2023 or ECON 2143. (Typically offered: Spring)

ECON 450V. Independent Study. 1-6 Hour.
Permits students on individual basis to explore selected topics in economics. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

ECON 4533. China's Foreign Trade and International Order: History, Policy, and Theory. 3 Hours.
This interdisciplinary course explores China's foreign trade and international order by introducing students to the historical context and economic theory necessary for understanding China's role in the international trading system from the ancient past to the contemporary era. Prerequisite: (ECON 2013 and ECON 2023) or ECON 2143. (Typically offered: Irregular)
This course is cross-listed with PLSC 4533.

ECON 4563. International Trade. 3 Hours.
Problems of the international economy from a microeconomic perspective. Topics include analysis of the pattern and content of trade; trade in factors of production; and the applications of trade theory to the study of trade barriers such as tariffs and quotas. Prerequisite: (ECON 2013 and ECON 2023) or ECON 2143. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

ECON 4643. International Macroeconomics and Finance. 3 Hours.
Problems of the international economy from a macroeconomic perspective. Topics include national income accounting and the balance of payments; exchange rates and the foreign exchange markets; exchange rate policy; macroeconomic policy coordination; developing countries and the problem of 3rd world debt; and the global capital market. Prerequisite: (ECON 2013 and ECON 2023) or ECON 2143. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

ECON 466V. International Economics and Business Seminar. 1-6 Hour.
Offered primarily in conjunction with international study abroad programs with an emphasis on international economics and business. Prerequisite: (ECON 2013 and ECON 2023) or ECON 2143. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

ECON 4743. Introduction to Econometrics. 3 Hours.
Introduction to the application of statistical methods to problems in economics. Prerequisite: ((ECON 2013 and ECON 2023) or ECON 2143) and ((MATH 2043 or MATH 2554 or higher)) and (WCOB 1033 or STAT 2303). (Typically offered: Spring)

ECON 4753. Forecasting. 3 Hours.
The application of forecasting methods to economics, management, engineering, and other natural and social sciences. The student will learn how to recognize important features of time series and will be able to estimate and evaluate econometric models that fit the data reasonably well and allow the construction of forecasts. Prerequisite: (ECON 2013 and ECON 2023) or (ECON 2143) and (MATH 2043 or MATH 2554) and (WCOB 1033 or STAT 2303). (Typically offered: Fall)

ECON 4763. Economic Analytics. 3 Hours.
This course provides an overview of modern statistical learning methods, including Machine Learning, for senior economics or business majors, along with hands-on experience of in-depth analytics projects using real data. Students will use the most advanced Machine Learning libraries available in Python, R and MATLAB to gather and organize data as well as to train, validate and test their empirical models. Knowledge of statistical software is recommended. Pre- or Corequisite: ECON 4743 or ISYS 4193. (Typically offered: Fall)
Requirements for Creative Writing Concentration

ENGL 2023 Creative Writing I (ACTS Equivalency = ENGL 2013) 3

ENGL 3013 Creative Writing II 3

ENGL 3203 Poetry 3

ENGL 3213 Fiction 3

ENGL 4013 Undergraduate Poetry Workshop 3

or ENGL 4023 Undergraduate Fiction Workshop 3

ENGL 4303 Introduction to Shakespeare 3

Any ENGL or WLIT course numbered 3000-level or higher. 1

Total Hours 21

1 Students are encouraged to take both Undergraduate Poetry Workshop and Undergraduate Fiction Workshop, or to retake these workshops with a different faculty member, for this requirement.

Writing Requirement: All upper-division English courses require a research or an analytical paper except ENGL 4003 and the courses in creative writing (ENGL 3013, ENGL 4013, ENGL 4023). For this reason all students who fulfill the requirements for a major in English thereby fulfill the Fulbright College writing requirement. In addition, 4000-level courses (except for those noted above) require more intensive research by, and more active participation from, students than 3000-level courses do and require each student to complete a paper that can be included as a writing sample with applications to graduate programs or professional schools.

Assessment Requirement: Every senior English major must take the program assessment exam administered by the department each spring semester to graduate. Exam results will not affect GPA, although the student’s score will be noted on his or her permanent academic record. This requirement may be waived in extraordinary circumstances by the department’s Director of Undergraduate Studies. Contact your adviser for more information.

State minimum core (p. 96) requirements may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all core requirements are met, students may substitute with general electives. Students should consult with their academic advisor.

Requirements for B.A. in English with Rhetoric and Writing Studies Concentration University and College Requirements for a Bachelor of Arts in English: In addition to the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences Graduation Requirements (see under Degree Completion Program Policy), the following course requirements must be met. Bolded courses from the course list below may be applied to portions of the state minimum core (p. 96).

State minimum core 35
World language up to the Intermediate II level 12
WLIT 1113 World Literature: Beginnings to 1650 CE (ACTS Equivalency = ENGL 2113) 3
WLIT 1123 World Literature: 1650CE to Present (ACTS Equivalency = ENGL 2123) 3

or any 3000-level or higher literature course taught in the Department of World Languages, Literatures & Cultures.

A minimum of 54 credit hours in English courses from the requirements below.

ENGL 1103 Reading Literature 3
ENGL 2043 Rethinking Literature 3
Transatlantic Literature Surveys 12
ENGL 2053 Transatlantic Literature from Beginnings to 1640 3
ENGL 2063 Transatlantic Literature from 1640 to 1865 3
ENGL 2073 Transatlantic Literature from 1865 to 1945 3
ENGL 2083 Transatlantic Literature from 1945 to Present 3

Diversity Requirement — choose one course from the following: 3
ENGL 3543 Topics in U.S. Latino/Latina Literature and Culture
ENGL 3553 Topics in Native American Literature and Culture
ENGL 3573 Special Topics in Diversity
ENGL 3583 Topics in Arab American Literature and Culture

12 credit hours in ENGL courses numbered 3000-level or higher, with at least 9 credit hours from these ENGL courses numbered 4000-level or higher. Students must complete a minimum of 6 credit hours covering periods of study before the year 1800 and 6 credit hours covering periods of study after the year 1800. 1

Concentration hours 21
General Electives 13

Students who are pursuing any concentration other than Creative Writing must complete 3 credit hours numbered 3000-level or higher within their General Electives towards the University Residency Requirement (see Degree Completion Program Policy).

Total Hours 120

1 Department listings for courses each semester will identify the period of study that each course satisfies.

Transfer Credit: In order to receive a B.A. in English from the University of Arkansas, a student must complete at least 24 credit hours in ENGL courses numbered 3000-level or higher from the English department.

Requirements for Rhetoric and Writing Studies Concentration

ENGL 3103 Approaches to Critical Thinking About Literature and Culture 3

Select three courses from the list below: 9
ENGL 2013  Essay Writing
ENGL 3053  Technical and Professional Writing (ACTS Equivalency = ENGL 2023)
ENGL 3603  Topics in Rhetoric and Composition
ENGL 4003  English Language and Composition for Teachers
ENGL 4903  Studies in Rhetoric and Composition

9 hours of general electives. Students should consult with a faculty mentor when choosing general electives in order to select courses (or a supplementary minor or degree) that best support their professional goals and concentration focus.

Total Hours 21

1 May be retaken for up to 9 credit hours total.

Writing Requirement: All upper-division English courses require a research or an analytical paper except ENGL 4003 and the courses in creative writing (ENGL 3013, ENGL 4013, ENGL 4023). For this reason all students who fulfill the requirements for a major in English thereby fulfill the Fulbright College writing requirement. Total Units in Sequence: 120

1 Students must complete a minimum of 6 credit hours covering periods of study before the year 1800 and 6 credit hours covering periods of study after the year 1800.

2 ENGL 3603 and ENGL 4903 may be retaken for up to 9 credit hours total towards this requirement.
Requirements for B.A. in English with Topical Concentration

University and College Requirements for a Bachelor of Arts in English:
In addition to the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences Graduation Requirements (see under Degree Completion Program Policy), the following course requirements must be met. Bolded courses from the course list below may be applied to portions of the state minimum core (p. 96).

State minimum core

World language up to the Intermediate II level

WLIT 1113 World Literature: Beginnings to 1650 CE (ACTS Equivalency = ENGL 2113)

WLIT 1123 World Literature: 1650CE to Present (ACTS Equivalency = ENGL 2123)

or any 3000-level or higher literature course taught in the Department of World Languages, Literatures & Cultures.

A minimum of 54 credit hours in English courses from the requirements below.

ENGL 1103 Reading Literature 3
ENGL 2043 Rethinking Literature 3

Transatlantic Literature Surveys 12

ENGL 2053 Transatlantic Literature from Beginnings to 1640
ENGL 2063 Transatlantic Literature from 1640 to 1865
ENGL 2073 Transatlantic Literature from 1865 to 1945
ENGL 2083 Transatlantic Literature from 1945 to Present

Diversity Requirement — choose one course from the following: 3

ENGL 3543 Topics in U.S. Latino/Latina Literature and Culture
ENGL 3553 Topics in Native American Literature and Culture
ENGL 3573 Special Topics in Diversity
ENGL 3583 Topics in Arab American Literature and Culture
ENGL 3593 Topics in Gender, Sexuality, and Literature
ENGL 3853 Topics in African-American Literature and Culture
ENGL 4523 Studies in U.S. Latino/Latina Literature and Culture
ENGL 4553 Studies in Native American Literature and Culture
ENGL 4573 Studies in Major Literary Movements
ENGL 4583 Studies in Arab American Literature and Culture
ENGL 4593 Studies in Gender, Sexuality, and Literature
ENGL 4853 Studies in African American Literature and Culture

12 credit hours in ENGL courses numbered 3000-level or higher, with at least 9 credit hours from these ENGL courses numbered 4000-level or higher. Students must complete a minimum of 6 credit hours covering periods of study before the year 1800 and 6 credit hours covering periods of study after the year 1800. 1

General Electives 13

Students who are pursuing any concentration other than Creative Writing must complete 3 credit hours numbered 3000-level or higher within their General Electives towards the University Residency Requirement (see Degree Completion Program Policy).

Total Hours 120

Transfer Credit: In order to receive a B.A. in English from the University of Arkansas, a student must complete at least 24 credit hours in ENGL courses numbered 3000-level or higher from the English department.

Requirements for Topical Concentration

ENGL 3103 Approaches to Critical Thinking About Literature and Culture 3

9 credit hours in courses from a Topical area of focus. 1 9

9 hours of general electives. Students should consult with a faculty mentor when choosing general electives in order to select courses (or a supplementary minor or degree) that best support their professional goals and concentration focus.

Total Hours 21

1 The department will maintain a list of current Topical areas and will note on course descriptions which courses will meet a given topical area's focus in any given semester.

Writing Requirement: All upper-division English courses require a research or an analytical paper except ENGL 4003 and the courses in creative writing (ENGL 3013, ENGL 4013, ENGL 4023). For this reason all students who fulfill the requirements for a major in English thereby fulfill the Fulbright College writing requirement. In addition, 4000-level courses (except for those noted above) require more intensive research by, and more active participation from, students than 3000-level courses do and require each student to complete a paper that can be included as a writing sample with applications to graduate programs or professional schools.

Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) in the Academic Regulations chapter for university requirements of the program as well as Fulbright College requirements.

State minimum core (p. 96) requirements may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all core requirements are met, students may substitute with general electives. Students should consult with their academic advisor.

Requirements for a Combined Major in English and Journalism

All university students must fulfill the minimum University Core requirements (http://catalog.uark.edu/undergraduatecatalog/academicregulations/universitycore/). A minimum of 72 hours in non-journalism courses must be applied toward the 120 hours required by the college for a Bachelor of Arts degree. Bolded courses from the list below may be counted toward some part of the University Core/state minimum core requirements, as applicable.

and 15 additional hours chosen from English courses numbered above 3000 and WLIT courses above 2333.

In addition, students are strongly recommended to complete up through the 2013 Intermediate II level of a world language.

Writing Requirement: All upper division English courses require a research or an analytical paper except ENGL 4003 and the courses in creative writing: (ENGL 3013, ENGL 4013, and ENGL 4023. For this reason, all students who fulfill the requirements for the combined major in Journalism and English thereby fulfill the Fulbright College writing requirement.

Assessment Requirement: Every senior English major must take the program assessment exam administered by the department each spring semester to graduate. Exam results will not affect GPA, although the student’s score will be noted on his or her permanent academic record. This requirement may be waived in extraordinary circumstances by the department’s Director of Undergraduate Studies. Contact your adviser for more information.

Combined Major in English and Journalism Eight-Semester Degree Program
Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) for university requirements of the program. Core requirement hours may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all core requirements are met, students may substitute a three-hour (or more) general elective in place of a core area.

Minor in Rhetoric and Writing Studies
The minor in Rhetoric and Writing Studies provides non-English majors with advanced instruction in rhetorical studies and document design.
Students will learn to examine the roles of language, writing, and communication in different social and professional settings. In addition to receiving practical instruction in effective writing, students will also develop analytical tools for understanding language as social action.

Requirements for Graduation with Honors in English: Both the College and the Departmental Honors Program in English allow upper-division undergraduates to strengthen their study of English and adapt it to their interests. Honors candidates enroll in special courses and do directed independent study and research. In addition to the college and departmental requirements for the major in English and the general college requirements for the B.A. degree, each honors candidate in English must

1. Be accepted as an honors candidate by the department (requiring a minimum, cumulative grade-point average of 3.5 in all course work),
2. Complete at least nine hours of non-thesis honors course work, at least three hours of which must be in English,
3. Enroll in at least three hours of Senior Thesis ENGL 498V and write an honors thesis (either a critical study or a creative writing project) under the direction of a faculty member in the Department of English, and
4. Defend the candidate’s entire honors program in an oral examination.

Candidates may petition to enroll in a departmental graduate seminar. To complete the required thesis successfully, candidates should choose an honors thesis adviser as early as possible. An adviser should be selected, and an Honors Agreement completed, no later than the first semester in a candidate’s junior year. Candidates who complete the honors program with merit will graduate with the distinction “English Scholar Cum Laude.” The distinctions of Magna Cum Laude and Summa Cum Laude will be awarded only for exceptional work and will be based on the candidate’s entire honors program.

English (B.A.) Teacher Licensure Requirements:

Please refer to the Secondary Education Requirements (p. 274) for Fulbright College Students.

Students wanting to teach English in middle school should consult with a middle-level adviser in the College of Education and Health Professions.

Gender Studies Website (https://fulbright.uark.edu/programs/gender-studies/)

The gender studies minor introduces students to the ways that various academic disciplines have examined women’s and men’s differing participation in work, the family, political systems, and creative endeavors. Courses explore sex and gender differences and such concepts as masculinity and femininity, essence and performance; distributions of power, work, and resources; and the symbolic representation of gender and identity in literature, religion, and art. The minor is often chosen by students interested in investigating materials previously neglected by scholars and in fresh perspectives on traditional subject matter.

Requirements for a Minor in Gender Studies. Students must complete 15 credit hours from the list below.

Geography (GEOG)
The Geography Program offers an undergraduate major leading to a Bachelor of Arts in geography. Students may choose either the normal geography degree program or the concentration in cartography and remote-sensing GIS. The program also offers two minors: geography and historic preservation.

Undergraduates who wish to major in geography should identify themselves to the department as soon as possible in order that they may develop a meaningful sequence of courses and take part in departmental activities.

Those interested in the graduate program should consult the Graduate School Catalog (p. 1370).

Requirements for a Major in Geography: In addition to the University Core requirements (http://catalog.uark.edu/undergraduatecatalog/academicregulations/universitycore/) and the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences Graduation Requirements (p. 271), the following course requirements must be met. Bolded courses from the list below may be applied to portions of the University/state minimum core requirements.

Six hours in a single world language at the 1013 Elementary II level or higher. 1

1 World language courses taken are dependent on placement level in sequence.

In addition, students must complete a minimum of 15 hours of GEOS at the 3000-level or above, classes must include one technical, two regional and two topical courses.

Total Hours 41

Writing Requirement: The college writing requirement is to be met by completion of a term paper deemed satisfactory by the student’s adviser and instructor of an upper-level geoscience course. The college writing requirement may also be met by the completion of an honors thesis.

Geography B.A.
Eight-Semester Degree Program

Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) for university requirements of the program. Core requirement hours may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all core requirements are met, students may substitute a three-hour (or more) general elective in place of a core area.

GEOS 3033 Building Materials Field Studies is the required field capstone course that will require two weekends (Saturday and Sunday) for completion. The course has been specifically designed for this program and will discuss the nature of building materials (wood, brick, mortar and stone), their identification and properties, weathering and erosion theory, assessment and mitigation (i.e. cleaning, consolidants, innovative trends). It is suggested that this class be taken last in the program series.

One semester participation in the University of Arkansas’ Rome Program will substitute for six (6) credits from class requirements in Architectural History and Urban Studies listed above. A supplemental program internship is suggested in addition to the classes required if the student’s career path is in Historic Preservation.

Requirements for Departmental Honors in Geography: Admission to the Departmental Honors Program in Geography is open to geography majors with a minimum grade-point average of 3.5 in all their work. All honors candidates must take 12 hours, which may include 6 hours of thesis, in Honors Studies. During the fall semester of either the junior or senior year, the candidate will enroll in GEOS 399VH (no more than three hours of credit), an undergraduate seminar in geographical philosophy and methodology. During the senior year, the honors candidate will complete the program by writing a senior honors paper under GEOS 399VH (no more than three hours of credit). Successful completion of the requirements will be recognized by the award of the distinction “Geography Scholar Cum Laude” at graduation. Higher degree distinctions are recommended only in truly exceptional cases and are based upon the whole of the candidate’s program of honors studies.

Courses

- GEOS 1111L. Physical Geology Laboratory (ACTS Equivalency = GEOL 1114 Lab). 1 Hour.
  Laboratory exercises concerning the identification of rocks and minerals, use of aerial photographs and topographic maps, and several field trips. Pre- or Corequisite: GEOS 1113. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

- GEOS 1111M. Honors Physical Geology Laboratory. 1 Hour.
  Survey of geological processes and products and their relationships to landforms, natural resources, living environments, and human beings. Lecture 3 hours, laboratory 2 hours per week. Corequisite: GEOS 1113H. (Typically offered: Fall) This course is equivalent to GEOS 1111L.

- GEOS 1113. Physical Geology (ACTS Equivalency = GEOL 1114 Lecture). 3 Hours.
  Survey of geological processes and products, and their relationships to landforms, natural resources, living environments and human beings. Corequisite: GEOS 1111L. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)
GEOS 1113H. Honors Physical Geology. 3 Hours.
Survey of geological processes and products and their relationships to landforms, natural resources, living environments, and human beings. Lecture 3 hours, laboratory 2 hours per week. Corequisite: GEOS 1111M. (Typically offered: Irregular)
This course is equivalent to GEOS 1113.

GEOS 1123. Human Geography (ACTS Equivalency = GEOG 1113). 3 Hours.
Basic course in human geography stressing the interrelationships between the natural factors of the environment and man's activities, especially the role of geography in the understanding of social problems and economic and political activities. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 1123H. Honors Human Geography. 3 Hours.
Basic course in human geography stressing the interrelationships between the natural factors of the environment and man's activities, especially the role of geography in the understanding of social problems and economic and political activities. Prerequisite: Honors candidacy. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)
This course is equivalent to GEOS 1123.

GEOS 1131L. Earth Science Laboratory (ACTS Equivalency = GEOL 1124 Lab). 1 Hour.
Laboratory exercises concerning human interactions with the physical environment including the study of earthquakes, volcanoes, flooding, erosion, mass wasting, water supply and contamination, and waste disposal. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GEOS 1133. Earth Science (ACTS Equivalency = GEOL 1124 Lecture). 3 Hours.
The application of earth science principles and knowledge of problems created by human occupancy and exploitation of the physical environment. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

Survey of problems, development potential, and physical and human resources of the developing and developed world. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GEOS 2003H. Honors World Regional Geography. 3 Hours.
Survey of problems, development potential, and physical and human resources of the developing and developed world. Prerequisite: Honors candidacy. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)
This course is equivalent to GEOS 2003.

GEOS 2313. Mineralogy. 3 Hours.
General principles of mineralogy, study and identification of common minerals, igneous & metamorphic rocks using hand samples. Prerequisite: GEOS 1113 and CHEM 1103. Corequisite: Lab component. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 2813. Digital Earth. 3 Hours.
This course introduces the fundamental concepts and practical geospatial techniques of the digital earth initiative. Students will learn how digital geographical information is produced (also referred to as geospatial data) and utilized in a variety of economic, environmental, and scientific applications. The class will concentrate on how digital geospatial data are produced, integrated and applied in daily life and will review a variety of environmental and socioeconomic applications. Prerequisite: Honors standing. (Typically offered: Fall)
This course is equivalent to GEOS 2813.

GEOS 3013. Foundations of Geospatial Data Analysis. 3 Hours.
Basic mathematical tools applied in geospatial technology, including trigonometry in mapping, linear algebra in remote sensing, optimization in spatial decision support, and graph theory in routing. Course develops the framework for spatial data analysis and decision support. Students may receive credit for the course through testing. Prerequisite: GEOS 3543. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GEOS 3023. Introduction to Cartography. 3 Hours.
Students learn basic principles of map design, cartographic theory and field surveying to produce a variety of computer-generated maps. An introductory course designed for students in a variety of different disciplines using AutoCad software and various new technologies. Field trips may be required. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 3033. Building Materials Field Studies. 3 Hours.
Study of durable building materials, their availability, strength, deterioration, limitation and utility. Historic construction techniques, identification of architectural materials, architectural elements assessment, causes and mechanisms of deterioration, conservation and treatment of architectural materials, preservation philosophies and standards and creation of a practical field identification kit will also be covered. Corequisite: Lab component. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 3043. Sustaining Earth. 3 Hours.
Theory and growth of conservation and sustainability, the wise use of the major natural resources of the United States. This course meets the requirement in conservation and sustainability for teachers. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 3043H. Honors Sustaining Earth. 3 Hours.
Theory and growth of conservation and the wise use of the major natural resources of the United States. This course meets the requirement in conservation for teachers. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall)
This course is equivalent to GEOS 3043.

GEOS 3053. Geology of Arkansas. 3 Hours.
A survey of the distribution, genesis, and age of the rocks, fossils, structures, landforms and geological processes of Arkansas. Equivalent to two hours of lecture per week. Field trips required. Prerequisite: GEOS 1113 or GEOS 1113H. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 3103. Geospatial Technologies Computational Toolkit. 3 Hours.
Basic computational tools and processes applied in geospatial software, related computer hardware components, systems and applications software, and spatial database fundamentals. Python, including SciPy and NumPy, geospatial implementations will be emphasized. No programming experience is required. Students may receive credit for the course through testing. Prerequisite: GEOS 3543. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GEOS 3114. Paleontology. 4 Hours.
Survey of the phyla commonly preserved as fossils emphasizing their physical and biological characteristics. Lecture 3 hours, laboratory 2 hours per week. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: GEOS 1133 or (BIOL 1543 and BIOL 1541L) or equivalent. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 3213. Principles of Remote Sensing. 3 Hours.
Fundamental concepts of remote sensing of the environment. Optical, infrared, microwave, LiDAR, and in situ sensor systems are introduced. Remote sensing of vegetation, water, urban landscapes, soils, minerals, and geomorphology is discussed. The course includes laboratory exercises in GIS software and field spectroscopy. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 3313. Igneous and Metamorphic Petrology. 3 Hours.
Megascopic study and classification of igneous and metamorphic rocks. Lecture 2 hours, laboratory 2 hours per week. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: GEOS 2313. (Typically offered: Spring)
GEOS 3333. Oceanography. 3 Hours.
The sea, its landforms; its winds and currents as related to the atmosphere, world climates, and world trade; its basin as avenues for continental drift; its waters as habitat for plant and animal life; its marine and submarine resources as presently and potentially useful to man. Offered as physical science. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Spring Even Years)

GEOS 3413. Sedimentary Geology. 3 Hours.
An introductory study of sedimentary rocks from the standpoint of classification, field and laboratory description, genesis, and preservation. Lecture 2 hours, laboratory 2 hours per week, Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: GEOS 2313. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 3514. Structural Geology. 4 Hours.
Survey of deformational features and their geological significance in the crust of the earth. Lecture 3 hours per week. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: GEOS 1113. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 3543. Geospatial Applications and Information Science. 3 Hours.
An introduction to the methods and theory underlying the full range of geographic information science and collateral areas - including GNSS, remote sensing, cadastral, spatial demographics and others. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring) This course is cross-listed with ANTH 3543.

GEOS 3553. Spatial Analysis Using ArcGIS. 3 Hours.
Applications of analysis of spatial data using ArcGIS tools in map design, on-line mapping, creating geodatabases, accessing geospatial data, geo-processing, digitizing, geocoding, spatial analysis including basic spatial statistics, analysis of spatial distributions and patternning and 3D application using ArcGIS 3D Analyst. Prerequisite: GEOS 3543. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GEOS 3563. Geospatial Data Mining. 3 Hours.
Basic tools for analyzing, summarizing and visualizing geospatial data. Exploratory data and spatial data analysis, probability distributions and application, single and multivariate analysis and hypothesis testing, and spatial smoothing and interpolation. Emphasis will be on problem solving in geospatial settings using the R statistical language. Prerequisite: GEOS 3543 and (GEOS 3013 or MATH 2554 or MATH 2043 or DASC 2594) and (GEOS 3103 or DASC 1104 or DASC 2113). (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GEOS 3593. Introduction to Geodatabases. 3 Hours.
Fundamental concepts and applications of geospatial databases. Schema development and spatial data models for geodata. Spatial and attribute query and optimization, properties and structures of relational and object-oriented geodatabases. Spatial extensions of SQL, spatial indexing, measurement, and geometry. Prerequisite: GEOS 3543 and (GEOS 3013 or MATH 2554 or MATH 2043 or DASC 2594) and (GEOS 3103 or DASC 1104 or DASC 2113). (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GEOS 360V. Undergraduate Special Problems. 1-6 Hour.
Library, laboratory, or field research in different phases of geology. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

GEOS 3873. Geological Data Analysis. 3 Hours.
Quantitative methods and techniques for analysis and interpretation of geological data. Corequisite: Lab component. Pre- or corequisite: MATH 2564. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 3901. Junior Honors Course. 1 Hour.
Special honors research in geology. One hour credit each semester. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

GEOS 3911. Junior Honors Course. 1 Hour.
Special honors research in geology. One hour credit each semester. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

GEOS 3923H. Honors Colloquium. 3 Hours.
Covers a special topic or issue, offered as part of the honors program. Prerequisite: Honors candidacy (not restricted to candidacy in geology or geography). (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for degree credit.

GEOS 399VH. Honors Course. 1-6 Hour.
Honors course. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

GEOS 4033. Hydrogeology. 3 Hours.
Occurrence, movement, and interaction of water with geologic and cultural features. Lecture 3 hours per week. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: MATH 2043 or MATH 2554, and GEOS 3514. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4043. Geography of the Middle East. 3 Hours.
Physical and cultural landscapes, natural and cultural resources, art and architecture, land use, political history, OPEC, and current problems of North Africa and the Middle East region west of Afghanistan are discussed. Class participation, discussions, slides and films, and student presentations will round out the class. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4043H. Honors Geography of the Middle East. 3 Hours.
Physical and cultural landscapes, natural and cultural resources, art and architecture, land use, political history, OPEC, and current problems of North Africa and the Middle East region west of Afghanistan are discussed. Class participation, discussions, slides and films, and student presentations will round out the class. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Irregular) This course is equivalent to GEOS 4043.

GEOS 4053. Geomorphology. 3 Hours.
A quantitative, mechanistic overview of surface processes and landscape evolution. Lecture 2 hours, laboratory 3 hours per week. One to two field trips on weekends (2 day total) are required during the semester. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: GEOS 3873 or instructor consent. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4063. Principles of Geochemistry. 3 Hours.
Introduction to fundamental principles of geochemistry from historic development to modern concepts,Prerequisite: CHEM 1121L, CHEM 1123 and GEOS 2313. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4073. Urban Geography. 3 Hours.
Areal patterns of modern urban regions and the focus shaping these patterns. Emphasis is placed on American urban areas and their evolution and functional areas. Field work. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4083. Economic Geology. 3 Hours.
Introduction to mineral deposits used as economic resources. Covers basic geology and geochemistry of mineral deposit formations and the formation of major classes of deposits. Examines the relationship between the distribution of ores, oil, gas, coal, and Plate Tectonics. Explores environmental issues associated with the extraction of earth resources. Prerequisite: GEOS 2313. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 4093. History and Philosophy of Geography. 3 Hours.
This course familiarizes students with the history of geography, the contributions of geographers to scientific thought and theory, and research techniques that are used in geography. Emphasis is given to the integration of statistical and spatial analysis, and their applications in field research. The course includes short field-based projects in and around Northwest Arkansas. (Typically offered: Spring Even Years)

GEOS 410V. Special Problems in Geosciences. 1-6 Hour.
Designed to meet the needs of students who wish to study one particular geographic topic in some detail. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.
GEOS 410VH. Honors Special Problems in Geosciences. 1-6 Hour.
Designed to meet the needs of students who wish to study one particular geographic topic in some detail. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit. This course is equivalent to GEOS 410V.

GEOS 4113H. Honors Global Change. 3 Hours.
Examines central issues of global change including natural and human induced climate change, air pollution, deforestation, desertification, wetland loss urbanization, and the biodiversity crisis. The U.S. Global Change Research Program is also examined. Prerequisite: Honors candidacy. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4113. Radar Remote Sensing. 3 Hours.
Introduction to radar remote sensing and its applications in geology, geography, archeology, engineering, and agriculture. Focuses on Synthetic Aperture Radar (SAR) and advanced techniques including radar stereo, polarimetry, and interferometry. Covers Interferometric SAR (InSAR) for mapping topography and modeling Earth’s surface motions due to earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, landslides, and subsidence. Prerequisite: GEOS 3023 or equivalent. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4153. Karst Hydrogeology. 3 Hours.
Assessment of ground water resources in carbonate rock terrains; relation of ground water and surface water hydrology to karst; quantification of extreme variability in karst environments; data collection rationale. Field trips required. Prerequisite: GEOS 4033. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 4223. Stratigraphy and Sedimentation. 3 Hours.
Introductory investigation of stratigraphic and sedimentologic factors important to the study of sedimentary rocks. Lecture 2 hours, laboratory 3 hours per week. A required weekend, two-day field trip will be conducted during the semester. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: GEOS 3413. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4233. Geography of Religion & Sacrality. 3 Hours.
Explores the spatial nature of the World’s major faiths and religious institutions, focusing on the distribution and origins of these religions. Examines the religious beliefs, rituals, architecture, demographics, and art in different societies, cultures, and countries. Considers the tenets and practices of what is sacred and/or spiritual, held in common by a group or community. Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 4243. Political Geography. 3 Hours.
Contemporary world political problems in their geographic context. Development of the principles of political geography with emphasis upon the problems of Eastern Europe, Africa, and Southeast Asia. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall Odd Years)

GEOS 4253. Petroleum Geology. 3 Hours.
Distribution and origin of petroleum. Lecture 2 hours, laboratory 2 hours per week. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: Geology major and senior standing. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4263. Geospatial Data Science - Sources and Characteristics. 3 Hours.
Covers the wide range of geospatial data sources and characteristics with emphasis on data science applications through hands-on experience recognizing the unique requirements of major sources. Techniques for the integration of disparate, heterogeneous data sets will be covered. Corequisite: GEOS 3563. Prerequisite: GEOS 3543. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 430V. Internship in Physical Geography. 3-6 Hour.
Supervised experience in municipal, county, state or private natural resource management agency, or any other such organization approved by instructor. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

GEOS 4335. Meteorology. 3 Hours.
Examination of the atmospheric processes that result in multifarious weather systems. Offered as physical science. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4363. Climatology. 3 Hours.
Fundamentals of topical climatology followed by a study of regional climatology. Offered as physical science. Prerequisite: GEOS 1133 or GEOS 4353. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 437V. Geology Field Trip. 1-2 Hour.
Camping field trip to areas of geologic interest, usually conducted during Spring Break. Prerequisite: GEOS 3313. (Typically offered: Spring) May be repeated for up to 4 hours of degree credit.

GEOS 4383. Hazard & Disaster Assessment, Mitigation, Risk & Policy. 3 Hours.
Comprehensive introduction to interdisciplinary approaches to natural and environmental hazards and risk. Hazards and disaster assessment, mitigation, and policy are the focus of the class. Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing. (Typically offered: Spring) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

GEOS 4383H. Honors Hazard & Disaster Assessment, Mitigation, Risk & Policy. 3 Hours.
Comprehensive introduction to interdisciplinary approaches to natural and environmental hazards and risk. Hazards and disaster assessment, mitigation, and policy are the focus of the class. Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing. (Typically offered: Spring) This course is equivalent to GEOS 4383.

GEOS 4393. American Public Lands & Policy. 3 Hours.
The course examines the role of American federal public lands in 19th-21st century geography, history, policy, and art. It investigates the growth of conservation, preservation, and management movements in the US by looking at America’s national parks, forests, dams, wildlife refuges, wilderness areas, managed and agricultural lands. Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 4393H. Honors American Public Lands & Policy. 3 Hours.
The course examines the role of American federal public lands in 19th-21st century geography, history, policy, and art. It investigates the growth of conservation, preservation, and management movements in the US by looking at America’s national parks, forests, dams, wildlife refuges, wilderness areas, managed and agricultural lands. Prerequisite: Honors standing and Junior or senior standing. (Typically offered: Irregular) This course is equivalent to GEOS 4393.

GEOS 440V. Internship in GIS & Cartography. 3-6 Hour.
Supervised experience in GIS and/or cartographic applications with municipal, county, state, or private enterprises. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

GEOS 4433. Geophysics. 3 Hours.
Derivation from physical principles, of the geophysical methods for mapping the Earth. Computational methods of converting gravity, magnetic, radiometric, electrical, and seismic data into geologic information. Lecture 3 hours, laboratory 2 hours per week. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: MATH 2564 and PHYS 2033 and PHYS 2031L and GEOS 3514. (Typically offered: Irregular)
GEOS 4443. The Solid Earth: Structure, Composition and Evolution. 3 Hours. Modern views for the origin of the solid Earth and its structure, composition, and evolution through geologic time. Topics will include examination of relevant geophysical and geochemical constraints used to develop global models for the Earth. Prerequisite: CHEM 1123, GEOS 3313, MATH 2564, PHYS 2074 or instructor consent. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4463. 3D Seismic Exploration. 3 Hours. Interpretation of the spatial component of three-dimensional seismic data in geologic structure and stratigraphy with emphasis on hydrocarbon exploration. Prerequisite: GEOS 3514 or instructor consent. (Typically offered: Autumn)

GEOS 4473. Applied Climatology. 3 Hours. Applied climatology involves the use of climatic data to solve a variety of social, economic and environmental problems, such as for clients in agriculture, water and energy management. The basic purpose of applied climatology is to help society, at all scales and levels, to achieve a better adjustment to the climatic environment. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4473H. Honors Applied Climatology. 3 Hours. Applied climatology involves the use of climatic data to solve a variety of social, economic and environmental problems, such as for clients in agriculture, water and energy management. The basic purpose of applied climatology is to help society, at all scales and levels, to achieve a better adjustment to the climatic environment. (Typically offered: Fall)

This course is equivalent to GEOS 4473.

GEOS 4483. Severe Weather. 3 Hours. Focuses on the formation and impact of weather phenomena such as blizzards, floods, tornadoes, thunderstorms, hurricanes and droughts. Covers the mechanisms and physics that control severe weather, advanced terminology, physical concepts and scientific methods used in meteorology, and the analysis and interpretation of meteorological data. Prerequisite: GEOS 1133 and GEOS 1131L. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4493. Geography of Political Violence. 3 Hours. This seminar focuses on the rise of civil conflict in the post-World War II world. We are particularly interested in understanding the institutional challenges facing countries that experience such conflict. The class will develop a contextually-informed understanding of the international system and how it is shaped by civil war. Pre- or Corequisite: INST 2013. Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing. (Typically offered: Fall Even Years)

This course is cross-listed with INST 4103.

GEOS 4493H. Honors Geography of Political Violence. 3 Hours. This seminar focuses on the rise of civil conflict in the post-World War II world. We are particularly interested in understanding the institutional challenges facing countries that experience such conflict. The class will develop a contextually-informed understanding of the international system and how it is shaped by civil war. Pre- or Corequisite: INST 2013. Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing and honors standing. (Typically offered: Fall Even Years)

This course is cross-listed with GEOS 4493, INST 4103.

GEOS 4503. Advanced Cartographic Techniques & Production. 3 Hours. Covers advanced production and techniques in cartography, including animation, geospatial visualization, pochade, and advanced visualization. Emphasizes client relationships in creating and producing cartographic materials. Prerequisite: GEOS 4523. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 4513. Introduction to GIS Programming. 3 Hours. This course introduces fundamentals of GIS software engineering and offers hands-on tutorials in customized applications using ArcGIS through programming ArcObjects in VBA / VA.net environment. Topics covered include ArcObjects, different programming syntax and styles, and fundamental routines and functions in ArcGIS. After completing the course, students will have the capability to develop customized ArcGIS applications. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4523. Cartographic Design and Production. 3 Hours. This course addresses advanced cartographic concepts (i.e. visual hierarchy, aesthetics, image cognition) and production techniques as they relate to computer-assisted mapping. Students produce a variety of maps using Adobe Illustrator (CS 4-6) software to build a map portfolio. Field trips may be required. Prerequisite: GEOS 3023. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4533. Introduction to Petroleum Geophysics. 3 Hours. Introduction to seismic wave propagation and petroleum seismology with particular emphasis on seismic events, elastic waves, and seismic survey design. Prerequisite: MATH 2564, (PHYS 2033 or PHYS 2074), and GEOS 3514 or instructor consent. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4533H. Honors Introduction to Petroleum Geophysics. 3 Hours. Introduction to seismic wave propagation and petroleum seismology with particular emphasis on seismic events, elastic waves, and seismic survey design. Prerequisite: MATH 2564, (PHYS 2033 or PHYS 2074), and GEOS 3514 or instructor consent. (Typically offered: Fall)

This course is equivalent to GEOS 4533.

GEOS 4553. Introduction to Raster GIS. 3 Hours. Theory, data structure, algorithms, and techniques behind raster-based geographical information systems. Through laboratory exercises and lectures multidisciplinary applications are examined in database creation, remotely sensed data handling, elevation models, and resource models using boolean, map algebra, and other methods. Prerequisite: GEOS 3543 or ANTH 3543. (Typically offered: Fall)

This course is cross-listed with ANTH 4553.

GEOS 4563. Geography of Our National Parks. 3 Hours. This course examines the underlying geology responsible for selected parks, and explores the interplay of geology, biology, climate, topography, and humans to evaluate the value of the parks, and to anticipate the problems they will face in the near and long-term. Prerequisite: GEOS 1113. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4583. Enterprise and Multiuser GIS. 3 Hours. GIS practice that's typical of collaborative team-based geospatial organizations. Solve real-world problems through end-to-end GIS design and implementation using ArcGIS Enterprise, extensive federal, state, and local repositories, and high quality software documentation. Includes relevant training in geospatial provenance and metadata, and in enterprise and multiuser GIS administration. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4593. Introduction to Global Positioning Systems and Global Navigation Satellite Systems. 3 Hours. Fundamentals of navigation, mapping, and high-precision positioning using the Navstar Global Positioning System. Topics include datum definition and transformation, map projections, autonomous and differential positioning using both code and carrier processing, and analysis of errors. Prerequisite: GEOS 3543 or GEOS 5543. (Typically offered: Fall)

This course is cross-listed with ANTH 4593.

GEOS 4653. GIS Analysis and Modeling. 3 Hours. Unlike conventional GIS courses that focus on studying 'where', this course will teach students to address beyond 'where' using various GIS analysis and modeling techniques to explore 'why' and 'how'. The course will provide theoretical and methodological reviews of the principles of cartographic modeling and multi-criteria decision-making. (Typically offered: Spring)

This course is cross-listed with ANTH 4653.

GEOS 4653H. Honors GIS Analysis and Modeling. 3 Hours. Unlike conventional GIS courses that focus on studying 'where', this course will teach students to address beyond 'where' using various GIS analysis and modeling techniques to explore 'why' and 'how'. The course will provide theoretical and methodological reviews of the principles of cartographic modeling and multi-criteria decision-making. (Typically offered: Spring)

This course is cross-listed with GEOS 4653, ANTH 4653.
GEOS 4663. Low-Temperature Geochemistry of Natural Waters. 3 Hours.
Covers the low-temperature geochemistry of waters and their associated minerals at Earth's surface. Examines the controls on the chemical composition of natural waters and the minerals precipitated from them. Topics covered will include water-rock interactions, pH, redox, the carbonate-water system, clay minerals and exchange, heavy metals, and a brief introduction to stable isotopes and geomicrobiology. Prerequisite: CHEM 1121L, CHEM 1123, GEOS 1113, and GEOS 1111L. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4673. Volcanology. 3 Hours.
A broad introduction to volcanic processes and their associated hazards. Emphasis will be placed on applying basic physical and chemical principles to understanding volcanic systems. Prerequisite: GEOS 2313. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 4686. Geology Field Camp. 6 Hours.
A professional course taught off campus emphasizing occurrence, description, mapping, and interpretation of major rock types. May not be taken for graduate credit. Prerequisite: GEOS 3413 and GEOS 3514. (Typically offered: Summer)

GEOS 4693. Environmental Justice. 3 Hours.
This course deals with the ethical, environmental, legal, economic, and social implications of society's treatment of the poor, the disenfranchised, and minorities who live in the less desirable, deteriorating neighborhoods, communities, and niches of our country. The class integrates science with philosophy, politics, economics, policy, and law, drawing on award-winning films, current news, and case studies. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4693H. Honors Environmental Justice. 3 Hours.
This course deals with the ethical, environmental, legal, economic, and social implications of society's treatment of the poor, the disenfranchised, and minorities who live in the less desirable, deteriorating neighborhoods, communities, and niches of our country. The class integrates science with philosophy, politics, economics, policy, and law, drawing on award-winning films, current news, and case studies. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4783. Geography of Europe. 3 Hours.
Geographic regions of the area with emphasis on their present development. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 4793. Geospatial Unmanned Aircraft Systems. 3 Hours.
Geospatial unmanned aircraft systems (UAS) are becoming key technologies in a number of disciplines. This course will introduce safe and legal operation of UAS in aerial photography, multispectral, thermal and LiDAR applications, geodetic control, photogrammetric and computer vision processing, and the creation of accurate 2D and 3D digital information products. Pre- or Corequisite: GEOS 3213 or GEOS 4593 or equivalent. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4793H. Honors Geospatial Unmanned Aircraft Systems. 3 Hours.
Geospatial unmanned aircraft systems (UAS) are becoming key technologies in a number of disciplines. This course will introduce safe and legal operation of UAS in aerial photography, multispectral, thermal and LiDAR applications, geodetic control, photogrammetric and computer vision processing, and the creation of accurate 2D and 3D digital information products. Pre- or Corequisite: Honors standing and GEOS 4593 or equivalent. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4813. Geography of Eurasia. 3 Hours.
Introduction to the culture, society, and politics of Eurasia using the organizing concept of empire from the moment of its consolidation in 1945 to its dissolution in 1991. Focuses on places that have emerged from this order and emphasizes experience and memory at each of these different times and places. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Spring Even Years)

GEOS 4863. Quantitative Techniques in Geosciences. 3 Hours.
An introduction to the application of standard quantitative and spatial statistical techniques to geoscientific analysis. Students will use both micro and large system computers in the course. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4924. Earth System History (ACTS Equivalency = PHSC 1104). 4 Hours.
Physical and biological events that form the history of the earth from its formation to the beginning of the historical era. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: GEOS 3413 and (GEOS 4223 or GEOS 3313) and GEOS 3514. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4933. Ancient Forest Science and Sustainability. 3 Hours.
Ancient forests preserve beautiful habitat with high ecological integrity. This course will examine the development, spatial distribution, and ongoing destruction of ancient forests worldwide, and how science can contribute to the understanding and sustainable management of these valuable resources. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4972H. Senior Honors Course I. 2 Hours.
Special honors research in geology. Two hours of credit each semester. Prerequisite: Junior honors. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

GEOS 4982H. Senior Honors Course II. 2 Hours.
Special honors research in geology. Two hours of credit each semester. Prerequisite: Junior honors. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

GEOS 4993. Dynamics of Sediment Transport. 3 Hours.
This is a course focused on how fluids transport sediment and construct stratigraphy. Lectures will develop environmental fluid mechanics and sediment transport from first principles so they can be used to evaluate sedimentological and stratigraphic problems. This framework will be applied to a sedimentological problem using original data and analysis. Pre- or Corequisite: GEOS 4223. Prerequisite: GEOS 3413. (Typically offered: Fall Odd Years)

Geology (GEOL)

The Department of Geosciences offers the Bachelor of Science degree in geology and the Bachelor of Science degree in earth science (http://catalog.uark.edu/undergraduatedata/collegesandschools/williamfulbrightcollegeofartsandsciences/earthsciences/). It is emphasized that students wishing to become practicing professional geologists should hold the Bachelor of Science degree in geology at a minimum. It is further recognized that practicing professional geologists typically hold a Master of Science degree. The education of students pursuing the Bachelor of Science in earth science degree should reflect general education in the liberal arts with emphasis in geology.

The goal of the program leading to the Bachelor of Science degree in geology is to provide students with a broad spectrum of the various subdisciplines of geology, while at the same time honoring an emphasis in the traditional areas of mineralogy, igneous, metamorphic and sedimentary petrology, structural geology and stratigraphic principles. This curriculum will prepare students to enter graduate programs without deficiencies at the University of Arkansas or other established programs.

Along with the normal degree program, the department offers a B.S. in geology with a concentration in geophysics.

For requirements for the M.S. degree in geology, see the Graduate School Catalog.

B.S. in Geology
Requirements for a Major in Geology leading to the B.S. Degree: In addition to the state minimum core (p. 96) and the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences Graduation Requirements (p. 271), the following course requirements must be met. Bolded courses from the list below may be applied to portions of the University Core requirements.

Nine credit hours of geology courses chosen from GEOS electives 3000-level or higher
General Electives: 7-18
Total Hours: 120

Writing Requirement: A scholarly writing assignment will be included in all geoscience courses numbered 2000 and above. Those papers submitted in geoscience courses 3000 and above will fulfill the Fulbright College writing requirement. The college writing requirement may also be met by the completion of an honors thesis.

Geology B.S.

Nine-Semester Degree Program
State minimum core requirements may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all core requirements are met, students may substitute with general electives. Students should consult with their academic advisor.

This program requires a summer field camp after the junior year.

B.S. in Geology

Requirements for a Major in Geology with a concentration in geophysics leading to a B.S. degree: Completion of these requirements will result in a double major in both geology and physics. In addition to the University Core requirements (http://catalog.uark.edu/undergradutecatalog/academicregulations/universitycore/) and the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences Graduation Requirements (p. 271), the following course requirements must be met.

CHEM 1103 & CHEM 1101L University Chemistry I (ACTS Equivalency = CHEM 1414 Lecture) and University Chemistry I Laboratory (ACTS Equivalency = CHEM 1414 Lab)

CHEM 1123 & CHEM 1121L University Chemistry II (ACTS Equivalency = CHEM 1424 Lecture) and University Chemistry II Laboratory (ACTS Equivalency = CHEM 1424 Lab)

PHYS 2054 University Physics I (ACTS Equivalency = PHYS 2034 Lecture)

PHYS 2074 University Physics II (ACTS Equivalency = PHYS 2044 Lecture)

PHYS 2094 University Physics III

MATH 2554 Calculus I (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 2405)

MATH 2564 Calculus II (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 2505)

MATH 2574 Calculus III (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 2603)

MATH 2584 Elementary Differential Equations

A minimum of 45 semester hours of GEOS and PHYS courses to include:

GEOS 1113 & GEOS 1111L Physical Geology (ACTS Equivalency = GEOL 1114 Lecture) and Physical Geology Laboratory (ACTS Equivalency = GEOL 1114 Lab)

GEOS 2313 Mineralogy

GEOS 3383 Principles of Landscape Evolution

GEOS 3413 Sedimentary Geology

GEOS 3514 Structural Geology

GEOS 4433 Geophysics

GEOS 4924 Earth System History (ACTS Equivalency = PHSC 1104)

GEOS 4686 Geology Field Camp

PHYS 3113 Analytical Mechanics

PHYS 3453 Electromagnetic Theory I

PHYS 3514 Structural Geology

PHYS 4073 Introduction to Quantum Mechanics

PHYS 4991 Physics Senior Seminar

Total Hours 80-82

Writing Requirement: A scholarly writing assignment will be included in all geoscience courses numbered 2000 and above. Those papers submitted in geoscience courses 3000 and above will fulfill the Fulbright College writing requirement. The college writing requirement may also be met by the completion of an honors thesis.

Geology B.S. with Geophysics Concentration

Nine-Semester Degree Program

Students wishing to follow the nine-semester degree plan should see the University Core requirements (http://catalog.uark.edu/undergradutecatalog/academicregulations/universitycore/). Core requirement hours may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all core requirements are met, students may substitute a three-hour (or more) general elective in place of a core area.

Students are advised to consult with a geology faculty member to develop the course work program that best complements their major area of study.

Requirements for Departmental Honors in Geology: The Departmental Honors Program in Geology provides upper-division undergraduate students with an opportunity to formally participate in geologic research activities. Honors candidates carry out independent study and research under the guidance of the geology faculty. Outstanding student achievement will be recognized by awarding the distinction “Geology Scholar Cum Laude” at graduation. Higher degree distinctions may be awarded to truly outstanding students based upon the whole of their academic program and quality of honors research.
Honors candidates in geology must do the following:

1. Satisfy departmental and college requirements for a bachelor’s degree with honors,
2. Become a candidate no later than the second semester of their junior year,
3. Enroll in six hours of honors research GEO 3901, GEO 3911, GEO 4972H, GEO 4982H,
4. Take 12 hours in Honors Studies, which may include 6 hours of thesis,
5. Complete junior and senior honors courses GEO 3901, GEO 3911, GEO 4972H, GEO 4982H, and
6. Achieve a cumulative grade-point average of 3.30 in geology courses.

Geology (B.S.) Teacher Licensure in Life/Earth Science or Physical/Earth Science Requirements: Students wanting to teach science in middle or secondary school should consult with an adviser in the College of Education and Health Professions.

Department of Geosciences Website (http://fulbright.uark.edu/departments/geosciences/)

The Department of Geosciences offers three majors, two leading to a Bachelor of Science and one leading to a Bachelor of Arts:

- Earth Science (p. 380), B.S.
- Geography (p. 405), B.A.
- Geology (p. 412), B.S.

The department also offers coursework leading to a Geospatial Technologies Certificate.

- Certificate in Geospatial Technologies, the requirements of which are in the tab on this page.

Requirements for Geospatial Technologies Certificate

The Department of Geosciences also offers an online Geospatial Technologies Certificate through the University of Arkansas Global Campus (http://globalcampus.uark.edu). The certificate is designed for working professionals who wish to develop basic skills in the emerging field of geospatial technologies. Instruction prepares these individuals for employment in the geosciences and collateral disciplines as well as providing a foundational skill set for additional advanced work if desired. The certificate will also benefit students in two-year associate degree programs as well as undergraduates in four-year programs who wish to strengthen their skills.

Requirements for admission: Candidates should possess an associate’s degree, two years of college, or equivalent work experience.

Requirements for a Geospatial Technologies Certificate: A total of 12-18 hours are required for the certificate.1 It is possible to waive 3 to 6 hours of required coursework for GEO 3013 and GEO 3103 through successful completion of proficiency exams.

Geosciences Courses

GEOS 1111L. Physical Geology Laboratory (ACTS Equivalency = GEOL 1114 Lab). 1 Hour.
Laboratory exercises concerning the identification of rocks and minerals, use of aerial photographs and topographic maps, and several field trips. Pre- or Corequisite: GEOS 1111. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

GEOS 1111M. Honors Physical Geology Laboratory. 1 Hour.
Survey of geological processes and products and their relationships to landforms, natural resources, living environments, and human beings. Lecture 3 hours, laboratory 2 hours per week. Corequisite: GEOS 1111H. (Typically offered: Fall)
This course is equivalent to GEOS 1111L.

GEOS 1113. Physical Geology (ACTS Equivalency = GEOL 1114 Lecture). 3 Hours.
Survey of geological processes and products, and their relationships to landforms, natural resources, living environments and human beings. Corequisite: GEOS 1111L. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

GEOS 1113H. Honors Physical Geology. 3 Hours.
Survey of geological processes and products and their relationships to landforms, natural resources, living environments, and human beings. Lecture 3 hours, laboratory 2 hours per week. Corequisite: GEOS 1111M. (Typically offered: Irregular)
This course is equivalent to GEOS 1113.

GEOS 1123. Human Geography (ACTS Equivalency = GEOG 1113). 3 Hours.
Basic course in human geography stressing the interrelationships between the natural factors of the environment and man’s activities, especially the role of geography in the understanding of social problems and economic and political activities. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GEOS 1123H. Honors Human Geography. 3 Hours.
Basic course in human geography stressing the interrelationships between the natural factors of the environment and man’s activities, especially the role of geography in the understanding of social problems and economic and political activities. Prerequisite: Honors candidacy. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)
This course is equivalent to GEOS 1123.

GEOS 1131L. Earth Science Laboratory (ACTS Equivalency = GEOL 1124 Lab). 1 Hour.
Laboratory exercises concerning human interactions with the physical environment including the study of earthquakes, volcanoes, flooding, erosion, mass wasting, water supply and contamination, and waste disposal. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GEOS 1133. Earth Science (ACTS Equivalency = GEOL 1124 Lecture). 3 Hours.
The application of earth science principles and knowledge of problems created by human occupancy and exploitation of the physical environment. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

Survey of problems, development potential, and physical and human resources of the developing and developed world. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GEOS 2003H. Honors World Regional Geography. 3 Hours.
Survey of problems, development potential, and physical and human resources of the developing and developed world. Prerequisite: Honors candidacy. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)
This course is equivalent to GEOS 2003.

GEOS 2313. Mineralogy. 3 Hours.
General principles of mineralogy, study and identification of common minerals, igneous & metamorphic rocks using hand samples. Prerequisite: GEOS 1113 and CHEM 1103. Corequisite: Lab component. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 2813. Digital Earth. 3 Hours.
This course introduces the fundamental concepts and practical geospatial techniques of the digital earth initiative. Students will learn how digital geographical information is produced (also referred to as geospatial data) and utilized in a variety of economic, environmental, and scientific applications. The class will concentrate on how digital geospatial data are produced, integrated and applied in daily life and will review a variety of environmental and socioeconomic applications. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 3013. Foundations of Geospatial Data Analysis. 3 Hours.
Basic mathematical tools applied in geospatial technology, including trigonometry in mapping, linear algebra in remote sensing, optimization in spatial decision support, and graph theory in routing. Course develops the framework for spatial data analysis and decision support. Students may receive credit for the course through testing. Prerequisite: GEOS 3543. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GEOS 3023. Introduction to Cartography. 3 Hours.
Students learn basic principles of map design, cartographic theory and field surveying to produce a variety of computer-generated maps. An introductory course designed for students in a variety of different disciplines using AutoCad software and various new technologies. Field trips may be required. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 3033. Building Materials Field Studies. 3 Hours.
Study of durable building materials, their availability, strength, deterioration, limitation and utility. Historic construction techniques, identification of architectural materials, architectural elements assessment, causes and mechanisms of deterioration, conservation and treatment of architectural materials, preservation philosophies and standards and creation of a practical field identification kit will also be covered. Corequisite: Lab component. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 3043. Sustaining Earth. 3 Hours.
Theory and growth of conservation and sustainability, the wise use of the major natural resources of the United States. This course meets the requirement in conservation and sustainability for teachers. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 3043H. Honors Sustaining Earth. 3 Hours.
Theory and growth of conservation and the wise use of the major natural resources of the United States. This course meets the requirement in conservation for teachers. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall)
This course is equivalent to GEOS 3043.
GEOS 3063. Geology of Arkansas. 3 Hours.
A survey of the distribution, genesis, and age of the rocks, fossils, structures, landforms and geological processes of Arkansas. Equivalent to two hours of lecture per week. Field trips required. Prerequisite: GEOS 1113 or GEOS 1113H. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 3103. Geospatial Technologies Computational Toolkit. 3 Hours.
Basic computational tools and processes applied in geospatial software, related computer hardware components, systems and applications software, and spatial database fundamentals. Python, including SciPy and NumPy, geospatial implementations will be emphasized. No programming experience is required. Students may receive credit for the course through testing. Prerequisite: GEOS 3543. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GEOS 3114. Paleontology. 4 Hours.
Survey of the phyla commonly preserved as fossils emphasizing their physical and biological characteristics. Lecture 3 hours, laboratory 2 hours per week. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: GEOS 1133 or (Biol 1543 and Biol 1541L) or equivalent. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 3213. Principles of Remote Sensing. 3 Hours.
Fundamental concepts of remote sensing of the environment. Optical, infrared, microwave, LIDAR, and in situ sensor systems are introduced. Remote sensing of vegetation, water, urban landscapes, soils, minerals, and geomorphology is discussed. The course includes laboratory exercises in GIS software and field spectroscopy. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 3313. Igneous and Metamorphic Petrology. 3 Hours.
Megascopic study and classification of igneous and metamorphic rocks. Lecture 2 hours, laboratory 2 hours per week. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: GEOS 2313. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 3333. Oceanography. 3 Hours.
The sea, its landforms; its winds and currents as related to the atmosphere, world climates, and world trade; its basins as avenues for continental drift; its waters as habitat for plant and animal life; its marine and submarine resources as presently and potentially useful to man. Offered as physical science. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Spring Even Years)

GEOS 3413. Sedimentary Geology. 3 Hours.
An introductory study of sedimentary rocks from the standpoint of classification, field and laboratory description, genesis, and preservation. Lecture 2 hours, laboratory 2 hours per week. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: GEOS 2313. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 3514. Structural Geology. 4 Hours.
Survey of deformatinal features and their geological significance in the crust of the earth. Lecture 3 hours per week. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: GEOS 1113. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 3543. Geospatial Applications and Information Science. 3 Hours.
An introduction to the methods and theory underlying the full range of geographic information science and collateral areas - including GNSS, remote sensing, cadastral, spatial demographics and others. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring) This course is cross-listed with ANTH 3543.

GEOS 3553. Spatial Analysis Using ArcGIS. 3 Hours.
Applications of analysis of spatial data using ArcGIS tools in map design, on-line mapping, creating geodatabases, accessing geospatial data, geo-processing, digitizing, geocoding, spatial analysis including basic spatial statistics, analysis of spatial distributions and patterning and 3D application using ArcGIS 3D Analyst. Prerequisite: GEOS 3543. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GEOS 3563. Geospatial Data Mining. 3 Hours.
Basic tools for analyzing, summarizing and visualizing geospatial data. Exploratory data and spatial data analysis, probability distributions and application, single and multivariate analysis and hypothesis testing, and spatial smoothing and interpolation. Emphasis will be on problem solving in geospatial settings using the R statistical language. Prerequisite: GEOS 3543 and (GEOS 3013 or MATH 2554 or MATH 2043 or DASC 2594) and (GEOS 3103 or DASC 1104 or DASC 2113). (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GEOS 3593. Introduction to Geodatabases. 3 Hours.
Fundamental concepts and applications of geospatial databases. Schema development and spatial data models for geodatabase. Spatial and attribute query and optimization, properties and structures of relational and object-oriented geodatabases. Spatial extensions of SQL, spatial indexing, measurement, and geometry. Prerequisite: GEOS 3543 and (GEOS 3013 or MATH 2554 or MATH 2043 or DASC 2594) and (GEOS 3103 or DASC 1104 or DASC 2113). (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GEOS 360V. Undergraduate Special Problems. 1-6 Hour.
Library, laboratory, or field research in different phases of geology. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

GEOS 3873. Geological Data Analysis. 3 Hours.
Quantitative methods and techniques for analysis and interpretation of geological data. Corequisite: Lab component. Pre- or corequisite: MATH 2564. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 3901. Junior Honors Course. 1 Hour.
Special honors research in geology. One hour credit each semester, Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

GEOS 3911. Junior Honors Course. 1 Hour.
Special honors research in geology. One hour credit each semester. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

GEOS 3923H. Honors Colloquium. 3 Hours.
Covers a special topic or issue, offered as part of the honors program. Prerequisite: Honors candidacy (not restricted to candidacy in geology or geography). (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for degree credit.

GEOS 399VH. Honors Course. 1-6 Hour.
Honors course. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

GEOS 4033. Hydrogeology. 3 Hours.
Occurrence, movement, and interaction of water with geologic and cultural features. Lecture 3 hours per week. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: MATH 2043 or MATH 2554, and GEOS 3514. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4043. Geography of the Middle East. 3 Hours.
Physical and cultural landscapes, natural and cultural resources, art and architecture, land use, political history, OPEC, and current problems of North Africa and the Middle East region west of Afghanistan are discussed. Class participation, discussions, slides and films, and student presentations will round out the class. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4043H. Honors Geography of the Middle East. 3 Hours.
Physical and cultural landscapes, natural and cultural resources, art and architecture, land use, political history, OPEC, and current problems of North Africa and the Middle East region west of Afghanistan are discussed. Class participation, discussions, slides and films, and student presentations will round out the class. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Irregular) This course is equivalent to GEOS 4043.
GEOS 4053. Geomorphology. 3 Hours.
A quantitative, mechanistic overview of surface processes and landscape evolution. Lecture 2 hours, laboratory 3 hours per week. One to two field trips on weekends (2 day total) are required during the semester. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: GEOS 3873 or instructor consent. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4063. Principles of Geochemistry. 3 Hours.
Introduction to fundamental principles of geochemistry from historic development to modern concepts. Prerequisite: GEOS 3873 or instructor consent. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4073. Urban Geography. 3 Hours.
Areal patterns of modern urban regions and the focus shaping these patterns. Emphasis is placed on American urban areas and their evolution and functional areas. Field work. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4083. Economic Geology. 3 Hours.
Introduction to mineral deposits used as economic resources. Covers basic geology and geochemistry of mineral deposit formations and the formation of major classes of deposits. Examines the relationship between the distribution of ores, oil, gas, coal, and Plate Tectonics. Explores environmental issues associated with the extraction of earth resources. Prerequisite: GEOS 2313. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4093. History and Philosophy of Geography. 3 Hours.
This course familiarizes students with the history of geography, the contributions of geographers to scientific thought and theory, and research techniques that are used in geography. Emphasis is given to the integration of statistical and spatial analysis, and their applications in field research. The course includes short field-based projects in and around Northwest Arkansas. (Typically offered: Spring Even Years)

GEOS 410V. Special Problems in Geosciences. 1-6 Hour.
Designed to meet the needs of students who wish to study one particular geographic topic in some detail. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

GEOS 410VH. Honors Special Problems in Geosciences. 1-6 Hour.
Designed to meet the needs of students who wish to study one particular geographic topic in some detail. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

GEOS 4113. Global Change. 3 Hours.
Examines central issues of global change including natural and human induced climate change, air pollution, deforestation, desertification, wetland loss urbanization, and the biodiversity crisis. The U.S. Global Change Research Program is also examined. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4113H. Honors Global Change. 3 Hours.
Examines central issues of global change including natural and human induced climate change, air pollution, deforestation, desertification, wetland loss urbanization, and the biodiversity crisis. The U.S. Global Change Research Program is also examined. Prerequisite: Honors candidacy. (Typically offered: Spring) This course is equivalent to GEOS 4113.

GEOS 4133. Radar Remote Sensing. 3 Hours.
Introduction to radar remote sensing and its applications in geology, geography, archeology, engineering, and agriculture. Focuses on Synthetic Aperture Radar (SAR) and advanced techniques including radar stereo, polarimetry, and interferometry. Covers Interferometric SAR (InSAR) for mapping topography and modeling Earth’s surface motions due to earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, landslides, and subsidence. Prerequisite: GEOS 3023 or equivalent. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4153. Karst Hydrogeology. 3 Hours.
Assessment of ground water resources in carbonate rock terrains; relation of ground water and surface water hydrology to karst; quantification of extreme variability in karst environments; data collection rationale. Field trips required. Prerequisite: GEOS 4033. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 4223. Stratigraphy and Sedimentation. 3 Hours.
Introductory investigation of stratigraphic and sedimentologic factors important to the study of sedimentary rocks. Lecture 2 hours, laboratory 3 hours per week. A required weekend, two-day field trip will be conducted during the semester. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: GEOS 3413. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4233. Geography of Religion & Sacrality. 3 Hours.
Explores the spatial nature of the World’s major faiths and religious institutions, focusing on the distribution and origins of these religions. Examines the religious beliefs, rituals, architecture, demographics, and art in different societies, cultures, and countries. Considers the tenets and practices of what is sacred and/or spiritual, held in common by a group or community. Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 4243. Political Geography. 3 Hours.
Contemporary world political problems in their geographic context. Development of the principles of political geography with emphasis upon the problems of Eastern Europe, Africa, and Southeast Asia. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall Odd Years)

GEOS 4253. Petroleum Geology. 3 Hours.
Distribution and origin of petroleum. Lecture 2 hours, laboratory 2 hours per week. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: Geology major and senior standing. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4263. Geospatial Data Science - Sources and Characteristics. 3 Hours.
Covers the wide range of geospatial data sources and characteristics with emphasis on data science applications through hands-on experience recognizing the unique requirements of major sources. Techniques for the integration of disparate, heterogeneous data sets will be covered. Corequisite: GEOS 3563. Prerequisite: GEOS 3543. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 430V. Internship in Physical Geography. 3-6 Hour.
Supervised experience in municipal, county, state or private natural resource management agency, or any other such organization approved by instructor. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

GEOS 4353. Meteorology. 3 Hours.
Examination of the atmospheric processes that result in multifarious weather systems. Offered as physical science. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4363. Climatology. 3 Hours.
Fundamentals of topical climatology followed by a study of regional climatology. Offered as physical science. Prerequisite: GEOS 1133 or GEOS 4353. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 437V. Geology Field Trip. 1-2 Hour.
Camping field trip to areas of geologic interest, usually conducted during Spring Break. Prerequisite: GEOS 3313. (Typically offered: Spring) May be repeated for up to 4 hours of degree credit.

GEOS 4383. Hazard & Disaster Assessment, Mitigation, Risk & Policy. 3 Hours.
Comprehensive introduction to interdisciplinary approaches to natural and environmental hazards and risk. Hazards and disaster assessment, mitigation, and policy are the focus of the class. Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing. (Typically offered: Spring) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

GEOS 4383H. Honors Hazard & Disaster Assessment, Mitigation, Risk & Policy. 3 Hours.
Comprehensive introduction to interdisciplinary approaches to natural and environmental hazards and risk. Hazards and disaster assessment, mitigation, and policy are the focus of the class. Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing. (Typically offered: Spring) This course is equivalent to GEOS 4383.
GEOS 4393. American Public Lands & Policy. 3 Hours.
The course examines the role of American federal public lands in 19th-21st century geography, history, policy, and art. It investigates the growth of conservation, preservation, and management movements in the US by looking at America's national parks, forests, dams, wildlife refuges, wilderness areas, managed and agricultural lands. Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 4393H. Honors American Public Lands & Policy. 3 Hours.
The course examines the role of American federal public lands in 19th-21st century geography, history, policy, and art. It investigates the growth of conservation, preservation, and management movements in the US by looking at America's national parks, forests, dams, wildlife refuges, wilderness areas, managed and agricultural lands. Prerequisite: Honors standing and Junior or senior standing. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 440V. Internship in GIS & Cartography. 3-6 Hour.
Supervised experience in GIS and/or cartographic applications with municipal, county, state, or private enterprises. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

GEOS 4433. Geophysics. 3 Hours.
Derivation from physical principles, of the geophysical methods for mapping the Earth. Computational methods of converting gravity, magnetic, radiometric, electrical, and seismic data into geologic information. Lecture 3 hours, laboratory 2 hours per week. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: GEOS 3313, MATH 2564, and PHYS 2033 or PHYS 2031L. Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 4443. The Solid Earth: Structure, Composition and Evolution. 3 Hours.
Modern views for the origin of the solid Earth and its structure, composition, and evolution through geologic time. Topics will include examination of relevant geophysical and geochemical constraints used to develop global models for the Earth. Prerequisite: CHEM 1123, GEOS 3313, MATH 2564, PHYS 2074 or instructor consent. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 4463. 3D Seismic Exploration. 3 Hours.
Interpretation of the spatial component of three-dimensional seismic data in geologic structure and stratigraphy with emphasis on hydrocarbon exploration. Prerequisite: GEOS 3514 or instructor consent. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4473. Applied Climatology. 3 Hours.
Applied climatology involves the use of climatic data to solve a variety of social, economic and environmental problems, such as for clients in agriculture, water and energy management. The basic purpose of applied climatology is to help society, at all scales and levels, to achieve a better adjustment to the climatic environment. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4473H. Honors Applied Climatology. 3 Hours.
Applied climatology involves the use of climatic data to solve a variety of social, economic and environmental problems, such as for clients in agriculture, water and energy management. The basic purpose of applied climatology is to help society, at all scales and levels, to achieve a better adjustment to the climatic environment. (Typically offered: Fall)

This course is equivalent to GEOS 4473.

GEOS 4483. Severe Weather. 3 Hours.
Focuses on the formation and impact of weather phenomena such as blizzards, floods, tornadoes, thunderstorms, hurricanes and droughts. Covers the mechanisms and physics that control severe weather, advanced terminology, physical concepts and scientific methods used in meteorology, and the analysis and interpretation of meteorological data. Prerequisite: GEOS 1133 and GEOS 1131L. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4493. Geography of Political Violence. 3 Hours.
This seminar focuses on the rise of civil conflict in the post-World War II world. We are particularly interested in understanding the institutional challenges facing countries that experience such conflict. The class will develop a contextually-informed understanding of the international system and how it is shaped by civil war. Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing. (Typically offered: Fall Even Years)

GEOS 4493H. Honors Geography of Political Violence. 3 Hours.
This seminar focuses on the rise of civil conflict in the post-World War II world. We are particularly interested in understanding the institutional challenges facing countries that experience such conflict. The class will develop a contextually-informed understanding of the international system and how it is shaped by civil war. Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing. (Typically offered: Fall Even Years)

GEOS 4503. Advanced Cartographic Techniques & Production. 3 Hours.
Covers advanced production and techniques in cartography, including animation, geospatial visualization, pochade, and advanced visualization. Emphasizes client relationships in creating and producing cartographic materials. Prerequisite: GEOS 4523. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 4513. Introduction to GIS Programming. 3 Hours.
This course introduces fundamentals of GIS software engineering and offers hands-on tutorials in customized applications using ArcGIS through programming ArcObjects in VBA / VA-net environment. Topics covered include ArcObjects, different programming syntax and styles, and fundamental routines and functions in ArcGIS. After completing the course, students will have the capability to develop customized ArcGIS applications. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4523. Cartographic Design and Production. 3 Hours.
This course addresses advanced cartographic concepts (i.e. visual hierarchy, aesthetics, image cognition) and production techniques as they relate to computer-assisted mapping. Students produce a variety of maps using Adobe Illustrator (CS 4-6) software to build a map portfolio. Field trips may be required. Prerequisite: GEOS 3023. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4533. Introduction to Petroleum Geophysics. 3 Hours.
Introduction to seismic wave propagation and petroleum seismology with particular emphasis on seismic events, elastic waves, and seismic survey design. Prerequisite: MATH 2564, PHYS 2033 or PHYS 2074, and GEOS 3514 or instructor consent. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4533H. Honors Introduction to Petroleum Geophysics. 3 Hours.
Introduction to seismic wave propagation and petroleum seismology with particular emphasis on seismic events, elastic waves, and seismic survey design. Prerequisite: MATH 2564, PHYS 2033 or PHYS 2074, and GEOS 3514 or instructor consent. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4553. Introduction to Raster GIS. 3 Hours.
Theory, data structure, algorithms, and techniques behind raster-based geographical information systems. Through laboratory exercises and lectures multidisciplinary applications are examined in database creation, remotely sensed data handling, elevation models, and resource models using boolean, map algebra, and other methods. Prerequisite: GEOS 3543 or ANTH 3543. (Typically offered: Fall)

This course is cross-listed with ANTH 4553.

GEOS 4563. Geology of Our National Parks. 3 Hours.
This course examines the underlying geology responsible for selected parks, and explores the interplay of geology, biology, climate, topography, and humans to evaluate the value of the parks, and to anticipate the problems they will face in the near and long-term. Prerequisite: GEOS 1113. (Typically offered: Fall)
GEOS 4583. Enterprise and Multiuser GIS. 3 Hours.
GIS practice that's typical of collaborative team-based geospatial organizations. Solve real-world problems through end-to-end GIS design and implementation using ArcGIS Enterprise, extensive federal, state, and local repositories, and high quality software documentation. Includes relevant training in geospatial provenance and metadata, and in enterprise and multiuser GIS administration. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4593. Introduction to Global Positioning Systems and Global Navigation Satellite Systems. 3 Hours.
Fundamentals of navigation, mapping, and high-precision positioning using the Navstar Global Positioning System. Topics include datum definition and transformation, map projections, autonomous and differential positioning using both code and carrier processing, and analysis of errors. Prerequisite: GEOS 3543 or GEOS 5543. (Typically offered: Fall)
This course is cross-listed with ANTH 4593.

GEOS 4653. GIS Analysis and Modeling. 3 Hours.
Unlike conventional GIS courses that focus on studying 'where', this course will teach students to address beyond 'where' using various GIS analysis and modeling techniques to explore 'why' and 'how'. The course will provide theoretical and methodological reviews of the principles of cartographic modeling and multi-criteria decision-making. (Typically offered: Spring)
This course is cross-listed with ANTH 4653.

GEOS 4653H. Honors GIS Analysis and Modeling. 3 Hours.
Unlike conventional GIS courses that focus on studying 'where', this course will teach students to address beyond 'where' using various GIS analysis and modeling techniques to explore 'why' and 'how'. The course will provide theoretical and methodological reviews of the principles of cartographic modeling and multi-criteria decision-making. (Typically offered: Spring)
This course is cross-listed with GEOS 4653, ANTH 4653.

GEOS 4663. Low-Temperature Geochemistry of Natural Waters. 3 Hours.
Covers the low-temperature geochemistry of waters and their associated minerals at Earth's surface. Examines the controls on the chemical composition of natural waters and the minerals precipitated from them. Topics covered will include water-rock interactions, pH, redox, the carbonate-water system, clay minerals and exchange, heavy metals, and a brief introduction to stable isotopes and geomicrobiology. Prerequisite: CHEM 1121L, CHEM 1123, GEOS 1113, and GEOS 1111L. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4673. Volcanology. 3 Hours.
A broad introduction to volcanic processes and their associated hazards. Emphasis will be placed on applying basic physical and chemical principles to understanding volcanic systems. Prerequisite: GEOS 2313. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 4686. Geology Field Camp. 6 Hours.
A professional course taught off campus emphasizing occurrence, description, mapping, and interpretation of major rock types. May not be taken for graduate credit. Prerequisite: GEOS 3413 and GEOS 3514. (Typically offered: Summer)

GEOS 4693. Environmental Justice. 3 Hours.
This course deals with the ethical, environmental, legal, economic, and social implications of society's treatment of the poor, the disenfranchised, and minorities who live in the less desirable, deteriorating neighborhoods, communities, and niches of our country. The class integrates science with philosophy, politics, economics, policy, and law, drawing on award-winning films, current news, and case studies. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4693H. Honors Environmental Justice. 3 Hours.
This course deals with the ethical, environmental, legal, economic, and social implications of society's treatment of the poor, the disenfranchised, and minorities who live in the less desirable, deteriorating neighborhoods, communities, and niches of our country. The class integrates science with philosophy, politics, economics, policy, and law, drawing on award-winning films, current news, and case studies. (Typically offered: Spring)
This course is equivalent to GEOS 4693.

GEOS 4783. Geography of Europe. 3 Hours.
Geographic regions of the area with emphasis on their present development. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Irregular)

GEOS 4793. Geospatial Unmanned Aircraft Systems. 3 Hours.
Geospatial unmanned aircraft systems (UAS) are becoming key technologies in a number of disciplines. This course will introduce safe and legal operation of UAS in aerial photography, multispectral, thermal and LiDAR applications, geodetic control, photogrammetric and computer vision processing, and the creation of accurate 2D and 3D digital information products. Pre- or Corequisite: GEOS 3213 or GEOS 4593 or equivalent. (Typically offered: Fall)

GEOS 4793H. Honors Geospatial Unmanned Aircraft Systems. 3 Hours.
Geospatial unmanned aircraft systems (UAS) are becoming key technologies in a number of disciplines. This course will introduce safe and legal operation of UAS in aerial photography, multispectral, thermal and LiDAR applications, geodetic control, photogrammetric and computer vision processing, and the creation of accurate 2D and 3D digital information products. Pre- or Corequisite: Honors standing and GEOS 4593 or equivalent. (Typically offered: Fall)
This course is equivalent to GEOS 4793.

GEOS 4813. Geography of Eurasia. 3 Hours.
Introduction to the culture, society, and politics of Eurasia using the organizing concept of empire from the moment of its consolidation in 1945 to its dissolution in 1991. Focuses on places that have emerged from this order and emphasizes experience and memory at each of these different times and places. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Spring Even Years)

GEOS 4863. Quantitative Techniques in Geosciences. 3 Hours.
An introduction to the application of standard quantitative and spatial statistical techniques to geoscientific analysis. Students will use both micro and large system computers in the course. (Typically offered: Spring)
This course is cross-listed with ANTH 4863.

GEOS 4924. Earth System History (ACTS Equivalency = PHSC 1104). 4 Hours.
Physical and biological events that form the history of the earth from its formation to the beginning of the historical era. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: GEOS 3413 and (GEOS 4223 or GEOS 3313) and GEOS 3514. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4933. Ancient Forest Science and Sustainability. 3 Hours.
Ancient forests preserve beautiful habitat with high ecological integrity. This course will examine the development, spatial distribution, and ongoing destruction of ancient forests worldwide, and how science can contribute to the understanding and sustainable management of these valuable resources. (Typically offered: Spring)

GEOS 4972H. Senior Honors Course I. 2 Hours.
Special honors research in geology. Two hours of credit each semester. Prerequisite: Junior honors. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

GEOS 4982H. Senior Honors Course II. 2 Hours.
Special honors research in geology. Two hours of credit each semester. Prerequisite: Junior honors. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)
GEOS 4993. Dynamics of Sediment Transport. 3 Hours.
This is a course focused on how fluids transport sediment and construct stratigraphy. Lectures will develop environmental fluid mechanics and sediment transport from first principles so they can be used to evaluate sedimentological and stratigraphic problems. This framework will be applied to a sedimentological problem using original data and analysis. Pre- or Corequisite: GEOS 4223. Prerequisite: GEOS 3413. (Typically offered: Fall Odd Years)

School of Art Website (https://fulbright.uark.edu/departments/art/)

The School of Art offers a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree program in Graphic Design. The degree prepares students to be proficient makers and thoughtful problem seekers and solvers. Students will work seamlessly across a range of media, working to identify appropriate solutions for audience and context. Students will be exposed to a rigorous curriculum covering research, theory, critical thinking, professional practices, conceptual idea-making and formal experimentation.

Requirements for Admission to the Fine Arts Degree in Graphic Design
For admission to the B.F.A. in Graphic Design, a student must be a declared Art major in the School of Art and successfully complete the art foundation course sequence of ARTS 1919C Studio Foundation I and ARTS 1929C Studio Foundation II. Students also must be enrolled in, or have completed, GDES 2313 Design Tools and Concepts and GDES 3313 Typographic Systems I. Students must have a 3.0 grade point average and submit an application and a portfolio for review.

Requirements for the Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree in Graphic Design
In addition to the University Core requirements and the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences Graduation Requirements (see under College Academic Regulations and Degree Completion Policy), the following course requirements must be met. Bolded courses from the list below may be applied to portions of the university/state minimum core requirements.

ARTS 1919C Studio Foundation I 9
ARTS 1929C Studio Foundation II 9
GDES 2313 Design Tools and Concepts 3
GDES 3313 Typographic Systems 1 3

Internship credit considered in lieu of required studios upon approval of professors, based on content and merit of internship.

Courses

GDES 2313. Design Tools and Concepts. 3 Hours.
Introduces Graphic Design students to design concepts with a concentration on professional industry tools. Emphasizes development of visual problem solving while creating well-crafted solutions. Prerequisite: ARTS 1919C and ARTS 1929C. (Typically offered: Fall)

GDES 3313. Typographic Systems 1. 3 Hours.
Examination of letterform construction, including anatomy and architecture. Analysis through a historical lens, exploring technological and cultural contexts. Typographic nuance and connotation. Introduction of the grid as a means to understand layout and organize typography. Prerequisite: ARTS 1919C and ARTS 1929C and Bachelor of Fine Arts in Graphic Design majors only. (Typically offered: Fall)

GDES 3323. Typographic Systems 2. 3 Hours.
Will introduce the complexity of adding imagery, both photographic and illustrative, into typographic layout. Management of hierarchy in a more advanced way through grid usage. Artifacts will span print to web, exploring how typography must always adapt to new contexts and audiences. Prerequisite: GDES 2313 and GDES 3313 and Bachelor of Fine Arts in Graphic Design majors only. (Typically offered: Spring)

GDES 3363. Graphic Design I. 3 Hours.
An overview of design principles and the application of design processes to posters, logos, stationery, and publication design. Conceptual development and visual and technical problem solving skills are emphasized. Prerequisite: ARTS 1013 and GDES 2313; or ARTS 1919C and ARTS 1929C. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GDES 3383. User Experience. 3 Hours.
Prepare students to design with usability and function at the forefront of their decision making. Personas, user scenarios and research to guide the design process. Exploration of the field of information architecture in order to clearly structure information and experience. Introduction to HTML, CSS, and other interactive languages. Prerequisite: GDES 2313, GDES 3313 and Bachelor of Fine Arts in Graphic Design majors only. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GDES 3393. Identity Systems 1. 3 Hours.
Beginning identity design course, focusing on theory and application of semiotics, through creation of icon sets and small scale applications. Emphasis placed on connotation, creating messaging and formal development. Prerequisite: GDES 3323 and Bachelor of Fine Arts in Graphic Design majors only. (Typically offered: Fall)

GDES 4303. Professional Development and Seminar. 3 Hours.
Preparation of students for professional practice and job seeking. Development of online and print portfolio and other collateral. Contemporary design practice through discussions, reading, writing, guest speakers and studio visits. Emphasis on assisting each student in preparing for their unique future. Prerequisite: GDES 3383 and GDES 3393 and Bachelor of Fine Arts in Graphic Design majors only. (Typically offered: Spring)

GDES 4313. Interactive Language. 3 Hours.
Advanced course utilizing interactive languages to create responsive experiences for the web, touch screens. Exploration of the intersection of linear and non-linear design experiences in the application of motion to web. Prerequisite: GDES 3323 and GDES 3383 and Bachelor of Fine Arts in Graphic Design majors only. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GDES 4323. Technology in Context. 3 Hours.
Advanced course focusing on speculative explorations in the world of interaction design. Much of the work will be touch and gesture based and dealing with the built environment. Application of knowledge about proper workflow and execution in an advanced way. Prerequisite: GDES 4303 and GDES 4313 and Bachelor of Fine Arts in Graphic Design majors only. (Typically offered: Fall)

GDES 4343. Identity Systems. 3 Hours.
Advanced identity design course emphasizing creating cohesive messaging systems that cover a wide range of media. Creation of identity systems that are based on research and appropriate to content, context and audience. Media may span environmental, motion, print, web and packaging. Prerequisite: GDES 3393 and GDES 4313 and Bachelor of Fine Arts in Graphic Design majors only. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GDES 4353. Human Centered Design. 3 Hours.
Research-based studio introducing design methods that focus on an audience centric process. Exposure to communication theory, modes of persuasion, sustainability, how to design for niche audiences. Prerequisite: GDES 4303 and GDES 4313 and Bachelor of Fine Arts in Graphic Design majors only. (Typically offered: Fall)

GDES 4363. Design for Complexity. 3 Hours.
Providing opportunity to address problems existing outside of the classroom with the focus shifting between design for good initiatives. Collaboration, research, problem seeking and solving will be addressed. Prerequisite: GDES 4323, GDES 4343, GDES 4353, and Bachelor of Fine Arts in Graphic Design majors only. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GDES 4373. Advanced Typography. 3 Hours.
Culminating typography course, exploration of typography at an advanced level through a variety of projects. Projects may range from type design to type in motion to complex publication design. Exhibition of the utmost professional ideation, process, execution and craft expected. Prerequisite: GDES 4303, GDES 4343, and Bachelor of Fine Arts in Graphic Design majors only. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GDES 4383. Degree Project. 3 Hours.
Capstone course requiring completion of a self-directed project through in-depth research, writing and making, offering an opportunity to specialize prior to entering the job market. Prerequisite: GDES 4323, GDES 4343, GDES 4353, and Bachelor of Fine Arts in Graphic Design majors only. (Typically offered: Spring)

History Department Website (http://fulbright.uark.edu/departments/history/)

The Department of History offers an undergraduate major leading to a Bachelor of Arts in history as well as a minor in history.

The Department of History offers specialized study of world societies and their evolution to the present. Students may concentrate on areas such as Africa, the Middle East, Latin America, Asia, Europe, or the history of the United States. Undergraduate majors and minors prepare students for careers in government service, law, publishing, teaching, business school, diplomacy, journalism, archival management, communications, or graduate studies.

The Department of History also offers a highly competitive graduate program. Graduate faculty members direct both seminars and specialized training leading to the Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy degrees. The Department of History also offers junior and senior history majors an opportunity to secure valuable experience working in the field of history. Previous interns have worked for the Washington County Historical Society and the Arkansas Historical Association.

For requirements for advanced degrees in history, see the Graduate School Catalog (p. 1386).

For information regarding departmental scholarships, visit the History Department's scholarships page (http://fulbright.uark.edu/departments/history/undergraduate/scholarships.php).

University and College Requirements for a Bachelor of Arts in History: In addition to the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences Graduation Requirements (see under Degree Completion Program Policy), the following course requirements must be met. Bolded courses from the course list below may be applied to portions of the state minimum core (p. 96).

State Minimum Core
Select any combination of 12 credit hours from the following list of introductory courses in world languages, area studies, and other related disciplines. Students intending to pursue a graduate degree are strongly encouraged to take a world language sequence, reaching a minimum proficiency at the Intermediate II (2013) level.

- HIST 1003 Perspectives in History (Students are encouraged to take this course or HIST 1003H for honor students.)
- Any World Language Course(s)
- AAST 1003 Introduction to African and African American Studies
- AAST 2023 The African American Experience
- ANTH 1023 Introduction to Cultural Anthropology (ACTS Equivalency = ANTH 2013)
- CLST 1003 Introduction to Classical Studies: Rome
- CLST 1013 Introduction to Classical Studies: Greece
- ECON 2013 Principles of Microeconomics (ACTS Equivalency = ECON 2103)
- ECON 2023 Principles of Macroeconomics (ACTS Equivalency = ECON 2203)
- ECON 3063 Economics for Secondary Educators
- ENGL 2313 Survey of English Literature from 1700 to 1900 (ACTS Equivalency = ENGL 2683)
- ENGL 2353 Survey of Modern and Contemporary American Literature (ACTS Equivalency = ENGL 2663)
- GEOS 1123 Human Geography (ACTS Equivalency = GEOG 1113)
- GEOS 2003 World Regional Geography (ACTS Equivalency = GEOG 2103)
- GNST 2003 Introduction to Gender Studies
- HIST 1203 History of Football
- HIST 2093 Animals in World History
- INST 2013 Introduction to International and Global Studies
- JWST 2003 Introduction to Judaism
- LALS 2013 Latin American Studies
- MATH 2053 Finite Mathematics

GDES 4333H. Honors Degree Project. 3 Hours.
Capstone course requiring completion of a self-directed project through in-depth research, writing and making, offering an opportunity to specialize prior to entering the job market. Prerequisite: Honors standing, GDES 4323, GDES 4343, GDES 4353, and Bachelor of Fine Arts in Graphic Design majors only. (Typically offered: Spring)
This course is equivalent to GDES 4383.

GDES 439V. Special Problems in Graphic Design. 1-6 Hour.
Advanced individual projects in graphic design. Prerequisite: Any 4000 level GDES visual design course except GDES 4343. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

GDES 4663. Visual Design: Motion Design. 3 Hours.
In this course, students will explore motion graphic design as it combines 2D and 3D animation, typography, video footage photography and sound. The projects will explore elements of storytelling, moving compositions and animation principles that focus on Web delivery, using mainly Apple Final Cut Pro and Adobe After Effects. Prerequisite: GDES 3363. (Typically offered: Spring)

GDES 469V. Special Problems In Interactive Design. 1-6 Hour.
Students work on special projects on an individual basis with instructor, exploring innovative interface design, in-depth projects potentially solving solutions to and awareness of social issues, with various types of media, from DVD and digital video to Web and motion graphics. Cross-discipline collaboration is encouraged. Prerequisite: GDES 4963. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

GDES 490VH. Honors Thesis in Graphic Design. 1-6 Hour.
Thesis hours for honors students completing an honors thesis. Prerequisite: Honors standing. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

GDES 494V. Graphic Design Internship. 1-6 Hour.
Credit for practical experience gained through internship in graphic design. Report required form intern and field supervisor on progress and significant accomplishments. 3 credit hours per semester. Prerequisite: Any 4000 level GDES visual design course except GDES 4343. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

GDES 4963. Introduction to Web Design. 3 Hours.
This course introduces students to design and coding for responsive web sites. Lessons include internet and web history, interactivity, usability and accessibility with an emphasis on basic design and standards-based hand-coding. (Typically offered: Fall)

GDES 4963H. Honors Degree Project. 3 Hours.
Capstone course requiring completion of a self-directed project through in-depth research, writing and making, offering an opportunity to specialize prior to entering the job market. Prerequisite: Honors standing, GDES 4323, GDES 4343, GDES 4353, and Bachelor of Fine Arts in Graphic Design majors only. (Typically offered: Spring)
This course is equivalent to GDES 4383.

GDES 499V. Special Problems in Graphic Design. 1-6 Hour.
Advanced individual projects in graphic design. Prerequisite: Any 4000 level GDES visual design course except GDES 4343. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

GDES 499VH. Honors Thesis in Graphic Design. 1-6 Hour.

In consultation with an adviser, students are encouraged to design a program of study with both breadth and depth. All history majors are also recommended to take a minor or additional major in one of the following:

- African and African American Studies
- Art History
- Classical Studies
- Gender Studies
- International Studies
- Jewish Studies
- Latin American and Latino Studies
- Medieval and Renaissance Studies
- Middle East Studies
- Religious Studies
- World Languages, Literatures, and Culture

Writing Requirement: To fulfill the Fulbright College writing requirement, each history major will submit, prior to graduation, a substantial research or analytical paper, with a grade of "A" or "B" from an upper-division history course (3000, 4000, 5000 level) to his or her departmental adviser. The required senior capstone seminar, HIST 4893, is designed to give history majors the opportunity and guidance to produce a paper to meet the Fulbright College requirement, but students may also submit a paper from another course. Satisfactory completion of a thesis may also fulfill this requirement.

History B.A.
Eight-Semester Degree Program

Students who elect to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) for university requirements of the program. University/state minimum core may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all university/state minimum core requirements are met, students may substitute general electives in its place.

In addition, complete 12 hours of upper-level credit, at least 6 hours of which must be at the 4000-level.

Total Hours 18

Requirements for Departmental Honors in History: Both the College and the Departmental Honors Program in History provide undergraduates with an opportunity to carry out independent study and research under the guidance of history faculty and to participate in special honors courses, seminars, and colloquia. Admission to the Fulbright Honors Program is open to history majors with a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.5 in all of their courses. Honors candidates must complete a minimum of 12 credit hours in honors courses, including HIST 397H and at least 3 but no more than 6 credit hours of HIST 399VH. Fulbright College honors students majoring in history must also complete either HIST 1113H or HUMN 1114H, and either HIST 1123H or HUMN 2114H. Also, honors candidates must complete a world language at the Intermediate II (2013) level or higher.

To complete the required thesis, honors candidates should choose a faculty thesis director as early as possible but no later than the first semester of the student’s junior year. Honors candidates must meet the college’s requirements for an honors degree. Students graduating with honors typically graduate with the distinction cum laude. Higher distinctions (summa cum laude, magna cum laude) are awarded by the Honors Council in truly exceptional cases and are based upon the whole of the candidate’s program of honors studies.

Social Studies Teacher Licensure Requirements: Students interested in teaching Social Studies Education leading to licensure for 7-12 instruction should pursue both a BA in History and a Bachelor of Arts in Teaching (BAT) in Social Studies Education (p. 764) concurrently. Students interested in licensure should discuss options with the Office of Teacher Education (p. 764).

The Indigenous Studies minor invites discovery of alternative world views, ecological relationships, societies, religions, arts, and governments of indigenous peoples in North America and beyond from antiquity to the present. Immersed in this inherently interdisciplinary field of study, students have the opportunity to master and employ its many theories and methodologies, debates and issues, in often comparative contexts. Such exposure and training prepares those who achieve the minor for graduate work in the humanities, business, law, and the sciences as they pertain to indigenous peoples, but also for any career that requires a supple knowledge of cultural difference between Arkansas and an increasingly global world.

Requirements for a Minor in Indigenous Studies

Students seeking the minor in Indigenous Studies must complete three courses, one from each of three core groups: Culture, History and Literature. Students then complete two additional elective courses from the list below for a total of 15 credit hours. Other courses not listed below may serve the requirements, although only as approved by the Indigenous Studies program director. Only 6 credit hours can count toward requirements of other majors or minors.

Culture

ANTH 3213 Indigenous Peoples of North America: Anthropological Perspectives 3

ANTH 3263 Indians of Arkansas and the South 3

ANTH 3473 North American Prehistory 3

ANTH 3533 Medical Anthropology 3

ANTH 4143 Ecological Anthropology 3

The Interdisciplinary Studies Program is targeted toward highly motivated students whose interests, needs, and talents are not reflected or met by existing majors. It is a major in which students will pursue coursework from two or more traditional disciplines in sufficient depth and breadth to prepare them for employment or graduate/professional study. The major will lead to a Bachelor of Arts in interdisciplinary studies.

There are two options for students who wish to pursue a B.A. in Interdisciplinary Studies:

• Option 1 – Construction of an Interdisciplinary Studies major consisting of at least two of three thematically linked minors from within the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences. One of the three minors may be selected from a program in another college at the university. Students interested in Option 1 will follow the specific program requirements as specified by each minor. For Option 1, a course plan of study must contain a minimum of 45 credit hours with a maximum number of hours dependent on which group of three minors are selected (in most instances this number would range from 45-57 hours). Students selecting Option 1 must consult during their first semester of enrollment with the IDSTBA Program Director to develop their course plan of study.

• Option 2 – Construction of an Interdisciplinary Studies major consisting of a thematically linked set of coursework primarily selected from, but not limited to, courses in Fulbright College. Students selecting Option 2 must consult during their first semester of enrollment with the IDSTBA Program Director to develop an individualized course plan of study. The course plan must contain a minimum of 45 credit hours with a maximum of 21 hours of course work from a single discipline. Thirty credit hours of the proposed coursework must be at the 3000 or 4000 level. At least two-thirds of the advanced level coursework must be completed on the UA-Fayetteville campus.

In addition to the Plan of Study, students wishing to pursue the interdisciplinary studies major must also submit a narrative statement that (1) expresses how the proposed coursework (or group of minors) fit together thematically; (2) expresses why the student’s interests and needs are not met by existing degree programs; and (3) expresses how the interdisciplinary studies major contributes to the student’s career goals and post-graduate opportunities.

Interdisciplinary Studies Program Requirements: A student interested in pursuing a degree in Interdisciplinary Studies must have earned less than 75 credit hours in order to select the IDSTBA major.

Students must maintain a GPA of 2.5 or better on coursework constituting the major (e.g., Option 1 or Option 2) for continuation in the program and in order to graduate with an Interdisciplinary Studies major. Should a student’s GPA in the major fall below 2.50, he or she will have one semester to bring the GPA back to an acceptable level.

Students in Option 2 of the Interdisciplinary Studies Program are strongly encouraged to include an Independent Study/Research Project as a component of the major. Students pursuing an independent study research project may add up to 6 credit hours of such activity to the 21-hour maximum in a single discipline.

In addition to the coursework defined in the student’s Interdisciplinary Studies major, the student must satisfy all college and university requirements related to the state minimum core (p. 96) and advanced-level courses (p. 271).

Writing Requirement: To complete the Fulbright College writing requirement, students must submit one of the following:

1. Complete at least one upper-division course that satisfies the College Writing Requirement in one of the disciplines contributing to the student's course plan (Option 1 or Option 2).

2. Submit to the program director a research paper that is no less than 12 pages in length, includes 10 references, and is written in an upper-division course in one of the disciplines contributing to the student's course plan (Option 1 or Option 2).

Interdisciplinary Studies B.A. Eight-Semester Degree Plan

Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Academic Regulations chapter for university requirements. University Core requirements may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all University Core requirements are met, students may substitute a 3-hour (or more) general elective in place of a core area.

Students in the Interdisciplinary Studies Program develop individualized course plans. These courses are referred to in the plan below as IDST Course Plan hours.

International and Global Studies Website (https://fulbright.uark.edu/area-studies/international-studies/)

The International Studies Program offers a major leading to a Bachelor of Arts degree. The program offers two concentrations, one in European and Transatlantic Affairs, and a second in Peace, Security and Human Rights.

The Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences is strongly committed to the study of global interactions, and this program offers students a strong foundation for more advanced study as well as preparation for careers in an increasingly global economy and society. The degree offers a broad interdisciplinary course of study with a strong intercultural and international focus. Intensive language study and study abroad are especially encouraged.

Students who major in international and global studies are encouraged to pursue a minor or second major. Recommended fields include anthropology, economics, geography, history, political science, sociology, or world languages. Students may not earn both a major in International Studies and a minor in Global Studies.

Intercultural Requirement: 9

Choose from one of two options.

Option 1
Three courses of language instruction in a single world language, including at least two courses at the 3000-level or higher taught in the target language.

Option 2
Any combination of the following:

- A 3-hour course of language instruction in any world language at the 2003 level or higher.
- Up to three Area Studies Electives listed in the undergraduate catalog as approved electives for one of the following: African and African-American Studies, Asian Studies, Latino and Latin American Studies, Middle East Studies, or the European and Transatlantic Concentration in International Studies. At least one course must be at the 3000-4000 level.
- 3 hours in an approved international experience, such as a study abroad program, international internship, or international research experience. The three credit hours may not be applied to other requirements of the minor.

Total Hours: 15

Honors Requirements
Admission to the Fulbright Honors Program is open to majors in the international and global studies program who have a minimum cumulative grade-point average of 3.5 in all of their coursework. College and Departmental Honors candidates must complete a minimum of 12 hours in honors courses and complete an honors thesis.

To complete the required thesis, honors candidates should choose a faculty thesis director as early as possible but no later than the first semester of the student’s junior year. Honors candidates must meet the college’s requirements for an honors degree. Students graduating with honors typically graduate with the distinction cum laude. Higher distinctions (magna cum laude, summa cum laude) are awarded by the Honors Council in truly exceptional cases and are based upon the whole of the candidate’s program of honors studies.

Courses

INST 2813. Introduction to International Relations and Global Studies. 3 Hours.
A historical and contemporary overview of the relations and interactions between peoples across borders, between cultures and societies, states and non-state actors, governments and non-governmental organizations, and economies, both local and global. Focus on differing disciplinary approaches to international and global studies, the transformations caused by the process of globalization, and a survey of current global issues and problems. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

INST 2813H. Honors Introduction to International Relations and Global Studies. 3 Hours.
An interdisciplinary survey of the state system, the role of non-state actors, and the processes and outcomes of globalization. Topics include theories of international conflict and peace, international norms and ethics, international law and organizations, global cultural interactions, and contemporary transnational challenges. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

This course is cross-listed with PLSC 2813.

INST 2813H. Honors Introduction to International Relations and Global Studies. 3 Hours.
An interdisciplinary survey of the state system, the role of non-state actors, and the processes and outcomes of globalization. Topics include theories of international conflict and peace, international norms and ethics, international law and organizations, global cultural interactions, and contemporary transnational challenges. Prerequisite: Honors standing. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

This course is cross-listed with PLSC 2813, INST 2813.

INST 300V. Internship in International Studies. 1-6 Hour.
Internship in international studies-related agency or organization, arranged by the student and/or faculty member, under the guidance of a faculty member. (Typically offered: Summer) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

INST 3303. European Integration and Globalization. 3 Hours.
Interdisciplinary study of the cultural, economic, and political processes of modern European integration in the context of a changing relationship between Europe and the wider world during the 20th and 21st centuries. (Typically offered: Fall Even Years)

INST 3503. Issues in the Global South. 3 Hours.
Interdisciplinary study of salient historical and contemporary issues of the Global South, including the cultural, economic, and political forces that shape and/or emerge from societies or political subjects that historically experienced underdevelopment and colonialism. (Typically offered: Fall Odd Years)

INST 3603. Universal Human Rights: History and Practice since 1945. 3 Hours.
Study of the development and growth of the universal human rights movement since the end of the Second World War. Emphasis on using human rights as a lens to understand and assess global affairs in the late 20th and early 21st centuries. Creates space for INST 3603 to be offered as part of a study abroad program. (Typically offered: Spring Even Years)
INST 3673. Social Entrepreneurship. 3 Hours.
Explores notions of social entrepreneurship at both the global and local levels. Multiple case studies are analyzed to show the possibilities of participating in a market economy while promoting sustainable development. Students will undertake projects combining sound business practices with sustainable approaches to social challenges. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

INST 399VH. Honors Thesis. 1-6 Hour.
To be used for completing an International Studies Honors Thesis. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

INST 4003. International Studies Seminar. 3 Hours.
The capstone course in international studies involves intensive study of major global trends and issues. Students choose a research project culminating in a senior thesis to meet the College writing requirement. Prerequisite: PLSC 2813 or INST 2013 or equivalent. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

INST 4003H. Honors International Studies Seminar. 3 Hours.
The capstone course in international studies involves intensive study of major global trends and issues. Students choose a research project culminating in a senior thesis to meet the College writing requirement. Prerequisite: PLSC 2813 or INST 2013 or equivalent. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit. This course is equivalent to INST 4003.

INST 406V. Independent Study in International Studies. 1-6 Hour.
Independent study in international studies. Arranged in agreement and under the guidance of a faculty member. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

INST 4103. Geography of Political Violence. 3 Hours.
This seminar focuses on the rise of civil conflict in the post-World War II world. We are particularly interested in understanding the institutional challenges facing countries that experience such conflict. The class will develop a contextually-informed understanding of the international system and how it is shaped by civil war. Pre- or Corequisite: INST 2013. Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing. (Typically offered: Fall Even Years) This course is cross-listed with GEOS 4493.

INST 4103H. Honors Geography of Political Violence. 3 Hours.
This seminar focuses on the rise of civil conflict in the post-World War II world. We are particularly interested in understanding the institutional challenges facing countries that experience such conflict. The class will develop a contextually-informed understanding of the international system and how it is shaped by civil war. Pre- or Corequisite: INST 2013. Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing and honors standing. (Typically offered: Fall Even Years) This course is cross-listed with GEOS 4493, INST 4103.

INST 4603. Peace Studies: Approaches and Theory. 3 Hours.
Exploration of key theories, concepts, and methodological approaches within the interdisciplinary field of peace studies. Emphasis on historical and contemporary concepts of peace, conflict, violence, and justice; the institutions, legal frameworks, and intercultural norms facilitating peace; and the practical application of theory to strategic peace building. (Typically offered: Spring Odd Years)

INST 4653. International Food Security and Food Sovereignty. 3 Hours.
Explores the concepts of food security and food sovereignty and the ways in which humans have addressed issues related to hunger. Focus on the contemporary international cultural, social, and political discussion of future problems and solutions. (Typically offered: Irregular)

INST 4693. Approaching Global History. 3 Hours.
Explores theoretical perspectives on global history through a treatment of the historiographical development of the field, readings of landmark texts, and selected case studies of global themes. (Typically offered: Irregular) This course is cross-listed with HIST 4693.

INST 4873. International Communication and Globalization. 3 Hours.
Examines aspects of international communication and the impact of globalization on the production, dissemination, and consumption of media technology and messages. (Typically offered: Irregular)

INST 4893. International Negotiation and Mediation. 3 Hours.
This course examines international negotiations and mediation. International negotiation refers to the processes and methods by which state and non-state actors reach agreements through persuasion and similar non-violent means. This course analyzes the processes, methods, and mechanisms, and challenges of international negotiations and the growing use of mediation. (Typically offered: Irregular) This course is cross-listed with PLSC 4893.

INST 493V. Global Changemakers: Social Innovation Abroad. 3-6 Hour.

Jewish Studies Website (https://fulbright.uark.edu/programs/jewish-studies/)

The Jewish Studies minor introduces students to Jewish history, thought, and lifeways, through the millennia and around the globe. Students take courses introducing them to the basic tenets of Judaism, to fundamentals of Jewish languages (Aramaic, Biblical Hebrew, Modern Hebrew, and Yiddish), and to major strands in European, American, and Middle Eastern Jewish thought. Affiliated courses will cover Jewish literature; religious dialogue and history; current politics; ancient, medieval, early modern, and modern Jewish history; and discourse on gender, multiculturalism, and social justice. Jewish Studies offers a broad interdisciplinary context of coursework that can complement most programs of study.

Requirements for a Minor in Jewish Studies: Students who minor in Jewish Studies will take JWST 2003 Introduction to Judaism, a 3-credit hour introductory interdisciplinary course that lays out historical, religious, cultural, linguistic, and philosophical foundations and questions critical to any exploration of any branch of Jewish Studies. Students must take an additional 12 hours of elective coursework from among options listed below. Other courses with significant Jewish Studies-related content and the possibility for an additional Jewish Studies project (for example Religious Studies courses, Middle East Studies courses, or appropriate

Journalism and Strategic Media (JOUR)

Larry Foley

Chair of the School
205 Kimpel Hall
479-575-3601

School of Journalism and Strategic Media Website (https://fulbright.uark.edu/departments/journalism/)

The purpose of the School of Journalism and Strategic Media is to provide students with knowledge of the history, theory, and ethics of mass communications, to educate students in journalistic skills, including the ability to express themselves logically and clearly, and to guide them in securing specialized knowledge of society appropriate to journalistic careers.

Majors
The School of Journalism and Strategic Media offers two undergraduate majors leading to a Bachelor of Arts degree: a major in Advertising and Public Relations and a major in Journalism. The journalism major offers students a choice of two concentrations, either the broadcast concentration or the news/editorial concentration. The school also offers two combined majors — a Journalism/English combined major and a Journalism/Political Science combined major — as well as a minor in journalism.

University and College Requirements: In addition to the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences Graduation Requirements (see under Degree Completion Program Policy), the following course requirements must be met. Bolded courses from the course list below may be applied to portions of the state minimum core (p. 96) requirements.

State Minimum Core 35

- JOUR 4923 History of the Black Press
- SCWK 3193 Human Diversity and Social Work
- SOCI 3193 Race, Class, Gender, and Sexuality

Other cultural/diversity courses as approved by the School of Journalism and Strategic Media.

Journalism and Strategic Media Core

All majors and minors must complete the Grammar, Spelling and Punctuation (GSP) requirement as a prerequisite or co-requisite to JOUR 1033 Media Writing by completing one of these two options: 1) Pass JOUR 1003 Journalistic Writing Skills with a grade of C or better; or 2) Pass JOUR 1100 Grammar Spelling Punctuation Requirement with a Satisfactory (S) grade by scoring a 75% or better on the GSP test that is administered through the class. Once you officially declare a Journalism major or minor, you will obtain access to the GSP Blackboard course for Option 2. Students who do not complete both the GSP requirement and JOUR 1033 with a C or better cannot enroll in any courses for which JOUR 1033 is a prerequisite. The GSP test is only administered a certain number of times each semester. Students must request a GSP test time a minimum of two weeks before they plan to take the test. There is no guarantee that GSP testing slots will be open when desired, so students must schedule well in advance.

A minimum grade of “C” is required in all journalism courses that serve as prerequisites for advanced journalism and advertising/public relations courses. In certain courses a minimum grade of “B” is required.

Third Year

Students have the option of enrolling in the ADPR 4143, ADPR 4423, and (ADPR 4453 or ADPR 4473) course sequence during the junior or senior year. If ADPR 3723 and ADPR 3743 are already completed with a grade of B or better, then choose one course from the ADPR courses below or complete another remaining degree requirement.

If enrolling during the junior year, students must have a minimum of 60 credit hours completed, 2.5 cumulative GPA, be an Advertising/Public Relations major, and must have completed ADPR 3723 and ADPR 3743, each with a grade of B or better. No in-progress credit hours accepted. No exceptions will be made.

If not completed during sophomore year, then take:

ADPR 3723 Advertising Principles (must earn a B or better)

If ADPR 3723 is already completed, then choose one ADPR course from below or complete another remaining degree requirement.

ADPR 4143 Public Relations Writing
or ADPR 4423 Creative Strategy and Execution
or ADPR 4453 Media Planning & Strategy
or ADPR 4473 Account Planning

Students need only to complete either ADPR 4453 or ADPR 4473 towards the nine credit hours of the 4000-level ADPR course sequence—not both. If both are completed, then one will count as a JOUR/ADPR elective.

remaining degree requirement.

ADPR 4143 Public Relations Writing
or ADPR 4423 Creative Strategy and Execution
or ADPR 4453 Media Planning & Strategy
or ADPR 4473 Account Planning

Students need only to complete either
ADPR 4453 or ADPR 4473 towards the nine credit hours of the 4000-level ADPR course sequence—not both. If both are completed, then one will count as a JOUR/ADPR elective.

Cultural/diversity requirement or HIST elective
3000-level or higher
If a HIST course was already completed that satisfies both requirements, then select non-
JOUR/ADPR general electives.

The Journalism requirements for this combined major are as follows:

The journalism requirement may be satisfied by 24 semester hours of courses, including JOUR 1023, JOUR 1033, and JOUR 3633. The remaining 15 hours are filled from the following concentrations.

All majors and minors must complete the Grammar, Spelling and Punctuation (GSP) requirement as a prerequisite or co-requisite to JOUR 1003 Media Writing by completing one of these two options: 1) Pass JOUR 1003 Journalistic Writing Skills with a grade of C or better; or 2) Pass JOUR 1100 Grammar Spelling Punctuation Requirement with a Satisfactory (S) grade by scoring a 75% or better on the GSP test that is administered through the class. Once you officially declare a Journalism major or minor, you will obtain access to the GSP Blackboard course for Option 2. Students who do not complete both the GSP requirement and JOUR 1003 with a C or better cannot enroll in any courses for which JOUR 1003 is a prerequisite. The GSP test is only administered a certain number of times each semester. Students must request a GSP test time a minimum of two weeks before they plan to take the test. There is no guarantee that GSP testing slots will be open when desired, so students must schedule well in advance.

News/Editorial Concentration:
- JOUR 2013  News Reporting I 3
- JOUR 3013  Editing 3
- JOUR 3023  News Reporting II 3
- or JOUR 4503  Magazine Writing 3
- or JOUR 4553  Magazine Editing and Production I 3
- JOUR 3123  Feature Writing 3
- One Additional Journalism Course 3

Total Hours 15

Broadcast Concentration:
- JOUR 2032  Broadcast News Reporting I 3
- & JOUR 2031L  Broadcast News Reporting I Laboratory 3
- JOUR 3072  Broadcast News Reporting II 3
- & JOUR 3071L  Broadcast News Reporting II Laboratory 3
- JOUR 4863  Television News Reporting I 3
- JOUR 4873  Television News Reporting II 3
- One Additional Journalism Course 3

Total Hours 15

The English requirements for this combined major are as follows:

24 hours of English courses (not counting ENGL 0002, ENGL 1013, ENGL 1023, and ENGL 2003) to include any nine hours of survey courses chosen from:

<table>
<thead>

</tbody>

and 15 additional hours chosen from English courses numbered above 3000 and WLIT courses above 2333.

In addition, students are strongly recommended to complete up through the 2013 Intermediate II level of a world language.

Writing Requirement: All upper division English courses require a research or an analytical paper except ENGL 4003 and the courses in creative writing. (ENGL 3013, ENGL 4013, and ENGL 4023). For this reason, all students who fulfill the requirements for the combined major in Journalism and English thereby fulfill the Fulbright College writing requirement.
Assessment Requirement: Every senior English major must take the program assessment exam administered by the department each spring semester to graduate. Exam results will not affect GPA, although the student’s score will be noted on his or her permanent academic record. This requirement may be waived in extraordinary circumstances by the department’s Director of Undergraduate Studies. Contact your adviser for more information.

Combined Major in English and Journalism
Eight-Semester Degree Program

Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) for university requirements of the program. Core requirement hours may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all core requirements are met, students may substitute a three-hour (or more) general elective in place of a core area.

Writing Requirement: Students pursuing the journalism/political science combined major may satisfy the college writing requirement through either the Department of Journalism or through the Department of Political Science.

In Journalism: Successful completion of JOUR 4981 with a grade of 'C' or better will satisfy the Fulbright College Writing Requirement.

In Political Science: The college writing requirement is fulfilled by submitting an acceptable research/analytical paper to the department for approval at least four weeks prior to graduation. The paper may be derived from completion of an honors essay (PLSC 498V), a senior thesis (PLSC 498V), or some other advanced course in political science. The student is urged to consult with his or her faculty adviser no later than early in the first semester of the senior year.

Journalism/Political Science B.A. Eight-Semester Degree Program

Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) for university requirements of the program. Core requirement hours may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all core requirements are met, students may substitute a three-hour (or more) general elective in place of a core area.

Requirements for a Minor in Journalism

All majors and minors must complete the Grammar, Spelling and Punctuation (GSP) requirement as a prerequisite or co-requisite to JOUR 1033 Media Writing by completing one of these two options: 1) Pass JOUR 1003 Journalistic Writing Skills with a grade of C or better; or 2) Pass JOUR 1100 Grammar Spelling Punctuation Requirement with a Satisfactory (S) grade by scoring a 75% or better on the GSP test that is administered through the class. Once you officially declare a Journalism major or minor, you will obtain access to the GSP Blackboard course for Option 2. Students who do not complete both the GSP requirement and JOUR 1033 with a C or better cannot enroll in any courses for which JOUR 1033 is a prerequisite. The GSP test is only administered a certain number of times each semester. Students must request a GSP test time a minimum of two weeks before they plan to take the test. There is no guarantee that GSP testing slots will be open when desired, so students must schedule well in advance.

Requirements for Honors in Journalism and Strategic Media

The Journalism and Strategic Media Honors Program gives undergraduates a chance to pursue journalistic research in the context of other academic disciplines. Honors candidates carry out independent study and research under the guidance of the journalism faculty and participate in honors classes in journalism and at least one other discipline. Outstanding student achievement will be recognized by the award of distinction “Journalism Scholar Cum Laude” at graduation. Higher degree distinctions are recommended only in cases of exceptional achievement and are based on the candidate’s total honors studies program. To be considered for such distinctions, students must earn a minimum cumulative 3.50 grade-point average in journalism.

Journalism School and College Honors students must complete a minimum of 13 hours in honors credits and a thesis. These requirements are specified as follows:

Journalism School and College Honors students must:

1. Enter the program no later than the first semester of their junior year, and register for JOUR 498VH Honors Journalism Writing Requirement beginning with the first semester of the junior year,
2. Take at least 1 credit of JOUR 498VH every fall and spring semester of the junior and senior years,
3. Complete at least one journalism honors colloquium,
4. Complete the journalism honors core research course JOUR 4943H (offered every spring semester only),
5. Complete an approved honors colloquium in a second discipline,
6. Complete and orally defend an honors thesis based on honors courses of study, and
7. Earn an overall cumulative 3.50 grade-point average and a cumulative 3.50 grade-point average in journalism courses.

In addition, journalism majors pursuing college honors must also satisfy all requirements for the Fulbright College Honors Program and the Honors Core Curriculum for a Bachelor of Arts found elsewhere in this catalog.

More specific information on the requirements for honors in Journalism is available from the School of Journalism and Strategic Media Honors adviser.

Journalism (B.A.) Teacher Licensure Requirements: Students interested in obtaining teacher licensure may not obtain licensure in journalism alone. Licensure in another discipline must be obtained, and journalism may be added as an additional area of licensure. Please refer to the Secondary Education Requirements for Fulbright College Students (p. 274) or contact your departmental adviser or an adviser in the College of Education and Health Professions.

Latin American and Latino Studies (LALS)

Yajaira M. Padilla
Director of Studies
723 Kempel Hall
479-575-4301

Latin American and Latino Studies Website (https://fulbright.uark.edu/area-studies/latin-american-and-latino-studies/)

Students interested in Latin America and wishing to maximize their potential for academic, business, professional, or government careers related to the area, may earn a second major or a minor in Latin American and Latino studies together with a primary major in another discipline in Fulbright College. Advice on appropriate combinations of Latin American and Latino studies with other primary majors as well as individual approval of such combinations may be obtained from the Latin American and Latino studies program director. New students in this program must officially declare both majors and notify the Latin American and Latino studies program director. Degree checks must also be cleared with the program director. Freshmen and sophomores considering this program are advised to begin their study of Spanish or Portuguese as early as possible.

Requirements for a Second Major in Latin American and Latino Studies

In addition to the requirements of a primary departmental major, students pursuing a second major in Latin American and Latino Studies must complete the following:

Language Competence: The student must complete SPAN 2013, PORT 2013, or equivalent. Provisions are available for recognition of language skills gained by other means than formal course work taken at the University of Arkansas. See information under the entry in the department of world languages. Further functional work in Spanish or Portuguese as well as study and residence in a Latin American nation can serve to strengthen language competence and are encouraged.

Colloquium: The student must complete at least three hours in the interdepartmental colloquium, LALS 4003. The Colloquium may be repeated, with the adviser’s approval, provided the topic is different.

Electives: The student must complete 18 hours, in addition to LALS 4003, in courses with specific Latin American or Latino content, or individualized study options under instructors teaching Latin American or Latino Studies. Students choosing to take individualized readings or directed research courses must obtain the approval of the director of the area studies program. In the selection of the electives, the following conditions apply:

1. Courses must be selected from at least three different departments,
2. A maximum of nine hours may be submitted from courses taken in any one department.

The following courses and individualized study options may be taken in fulfillment of elective requirements:

Anthropology
- ANTH 2013: Introduction to Latin American Studies 3
- ANTH 3553: Religion in Latin America 3
- ANTH 4263: Identity and Culture in the U.S.-Mexico Borderlands 3

Requirements for a Minor in Latin American and Latino Studies:
Students wishing to minor in Latin American and Latino Studies must fulfill the Colloquium (LALS 4003) and the language requirements described in the combined major, and must complete at least 12 hours from among the electives listed in the combined major. Electives must include courses from at least two different academic departments. Included in the 12 hours may be 3 additional hours of LALS 4003, provided the topic is different.

Requirements for Honors in Latin American and Latino Studies:
The Honors Program in Latin American and Latino Studies gives junior and senior students of high ability the opportunity to enroll in enriched courses and conduct independent research culminating in an honors thesis. In addition to satisfying the general Fulbright College requirements for graduation and the basic eligibility requirements for honors as established by the Honors Council, candidates for honors in Latin American and Latino Studies must complete 12 hours of honors credit in partial satisfaction of requirements for the co-major. One to six of these may be thesis hours (LALS 399VH). The preferred method for satisfying the remaining hours is to enroll in the colloquium at least once for honors credit (LALS 4003H) and to take relevant honors colloquia or graduate courses (with permission) in one of the departments contributing to this interdisciplinary area study. The thesis committee shall include a representative from the major discipline (in the case of multiple majors, from the discipline contributing most significantly to the topic). Successful completion of these requirements will be recognized by the award of... the distinction "Latin American and Latino Studies Scholar Cum Laude" at graduation. Higher degree distinctions are recommended only in exceptional cases and are based upon the whole of the candidate's program of honors studies.

Courses

LALS 2013. Latin American Studies. 3 Hours.
This course provides an interdisciplinary introduction to Latin America. Drawing on Latin American literature, history, sociology, and political science, the course examines the broad forces that have shaped the region. (Typically offered: Irregular) This course is equivalent to ANTH 2013.

LALS 399 VH. Honors Thesis. 1-6 Hours.
Honors thesis research hours. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

LALS 4003. Latin American Studies Colloquium. 3 Hours.
An interdepartmental colloquium with an annual change in subject of investigation, required of all Latin American studies majors. Prerequisite: Sophomore standing for Latin American and Latino Studies majors. (Typically offered: Spring) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

LALS 4003H. Honors Latin American Studies Colloquium. 3 Hours.
An interdepartmental colloquium with an annual change in subject of investigation. Prerequisite: Sophomore standing and honors standing for Latin American and Latino Studies majors. (Typically offered: Spring) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

This course is equivalent to LALS 4003.

Mathematical Sciences (MASC)

Mark Johnson
Chair of the Department
309 Science Engineering Building
479-575-3351

Department of Mathematical Sciences Website (http://fulbright.uark.edu/departments/math/)

The Department of Mathematical Sciences is committed to high-level mathematics instruction, preparing students for careers in secondary education, actuarial science and industry, and for entrance into graduate studies in mathematics and statistics. The department offers two majors, one leading to a Bachelor of Arts degree and a second leading to a Bachelor Science degree.

The Bachelor of Arts degree is often sought by future secondary education majors or by students wishing a broader exposure to the humanities. The Bachelor of Science degree is sought by students who intend to go on to graduate studies or who would like a deeper and broader understanding of higher mathematics. The Department of Mathematical Sciences is committed to the values of a broad, interdisciplinary education, highlighting the utility and value of the mathematics degree in a wide variety of careers and disciplines.

Enrollment in or completion of any course at the level of MATH 2554 or higher is required to enter into the mathematics program.

Requirements for a Major in Mathematics, B.A. Degree: Students must complete 120 degree credit hours to include the minimum University Core requirements (http://catalog.uark.edu/undergraduatecatalog/academicregulations/universitycore/), the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences Graduation Requirements (p. 271), and the following course requirements. Bolded courses from the list below may be applied to portions of the University Core requirements.

An approved course with substantial programming experience, typically satisfied by CSCE 2004. Other courses may be applied towards this requirement with prior departmental approval.

Completion of a minor other than in Mathematics or Statistics, 15-30+ completion of the UTeach curriculum, completion of an additional major or completion of the Four-Year Fulbright Honors Core for a Bachelor of Arts. Hours required will vary.

Major Course Requirements

| MATH 2574 | Calculus III (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 2503) |
| MATH 2574M | (MATH 2554 and MATH 2564 are prerequisites) |
| MATH 2803 | Transition to Advanced Mathematics |
| MATH 3093 | Abstract Linear Algebra |
| MATH 3113 | Introduction to Abstract Algebra I |
| MATH 3513 | Elementary Analysis |
Math 4933  Mathematics Major Seminar

Twelve semester hours of courses in mathematics selected from MATH 2584, CSCE 4133 or MATH and STAT courses numbered at the 3000-level or higher.

The completion of a senior writing project under the direction of a faculty member. This is typically carried out in MATH 4933, or is satisfied by an honors thesis.

It is recommended that MATH 2803 be taken as early as possible in the program.

Mathematics B.A.

Eight-Semester Degree Program

Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) for university requirements of the program. Core requirement hours may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all core requirements are met, students may substitute a three-hour (or more) general elective in place of a core area.

Completion of eight additional hours at the 3000-level or higher not in Mathematics or Statistics chosen with department approval, completion of the UAteach curriculum, or completion of the Fulbright Four Year Honors Core for a Bachelor of Science degree. (Hours required will vary.)

As a part of the requirements for a B.S. degree with a major in mathematics, the student must also complete the following 27 hours:

MATH 2574 Calculus III (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 2603) 4
MATH 2584 Elementary Differential Equations 4
MATH 3093 Abstract Linear Algebra 3
MATH 3113 Introduction to Abstract Algebra I 3
MATH 4513 Advanced Calculus I 3
MATH 4933 Mathematics Major Seminar 3
CSCE 2004 Programming Foundations I 4

And the completion of a senior writing project under the direction of a faculty member. 1

It is recommended that MATH 2803 be taken as early as possible in the program.

1 This is typically carried out in MATH 4933 or satisfied with an honors senior thesis.

Concentration 1 (Applied)
A program for the student who wishes to prepare for either applied work in mathematics or graduate work in some field other than mathematics or statistics. Requirements:

STAT 3013 Introduction to Probability 3
or STAT 5103 Introduction to Probability Theory 3
MATH 4423 Introduction to Partial Differential Equations 3
MATH 4353 Numerical Linear Algebra 3
MATH 4363 Numerical Analysis 3

Requirements for a Minor in Mathematics

A grade of C or better in the following courses:

- MATH 2564 Calculus II (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 2505)
- MATH 2603 Discrete Mathematics

Requirements for a Minor in Statistics

Coursework used toward the mathematics major may not be applied toward a statistics minor.

- MATH 2554 Calculus I (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 2405)

12 hours of STAT courses, including 9 hours in courses numbered 3000 and above.

Requirements for Departmental Honors in Mathematics:

The Departmental Honors Program in Mathematics is designed for the superior student and is intended to help the student develop a more comprehensive view of the nature of mathematics. The program provides a vehicle for the recognition of the achievements of work beyond the usual course of study and earns the student the distinction “Mathematics Scholar Cum Laude” at graduation. Higher degree distinctions are recommended only in truly exceptional cases and are based upon the whole of the candidate’s program of honors studies.

Graduation with honors: The candidate must satisfy the requirements set forth by the Honors Council. The candidate must also obtain at least a 3.50 grade-point average in CSCE 2004 and all 2000-level or higher MATH/STAT courses required for the degree. In addition, a grade of “D” or “F” in any other course offered by the department disqualifies a student for honors.

Candidates must take 2-4 hours of MATH 498V at least one semester before the student’s graduating semester. This course will require significant progress toward an honors thesis to be presented and defended before the student’s honors committee. The quality of this paper and its defense, along with the execution of the rest of the student’s honors program and overall academic performance, will be used in determining the distinction between Honors and High Honors.

Mathematics (B.A. or B.S.) Teacher Licensure Requirements:

Please refer to the Secondary Education Requirements (p. 274) for Fulbright College Students. Students wishing to pursue licensure through the UTeach undergraduate curriculum should consult with a UTeach adviser, uteach@uark.edu.

Students wanting to teach mathematics in middle school should consult with a middle level adviser in the College of Education and Health Professions (p. 675).

Courses

MATH 0001L. College Algebra Laboratory I. 1 Hour.

This course provides additional support and instruction for students enrolled in MATH 1203 who are required to take it based on the placement requirements stipulated for that course. Credit earned in this course will not be applied to the total hours required for a degree. One lab hour. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

MATH 0002L. College Algebra Laboratory II. 2 Hours.

This course provides additional support and instruction for students enrolled in MATH 1203 who are required to take it based on the placement requirements stipulated for that course. Credit earned in this course will not be applied to the total hours required for a degree. Two lab hours. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

MATH 0131L. Quantitative Reasoning Laboratory. 1 Hour.

This course provides additional support and instruction for students enrolled in MATH 1313 who are required to take it based on the placement requirements stipulated for that course. Credit earned in this course will not be applied to the total hours required for a degree. One lab hour. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

MATH 1203. College Algebra (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 1103). 3 Hours.

Topics include the solution and application of linear and quadratic equations and inequalities; functions, graphs, and theory of equations; matrix solutions of systems of equations and basic properties of matrices. Prerequisite: a score of at least 46 on the Math Placement Test, or a score of at least 23 on the math component of the ACT exam, or a score of at least 570 on the math component of the new SAT or 540 on the math component of the old SAT. Students who score at least 30 on the Math Placement Test, or at least 19 on the math component of the ACT exam, or at least 510 on the math component of the new SAT or 460 on the math component of the old SAT must also register for MATH 0001L as a corequisite. Students who score below 30 on the Math Placement Test, or below 19 on the math component of the ACT exam, or below 510 on the math component of the new SAT or below 460 on the math component of the old SAT must also register for MATH 0002L as a corequisite. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

MATH 1204. College Algebra with Review (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 1103). 4 Hours.

Same as MATH 1203 with additional support, increased class time, additional review, and computerized lab component. Prerequisite: MATH 0003 with a grade of D or better, or a score of at least 70% on the University of Arkansas Preparedness for Algebra Exam, or a score of at least 19 on the math component of the ACT exam, or a score of at least 460 on the math component of the old SAT or 500 on the math component of the new SAT. (Typically offered: Irregular)

This course is equivalent to MATH 1203.

MATH 1213. Plane Trigonometry (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 1203). 3 Hours.

Basic topics in trigonometry including identities, formulas, and polar coordinate system. Credit will be allowed for only one of either MATH 1213 or MATH 1284C. Prerequisite: MATH 1203 or MATH 1204 with a grade of C or better, or a score of at least 60 on the Math Placement Test, or a score of at least 26 on the math component of the ACT exam, or a score of at least 600 on the math component of the old SAT or 620 on the math component of the new SAT. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)
MATH 1284C. Precalculus Mathematics (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 1305). 4 Hours.
Topics in algebra and trigonometry. To be taken by students who expect to take MATH 2554. Corequisite: Drill component. Prerequisite: MATH 1203 or MATH 1204 with a grade of C or better, or a score of at least 60 on the Math Placement Test, or a score of at least 26 on the math component of the ACT exam, or a score of at least 600 on the math component of the old SAT or 620 on the math component of the new SAT. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

MATH 1313. Quantitative Reasoning (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 1113). 3 Hours.
Reasoning about quantitative information, and the use of mathematical tools and models as citizens, consumers, entrepreneurs and employees in today's complex technological society. Topics include modeling with functions; quantity, measurement and indices; finance; counting, probability, odds and risk. Prerequisite:
a score of at least 40 on the Math Placement Test, or a score of at least 19 on the math component of the ACT exam, or a score of at least 510 on the math component of the new SAT or 460 on the math component of the old SAT. Students who score below 40 on the Math Placement Test, or below 19 on the math component of the ACT exam, or below 510 on the math component of the new SAT or below 460 on the math component of the old SAT must also register for MATH 0131L as a corequisite. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

MATH 1514. Calculus with Algebra and Trigonometry I. 4 Hours.
Topics in algebra, trigonometry and precalculus are integrated with elementary differential calculus. Part of two a semester sequence with MATH 2514; these two courses together are equivalent to MATH 1204 and MATH 2554C. MATH 1514
BY ITSELF NOT EQUIVALENT TO EITHER MATH 1204 OR MATH 2554.
This course must be taken with MATH 2514. Intended for students who place into MATH 1204, but who would profit from an earlier exposure to calculus concepts.
Closed to students with credit for MATH 2554C. Prerequisite: MATH 1203 or MATH 1204 with a grade of C or better, or a score of at least 60 on the Math Placement Test, or a score of at least 26 on the math component of the ACT exam, or a score of at least 600 on the math component of the old SAT or 620 on the math component of the new SAT. (Typically offered: Fall)

MATH 2033. Mathematical Thought. 3 Hours.
This course introduces students to a variety of topics in modern mathematics. Topics vary and can include graph theory, game theory, voting systems, foundations of logic, cardinality, discrete geometry combinatorics, geometry of surfaces, topology and symmetry. Prerequisite: MATH 1203 or MATH 1204 with a grade of C or better, or a score of at least 60 on the Math Placement Test, or a score of at least 26 on the math component of the ACT exam, or a score of at least 600 on the math component of the old SAT or 620 on the math component of the new SAT. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

MATH 2043. Survey of Calculus (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 2203). 3 Hours.
Selected topics in elementary calculus and analytic geometry for students in business, agriculture, and social sciences. Credit will be allowed for only one of MATH 2043 and MATH 2554. Corequisite: Drill component. Prerequisite:
MATH 1203 or MATH 1204 or MATH 1213 or MATH 1284C or MATH 2053 with a grade of C or better, or a score of at least 60% on the Math Placement Test, or a score of at least 26 on the math component of the ACT exam, or a score of at least 600 on the math component of the old SAT or 620 on the math component of the new SAT. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)
MATH 2445. Calculus I with Review (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 2405). 5 Hours.
Derivative of functions of one variable, applications of the derivative, introduction of the integral, and applications. Credit will be allowed for only one of MATH 2445, MATH 2554 or MATH 2043. Prerequisite: MATH 1213 with a grade of C or better, or MATH 1284C with a grade of C or better, or a score of at least 70 on the Math Placement Test, or a score of at least 28 on the math component of the ACT exam, or a score of at least 640 on the math component of the old SAT or 660 on the math component of the new SAT, or a score of at least 2 on the Calculus AB or BC Advanced Placement Exam. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)
This course is equivalent to MATH 2554.

MATH 2514. Calculus with Algebra and Trigonometry II. 4 Hours.
Continuation of MATH 1514. Topics in algebra, trigonometry and precalculus are integrated with elementary differential and integral calculus. Completion of MATH 1514 and MATH 2514 is equivalent to completion of MATH 1284C and MATH 2554C. This course is meant exclusively for students who have previously taken MATH 1514. MATH 2514 BY ITSELF NOT EQUIVALENT TO EITHER MATH 1284C OR MATH 2554C. Closed to students with credit for MATH 2554C. Prerequisite: MATH 1514 with a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Spring)

MATH 2554. Calculus I (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 2405). 4 Hours.
Derivative of functions of one variable, applications of the derivative, introduction of the integral, and applications. Credit will be allowed for only one of MATH 2554 and MATH 2043. Prerequisite: MATH 1213 with a grade of C or better, or MATH 1284C with a grade of C or better, or a score of at least 76 on the Math Placement Test, or a score of at least 28 on the math component of the ACT exam, or a score of at least 640 on the math component of the old SAT or 660 on the math component of the new SAT, or a score of at least 2 on the Calculus AB or BC Advanced Placement Exam. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

MATH 2554C. Calculus I (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 2405). 4 Hours.
Derivative of functions of one variable, applications of the derivative, introduction of the integral, and applications. Credit will be allowed for only one of MATH 2554 and MATH 2043. Corequisite: Drill component. Prerequisite: MATH 1213 with a grade of C or better, or MATH 1284C with a grade of C or better, or a score of at least 76 on the Math Placement Test, or a score of at least 28 on the math component of the ACT exam, or a score of at least 640 on the math component of the old SAT or 660 on the math component of the new SAT, or a score of at least 2 on the Calculus AB or BC Advanced Placement Exam. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)
This course is equivalent to MATH 2554.

MATH 2554H. Honors Calculus I. 4 Hours.
Topics in analytic geometry and calculus presented in a rigorous manner suitable for an honors student. Students may not receive credit for both MATH 2043 and MATH 2554. Prerequisite: Honors standing or departmental consent; and a score of at least 30 on the math component of the ACT exam, or a score of at least 680 on the math component of the old SAT or 710 on the math component of the new SAT. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)
This course is equivalent to MATH 2554.

MATH 2554H. Honors Calculus I. 4 Hours.
Topics in analytic geometry and calculus presented in a rigorous manner suitable for an honors student. Students may not receive credit for both MATH 2043 and MATH 2554. Prerequisite: Honors standing or departmental consent; and a score of at least 30 on the math component of the ACT exam, or a score of at least 680 on the math component of the old SAT or 710 on the math component of the new SAT. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)
This course is equivalent to MATH 2554.

MATH 2574. Calculus III (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 2603). 4 Hours.
Differential and integral calculus of several variables, and vector calculus. Prerequisite: MATH 2564 with a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

MATH 2574C. Calculus III. 4 Hours.
Differential and integral calculus of several variables, and vector calculus. Three hours of lecture and two hours of drill (recitation) per week. Corequisite: Drill component. Prerequisite: MATH 2564 with a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)
This course is equivalent to MATH 2574.

MATH 2574H. Honors Calculus III. 4 Hours.
Differential and integral calculus of several variables, and vector calculus. Prerequisite: MATH 2564 with a grade of A, or MATH 2564H with a grade of A or B, or a score of 5 on the AP BC Calculus exam. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)
This course is equivalent to MATH 2574.

MATH 2584. Elementary Differential Equations. 4 Hours.
First and second order ordinary differential equations, the Laplace transform, and matrix systems of ordinary differential equations. Prerequisite: MATH 2564 or MATH 2564C with a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

MATH 2584C. Elementary Differential Equations. 4 Hours.
First and second order ordinary differential equations, the Laplace transform, and matrix systems of ordinary differential equations. Three hours of lecture and two hours of drill (recitation) per week. Corequisite: Drill component. Prerequisite: MATH 2564 or MATH 2564C with a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)
This course is equivalent to MATH 2584.

MATH 2584H. Honors Elementary Differential Equations. 4 Hours.
Topics in ordinary differential equations, systems of differential equations and the Laplace transform presented with an emphasis on modeling. Prerequisite: MATH 2564 with a grade of A, or MATH 2564H with a grade of A or B, or a score of 5 on the AP BC Calculus exam. (Typically offered: Irregular)
This course is equivalent to MATH 2584.

MATH 2603. Discrete Mathematics. 3 Hours.
Introductory study of sets, relations, logic, proofs, algorithms, counting methods, graph theory, trees, and Boolean algebras. Prerequisite: MATH 2554 with a grade of C or better or the equivalent. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

MATH 2803. Transition to Advanced Mathematics. 3 Hours.
An introduction to concepts encountered in advanced mathematics. Emphasis is placed on developing the student's problem solving skills and ability to correctly communicate abstract concepts. Topics to include set theory, logic, relations, functions and mathematical induction presented in the context of intriguing mathematical problems. Pre- or Corequisite: MATH 2554 or MATH 2554C. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

MATH 2903. Functions, Foundations and Models. 3 Hours.
An in-depth study of topics from secondary school mathematics, emphasizing the development of the concept function, function patterns in data sets, connections among the main topics associated with a secondary school curriculum, and the appropriate use of technology. Pre- or Corequisite: MATH 2564 or MATH 2564C. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

MATH 3013. Introduction to Probability. 3 Hours.
A calculus-based introduction to probability. Discrete probability spaces and counting techniques, discrete and continuous probability distributions, random variables, random samples, law of large numbers, central limit theorem. Prerequisite: MATH 2564 or MATH 2564C. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)
This course is cross-listed with STAT 3013.
MATH 3083. Linear Algebra. 3 Hours.
Systems of linear equations, vector spaces, linear transformations, matrices, and determinants. Only one of MATH 3083 and MATH 3093 will count for credit. Prerequisite: MATH 2554 or MATH 2043, with a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

MATH 3093. Abstract Linear Algebra. 3 Hours.
A proof-based course on vector spaces, linear transformations, matrices, determinants, eigenspaces and eigenvalues, with applications. Recommended for mathematics majors. Only one of MATH 3083 and MATH 3093 may be counted for credit. Pre- or Corequisite: MATH 2564 with a C or better. Prerequisite: MATH 2803 with a C or better. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

MATH 3103. Combinatorics. 3 Hours.
Basic combinatorial techniques including the study of the principle of inclusion and exclusion and generating functions. Additional topics may include modular arithmetic, algebraic coding theory, Polya's method of enumeration, and an introduction to abstract algebraic structures. Prerequisite: MATH 2603 or MATH 2803. Pre- or Corequisite: MATH 3083 or MATH 3093. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

MATH 3113. Introduction to Abstract Algebra I. 3 Hours.
Introduction to algebraic structures with emphasis on rigorous justification of results. Prerequisite: MATH 2803 with a grade of C or better; and MATH 3083 or MATH 3093 with a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

MATH 3133. History of Mathematics. 3 Hours.
Survey of the development of mathematical ideas from the ancient to the modern times. Prerequisite: MATH 2554, and MATH 2603 or MATH 2803, both with a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Spring)

MATH 3203. Number Theory. 3 Hours.
Topics in elementary number theory. Prerequisite: MATH 2554, and MATH 2603 or MATH 2803, both with a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Irregular)

MATH 3513. Elementary Analysis. 3 Hours.
A first rigorous course in analysis. The formal basis of the real number system, sequences and series, the Bolzano-Weierstrass Theorem, limits and continuity, the Intermediate Value Theorem, Rolle's Theorem, differentiation, the Mean Value Theorem and its consequences, Taylor's Theorem, L'Hopital's rules, convexity, Riemann integration, the Fundamental Theorem of Calculus. Only one of MATH 3513 and MATH 4513 may be counted for credit toward the major. Prerequisite: A grade of C or better in each of MATH 2554 or MATH 2554C, MATH 2564 or MATH 2564C, MATH 2574 or MATH 2574C, MATH 3083 or MATH 3093, and MATH 2803. (Typically offered: Fall)

MATH 3583. Foundations of Applied Mathematics. 3 Hours.
Introduction to the derivation and analysis of physical models. Topics include dimensional analysis, perturbation methods, the method of characteristics, continuum mechanics, and elastic, material and fluid equations. Case studies come from biology, fluid dynamics, engineering, chemistry and other areas. Prerequisite: MATH 2574 and MATH 2584. (Typically offered: Fall)

MATH 3773. Foundations of Geometry I. 3 Hours.
Axiomatic method: Euclidean geometry; non-Euclidean geometry. Prerequisite: MATH 2554, and MATH 2603 or MATH 2803, each with a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Fall)

MATH 3923H. Honors Colloquium. 3 Hours.
 Covers a special topic or issue, offered as part of the honors program. Prerequisite: Honors candidacy (not restricted to candidacy in mathematics). (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for degree credit.

MATH 399VH. Honors Mathematics Course. 1-6 Hour.
Honors mathematics course. Prerequisite: Departmental consent. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 12 hours of degree credit.

MATH 400V. Directed Readings. 1-7 Hour.
Directed readings. Prerequisite: Departmental consent. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 7 hours of degree credit.

MATH 405V. Internship in Professional Practice. 1-3 Hour.
Professional work experience involving significant use of mathematics or statistics in business, industry or government. Prerequisite: Departmental consent. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 3 hours of degree credit.

MATH 4103. Advanced Linear Algebra. 3 Hours.
Linear functionals, matrix representation of linear transformations, scalar product, and spectral representation of linear transformations. Prerequisite: MATH 3083 or MATH 3093. (Typically offered: Irregular)

MATH 4113. Introduction to Abstract Algebra II. 3 Hours.
Topics in abstract algebra including finite abelian groups, linear groups, factorization in commutative rings and Galois theory. Prerequisite: MATH 3113. (Typically offered: Spring)

MATH 4153. Mathematical Modeling. 3 Hours.
Mathematical techniques for formulating, analyzing, and criticizing deterministic models taken from the biological, social, and physical sciences. Techniques include graphical methods, stability, optimization, and phase plane analysis. Prerequisite: MATH 2584. (Typically offered: Irregular)

MATH 4163. Dynamic Models in Biology. 3 Hours.
Mathematical and computational techniques for developing, executing, and analyzing dynamic models arising in the biological sciences. Both discrete and continuous time models are studied. Applications include population dynamics, cellular dynamics, and the spread of infectious diseases. Prerequisite: MATH 2554. (Typically offered: Irregular)
This course is cross-listed with BIOL 4163.

MATH 4173. Mathematical CAM Design. 3 Hours.
Mathematical and computational techniques for Computer aided manufacturing. Applying linear algebra to model 3d space, representation of curves and surfaces in 3d models, converting between smooth and discrete approximations of curves, algorithms to create surfaces from machine toolpaths, inverse kinematics, basic G-Code programming. Prerequisite: MATH 2574 or MATH 2574C. (Typically offered: Irregular)

MATH 4253. Symbolic Logic I. 3 Hours.
Rigorous analyses of the concepts of proof, consistency, equivalence, validity, implication, and truth. Full coverage of truth-functional logic and quantification theory (predicate calculus). Discussion of the nature and limits of mechanical procedures (algorithms) for proving theorems in logic and mathematics. Informal accounts of the basic facts about infinite sets. Prerequisite: MATH 2603, MATH 2803, or PHIL 2203. (Typically offered: Fall)
This course is cross-listed with PHIL 4253.

MATH 4303. Ordinary Differential Equations. 3 Hours.
Existence, uniqueness, stability, qualitative behavior, and numerical solutions. Prerequisite: MATH 2584 and (MATH 4513 or MATH 3513). (Typically offered: Fall)

MATH 4343. Introduction to Scientific Computing. 3 Hours.
Provides an understanding of a diverse set of problems, as well as algorithms for solving them and implementing the algorithms using high performance computing resources and environments. The emphasis is on problem solving and offers multiple projects concerning applications in science and engineering. Prerequisite: MATH 3083. (Typically offered: Spring)

MATH 4353. Numerical Linear Algebra. 3 Hours.
Numerical methods for problems of linear algebra, including the solution of very large systems, eigenvalues, and eigenvectors. Prerequisite: MATH 3083 or MATH 3093. (Typically offered: Spring)
Medical Humanities (MEDH)

The Medical Humanities Steering Committee includes:

- Trish Starks, history
- Jonathan Marion, anthropology
- Casey Kayser, English
- Warren Herold, philosophy

The medical humanities minor is designed to give students an overview of the ways in which various disciplines in the humanities inform, intersect with, and apply to understandings of the medical arts and sciences. The medical humanities minor is beneficial for students preparing for careers in health care, social services, and health-related fields, especially those who wish to understand how cultural, social, ethical, religious, literary, artistic, and other such perspectives can enrich conceptualizations and approaches to patient care.

Approaching medicine from a humanistic perspective will help future health care and social service practitioners view patients and individuals with greater empathy and awareness, as well as provide them with the tools to critically analyze their own experiences. The minor is also appropriate for students from disciplines within the humanities and social sciences interested in researching and practicing in such areas related to the historical, social, and cultural dynamics that have informed medical institutions and treatment; patient advocacy; medical law and ethics; narrative medicine; and art, music, or narrative therapies.

Requirements for Minor in Medical Humanities

A minimum of 18 hours consisting of the following:

Choose one introductory course:

- ANTH 1023 Introduction to Cultural Anthropology (ACTS Equivalency = ANTH 1103)
- COMM 1023 Communication in a Diverse World
- COMM 1023 Communication in a Diverse World
- HIST 1023 Institutions and Ideas of World Civilizations II (ACTS Equivalency = HIST 1123)
- HIST 1123 Institutions and Ideas of World Civilizations II (ACTS Equivalency = HIST 1123)
- PHIL 1003 Introduction to Ethics (ACTS Equivalency = PHIL 1003)
- PSYC 1003 General Psychology (ACTS Equivalency = PSYC 1103)
- PSYC 1003 General Psychology (ACTS Equivalency = PSYC 1103)
- SOCI 1013 General Sociology (ACTS Equivalency = SOCI 1013)
- SOCI 2013 General Sociology (ACTS Equivalency = SOCI 1013)
- SOCI 2033 Social Problems (ACTS Equivalency = SOCI 1013)
- GNST 2033 Introduction to Gender Studies
- PBHL 1303 Introduction to Human Sexuality

Nine credit hours from the following core courses or committee-approved special topics courses (taken from two different departments):

- ANTH 3533 Medical Anthropology
- ANTH 3563 Culture and Medicine
- CHLP 310V Health Coaches I
- CHLP 320V Health Coaches II
- CHLP 330V Health Coaches III
- CIED 3023 Survey of Exceptionalities
- COMM 3763 Health Communication
- COMM 3923H Honors Colloquium (Topic: Patient-Provider Communication)
- ENGL 3873 Medical Humanities Colloquium
- HIST 3923H Honors Colloquium (Topic: History of Addiction)
- HIST 4883 Health and Disease: 1500 to the Present

Core Courses:

- MATH 4363. Numerical Analysis. 3 Hours.
  - General iterative techniques, error analysis, root finding, interpolation, approximation, numerical integration, and numerical solution of differential equations. Prerequisite: MATH 2584. (Typically offered: Fall)

- MATH 4373. Finite Element Methods and Solution of Sparse Linear Systems. 3 Hours.
  - Provides an in-depth understanding of numerical methods for the solution of partial differential equations using Finite Element Methods. Direct and Iterative Methods for the Sparse Linear Systems. Prerequisite: MATH 4353. (Typically offered: Spring)

- MATH 4403. Numerical Linear Algebra II. 3 Hours.
  - Provides an in-depth understanding of numerical methods for the solution of large scale eigenvalue problems arising in science and engineering applications including theory, implementation and applications. Prerequisite: MATH 4353. (Typically offered: Fall)

- MATH 4423. Introduction to Partial Differential Equations. 3 Hours.
  - Matrices, Fourier analysis, and partial differential equations. Prerequisite: MATH 2584 or MATH 2584C with a grade of C or better; and MATH 2574 with a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

- MATH 4443. Complex Variables. 3 Hours.
  - Complex analysis, series, and conformal mapping. Additional applications for graduate credit. Prerequisite: MATH 2603 or MATH 2803, and MATH 2584 or MATH 2584C. (Typically offered: Fall)

- MATH 4503. Differential Geometry. 3 Hours.
  - Topics include: classical differential geometry of curves and surfaces in 3-space, differential forms and vector fields. Prerequisite: MATH 2574 or MATH 2574C. (Typically offered: Irregular)

- MATH 4513. Advanced Calculus I. 3 Hours.
  - The real and complex number systems, basic set theory and topology, sequences and series, continuity, differentiation, and Taylor's theorem. Emphasis is placed on careful mathematical reasoning. Only one of MATH 3513 and MATH 4513 may be counted for credit toward the major. Prerequisite: MATH 2574, MATH 2803 and MATH 3083 or MATH 3093. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

- MATH 4523. Advanced Calculus II. 3 Hours.
  - The Riemann-Stieltjes integral, uniform convergence of functions, Fourier series, implicit function theorem, Jacobians, and derivatives of higher order. Prerequisite: MATH 4513. (Typically offered: Spring)

- MATH 4703. Introduction to Point-Set Topology. 3 Hours.
  - A study of topological spaces including continuous transformations, connectedness and compactness. Prerequisite: MATH 4513. (Typically offered: Irregular)

- MATH 4933. Mathematics Major Seminar. 3 Hours.
  - Weekly seminars on topics of historical or cross-disciplinary interest, designed to address students' mathematical knowledge, problem-solving and communication skills, in which student presentations play a part. Also serves as a forum for sharing information about career opportunities and preparation for employment. Prerequisite: Senior standing and a mathematics major, or departmental consent. (Typically offered: Spring)

- MATH 498V. Senior Thesis. 1-6 Hour.
  - Senior thesis. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

- MATH 499V. Research Topics in Mathematics. 1-3 Hour.
  - Current research interests in mathematics, at an advanced undergraduate or beginning graduate level. Prerequisite: Departmental consent. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 12 hours of degree credit.

Medieval and Renaissance Studies Website (https://fulbright.uark.edu/programs/medieval-and-renaissance-studies/)

The Medieval and Renaissance studies program is administered by the Humanities program. This program offers a minor that encourages undergraduate students to pursue an interdisciplinary study of all aspects of the Middle Ages and Renaissance as a complement to their major field of study.

Requirements for a Minor in Medieval and Renaissance Studies (MRST): (15-16 credit hours) Students must take MRST 2013 or HIST 1113 or HIST 1113H and complete at least 12 additional credit hours selected from the courses listed below. Other courses covering the chronological period between 500 C.E. and 1700 C.E. may also be accepted if approved by the program director or co-director. A maximum of 6 hours may be presented from courses taken in the student’s designated major.

Required Core Course

Select one of the following: 3-4

- MRST 2013 Introduction to Medieval and Renaissance Studies
  - or HIST 1113 Institutions and Ideas of World Civilizations I (ACTS Equivalency = HIST 1113)
  - or HIST 1113H Honors Institutions and Ideas of World Civilizations I
  - or HUMN 1124H Honors Equilibrium of Cultures 500-1600

Twelve hours to be chosen from the following (a maximum of six hours may be presented from courses taken in the student’s major): 12

- MRST 4003 Medieval and Renaissance Studies Colloquium
  - or MRST 4003H Honors Medieval and Renaissance Studies Colloquium
- ARHS 4843 Medieval Art
- ARHS 4853 Italian Renaissance Art
- ARHS 4863 Northern Renaissance Art
- ARCH 2233 History of Architecture I
- ARCH 4023 Advanced Architectural Studies
- ENGL 3433 Introduction to Chaucer
- ENGL 4303 Introduction to Shakespeare
- LATN 5633 Medieval Latin
- SPAN 5203 Medieval Spanish Literature
- HIST 3033 Islamic Civilization
Courses

MRST 2013. Introduction to Medieval and Renaissance Studies. 3 Hours.
An interdisciplinary introduction to the major historical and cultural developments in northern Europe and the Mediterranean basin from approximately 500 to 1600 C.E. (Typically offered: Fall Even Years)

MRST 3013. Special Topics in Medieval Studies. 3 Hours.
In-depth study of some topic or period of medieval literature, art, history and philosophy. Prerequisite: Sophomore standing. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 12 hours of degree credit.

MRST 3013H. Honors Special Topics in Medieval Studies. 3 Hours.
In-depth study of some topic or period of medieval literature, art, history and philosophy. Prerequisite: Sophomore standing. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 9 hours of degree credit.
This course is equivalent to MRST 3013.

MRST 3023. Special Topics in Early Modern Studies. 3 Hours.
In-depth study of some topic or period of Early Modern literature, art, history and philosophy. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 12 hours of degree credit.

MRST 3023H. Honors Special Topics in Early Modern Studies. 3 Hours.
In-depth study of some topic or period of Early Modern literature, art, history and philosophy. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 12 hours of degree credit.

MRST 4003. Medieval and Renaissance Studies Colloquium. 3 Hours.
Advanced study of some more narrowly focused aspect of medieval and/or Renaissance studies. Prerequisite: Sophomore standing. (Typically offered: Spring Odd Years) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

MRST 4003H. Honors Medieval and Renaissance Studies Colloquium. 3 Hours.
Advanced study of some more narrowly focused aspect of medieval and/or Renaissance studies. Prerequisite: Sophomore standing. (Typically offered: Spring Odd Years) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.
This course is equivalent to MRST 4003.

Middle East Studies (MEST)

Todd Shields
Director, King Fahd Center for Middle East Studies
202 Old Main
479-575-2175
mest@uark.edu

Middle East Studies Website (https://fulbright.uark.edu/area-studies/middle-east-studies/)

Students interested in the Middle East and North Africa and wishing to maximize their potential for academic, business, professional, or government careers related to the area, may earn a second major in Middle East studies with a required primary major in an approved area in Fulbright College such as anthropology, economics, world languages, geography, history, journalism, and political science. New students entering the program are required to notify both the major adviser and the MEST director of their intention to participate. Freshmen and sophomores considering this program are advised to begin their study of a Middle East language as early as possible. Students may also earn a minor in Middle East studies.

Requirements for a Second Major in MEST. To attain a second major in MEST, the student is required to have a primary major in one of the following approved areas: anthropology, communication, economics (BA), French, geography, history, international relations, journalism, political science, sociology, or Spanish. Up to nine hours of courses in the primary major with Middle East content may be counted toward the MEST combined major with the permission of the MEST director.

Total Hours Required: (30 semester hours) Students must complete 3 hours in MEST 2013 Introduction to Middle East Studies, 3 hours in MEST 4003 Middle East Studies Colloquium, 6 hours of Arabic language beyond ARAB 2016, and 18 hours in additional MEST or MEST-approved core courses. MEST courses must be in at least two disciplines, with no fewer than 9 hours of MEST core courses in one discipline.

Introduction to Middle East Studies: (3 hours) Students must complete 3 hours of Introduction to Middle East Studies (MEST 2013).

Middle East Studies Colloquium: (3 hours) Students must complete at least 3 hours in MEST 4003 Middle East Studies Colloquium. The Colloquium may be repeated with a change of subject for a maximum of 6 credits.

Arabic Requirement: (6 hours of MEST credit) Students must complete 6 hours of Arabic language beyond ARAB 2013 or ARAB 2016. Courses approved by the MEST director and completed in a summer intensive Arabic program or study-abroad program in an Arabic speaking country may substitute for all or part of this requirement.

MEST Core Courses: To count for MEST credit, courses not on the following list must be approved by the student’s MEST major adviser and the MEST director. Individualized readings, directed research courses, or courses in a second Middle Eastern language may count as MEST core courses with the approval of the MEST major adviser and MEST director.

Total Hours: 15-16
Requirements for a Minor in Middle East Studies:

Students must complete 18 hours:

Required Courses
- MEST 2013: Introduction to Middle East Studies (3 hours)
- MEST 4003: Middle East Studies Colloquium (3 hours)
- ARAB 1016: Intensive Arabic I (or its equivalent) (3 hours)

Middle East Studies Core Courses

Students must complete an additional 6 hours of MEST core courses supervised by faculty participating in the program. Students choosing to take individualized reading or directed research courses as a part of the minor must obtain the approval of the Middle East Studies director and their major adviser.

Total Hours: 18

Requirements for Honors in MEST:

The Honors Program in Middle East Studies gives junior and senior students of high ability the opportunity to enroll in enriched courses and conduct independent research culminating in an honors thesis. In addition to satisfying the general Fulbright College requirements for graduation and the basic eligibility requirements for honors as established by the Honors Council, candidates for honors in Middle East Studies must complete 12 hours of honors credit in partial satisfaction of requirements for the co-major. One to 6 of these hours may be thesis hours (MEST 399V).

The preferred method for satisfying the remaining hours is to enroll in the colloquium at least once for honors credit (MEST 4003H) and to take relevant honors colloquia or graduate courses (with permission) in one of the departments contributing to this interdisciplinary area study. The thesis committee shall include a representative from the major discipline (in the case of multiple majors, from the discipline contributing most significantly to the topic). Successful completion of these requirements will be recognized by the award of the distinction “Middle East Studies Scholar Cum Laude” at graduation. Higher degree distinctions are recommended only in exceptional cases and are based upon the whole of the candidate’s program of honors studies.

Courses

MEST 2003: Introduction to Islam. 3 Hours.
This course introduces Islam as a global religion and world civilization, including study of the Qur'an, prophet Muhammad, ritual and community practices, metaphysics, mysticism, art, literature, and sacred and critical history. (Typically offered: Irregular)

MEST 2003H: Honors Introduction to Islam. 3 Hours.
This course introduces Islam as a global religion and world civilization, including study of the Qur'an, prophet Muhammad, ritual and community practices, metaphysics, mysticism, art, literature, and sacred and critical history. (Typically offered: Irregular)

MEST 2013: Introduction to Middle East Studies. 3 Hours.
This course is designed to provide students with fundamental building blocks for understanding the contemporary Middle East/Islamic World. Students will be introduced to a variety of disciplinary approaches to the study of the geo-cultural region, including history, politics, arts and literature, religions and cultures, social geography, and economics. (Typically offered: Fall)

MEST 3003: Islam: Beliefs and Practices. 3 Hours.
Explores the relationship between teachings, norms, customary practices and Muslim perception of Islam. Examines theoretical concepts and practices, such as war and peace, democracy, pluralism, modernity, human rights, environment, gender, Islamic law, nation-state, and citizenship in addition to the basic tenets of Islam. (Typically offered: Spring)

MEST 3003H: Honors Islam: Beliefs and Practices. 3 Hours.
Explores the relationship between teachings, norms, customary practices and Muslim perception of Islam. Examines theoretical concepts and practices, such as war and peace, democracy, pluralism, modernity, human rights, environment, gender, Islamic law, nation-state, and citizenship in addition to the basic tenets of Islam. Prerequisite: Honors standing. (Typically offered: Spring) This course is equivalent to MEST 3003.

MEST 340V: MEST Independent Study. 1-3 Hour.
An exploration of varied topics related to the Middle East and North Africa studied independently with the supervision of a faculty member. Credit arranged with instructor. Prerequisite: Instructor consent and junior standing (Typically offered: Fall and Spring) May be repeated for up to 9 hours of degree credit.

MEST 340VH: Honors MEST Independent Study. 1-3 Hour.
An exploration of varied topics related to the Middle East and North Africa studied independently with the supervision of a faculty member. Credit arranged with instructor. Prerequisite: Instructor consent, junior standing and honors standing. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring) May be repeated for up to 9 hours of degree credit. This course is equivalent to MEST 340V.

MEST 399V: MEST: Honors Thesis. 1-3 Hour.
Middle East Studies Honors research, readings and thesis. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Irregular)
MEST 4003. Middle East Studies Colloquium. 3 Hours.
An interdepartmental colloquium with an annual change in subject required of all students in the Middle East studies program. Prerequisite: Sophomore standing. (Typically offered: Spring) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

MEST 4003H. Honors Middle East Studies Colloquium. 3 Hours.
Honors colloquium. (Typically offered: Spring) May be repeated for up to 3 hours of degree credit.
This course is equivalent to MEST 4003.

MEST 4103. Special Topics in Middle East Studies. 3 Hours.
Courses in lecture or seminar format to be offered in a variety of disciplines relating to the history, culture, politics, geography, languages, literature, arts, and religions of the Middle East, North Africa, and/or Islamic world. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 12 hours of degree credit.

MEST 420V. Internship. 3-6 Hour.
Internship experience with a group, firm, agency, or non-profit organization related to the Middle East and/or North Africa (MENA). Local, regional, and international internships (paid and unpaid) may take place with various NGOs, related corporations, and US Agencies and Departments. Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

MEST 420VH. Honors Internship. 3-6 Hour.
Internship experience with a group, firm, agency, or non-profit organization related to the Middle East and/or North Africa (MENA). Local, regional, and international internships (paid and unpaid) may take place with various NGOs, related corporations, and US Agencies and Departments. Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing and honors standing. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.
This course is equivalent to MEST 420V.

Music (MUSC)
Ronda Mains
Chair of the Department
201 Music Building
479-575-4701
music@uark.edu

Department of Music Website (https://fulbright.uark.edu/departments/music/)

The Department of Music offers three majors, one music major leading to a Bachelor of Music and a second leading to a Bachelor of Arts, and a third, music education, leading to a Bachelor of Music degree. The department also offers a minor in music. The Bachelor of Music offers a variety of concentrations as well as a program with elective studies in business.

The music department strives to enrich and inspire the human mind and spirit through the pursuit of excellence in creative activity, research, teaching, and service. The Department of Music is an accredited institutional member of the National Association of Schools of Music. The requirements for entrance and for graduation as set forth in this catalog are in accordance with the published regulations of that Association.

General Music Requirements
To achieve junior standing in the curriculum leading to the Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in music and the Bachelor of Music degree, the student must have completed 56 hours and must have maintained a cumulative grade average of “C” in all music courses, with the exception of ensemble, by the end of the fourth semester. The student must also have earned a grade average of not less than “B” in the major applied field of study during the sophomore year. This standing is prerequisite to all 3000-level courses and above in music.

Pursuant to enrolling in applied music courses, all music majors must audition for the music department faculty. Private study of the primary voice/instrument for music majors requires the successful completion of an audition for the instructor and consent of the Department of Music. Music majors are expected to own their own instruments. Some instruments are provided for student use only in certain circumstances and at the discretion of the music department.

All music majors, with exceptions noted below, are required to enroll in MUEN 1411 Men's Chorus I or MUEN 1591 Women's Chorus I during the first year of residence. Exceptions to the requirement would include all students pursuing the Bachelor of Music (B.M.) degree for whom voice or piano is the major applied area.

Piano Proficiency Requirement: Students pursuing a Bachelor of Music degree must pass a piano proficiency examination upon entering the University of Arkansas or must register in piano classes until this requirement is met. Students with previous piano training may take a piano placement exam and be advised to omit one or more semesters of Class Piano (MUAC 1221, MUAC 1231, MUAC 2221). Students will receive college credit for the omitted class piano courses if they validate their higher placement by passing an advanced piano course with a grade of “B” or better.

On the basis of prior study in music, a student may be advised to omit one or more semesters of Aural Perception (MUTH 1621, MUTH 1631, MUTH 2621). Students will receive college credit for the omitted aural perception courses when they have validated their higher placement by passing the course in which they are placed with a grade of “B” or better.

Writing Requirement: Students can meet the Fulbright College writing requirement by submission of a satisfactory term paper for MUED 4112 (music education majors) or MUHS 4253 (all other music majors).

Requirements for a Major in Music leading to a Bachelor of Arts Degree
This program is for undergraduates who wish to major in music as part of a liberal arts program. In addition to the state minimum core (p. 96) and the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences Graduation Requirements (p. 271), the following course requirements must be met.

State Minimum Core Requirements including: 35

Eight-B.A.

Eight-Semester Degree Program

Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) for university requirements of the program, and should consult their music adviser for an eight-semester plan that is specific to their vocal, instrumental or theoretical emphasis area in music. Core requirement hours may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all core requirements are met, students may substitute a three-hour (or more) general elective in place of a core area.

Music B.M., Music Composition Concentration

Eight-Semester Degree Program

Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) for university requirements of the program, and should consult with their music adviser about the requirements in their concentration’s eight-semester plan. Music core requirement hours may vary, based on placement and previous credit granted. If a music core requirement is met without taking a class, students will substitute an elective for the core class.

Music B.M., Guitar Performance Concentration

Eight Semester Degree Program

Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) for university requirements of the program, and should consult with their music adviser about the requirements in their concentration’s eight-semester plan. Music core requirement hours may vary, based on placement and previous credit granted. If a music core requirement is met without taking a class, students will substitute an elective for the core class.

Music B.M., Voice Performance Concentration
Eight Semester Degree Program

Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy [http://catalog.uark.edu/undergraduatecatalog/academicregulations/eightsemesterdegreecompletionpolicy/] for university requirements of the program, and should consult with their music adviser about the requirements in their concentration's eight-semester plan. Music core requirement hours may vary, based on placement and previous credit granted. If a music core requirement is met without taking a class, students will substitute an elective for the core class.

Requirements for a Minor in Music

A minimum of 18 semester hours in music courses to include MLIT 1013, MUTH 1603, MUTH 2603, and either MUHS 3703 or MUHS 3713; other courses to be determined by the student in consultation with a music faculty adviser. The student must notify the Department of Music of his/her intent to minor.

For requirements for advanced degrees in music, see the Graduate School Catalog.

Requirements for Departmental Honors in Music

The Departmental Honors Program in Music provides upper-division undergraduate students an opportunity to participate formally in scholarly, creative, or performance music activities. Honors candidates carry out independent study, research and performance under the guidance of the music faculty and participate in special honors classes and seminars. They must take 12 hours (which may include 6 hours of thesis) in Honors Studies.

Each honors student will be required to select an honors committee. The committee will be comprised of the honors thesis adviser (a Music Department faculty member and major teacher in the area of the honors project), a second faculty member from the Music Department chosen by the student, a member from outside the music department chosen by the student, and a member of the Honors Council appointed by the Honors College. This committee is responsible for hearing and seeing the work of the student in the area of the honors project and will administer the oral examination to the candidate at the end of the last semester of the student's work. The committee then recommends to the Honors Council whether or not the student receives honors in music. Outstanding student achievement will be recognized by awarding the distinction "Music Scholar Cum Laude" at graduation. The award of higher degree distinctions is recommended only in truly exceptional cases and is based upon the whole of the candidate's program of honors studies.

The student may elect to do the honors project in one of six areas: performance, music history and literature, theory, composition, music education, or ethnomusicology. Honors work may be done in an area other than the student's major area that is, a student majoring in voice performance may elect to do honors work in music history, theory, or composition, etc.
If a student wishes to devise his or her own honors project in consultation with a supervising professor and with the permission of the department chair, he or she may be granted honors. If a student wishes to combine work in more than one field and if the committee approves, he or she may be granted honors in more than one area, although the designation on the diploma will read “in music.”

The requirements for work in each area are as follows:

1. Performance
   a. 2 semesters of MUAP 310VH or MUAP 410VH, with concurrent registration in MUAP 3201H and MUAP 4201H
   b. Other music department honors courses are recommended, see honors adviser. (A program file representing the student’s range of performance activities during the junior and senior years will be maintained for the department file and for the Honors Council. Compact discs of the junior and senior recitals will be filed with the Honors Office.)

2. History and Literature
   a. Junior year: MUHS 5973 Seminar in Bibliography and Methods of Research
   b. Senior year: MUSC 490VH Honors Essay

3. Theory
   a. Junior year: MUHS 5973 Seminar in Bibliography and Methods of Research
   b. Senior year: MUSC 490VH Honors Essay

4. Composition
   a. At least six hours of MUTH 364VH Honors Composition III or MUTH 464VH Honors Composition IV
   b. A full program of original compositions or equivalent.

5. Music Education
   a. Junior year: MUED 5513 Seminar: Resources in Music Education
   b. Senior year: MUSC 490VH Honors Essay

6. Ethnomusicology
   a. Junior year: MUHS 5973 Seminar in Bibliography and Methods of Research
   b. Senior year: MUSC 490VH Honors Essay

MUTH 3742. Jazz Arranging. 2 Hours.
This course introduces students to techniques in arranging for small and large jazz ensembles. Students will analyze representative examples of various jazz styles, learn technical features of common jazz instruments, experiment with common approaches to arranging, and write their own arrangements of jazz standards for small ensemble and big band. Prerequisite: MUTH 2603. (Typically offered: Irregular)

MUTH 3923. Music and Mind. 3 Hours.
Examines music from the perspective of cognitive science. Readings and discussions investigate the psychological processes that underlie musical behaviors such as listening and performing while also learning how to adopt empirical methods to study music and make sense of empirical data related to music. Prerequisite: Instructor consent. (Typically offered: Fall)

MUTH 3923H. Honors Music and Mind. 3 Hours.
Examines music from the perspective of cognitive science. Readings and discussions investigate the psychological processes that underlie musical behaviors such as listening and performing while also learning how to adopt empirical methods to study music and make sense of empirical data related to music. (Typically offered: Fall)
This course is equivalent to MUTH 3923.

MUTH 4322. Score Reading. 2 Hours.
A conductor's approach to the technique of score reading and analysis of orchestra, band, and choral scores for the purpose of preparing composition for rehearsal and performance. (Typically offered: Fall)

MUTH 4612. Orchestration. 2 Hours.
A continuation of study of the capabilities of the various orchestral and band instruments and their use in arrangement for ensembles, band, and orchestra. Scoring for orchestra. Prerequisite: MUTH 3613. (Typically offered: Spring)

MUTH 462V. Music Theory Review. 1-3 Hour.
A continuation and intensification of undergraduate music theory. (May not count for credit toward the Master of Music degree.) (Typically offered: Fall)

MUTH 464V. Composition IV. 1-4 Hour.
Continuation of Composition III. Private lessons of one-half hour and one hour of composition laboratory session per credit hour each week. Continued development of advanced skills in creative musical expression. Specifically for composition-theory majors. Others admitted by consent. Prerequisite: Two semesters of MUTH 364V with grades of ‘B’ and recommendation of instructor. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring) May be repeated for up to 8 hours of degree credit.

MUTH 464VH. Honors Composition IV. 1-4 Hour.
Continuation of Composition III. Private lessons of one-half hour and one hour of composition laboratory session per credit hour each week. Continued development of advanced skills in creative musical expression. Specifically for composition-theory majors. Others admitted by consent. Prerequisite: Two semesters of MUTH 364V with grades of B and recommendation of instructor. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring) May be repeated for up to 8 hours of degree credit.

MUTH 4703. Writing Music Analysis. 3 Hours.
Analysis of music with an emphasis on analytical writing skills and the use of library source materials. Prerequisite: MUTH 3603. (Typically offered: Spring)

MUTH 477V. Special Topics in Music Theory. 1-4 Hour.
Subject matter not covered in other courses. Prerequisite: Instructor consent. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 4 hours of degree credit.

MUTH 477VH. Honors Special Topics in Music Theory. 1-4 Hour.
Subject matter not covered in other courses. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 4 hours of degree credit. This course is equivalent to MUTH 477V.

MUTH 4923H. Honors Colloquium in Music Theory. 3 Hours.
Covers a special topic or issue, offered as part of the honors program. (Typically offered: Irregular)

MUTH 498V. Senior Thesis. 1-18 Hour.
Senior Thesis. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)
Music Courses
MUSC 3923H. Honors Colloquium in Music. 3 Hours.
Covers a special topic or issue offered as part of the honors program. Prerequisite: Honors candidacy (not restricted to candidacy in Music). (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 9 hours of degree credit.

MUSC 490VH. Honors Essay. 1-6 Hour.
An honors research paper in Music History or literature, Ethnomusicology, Music Theory, or Music Education. Open to seniors in honors. (Typically offered: Irregular)

Philosophy Department Website (https://fulbright.uark.edu/departments/philosophy/)

The Department of Philosophy offers an undergraduate major in philosophy as well as a combined major in philosophy and African and African American studies, both of which lead to a Bachelor of Arts degree. The department also offers a minor in philosophy.

The problems of philosophy include some of the deepest, most interesting, and most challenging questions that the human mind can raise. What is the difference between appearance and reality? What are the sources and limits of human knowledge? Does God exist? What is the origin of evil? Can computers think or have feelings? Do we have freedom of the will? Why be moral, and how is morality related to law? What is the proper scope of governmental authority? What is scientific explanation and why does it work? How does science differ from art? What is truth? What is the meaning of a word?

Philosophy cannot claim to have discovered fully adequate answers either to these questions or to the other questions that fall within its scope, but it has developed fruitful ways of addressing them, and it has found a number of partial answers that are both useful and exciting. Although the department's bent is generally analytic, our course offerings cover a broad range and include every major period in the history of western philosophy and most of the major subfields of contemporary philosophy. Our areas of special concentration are the philosophy of mind, epistemology, and philosophy of religion.

For requirements for advanced degrees in philosophy, see the Graduate School Catalog (p. 1479).

Requirements for a Major in Philosophy
Students must complete 120 degree credit hours to include the minimum University Core requirements (http://catalog.uark.edu/undergraduatecatalog/academicregulations/universitycore/), the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences Graduation Requirements (p. 271), and following course requirements for the major. Bolded courses from the list below may be applied to portions of the University/state minimum core requirements.

Philosophy B.A.
Eight-Semester Degree Program

The minor requires 18 semester hours in philosophy to include either a minor or a combined major in philosophy but not both. A student must notify the department of his or her intent to minor.

Requirements for Honors in Philosophy: Both the College and the Departmental Honors Program in Philosophy provide undergraduate students with the opportunity to participate formally in scholarly philosophical activities, and allow for greater maturity in dealing with philosophical ideas through independent study. Admission to the Fulbright Honors Program is open to philosophy majors with a minimum, cumulative grade point average of 3.5 in all of their coursework. Honors candidates must complete a minimum of 12 hours of honors courses, which may include up to 6 hours of thesis. Honors candidates carry out independent study and research under the guidance of the philosophy faculty and participate in special honors classes, seminars, and colloquia. To successfully complete the required thesis, students should choose an honors thesis adviser as early as possible. An adviser should be selected, and an Honors Agreement completed, no later than the first semester in a student's junior year.

Honors candidates must meet the college's requirements for an honors degree. Students graduating with honors typically graduate with the distinction “Philosophy Scholar Cum Laude” at graduation. Higher degree distinctions (magna cum laude, summa cum laude) are awarded by the Honors Council, are recommended only in truly exceptional cases, and are based upon the whole of the candidate's program of honors studies.

PHIL 390V. Readings. 1-6 Hour.
Readings on topics of research interested or those not typically offered in regular classes, by arrangement with Professor. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 12 hours of degree credit.

PHIL 3923H. Honors Colloquium. 3 Hours.
Treats a special topic of issue offered as part of the honors program. Prerequisite: seniors candidacy (not restricted to candidacy in philosophy). (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for degree credit.

PHIL 3934. Philosophy and Physics. 3 Hours.
Examination of the metaphysical and epistemological implications of specific physical theories with an emphasis on twentieth-century physics. Topics covered may include the nature of space and time (particularly as described in relativity theory), the nature of the quantum mechanical world, and the temporal asymmetries found in thermodynamics and other areas of physics. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PHIL 399VH. Honors Course. 1-6 Hour.
Honors course. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 12 hours of degree credit.

PHIL 4003. Ancient Greek Philosophy. 3 Hours.
Pre-Socratics, Socrates, Plato, and Aristotle. Prerequisite: 3 hours of philosophy. (Typically offered: Fall)

PHIL 4013. Platonism and Origin of Christian Theology. 3 Hours.
The study of Plato, Middle Platonism, and Neoplatonism, including Philo, Plotinus, and Proclus, and the influence of Platonism on the Greek church fathers of the 2nd-5th centuries, principally Origen and Gregory of Nyssa and also Pseudo-Dionysius. Prerequisite: 3 hours of philosophy. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PHIL 4023. Medieval Philosophy. 3 Hours.
Includes Augustine, Bonaventure, Aquinas, Scotus, and Ockham. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PHIL 4033. Modern Philosophy-17th and 18th Centuries. 3 Hours.
British and Continental philosophy, including Bacon, Descartes, Spinoza, Leibniz, Hobbes, Locke, Berkeley, Hume, and Kant. (Typically offered: Spring)
PHIL 4043. Nineteenth Century Continental Philosophy. 3 Hours.
Study of major Continental European philosophers of the 19th century including Hegel, Marx, Kierkegaard, Schopenhauer, Nietzsche. Emphasis on the nature of persons, the question of freedom, and the importance of self-expression, as well as views on knowledge, reality, and the nature of philosophy. Prerequisite: 3 hours of Philosophy. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PHIL 4063. Twentieth Century Continental Philosophy. 3 Hours.
Study of major figures (e.g. Husserl, Heidegger, Sartre, Foucault, Derrida) and trends (phenomenology, existentialism, hermeneutics, critical theory, deconstruction) in 20th century French and German thought. Topics include human beings and their place in the world, the role of history and culture, and the possibility of critical reflection. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PHIL 4073. History of Analytic Philosophy. 3 Hours.
From Frege to recent figures, including Russell, Moore, Wittgenstein, Schlick, Carnap, Ayer, Ryle, Strawson, Quine, including a representative sample of works on the logical analysis of language, logical positivism, and ordinary language analysis. Prerequisite: 3 hours of philosophy. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PHIL 4093. Special Topics in Philosophy. 3 Hours.
This course will cover subject matter not covered in regularly offered courses. Course cannot be repeated when the topic is the same as one in which the student is previously enrolled. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for degree credit.

PHIL 4103. Modern Jewish Thought. 3 Hours.
A survey of the main trends in Jewish thought from the seventeenth through the nineteenth century. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PHIL 4113. Social and Political Philosophy. 3 Hours.
Selected philosophical theories of society, the state, social justice, and their connections with individuals. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PHIL 4123. Classical Ethical Theory. 3 Hours.
Study of classical texts in the history of philosophical ethics from Plato to Nietzsche. Philosophers covered may include Plato, Aristotle, Butler, Hume, Kant, and Mill. Prerequisite: 3 hours of philosophy. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PHIL 4133. Contemporary Ethical Theory. 3 Hours.
A study of contemporary texts in philosophical ethics from G.E. Moore to the present. Philosophers covered may include Moore, Stevenson, Hare, Foot, and Rawls. Prerequisite: 3 hours of philosophy. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PHIL 4143. Philosophy of Law. 3 Hours.
A philosophical consideration of the nature of law, theory of adjudication, concepts of legal responsibility, liberty and the limits of law, and selected moral-legal issues (abortion, affirmative action, punishment, etc.). (Typically offered: Irregular)

PHIL 4183. Kant's Critique of Pure Reason. 3 Hours.
In his Critique of Pure Reason, one of the most important works in the history of philosophy, Kant describes how the mind works and claims to solve the major problems of metaphysics. The course is aimed at coming to a basic understanding of Kant's thought and at thinking critically about his claims. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PHIL 4203. Theory of Knowledge. 3 Hours.
An examination of skepticism, the nature and structures of knowledge and epistemic justification, human rationality, and the justification of religious belief. Prerequisite: 3 hours of philosophy. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PHIL 4213. Philosophy of Science. 3 Hours.
Examination of issues related to scientific explanation, empirical foundations of science, observation and objectivity, nature of laws and theories, realism and instrumentalism, induction and confirmation, models, causation, and simplicity, beginning with historical survey set in the context of the history of science but emphasizing works from the 1930s to the current period, often including issues in recent physics. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PHIL 4233. Philosophy of Language. 3 Hours.
A survey of mainstream philosophical theories of meaning, reference, truth, and logical form. Attention given to the views of such figures as Frege, Russell, Tarski, Seeane, Dumett, and the advocates of possible world's semantics. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PHIL 4253. Symbolic Logic I. 3 Hours.
Rigorous analyses of the concepts of proof, consistency, equivalence, validity, implication, and truth. Full coverage of truth-functional logic and quantification theory (predicate calculus). Discussion of the nature and limits of mechanical procedures (algorithms) for proving theorems in logic and mathematics. Informal accounts of the basic facts about infinite sets. Prerequisite: PHIL 2203 or MATH 2603. (Typically offered: Fall)

PHIL 4303. Philosophy of Religion. 3 Hours.
Types of religious belief and critical examination of their possible validity, including traditional arguments and contemporary questions of meaning. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PHIL 4313. Contemporary Jewish Thought. 3 Hours.
A survey of trends in Jewish thought in the twentieth and twenty-first centuries, focusing on the ways in which Jewish thinkers have responded to the events affecting Jews and the conditions of Jewish life from approximately 1900 to the present. (Typically offered: Irregular)

This course is cross-listed with JWST 4013.

PHIL 4403. Philosophy of Art. 3 Hours.
Varieties of truth and value in the arts and aesthetic experience, focusing on the creative process in the art and in other human activities. (Typically offered: Spring)

PHIL 4423. Philosophy of Mind. 3 Hours.
An examination of such topics as the relationship between mind and body, the mentality of machines, knowledge of other minds, the nature of psychological explanation, the relationships between psychology and the other sciences, mental representation, the nature of the self, and free will and determinism. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PHIL 4603. Metaphysics. 3 Hours.
Theory and critical analysis of such basic metaphysical problems as mind and body, universals and particulars, space and time, determinism and free will, self-identity and individualism, with emphasis on contemporary perspectives. Prerequisite: 3 hours of philosophy. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PHIL 4983. Capstone Course for Philosophy Majors. 3 Hours.
An undergraduate seminar to be taken in the student's final spring semester. The content will vary with the instructor. The objective is for the student to sharpen his or her philosophical skills by, e.g., writing short papers, giving class presentations, and writing a substantial final essay. Prerequisite: 21 hours of philosophy. (Typically offered: Spring)

Department of Physics Website (https://fulbright.uark.edu/departments/physics/)

The Department of Physics offers two undergraduate majors, one leading to a Bachelor of Science degree in physics and a second leading to a Bachelor of Arts degree in physics.
Physicists ask questions and try to find answers to almost everything. If you have wondered about rainbows, thunderstorms, why stars shine, the colors of beetles, why curve balls curve, how the universe began, or how quarks and leptons interact — if you like to explore and figure out why things are the way they are — you might want to become a physicist.

The Bachelor of Science degree program is designed for students interested in professional employment or who want to pursue graduate work in physics or closely related fields such as astronomy, engineering, laser technology, or computational science. It offers the option of one of seven concentrations.

The Bachelor of Arts degree program provides a broad background in the physics and technology of today and tomorrow. Training in physics provides students with a unique background, the usefulness of which transcends the boundaries of the professional disciplines.

In our increasingly technological society, scientific literacy is ever more important for the successful employee. Physics, the most fundamental science, gives students the fascination of studying the deepest principles of the universe while preparing them for a wide range of practical employment.

For information on advanced degrees in physics, see the Graduate School Catalog (p. 1482).

1 Majors must propose participation in a research experience project no later than the end of their junior year of study. A written report of the results must be submitted during Senior Seminar (PHYS 4991).

2 CSCE 3513, CSCE 4423, MEEG 2703, or GEOS 4223 can be substituted for MATH 3083 with the adviser’s approval.

Writing Requirement: Students majoring in physics may satisfy the Fulbright College writing requirement by means of a senior thesis (PHYS 498V), an honors thesis submitted in fulfillment of the requirements of the honors program ( ), or by means of a paper submitted as part of PHYS 4991 or any physics or astronomy course numbered 3000 or above. Students electing the last route must obtain approval of the instructor during the first three weeks of the semester. The research/analytical paper should demonstrate competency in the use of word processing software and also at least one computer analytical tool such as a spreadsheet, mathematical or graphics program, or an original program written by the student.

Assessment of Student Learning: In accordance with state, University, and college requirements, all students must have learning assessed before graduation. Students majoring in physics will be assessed in the course PHYS 4991, which must be taken in the year prior to graduation.

Eight-Semester Degree Program

Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) in the Academic Regulations chapter for university requirements of the program as well as Fulbright College requirements.

University/state minimum core requirements may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all core requirements are met, students may substitute with general electives. Students should consult with their academic advisor.

1 Meets 40-hour advanced credit hour requirement. See College Academic Regulations.

2 Meets 24-hour rule (24 hours of 3000-4000 level courses in Fulbright College), in addition to meeting the 40-hour rule. See College Academic Regulations.

3 Any PHYS or ASTR classes numbered 3000 or above.

Requirement for B.S. Degree with a Major in Physics

University and College Requirements for a Bachelor of Science in Physics: In addition to the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences Graduation Requirements (see under Degree Completion Program Policy), the following course requirements must be met. Bolded courses from the course list below may be applied to portions of the University/state minimum core (http://catalog.uark.edu/undergraduatecatalog/academicregulations/universitycore/requirements).

GEOS 1133 Earth Science (ACTS Equivalency = GEOL 1124 & GEOS 1131L Lecture) and Earth Science Laboratory (ACTS Equivalency = GEOL 1124 Lab)

Concentration Requirements 16-24
Physics B.S. majors must complete all the requirements for one of seven available concentration areas. All concentrations consist of 16 credit hours with the exception of the Geophysics concentration, which requires 24.

University Residency Requirement Electives (See Degree Completion Program Policy) 1
General Electives 11-19
Total Hours 120

1 Majors must propose participation in a research experience project no later than the end of their junior year of study. A written report of the results must be submitted during Senior Seminar (PHYS 4991).

2 CSCE 3513, CSCE 4423, MEEG 2703, or GEOS 4223 can be substituted for MATH 3083 with the adviser’s approval.

GEOS 1113 Physical Geology (ACTS Equivalency = GEOL 1114 Lecture) and Physical Geology Laboratory (ACTS Equivalency = GEOL 1114 Lab) 4
GEOS 2313 Mineralogy 3
GEOS 3413 Sedimentary Geology 3
GEOS 3514 Structural Geology 4
GEOS 4223 Stratigraphy and Sedimentation 3
GEOS 4924 Earth System History (ACTS Equivalency = PHSC 1104) 4

Completion of GEOG 3383 Principles of Landscape Evolution and GEOL 4666 Geology Field Camp in addition to the stated requirements for a physics-geophysics major will enable a student to complete the requirements for a double major in physics and geology.

Total Hours 24

Writing Requirement: Students majoring in physics may satisfy the Fulbright College writing requirement by means of a senior thesis (PHYS 498V), an honors thesis submitted in fulfillment of the requirements of the honors program 1, or by means of a paper submitted as part of PHYS 4991 or any physics or astronomy course numbered 3000 or above. Students electing the last route must obtain approval of the instructor during the first three weeks of the semester. The research/analytical paper should demonstrate competency in the use of word processing software and also at least one computer analytical tool such as a spreadsheet, mathematical or graphics program, or an original program written by the student.

Assessment of Student Learning: In accordance with state, University, and college requirements, all students must have learning assessed before graduation. Students majoring in physics will be assessed in the course PHYS 4991, which must be taken in the year prior to graduation.

Physics B.S. Geophysics Concentration
Eight-Semester Degree Program
Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy in the Academic Regulations chapter for university requirements of the program as well as Fulbright College requirements.

Core requirement hours may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all core requirements are met, students may substitute a three-hour (or more) general elective in place of a core area. Students should consult their advisers.

Requirement for B.S. Degree with a Major in Physics

University and College Requirements for a Bachelor of Science in Physics: In addition to the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences Graduation Requirements (see under Degree Completion Program Policy), the following course requirements must be met. Bolded courses from the course list below may be applied to portions of the University/state minimum core (http://catalog.uark.edu/undergraduatecatalog/academicregulations/universitycore/requirements).

Total Hours 16

Writing Requirement: Students majoring in physics may satisfy the Fulbright College writing requirement by means of a senior thesis (PHYS 498V), an honors thesis submitted in fulfillment of the requirements of the honors program ( ), or by means of a paper submitted as part of PHYS 4991 or any physics or astronomy course numbered 3000 or above. Students electing the last route must obtain approval of the instructor during the first three weeks of the semester. The research/analytical paper should demonstrate competency in the use of word processing software and also at least one computer analytical tool such as a spreadsheet, mathematical or graphics program, or an original program written by the student.

Assessment of Student Learning: In accordance with state, University, and college requirements, all students must have learning assessed before graduation. Students majoring in physics will be assessed in the course PHYS 4991, which must be taken in the year prior to graduation.

Physics B.S. with Professional Concentration

Eight-Semester Degree Program

Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) in the Academic Regulations chapter for university requirements of the program as well as Fulbright College requirements.

University/state minimum core requirements may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all core requirements are met, students may substitute with general electives. Students should consult with their academic advisors.

Requirements for a B.A. Degree with a Major in Physics:

This track is for students desiring a broader program in the arts, sciences, and social sciences while majoring in physics. This program is recommended for pre-medical, journalism, pre-business, pre-law and other students planning careers in fields for which a physics education would be beneficial. For B.A. students seeking teaching licensure, see the Teacher Licensure Requirements below. This program requires a total of 120 semester hours. The student must present 24 semester hours in physics or astronomy, including:

- PHYS 2013 College Physics I (ACTS Equivalency = PHYS 2014 Lecture)
- PHYS 2011L College Physics I Laboratory (ACTS Equivalency = PHYS 2014 Lab)
- PHYS 2033 College Physics II (ACTS Equivalency = PHYS 2024 Lecture)
- PHYS 2031L College Physics II Laboratory (ACTS Equivalency = PHYS 2024 Lab)
- PHYS 3603 Introduction to Modern Physics
- PHYS 360VL Modern Physics Laboratory
- PHYS 4991 Physics Senior Seminar

Eleven semester hours chosen from any physics or astronomy courses at the 3000 level or above.

The student must also present:

- MATH 1284C Precalculus Mathematics (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 1305)
- or MATH 1203 College Algebra (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 1103)
- or MATH 1213 Plane Trigonometry (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 1203)
- MATH 2554 Calculus I (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 2405)
- or MATH 2043 Survey of Calculus (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 2203)

and two additional courses at the 2000 level or above in mathematics, or statistics

An additional 9 semester hours at the 3000-level or above must be taken from a single special emphasis area chosen with the adviser’s approval. The special emphasis area may be chosen in any single degree-granting department at the University of Arkansas. For B.A. students seeking teacher licensure, the special emphasis area may involve courses from more than one degree-granting department at the University of Arkansas with the approval of their adviser.

Total Hours: 47-51

Writing Requirement: Students majoring in physics may satisfy the Fulbright College writing requirement by means of a senior thesis (PHYS 498V), an honors thesis submitted in fulfillment of the requirements of the honors program ( ), or by means of a paper submitted as part of PHYS 4991 or any physics or astronomy course numbered 3000 or above. Students electing the last route must obtain approval of the instructor during the first three weeks of the semester. The research/analytical paper should demonstrate competency in the use of word processing software and also at least one computer analytical tool such as a spreadsheet, mathematical or graphics program, or an original program written by the student.

Assessment of Student Learning: In accordance with state, University, and college requirements, all students must have learning assessed before graduation. Students majoring in physics will be assessed in the course PHYS 4991, which must be taken in the year prior to graduation.

Physics B.A. Eight-Semester Degree Program

Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) in the Academic Regulations chapter for university requirements of the program as well as the Fulbright College requirements. Core requirement hours may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all core requirements are met, students may substitute a three-hour (or more) general elective in place of a core area.

The Physics B.A. program includes requirements for a special emphasis area. In this case, journalism was used as an example. Journalism courses indicated below are recommended by the Department of Journalism as the foundation needed for science reporting. It is recommended that the free electives be chosen in a second science, or in journalism.

Requirements for the bachelor's degree with honors, an honors candidate program of honors studies. In addition to satisfying the general college exception, the honors program provides upper-division undergraduate students with an opportunity to formally participate in scholarly physics activities. Honors candidates carry out independent study and research under the guidance of the physics faculty and participate in special honors classes, seminars, and colloquia. Outstanding student achievement will be recognized by awarding the distinction “Physics Scholar Cum Laude” at graduation. Higher degree distinctions are recommended only in truly exceptional cases and are based upon the whole of the candidate’s program of honors studies. In addition to satisfying the general college requirements for the bachelor's degree with honors, an honors candidate in physics must

1. Become a candidate no later than the first semester of the junior year of study.
2. Enroll in honors sections of physics courses when available.
3. Complete a minimum of 12 hours of honors coursework to include:
   - Six hours of honors research PHYS 399VH and
   - Three hours of physics honors colloquium PHYS 3923H.
4. Complete and orally defend an honors thesis based upon the project carried out in PHYS 399VH.
5. Achieve a cumulative grade-point average of 3.125 in physics, and
6. Maintain a 3.50 grade-point average overall.

Physics (B.A. or B.S.) Physical Science Teacher Licensure Requirements:

Please refer to the Secondary Education Requirements (p. 274) for Fulbright College Students. Students wishing to pursue licensure through the UAteach undergraduate curriculum should consult with a UAteach adviser, uteach@uark.edu.

Students wanting to teach science in middle school should consult with a middle level adviser in the College of Education and Health Professions.

Astronomy Courses

ASTR 2001L. Survey of the Universe Laboratory (ACTS Equivalency = PHSC 1204 Lab). 1 Hour.
Daytime and nighttime observing with telescopes and indoor exercises on selected topics. Pre- or Corequisite: ASTR 2003. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

ASTR 2001M. Honors Survey of the Universe Laboratory. 1 Hour.
An introduction to the content and fundamental properties of the cosmos. Topics include planets and other objects of the solar system, the sun, normal stars and interstellar medium, birth and death of stars, neutron stars, and black holes. Pre- or Corequisite: ASTR 2003 or ASTR 2003H. (Typically offered: Fall)
This course is equivalent to ASTR 2001L.

An introduction to the content and fundamental properties of the cosmos. Topics include planets and other objects of the solar system, the Sun, normal stars and interstellar medium, birth and death of stars, neutron stars, pulsars, black holes, the Galaxy, clusters of galaxies, and cosmology. Corequisite: ASTR 2001L or ASTR 2001M. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

ASTR 2003H. Honors Survey of the Universe. 3 Hours.
An introduction to the content and fundamental properties of the cosmos. Topics include planets and other objects of the solar system, the Sun, normal stars and interstellar medium, birth and death of stars, neutron stars, pulsars, black holes, the Galaxy, clusters of galaxies, and cosmology. Corequisite: ASTR 2001L or ASTR 2001M. (Typically offered: Fall)
This course is equivalent to ASTR 2003.

ASTR 4033. Astrophysics I: Stars and Planetary Systems. 3 Hours.
An introduction to astrophysics covering stellar structure and evolution, the properties of the solar system, and extrasolar planetary systems. Prerequisite: PHYS 3613 or CHEM 3504. (Typically offered: Fall Odd Years)

ASTR 4043. Astrophysics II: Galaxies and the Large-Scale Universe. 3 Hours.
An introduction to astrophysics covering the interstellar medium, the Milky Way galaxy, extragalactic astronomy, and introduction to cosmology. Prerequisite: ASTR 4033. (Typically offered: Spring Even Years)

ASTR 4073. Cosmology. 3 Hours.
An introduction to modern Big Bang cosmology. The course covers the origin, evolution, and structure of the Universe, based on the Theory of Relativity. Prerequisite: PHYS 3613 or CHEM 3504. (Typically offered: Spring Odd Years)

ASTR 4083. Data Analysis and Computing in Astronomy. 3 Hours.
Study of the statistical analysis of large data sets that are prevalent in the physical sciences with an emphasis on astronomical data and problems. Includes computational lab 1 hour per week. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: PHYS 3613. (Typically offered: Fall Even Years)

Physics Courses

PHYS 1021L. Physics and Human Affairs Laboratory. 1 Hour.
Laboratory 2 hours per week. Pre- or Corequisite: PHYS 1023. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

PHYS 1021M. Honors Physics and Human Affairs Laboratory. 1 Hour.
Laboratory 2 hours per week. Pre- or Corequisite: PHYS 1023H. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)
This course is equivalent to PHYS 1021L.

PHYS 1023. Physics and Human Affairs. 3 Hours.
The great ideas of physics, together with their philosophical and social impact. Scientific topics include cosmology, relativity, quantum mechanics. Philosophical and social topics include methods and values of science, problems related to energy sources, and implications of modern weapons. Designed for non-science majors. Along with PHYS 1021L, can be used to satisfy a 4-year physical science requirement for a B.A. degree. Students who have received credit in PHYS 2013 and PHYS 2033, or PHYS 2054 and PHYS 2074 cannot also receive degree credit in this course. Corequisite: PHYS 1021L. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

PHYS 1023H. Honors Physics and Human Affairs. 3 Hours.
The great ideas of physics, together with their philosophical and social impact. Scientific topics include cosmology, relativity, quantum mechanics. Philosophical and social topics include methods and values of science, problems related to energy sources, and implications of modern weapons. Designed for non-science majors. Along with PHYS 1021L, can be used to satisfy a 4-year physical science requirement for a B.A. degree. Students who have received credit in PHYS 2013 and PHYS 2033, or PHYS 2054 and PHYS 2074 cannot also receive degree credit in this course. Corequisite: PHYS 1021M. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

PHYS 1034. Physics for Elementary Education Majors. 4 Hours.
For elementary education majors. Physical science concepts based on state frameworks are explored in a mixed lecture/lab environment. The inquiry-based lab activities can be transferable for school classroom use. Topics covered include: scientific inquiry, motion and forces, conservation of energy, heat, light, electricity and simple circuits, and magnetism. Prerequisite: Elementary education major. Corequisite: Lab component. (Typically offered: Spring)

PHYS 1044. Physics for Architects I. 4 Hours.
The relation between the principles of physics and the practice of building and operating structures. Topics include: The behavior of structures under various loads, the statics and dynamics of fluids, thermal storage, thermal expansion, the greenhouse effect, heat transfer, refrigeration, the energy problem, efficiency in the operation of buildings. One underlying theme is that the self-sufficiency of a building is an important part of architecture. Lecture 3 hours, laboratory 2 hours per week. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: Major in architecture or interior design or agricultural education communication & technology. (Typically offered: Fall)
PHYS 1054. Physics for Architects II. 4 Hours.
Acoustics, electricity and magnetism, light, and environmental physics. Topics include resonance, acoustical isolation, interference, reverberation time, electrical circuitry with emphasis on power and efficiency, electrical storage, light sources, reflection, refraction, absorption, transmission, color, astronomy (to give perspective to the use of sunlight in architecture), heat, noise, and radioactivity pollution. Lecture 3 hours, laboratory 2 hours per week. Corequisite: PHYS 1044. Prerequisite: PHYS 1044. (Typically offered: Spring)

PHYS 2011L. College Physics I Laboratory (ACTS Equivalency = PHYS 2014 Lab). 1 Hour.
Laboratory 2 hours per week. Corequisite: PHYS 2013. (Typically offered: Fall and Summer)

A non-calculus survey of the principles of physics including mechanics, heat and sound. Lecture 3 hours per week and drill 1 hour per week. Corequisite: Drill component and PHYS 2011L. Prerequisite: (MATH 1203 and MATH 1213) or (MATH 1284C or MATH 2043 or MATH 2554) or a score of at least 26 on the math component of the ACT exam, or a score of at least 600 on the math component of the old SAT, or 620 on the math component of the new SAT. (Typically offered: Fall and Summer)

PHYS 2031L. College Physics II Laboratory (ACTS Equivalency = PHYS 2024 Lab). 1 Hour.
Laboratory 2 hours per week. Corequisite: PHYS 2033. (Typically offered: Summer)

PHYS 2033. College Physics II (ACTS Equivalency = PHYS 2024 Lecture). 3 Hours.
Continuation of PHYS 2013. Topics include electricity and magnetism, light, relativity, quantum mechanics, atomic and nuclear structure. Lecture 3 hours, drill 1 hour per week. Corequisite: Drill component and PHYS 2031L. Prerequisite: PHYS 2013 or PHYS 2054. (Typically offered: Spring and Summer)

PHYS 2054. University Physics I (ACTS Equivalency = PHYS 2034). 4 Hours.
Introduction to the principles of mechanics, wave motion, temperature and heat, with calculus. Lecture three hours per week and practicum two hours a week (included in lab component). Pre- or Corequisite: MATH 2554. Corequisite: Lab component. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

PHYS 2054H. Honors University Physics I. 4 Hours.
Introduction to the principles of mechanics, wave motion, temperature and heat, with calculus. Lecture three hours per week and practicum two hours a week (included in lab component). Pre- or Corequisite: MATH 2554. Corequisite: Lab component. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

This course is equivalent to PHYS 2054.

PHYS 2074. University Physics II (ACTS Equivalency = PHYS 2044 Lecture). 4 Hours.
Continuation of PHYS 2054. Topics covered include electricity, magnetism, light and geometric optics. Lecture three hours per week and practicum two hours per week. Pre- or Corequisite: MATH 2564. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: PHYS 2054. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

PHYS 2074H. Honors University Physics II. 4 Hours.
Continuation of PHYS 2054H. Topics covered include electricity, magnetism, light and geometric optics. Lecture three hours per week and practicum two hours per week. Pre- or Corequisite: MATH 2564. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: PHYS 2054 or PHYS 2054H. (Typically offered: Spring)

This course is equivalent to PHYS 2074.

PHYS 2094. University Physics III. 4 Hours.
A continuation of PHYS 2054 and PHYS 2074. Topics include waves, physical optics, thermodynamics, kinetic theory, and an introduction to quantum mechanics. Lecture 3 hours per week and practicum 2 hours per week (included in lab component). Pre- or Corequisite: MATH 2574. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: PHYS 2074. (Typically offered: Fall)

PHYS 306V. Projects. 1-3 Hour.
Individual experimental or theoretical research problems for advanced undergraduates. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 3 hours of degree credit.

PHYS 3113. Analytical Mechanics. 3 Hours.
Newton’s laws of motion applied to particles, systems of particles, and rigid bodies. Introduction to Hamilton’s and Lagrange’s equations. Pre- or Corequisite: MATH 2584. (Typically offered: Fall)

PHYS 3213. Electronics in Experimental Physics. 3 Hours.
DC & AC electronics, semiconductors, operational amplifiers, and digital logic circuits with lab applications in experimental physics. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: PHYS 2094 or instructor consent. (Typically offered: Spring Odd Years)

PHYS 3273. UAteach Research Methods. 3 Hours.
A project-based course for prospective science and mathematics teachers utilizing scientific research methods and inquiry to solve research problems. Corequisite: Drill component. Prerequisite: ARSC 1201 and ARSC 1221. (Typically offered: Spring) This course is cross-listed with CHEM 3273, BIOL 3273.

PHYS 3273H. Honors UAteach Research Methods. 3 Hours.
A project-based course for prospective science and mathematics teachers utilizing scientific research methods and inquiry to solve research problems. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: ARSC 1201 and ARSC 1221, junior standing and honors. (Typically offered: Spring)

This course is cross-listed with PHYS 3273, CHEM 3273, BIOL 3273.

PHYS 3453. Electromagnetic Theory I. 3 Hours.
Basics of Electromagnetic Theory, focusing on statics and introducing Maxwell’s equations. Topics covered are: vector calculus and the solution of partial differential equations by separation of variables, electrostatics, dielectric media, electric currents, magnetic fields, magnetic properties of matter, electromagnetic induction, force and energy in electrodynamics, and Maxwell’s equations. (Typically offered: Spring)

PHYS 3463. Electromagnetic Theory II. 3 Hours.
Basics of Electromagnetic Theory, focusing on dynamical aspects. Topics to be covered include: Time-varying electric and magnetic fields including propagation of electromagnetic plane waves in vacuum and in matter, reflection, refraction, and guided wave propagation, radiation from point charges and dipoles, and relativity and the relativistic formulation of electrodynamics. (Typically offered: Fall)

PHYS 3544. Optics. 4 Hours.
Elements of geometrical, physical, and quantum optics. Lecture 3 hours, laboratory 2 hours. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: PHYS 2074 and MATH 2564. (Typically offered: Fall)

PHYS 3603. Introduction to Modern Physics. 3 Hours.
An introduction to the basic ideas of 20th century physics, with an emphasis on those that form the foundations of modern technology: quantum theory and its application to atomic, nuclear, optical and condensed matter physics. No credit is given toward a B.S. degree in physics. Prerequisite: PHYS 2033 and MATH 2043 or MATH 2554. (Typically offered: Fall)

PHYS 360VL. Modern Physics Laboratory. 1-3 Hour.
Experiments illustrating the development and concepts of modern physics. No credit given toward a B.S. major in physics. Prerequisite: PHYS 3603. (Typically offered: Fall)
PHYS 3613. Modern Physics. 3 Hours.
Introduction to special relativity, statistical physics, quantum physics, and a survey of molecules, solids, and statistical physics. Prerequisite: PHYS 2074. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

PHYS 361VL. Modern Physics Laboratory. 1-3 Hour.
Advanced experiments, projects, and techniques in atomic, nuclear, and solid state physics. Pre- or corequisite: PHYS 3613. (Typically offered: Fall) May be repeated for up to 3 hours of degree credit.

PHYS 3923H. Honors Colloquium. 3 Hours.
Covers a special topic or issue, offered as part of the honors program. No more than 3 hours may be offered toward fulfillment of the requirements for the B.S. or B.A. degree in Physics. Prerequisite: Honors candidacy (not restricted to candidacy in physics). (Typically offered: Spring) May be repeated for degree credit.

PHYS 399VH. Honors. 1-6 Hour.
Independent study for physics students enrolled in the honors program. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

PHYS 400V. Laboratory and Classroom Practices in Physics. 1-3 Hour.
The pedagogy of curricular materials. Laboratory and demonstration techniques illustrating fundamental concepts acquired through participation in the classroom as an apprentice teacher. Prerequisite: PHYS 3113. (Typically offered: Fall and Summer)

PHYS 4073. Introduction to Quantum Mechanics. 3 Hours.
A survey of quantum mechanics from the wave mechanical point of view including the application of quantum mechanics to the simple harmonic oscillator, angular momentum, and the hydrogen atom. Required course for B.S. Physics majors. Prerequisite: PHYS 3613, MATH 2574, and MATH 2584. (Typically offered: Fall)

PHYS 4083. Advanced Quantum Mechanics. 3 Hours.
Advanced topics in introductory quantum mechanics including identical particles, approximation methods; time-independent perturbations theory, variational principle, time-dependent perturbations theory, and scattering. Prerequisite: PHYS 4073, MATH 2574, and MATH 2584. (Typically offered: Spring)

PHYS 4113. Physics in Perspective. 3 Hours.
Human implications of physics, including life's place in the universe, the methods of science, human sense perceptions, energy utilization, social impacts of technology, and the effect of physics on modern world views. Credit allowed for only one of PHYS 4113 or PHYS 4103. Prerequisite: PHYS 3613. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PHYS 4213. Physics of Devices. 3 Hours.
Principles of physics applied in a selection of technologically important devices in areas including computing, communications, medical imaging, lasers, and energy utilization. Students will utilize technical journals. Credit allowed for only one of PHYS 4203 or PHYS 4213. Prerequisite: PHYS 3613. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PHYS 4333. Thermal Physics. 3 Hours.
Equilibrium thermodynamics, statistical physics, and kinetic energy. Prerequisite: PHYS 3613. (Typically offered: Spring)

PHYS 4613. Introduction to Biophysics and Biophysical Techniques. 3 Hours.
Origins of biophysics, biological polymers and polymer physics, properties of DNA and proteins, techniques to study DNA and proteins, biological membrane and ion channels, biological energy, experimental techniques to study single DNA and proteins. Two experiments are included: (1) DNA Gel electrophoresis; (2) Measurement of double-stranded DNA melting point. Prerequisite: PHYS 3613 and PHYS 4333, or consent. (Typically offered: Spring)

PHYS 4653. Subatomic Physics. 3 Hours.
Nuclear structure and nuclear reactions. Nature and properties of elementary particles and resonances, their interactions and decays. Phenomenological theory and discussion of experimental evidence. Prerequisite: PHYS 3613. (Typically offered: Fall Odd Years) foreign aid/development agencies, and domestic political careers like consulting, research, polling, and policy/campaign staff.

For requirements for the M.A. degree in political science, the M.P.A degree, or the dual J.D./M.A. and J.D./M.P.A. degrees, see the Graduate School Catalog.

University and College Requirements for a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science: In addition to the state minimum core (p. 96) and the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences Graduation Requirements (see under Degree Completion Program Policy), the following course requirements must be met.

State minimum core

21 credit hours in political science (PLSC) courses numbered 3000-level or higher. No more than 9 credit hours may come from PLSC 300V, PLSC 394V, PLSC 498V, or PLSC 499VH.

Students must satisfy either Requirement A or Requirement B from below.

Requirement A

Completion of a world language course up to the Intermediate II level. 1

Requirement B

PHIL 2003 Introduction to Philosophy (ACTS Equivalency = PHIL 1103) 2

or PHIL 220: Logic (ACTS Equivalency = PHIL 1003)

STAT 2303 Principles of Statistics (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 2103)

or WCOB 103: Data Analysis and Interpretation

MATH 2033 Mathematical Thought

or MATH 20: Survey of Calculus (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 2203)

or MATH 21: Mathematical Reasoning in a Quantitative World or MATH 25: Calculus I (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 2405)

PLSC 3603 Scope and Methods of Political Science

Any Fulbright College credit hours 3000-level or higher 3

Any UA offered credit hours 3000-level or higher 6

Any 3000-level or higher credit hours or any 2000-level credit hours which have a course prerequisite 10

General Electives 24

Total Hours 120

1 Students pursuing Requirement A must complete a different Humanities state minimum core (p. 96) course in addition to the Intermediate I level course of a world language, which otherwise would normally count toward this requirement.

2 Students pursuing Requirement B must complete a different Humanities state minimum core (p. 96) course in addition to either PHIL 2003 or PHIL 2203, which otherwise would normally count toward this requirement.

Writing Requirement: The college writing requirement is fulfilled by submitting an acceptable research/analytical paper to the department for approval at least four weeks prior to graduation. The paper may be derived from completion of an honors essay (PLSC 499VH), a senior thesis (PLSC 498V), or some other advanced course in political science. The student is urged to consult with his or her faculty adviser no later than early in the first semester of the senior year.

Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) in the Academic Regulations chapter for university requirements of the program as well as Fulbright College requirements.

State minimum core (p. 96) requirements may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all core requirements are met, students may substitute with general electives. Students should consult with their academic advisor.

Requirements for the Combined Major in Journalism and Political Science

All university students must fulfill the minimum University Core requirements (http://catalog.uark.edu/undergraduatedepartment/academicregulations/universitycore/). A minimum of 72 hours in non-journalism courses must be applied toward the 120 hours required by the college for a Bachelor of Arts degree. Bolded courses from the list below may be applied to portions of the University Core requirements.

Other cultural/diversity-related topics as approved by the School of Journalism and Strategic Media

1 The number of credit hours taken to complete this level of proficiency depends on placement level in the language course sequence.

* A cultural/diversity-approved HIST course is allowed to also satisfy the major’s 3000-4000 level HIST course requirement.

 A cultural/diversity-approved JOUR course is also allowed to satisfy a JOUR elective.

Political Science Requirements

The political science requirement for the combined major may be satisfied by 24 semester hours of courses, including PLSC 2003, PLSC 323, PLSC 4373, and either an additional 15 hours of advanced political science courses elected entirely from American political affairs courses:

Those wishing to emphasize Political Advertising and Promotion take the following courses:

Advertising/Public Relations Concentration, Political Advertising and Promotion Track:

- ADPR 3723 Advertising Principles 3
- ADPR 3743 Public Relations Principles 3
- JOUR 4043 Government and the Media 3
- Six hours of Advanced Journalism Courses. 6
- Students should check course prerequisites.

Those wishing to pursue the Public Affairs Reporting track can choose from either news/editorial or broadcast concentration:

Broadcast Concentration, Public Affairs Reporting Track:

- JOUR 2032 & JOUR 2031L Broadcast News Reporting I and Broadcast News Reporting I Laboratory 3
- JOUR 3072 & JOUR 3071L Broadcast News Reporting II and Broadcast News Reporting II Laboratory 3
- JOUR 4043 Government and the Media 3
- JOUR 4863 Television News Reporting I 3
- JOUR 4873 Television News Reporting II 3

News/Editorial Concentration, Public Affairs Reporting Track:

- JOUR 3023 News Reporting II 3
  - or JOUR 4503 Magazine Writing
  - or JOUR 4553 Magazine Editing and Production I
- JOUR 4043 Government and the Media 3
- One additional Journalism course 3

Journalism/Political Science B.A. Eight-Semester Degree Program

Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) for university requirements of the program. Core requirement hours may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all core requirements are met, students may substitute a three-hour (or more) general elective in place of a core area.

Requirements for Graduation with Honors in Political Science: Both the College and the Departmental Honors Program in Political Science provide undergraduate students the opportunity to participate in directed independent study and scholarly activity. Admission to the Fulbright Honors Program is open to Political Science majors with a minimum, cumulative grade point average of 3.5 in all their coursework. Honors candidates must complete at least 12 hours of honors courses, which will include 6 hours of thesis.

Honors candidates carry out independent study and research under the guidance of political science faculty and participate in special honors classes and colloquia. To successfully complete the required thesis, students should choose an honors thesis adviser as early as possible. An adviser should be selected and an Honors Agreement completed no later than the first semester in a student's junior year.

Honors candidates must meet the College's requirements for an honors degree. Students graduating with honors typically graduate with the distinction cum laude. Higher degree distinctions (magna cum laude, summa cum laude) are awarded by the Honors Council, are recommended only in truly exceptional cases, and are based on the whole of the candidate's program of honors studies.

Political Science (B.A.) Social Studies Teaching Licensure Requirements:
Please refer to the Secondary Education Requirements (p. 274) for Fulbright College Students.

Students wanting to teach social studies in middle school should consult with a middle level adviser in the College of Education and Health Professions.

PLSC 4863. Political Psychology and International Relations. 3 Hours.
Examines psychological approaches to international relations and examines how these perspectives advance the study of world politics. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PLSC 4873. Inter-American Politics. 3 Hours.
An analysis of the political themes, regional organization, and hemispheric relations that constitute the inter-American system, with special emphasis on conflict and cooperation in the hemispheric policies of the American republics. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PLSC 4883. Politics of International Law. 3 Hours.
This course examines the interaction between law and politics in the international system, focusing on international law. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PLSC 4893. International Negotiation and Mediation. 3 Hours.
This course examines international negotiations and mediation. International negotiation refers to the processes and methods by which state and non-state actors reach agreements through persuasion and similar non-violent means. This course analyzes the processes, methods, and mechanisms, and challenges of international negotiations and the growing use of mediation. (Typically offered: Irregular)

This course is cross-listed with INST 4893.

PLSC 4933. African American Political Ideology. 3 Hours.
A survey course designed to identify and examine characteristics and functions of several variants of black political ideology/thought. (Typically offered: Spring Odd Years)

This course is cross-listed with AAST 4933.

PLSC 498V. Senior Thesis. 1-6 Hour.
Senior Thesis. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

PLSC 499VH. Honors Essay. 1-3 Hour.
To be used for completing a Political Science Honors Thesis. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

Department of Psychological Science Website (https://fulbright.uark.edu/departments/psychological-science/)

The Department of Psychological Science offers a major leading to a Bachelor of Arts in psychology. Psychologists are the scientists of human behavior and mental processes. They approach these areas from a variety of perspectives.

Clinical psychologists seek to identify the causes of abnormal behavior and to change these behaviors so their clients can live more satisfying and rewarding lives. Cognitive psychologists are interested in how knowledge and behavior are acquired, retained, and retrieved. Developmental psychologists study physical, cognitive, and social changes that occur throughout an individual’s life. Neuroscientists are concerned with the biological bases of behavior. Social psychologists investigate social psychologists study our thoughts and feelings about ourselves and other people. Each of these perspectives is represented by members of the faculty in the Fulbright College Department of Psychological Science.

The Department of Psychological Science is one of the largest and most productive departments in the university in many ways. Our faculty members are active researchers who bring their scientific excitement and curiosity into the classroom. In addition the faculty is deeply committed to providing individualized training to our students, which is accomplished through experience in a faculty member’s lab, or perhaps doing an honors project. We are one of the largest undergraduate majors, and our graduates pursue graduate training in many areas, including counseling, psychology, business, law, and medicine. Other graduates enter the workforce in diverse areas, including human and social services, business, banking, and non-profit organizations.

For requirements for advanced degrees in psychology, see the Graduate School Catalog.

Requirements for B.A. Degree with a Major in Psychology

Students must complete 120 degree credit hours to include the minimum University Core requirements (http://catalog.uark.edu/undergraduatecatalog/academicregulations/universitycore/), the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences Graduation Requirements (p. 271), and following course requirements for the major. Bolded courses from the list below may be applied to portions of the University Core requirements.

A minimum of 42 semester hours, including:

2003 Intermediate I of any World Language. 1 3-6
PHIL 2003 Introduction to Philosophy (ACTS Equivalency = PHIL 1103) 3
or PHIL 2103 Introduction to Ethics (ACTS Equivalency = PHIL 1003)

Nine hours of electives and may be chosen from any psychology course in this catalog, with no more than a total of six hours in PSYC 206V, PSYC 207V, and PSYC 399V combined.

A grade of “C” or better is required in all psychology courses used to satisfy the 33 hours of psychology courses. In addition, a 2.00 cumulative grade-point average is required on all work completed in the Department of Psychology.

Total Hours: 42-46

1 This is usually accomplished through completion of a sequence of two language courses: 1013 and 271.

Students who want to pursue graduate training in psychology are advised to begin preparations early in their undergraduate careers. Grade-point average, scores on the Graduate Record Examinations, effective communications skills, preparation in the natural sciences and mathematics, and research experience (e.g., honors project, directed readings, laboratory experience) are the major criteria considered by admissions committees. To gain this research experience students are encouraged to take the advanced research course, PSYC 4083.

Students with applied, paraprofessional, or human-service interests who plan to enter the job market with a B.A. in psychology are strongly encouraged to take relevant courses in other areas of interest, including, but not limited to, anthropology, sociology, social work, human development and family studies, education, and business administration.

Students interested in business applications of psychology (e.g., marketing, management) are similarly encouraged to take related courses in the Sam M. Walton College of Business; minors are also available in several areas of business. For more information concerning psychology as a major or careers in psychology and related fields, please contact the Psychology Advising Coordinator, Memorial Hall, room 203.

Writing Requirement: Students majoring in psychology will satisfy the Fulbright College writing requirement by successful completion (a grade of at least a “C”) in either PSYC 4083 or PSYC 4283, each of which requires a final research paper written in American Psychological Association style.

Psychology B.A.

Eight-Semester Degree Program

Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) in the Academic Regulations chapter for university core requirements of the program. Courses in psychology groups A, B and Capstone courses are listed after the program plan.

Requirements for Graduation with Honors in Psychology:

- A grade of "C" or better is required in all psychology courses used to satisfy the 18 hours of the minor requirement. In addition, a 2.00 cumulative grade-point average is required on all work completed in the Department of Psychology. Students must consult with, and obtain the signature of, the Director of Undergraduate Studies in the department in order to declare a Psychology major.
- Students must complete a minimum of 12 hours of honors courses, which may include up to 6 hours of thesis. In addition to satisfying the general college honors requirements, honors candidates in psychology are required to complete and orally defend an honors thesis based upon the independent study carried out in PSYC 399VH.
- To complete the required thesis successfully, students should choose an honors adviser as early as possible. An adviser should be selected, and an Honors Agreement completed, no later than the first semester in a student's junior year. Students must register for, and complete, a minimum of 6 hours of PSYC 399VH. PSYC 399VH may be taken for 1 to 6 hours of credit each semester and repeated for a maximum of 12 hours. Nine hours are ordinarily needed to complete the research project and to prepare the honors thesis.

College honors candidates must meet the college's requirements for an honors degree. Departmental honors candidates in psychology are encouraged to enroll in as many honors classes, seminars, and colloquia as possible, or as required by the honors program in which they are enrolled. Students graduating with honors typically graduate cum laude. Higher degree distinctions (magna cum laude, summa cum laude) are awarded by the Honors Council, recommended only in truly exceptional cases, and are based upon the whole of the candidate's program of honors studies.

Psychology (B.A.) Teacher Licensure in Social Studies Requirements:

- Please refer to the Secondary Education Requirements (p. 274) for Fulbright College Students.

- Students wanting to teach social studies in middle school should consult with a middle level adviser in the College of Education and Health Professions.

- Alwood, Nancy D., Ph.D., M.S. (University of Arkansas), Instructor, 2012.
- Behrend, Douglas A., Ph.D. (University of Minnesota), B.A. (Kalamazoo College), Professor, 1989.
- Beike, Denise R., Ph.D. (Indiana University), Professor, 1995.

Courses

An introduction to the field of Psychology, including the investigation of the biological bases of behavior; learning and cognitive processes; developmental and social psychology; and personality, psychopathology, and the treatment of psychological disorders. Students will be expected to complete a research requirement. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

PSYC 2003H. Honors General Psychology. 3 Hours.
An introduction to the field of Psychology, including the investigation of the biological bases of behavior; learning and cognitive processes; developmental and social psychology; and personality, psychopathology, and the treatment of psychological disorders. Students will be expected to complete a research requirement. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

This course is equivalent to PSYC 2003.

PSYC 2013. Introduction to Statistics for Psychologists. 3 Hours.
Introduction to the descriptive and inferential statistics commonly used by psychologists. A grade of C or better in PSYC 2013 is required as a prerequisite for PSYC 3073. Corequisite: Drill component. Prerequisite: PSYC 2003 and MATH 2043 or MATH 2053 or MATH 2554, with a grade of C or better, and a Psychology major. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

PSYC 200V. Directed Readings. 1-4 Hour.
For undergraduate majors in psychology. Prerequisite: Six hours of psychology; Instructor's permission. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

PSYC 207V. Laboratory Experience. 1-4 Hour.
Laboratory experience in psychology obtained by working as part of a faculty member's research team. Prerequisite: PSYC 2003 and Instructor's permission. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

PSYC 2173. Research Literacy in Psychological Science. 3 Hours.
Training in critical evaluation of research in psychological science, including understanding statistics and research methods used by psychologists. Prerequisite: PSYC 2003 and a psychology minor. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

PSYC 3013. Social Psychology. 3 Hours.
Theories and representative research in social psychology, emphasizing the influence of the social world on human behavior. Introduction to the problems, theories, and experiments of social psychology. Prerequisite: PSYC 2003. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

PSYC 3023. Abnormal Psychology. 3 Hours.
Theories and representative research about the causes and treatment of the major forms of abnormal behavior. Prerequisite: PSYC 2003. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

PSYC 3063. Psychology of Diversity. 3 Hours.
Introduction to the psychology of diversity, including historical perspectives, biological and social bases of bias, individual differences, social identity, intergroup interactions, and power and privilege. Prerequisite: PSYC 2003. (Typically offered: Fall Even Years)

PSYC 3073. Research Methods. 3 Hours.
Training in execution and interpretation of experiments using the classical experimental designs. Limited enrollment. Prerequisite: PSYC 2013 and (MATH 2043, or MATH 2053, or MATH 2554) with a grade of 'C' or better and a psychology major. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

PSYC 3093. Developmental Psychology (ACTS Equivalency = PSYC 2103). 3 Hours.
Theories and representative research in the psychological factors influencing development, including both hereditary and environmental influences, from conception through adolescence. Prerequisite: PSYC 2003. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

PSYC 3103. Cognitive Psychology. 3 Hours.
Introduction to theories and research in cognition including memory, language, and problem-solving. Prerequisite: PSYC 2003. (Typically offered: Spring)

PSYC 3173. Biopsychology. 3 Hours.
An introduction to the biological basis of behavior. Lectures cover current research about the neural correlates underlying sensory, motor, cognitive, and emotional processes. Prerequisite: PSYC 2003. (Typically offered: Spring)

PSYC 3923H. Honors Colloquium. 3 Hours.
Treats a special topic or issue, offered as part of the honors program. May be repeated when the content is changed. Prerequisite: honors candidacy (not restricted to candidacy in psychology). (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for degree credit.

PSYC 399VH. Honors Course. 1-6 Hour.
Honors course. Prerequisite: Junior standing and instructor's permission. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 12 hours of degree credit.
PSYC 4033. Educational Psychology. 3 Hours.
Psychological theories and concepts applied to the educational process. Investigates the learner and instructional variables in a wide range of educational settings. Prerequisite: Six hours of psychology, not including PSYC 2013. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PSYC 4053. Psychological Tests. 3 Hours.
Nature and theory of individual and group tests of intelligence, personality, interests, and attitudes. Prerequisite: Nine hours of psychology, including a C or better in PSYC 2013. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PSYC 4063. Psychology of Personality. 3 Hours.
Theories and representative research concerning the development and nature of the normal personality. Prerequisite: Six hours of psychology, not including PSYC 2013. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PSYC 4073. Psychology of Learning. 3 Hours.
Theories and representative research on basic principles of learning and memory in both animals and humans. Prerequisite: Six hours of psychology, not including PSYC 2013. (Typically offered: Spring)

PSYC 4083. Advanced Research. 3 Hours.
A lecture/laboratory course covering research in a specialized area of psychology. Provides experience with design, conduct, analysis, and presentation of research projects related to class topics. Successful completion of the class, including a formal paper in APA style, with a grade of C or better will fulfill the senior writing requirement. Prerequisite: Eighteen hours of psychology including a grade of at least a C in PSYC 3073 and senior standing. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

PSYC 409V. Psychology Seminar. 1-3 Hour.
Provides intensive coverage of specialized psychological topics. Prerequisite: Six hours of psychology, not including PSYC 2013. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 18 hours of degree credit.

PSYC 4123. Perception. 3 Hours.
Theories and representative research in the areas of sensation and perception. Prerequisite: Six hours of psychology, not including PSYC 2013. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PSYC 4143. History and Systems of Psychology. 3 Hours.
Examination of the concepts, methods, and systems which have contributed to the development of modern psychology. Prerequisite: Fifteen hours of psychology and senior standing. (Typically offered: Irregular)

PSYC 4183. Behavioral Neuroscience. 3 Hours.
Examination of the biological basis of behavior. Surveys the anatomy, physiology, and pharmacology of the mammalian brain and examines brain mechanisms underlying a wide range of behaviors and cognitive processes. Prerequisite: Six hours of psychology, not including PSYC 2013. (Typically offered: Fall)

PSYC 4193. Comparative Psychology. 3 Hours.
Analysis of animal behavior from an evolutionary perspective, with emphasis on the role of the environment and interactions with other animals in shaping the evolution of behavior within a species, and the evolution of differences in behavior between species. Prerequisite: Six hours of psychology, not including PSYC 2013. (Typically offered: Spring)

PSYC 4283. Advanced Seminar. 3 Hours.
A seminar/discussion class covering research in specialized areas of psychology. Students will read original sources and present their ideas and conclusions several formats. Successful completion of the class, including a formal paper in APA style, with a grade of C or better will fulfill the senior writing requirement. Prerequisite: Eighteen hours of psychology including a grade of at least a C in PSYC 3073; senior standing. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

Religious Studies (RLST)

Nikolay Antov
students, staff, and agency field instructors are involved in a variety of teaching, research, and outreach activities.

Accreditation

The social work program is fully accredited at the baccalaureate and graduate level by the Council on Social Work Education (CSWE).

Requirements for B.S.W. in Social Work

Pre-Social Work (PSCWK)

The pre-social work program identifies that a student has declared social work as a major but has not yet been accepted into the professional social work core. Students classified as pre-social work are completing the course requirements necessary to qualify for admission into the professional social work core. As members of the School of Social Work, pre-social work students are encouraged to participate in events, opportunities and activities sponsored the School of Social Work in accordance with the student’s progress in the program. Once a student is accepted into professional social work core, the student’s designation will change to Social Work major.

Criteria for Admission to B.S.W. Program and Professional Social Work Core

Students may declare themselves as pre-social work at any point, however formal admission to the professional core is required before a student is allowed to take the following courses that comprise the professional social work core:

Complete BIOL 1543/BIOL 1541L Principles of Biology and Lab or ANTH 1013/ANTH 1011L Biological Anthropology and Lab with a grade of "D" or better.

Students must have at least a 2.5 GPA in the 10 courses listed above.

Application Process

The application process must be completed by the announced application deadline prior to the semester in which the student will enroll in SCWK 4333 Social Work Practice I. The application packet includes the following materials:

Application Form. This form becomes the cover sheet for the application packet. Application forms are available from the online B.S.W. Student Handbook or from the social work webpage (https://fulbright.uark.edu/departments/social-work/undergraduate/admissions.php).

Volunteer/Work Experience Form. This form provides documentation of satisfactory completion of the volunteer experience assignment in SCWK 2133 Introduction to Social Work or equivalent and submission of a positive “Supervisor’s Reference Form” from the supervisor of the experience. A minimum of 30 hours of work or volunteer experience are required for admission to the Social Work Professional Core. (See appendices of B.S.W. Student Handbook (https://fulbright.uark.edu/departments/social-work/undergraduate/) for forms).

Personal Statement. This narrative statement should include: motivation for becoming a social worker; relevant work, volunteer or life experiences; strengths and limitations for effective social work practice; personal commitment and agreement to abide by the values and ethics of the social work profession; career goals and indication of fields of practice preference or areas where one would not feel comfortable working.

Ethical Principles/Guidelines for University of Arkansas Social Work Students. By signing this statement you are acknowledging that you have read, understand and agree to abide by and uphold and conduct themselves in accordance with the “Ethical Principles/Guidelines for Social Work Students.” This statement is contained in the admissions packet, and is available from the online B.S.W. Student Handbook (https://fulbright.uark.edu/departments/social-work/undergraduate/) (see appendices) or from the social work office. A copy of this signed statement will be included in the student's advising file.

Professional Habits Reference Form. This form must be completed by two Social Work professors. These references need to be from SCWK 4153 Social Welfare Policy and SCWK 4093 Human Behavior and the Social Environment I (HBSE I) unless both courses were taken online. If this is the case, the student will choose another Social Work professor they have had in a face-to-face class along with their choice of either their SCWK 4093 or SCWK 4153 professor. If the student has had all Social Work courses in person, they will use both their Policy and HBSE I professors as references. It is the student’s responsibility to request the reference from the professors via email. The email should include the student’s full name and student ID#. The instructor will submit the form directly to the B.S.W. Director. If one or both of these courses (SCWK 4093 or SCWK 4153) were successfully completed at another institution, please see the B.S.W. Director for further instructions. In addition, students should be aware that feedback from other faculty will be taken into account during the admission process. Students may view the professional habits reference form in the online B.S.W. Student Handbook (see appendices).

Documentation of Completion of Pre-Professional Courses. Students applying to the professional core must have completed the following courses:

All courses above must be successfully completed with a "C" or better, with the exception of BIOL 1543 or ANTH 1013. Note: Students must have at least a 2.5 GPA in the pre-professional courses listed above.

There are University and College requirements for general education and the Social Work degree in addition to those listed in Items 5 above. Consult your University Catalog, Social Work Student Handbook or your adviser if you have questions about these. The statistics requirement must be taken prior or during SCWK 4073 Social Work Research and Technology I.

Copy of current transcript documenting the minimum academic course requirements listed above.

The above materials are submitted to the B.S.W. Program Director and reviewed by the B.S.W. Admission Committee. If the Admissions Committee has any questions concerning the content of the materials, the student may be asked to interview with a faculty member to resolve any questions or to provide additional information.

Upon completion of the materials review and interview (if necessary), the student will be informed in writing by the B.S.W. Program Director of his or her admission status.

There are three possible admission decisions:

Unconditional Admission: These students have demonstrated through their application materials (and interview, if required) that they have the motivation and potential for competent professional social work practice and that they agree to uphold and conduct themselves in accordance with the values and ethics of professional social work practice. In addition, these students have at least a 2.5 GPA in the pre-professional courses and have an overall GPA of 2.5.

Conditional Admission: Students with deficiencies related to the admission criteria may be granted conditional admission to the major. Students must resolve any pending issues within the time frame identified by the admission committee. Students will receive a letter that outlines the deficiencies and a plan to resolve the concerns. The letter will include specific deadlines and must be signed by both the student and the B.S.W. director. The student will be unconditionally admitted once they have met... the conditions outlined by the plan. Conditional admission may be granted for low GPA or non-GPA concerns such as writing skills, assertiveness, stress management, or working with diverse populations.

Non-acceptance: A decision of non-acceptance will be made when the student is found to be unsuited for professional social work practice. There are two criteria for non-acceptance: 1) the lack of acceptable academic performance necessary to successfully complete the requirements of the social work program, and/or 2) the inability to demonstrate commitment to social work values and ethics as they are reflected in the “Ethical Principles and Guidelines for UA Social Work Students” document that is available on-line in the B.S.W. Student Handbook and included with the forms for applying to the professional social work core (see Appendices). A decision of non-acceptance will result in the student’s inability to progress in the social work program. In the event of non-acceptance, assistance with a transfer to another major will be provided upon request.

Criteria for Retention and Continuation
In addition to the admission process, the B.S.W. Program also has requirements for retention and continuation in the major.

Retention
Maintenance of an overall GPA of 2.5.

Maintenance of a 2.5 GPA in social work courses.

Students must abide by and behave in accordance with the “Ethical Principles/Guidelines for UA Social Work Students”.

Social work students should not engage in any activity or behavior which, according to university policy or regulations, would result in dismissal from the university community. Such activity or behavior includes, but is not limited to, sexual harassment, physical or sexual assault, and academic dishonesty. (See Undergraduate Studies Catalog for description of Academic Dishonesty, and Undergraduate Studies Catalog, Appendix C: Student Handbook for details).

Continuation and Grading Policies
A grade of C or better must be earned in all social work courses. If a student receives a grade of D or F in one of the professional social work core courses, the course must be retaken with a grade of C or better prior to taking the course for which that course serves as a prerequisite.

1. Once matriculated into the B.S.W. program, B.S.W. students who earn a D or F will be allowed to repeat this course one time. Students can repeat up to two different social work courses.
2. A student may repeat a course from which they earned a W no more than one time.
3. Any professional social work core course in which the student receives a grade of I (Incomplete) must be satisfactorily completed (with a grade of C or better) prior to entering the course for which the course receiving the Incomplete is a prerequisite.
4. Any core social work course in which the student receives a grade of I (Incomplete) must be satisfactorily completed (with a grade of C or better) prior to entering the course for which the course receiving the Incomplete is a prerequisite. For example, a student receiving an ‘I’ in SCWK 4093 may not take SCWK 4103 or SCWK 4333 until SCWK 4093 is completed with a final grade.
5. If the student’s core and/or overall GPA falls below the 2.5 GPA required for retention, the student may remain in the B.S.W. program and take up to an additional 15 credit hours to raise their GPA to the required level. Failure to do so within these parameters will result in dismissal from the B.S.W. program. Students will be referred to the Fulbright Advising Center to change their major course of study.

Criteria for Termination
Students will be terminated from the B.S.W. Program for the following reasons:

1. Failure to maintain minimum GPA requirements (2.5 cumulative overall, 2.5 for all social work courses). See item 5 under Continuation and grading policies.
2. Failure to earn a C or better in a professional social work core course after the second attempt.
3. Engaging in any activity or behavior which, according to university policy or regulations, would result in dismissal from the university community. Such activity or behavior includes, but is not limited to, sexual harassment, physical or sexual assault, and academic dishonesty.

Students may be terminated from the B.S.W. Program for the following reasons: Engaging in any activity or behavior incompatible with the “Ethical Principles/Guidelines for UA Social Work Students” (available online in the B.S.W. Student Handbook and with the materials for application to the professional social work core; see Appendices). Such violations will initiate a review by the School of Social Work Student, Standards and Support Committee and may result in termination by the School of Social Work Director or a decision that continuation is contingent upon completion of a corrective action specified by the School of Social Work Director.

Requirements for a Major in Social Work
In addition to the state minimum core (p. 96) and the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences Graduation Requirements (http://catalog.uark.edu/undergraduatecatalog/collegesandschools/jwilliamfulbrightcollegeofartsandsciences/), the following cognate and major course requirements must be met. Bolded courses from the list below may be applied to portions of the state minimum core requirements.

¹ World language courses at the 1003 Elementary I level cannot be used to satisfy any part of the social work major's six-hour world language requirement.

Students must adhere to requirements cited for each social work course. A grade of “C” or better must be earned in all core social work courses. If a student receives a grade of “D” in a core social work course, the course must be retaken with a grade of “C” or better prior to taking the course for which that course serves as a prerequisite.

Writing Requirement: Social work students complete the research/analytical writing requirement by passing SCWK 4073 with a C or better.

Social Work B.S.W.
Eight-Semester Degree Program

Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) for university requirements of the program. State minimum core (p. 96) hours may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all core requirements are met, students may substitute a three-hour (or more) general elective in place of a core area.

1. Meets 40-hour advanced credit hour requirement. See College Academic Regulations (p. 271).
2. Meets 24-hour rule (24 hours of 3000-4000 level courses in Fulbright College), in addition to meeting the 40-hour rule. See College Academic Regulations (p. 271).
3. 3000-4000 level social science electives to be selected from Sociology, Psychology, Anthropology, Gender Studies, Political Science, Communications, Geosciences, African and African American Studies, or Human Environmental Sciences.

Requirements for a Minor in Social Work

18 hours including SCWK 2133, SCWK 3193, and SCWK 4153 (required) and any other nine hours of social work electives. A student must notify the department of his or her intent to minor. The social work minor is not preparation for social work practice and is not recognized by the CSWE.

Requirements for a Minor in Substance Use Disorders

The minor in substance use disorders is designed to educate students in various aspects of substance use disorders. Students must notify the School of Social Work of intention to pursue this minor.

18 hours are required for the minor.

Students must pass the following three courses with a C or better:

- SCWK 4143 Addiction and the Family
- SCWK 4213 The Diagnosis and Treatment of Substance Use Disorders
- SCWK 4243 Drug Policy and Its Impact on Approaches to Substance Use Disorder Treatment

Choose three of the following courses and pass each one with a C or better:

- SCWK 3163 On Death and Dying
- SCWK 3233 Contemporary Issues in Juvenile Justice
- SCWK 4093 Human Behavior and the Social Environment I
- SCWK 4153 Social Welfare Policy
- SCWK 3633 Child Welfare: 21st Century Perspectives
- SCWK 3193 Human Diversity and Social Work

Total Hours: 18

Requirements for a Child Advocacy Studies Training Undergraduate Certificate

The Child Advocacy Studies Training online minor program is designed to better prepare future child protection workers, law enforcement officers, and other child-serving professionals in child welfare. Students may only receive credit for the minor or the certificate, but not both. Admission requirements for the Child Advocacy Studies Training online certificate program:

- SCWK 3013 Child Advocacy I: Perspectives on Child Maltreatment and Child Advocacy
- SCWK 4013 Child Advocacy II: Professional and System Responses to Child Maltreatment
- SCWK 4023 Child Advocacy III: Responding to the Survivor of Child Abuse

Choose the three following courses:

- SCWK 3163 On Death and Dying
- SCWK 3233 Contemporary Issues in Juvenile Justice
- SCWK 4143 Addiction and the Family

Total Hours: 18
• Meet the admission requirements for the University of Arkansas.
• Complete 60 semester hours of credit from a regionally accredited institution of higher education.

Course requirements for an undergraduate certificate in Child Advocacy Studies Training (CHAS) include 9 credit hours:

Requirements for Departmental Honors in Social Work: The Departmental Honors Program in Social Work is an upper-division course of study with an independent investigation on a topic in social work. Students work closely with an adviser of their choice to define the goals of an honors project and to develop it to completion. They must take 12 hours (which may include 6 hours of thesis) in Honors Studies. In developing the project, students are encouraged to take honors courses, participate in honors colloquia, and do extensive background reading. The honors thesis may entail a library research project, a social work intervention project to be conducted in the field, or a policy analysis project. A research study that requires original data collection and analysis is preferred. In any case, the honors work is a serious long-term undertaking that should have direct value in supplementing the student’s regular departmental academic program. Enrollment in SCWK 399VH takes place after the student has done background reading and has actually begun a project. Students normally enroll in this course for three hours of credit. The course may be repeated for an additional 3 hours of credit if the student’s project is an extensive one. Regardless of the type of project, it is presented in written form and defended at an oral examination before an Honors Council Committee. Projects of extraordinarily high quality may be designated High Honors by the Committee. Successful completion of the requirements will be recognized by the award of the distinction “Social Work Scholar Cum Laude” at graduation. Higher degree distinctions are recommended only in truly exceptional cases and are based upon the whole of the candidate’s program of honors studies.

Department of Sociology and Criminology Website (http://fulbright.uark.edu/departments/sociology/)

The Department of Sociology and Criminology offers a major leading to a Bachelor of Arts degree in sociology. Sociology is a comprehensive liberal arts degree that provides an excellent foundation and springboard for working in today's diverse social, organizational and business environments. The Sociology major provides marketable skills in research, theory, and data analytics and knowledge related to social institutions, interactions, cultures, social inequality, and organizations. We offer robust undergraduate internship opportunities (https://fulbright.uark.edu/departments/sociology/internships/) that help sociology students develop a better understanding of a prospective career and determine whether their interests match a chosen career path, while simultaneously gaining experience with professionals in the field.

The department also offers a major in criminology (p. 357), double major in sociology and criminology, a minor in sociology (https://fulbright.uark.edu/departments/sociology/undergraduate/minor-in-sociology.php) and a fully online minor in criminal justice (https://online.uark.edu/programs/minor-criminal-justice.php). Our students also may pursue a dependent major in sociology and African and African American studies (p. 292).

For requirements for an M.A. degree in sociology, including criminology concentration, see the Graduate School Catalog (p. 1525).

Requirements for B.A. Degree with a Major in Sociology: In addition to the University Core requirements (http://catalog.uark.edu/undergraduatecatalog/academicregulations/universitycore/) and the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences Graduation Requirements (p. 271), the following course requirements must be met. Bolded courses from the list below may be applied to portions of the University/ state minimum core requirements.

Sociology B.A.

Eight-Semester Degree Program

Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) in the Academic Regulations chapter for university requirements of the program. Core requirement hours may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all core requirements are met, students may substitute a three-hour (or more) general elective in place of a core area.

Writing Requirement: To fulfill the Fulbright College writing requirement, each sociology major will submit, prior to graduation, a substantial research or analytical paper, with a grade of “A” or “B” from an upper-division sociology course (3000-, 4000-, or 5000-level) to their departmental adviser. Satisfactory completion of an honors project or a senior thesis may fulfill this requirement.
Total Units in Sequence: 120

1 Meets 40-hour advanced credit hour requirement. See College Academic Regulations (p. 271).
2 Meets 24-hour rule (24 hours of 3000-4000 level courses in Fulbright College), in addition to meeting the 40-hour rule. See College Academic Regulations (p. 271).

Requirements for a Minor in Sociology: 18 semester hours in sociology to include SOCI 2013, SOCI 3313, SOCI 3423 and at least nine hours of 3000-level classes or above, of which no more than three hours can come from CRIM. A student must notify the department of her or his intent to minor.

Requirements for Departmental Honors in Sociology: The Departmental Honors Program in Sociology is an upper-division course of study based on independent investigation on a scholarly topic of sociological interest. To be eligible for sociology honors candidacy, students normally will have completed 28 semester hours and not more than 85 semester hours with a minimum cumulative grade-point average of 3.5. They must take 12 hours in Honors Studies, which may include 6 hours of thesis. In the junior year, three hours of directed reading, planning, or other work on a research problem should be selected from the following courses:

</table>

In the senior year, the student will complete an honors project for up to six hours of credit in SOCI 399VH Honors Course. This honors research project will normally consist of an empirical investigation but may, with the approval of the honors director and the other departmental representatives, be intensive library research on a topic. All candidates must pass an oral examination given by an Honors Council Committee. Successful completion of the requirements will be recognized by the award of the distinction “Sociology Scholar Cum Laude” at graduation. Higher degree distinctions are recommended only in truly exceptional cases and are based upon the whole of the candidate’s program of honors studies.

Sociology (B.A.) Teacher Licensure in Social Studies Requirements:

Please refer to the Secondary Education Requirements (p. 274) for Fulbright College Students.

Students wanting to teach social studies in middle school should consult with a middle level adviser in the College of Education and Health Professions.

SOCI 3193H. Race, Class, Gender, and Sexuality in America. 3 Hours.
A critical examination of the layers of the global systems that shape and construct social inequalities. Overview of sociological theories and research on how race, class, gender, and sexuality intersect and function separately to organize systems of inequality. Prerequisite: Honors candidacy, SOCI 2013 or SOCI 2013H and junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)
This course is equivalent to SOCI 3193.

SOCI 3203. Corrections and Social Control. 3 Hours.
Overview of correctional systems and punishment. Focuses on theories of correctional philosophies, practices, and procedures, along with the historical development and modern practices of corrections, sentencing, facilities, and issues facing correctional populations. Also examines principles and practices of treatment and rehabilitation in correctional settings. Prerequisite: CRIM 2003. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)
This course is cross-listed with CRIM 3203.

SOCI 3223. Social Psychology. 3 Hours.
A sociological approach to the study of the interaction between society and the self with an emphasis upon reference groups such as the family, friends, work, lifestyle, and deviance. Prerequisite: SOCI 2013. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

SOCI 3263. Families and Social Change. 3 Hours.
A sociological analysis of the diversity and inequality that exists among families, and the ways in which families have and continue to change over time. Topics discussed include sex, gender, and sexuality, race, ethnicity, and immigration, class and economic transformations. Prerequisite: SOCI 2013. (Typically offered: Spring)

SOCI 3273. Sociology of China. 3 Hours.
Examines many aspects of Chinese people, their cultures, and practices, and also looks at Chinese Americans in the U.S. both historically and currently. Prerequisite: SOCI 2013. (Typically offered: Irregular)
This course is cross-listed with ASIT 3273.

SOCI 3301L. Social Data and Analysis Laboratory. 1 Hour.
The lab is an extension of the lecture in SOCI 3303. Using a variety of computer packages, the lab provides practical experience in managing and analyzing social data. Corequisite: SOCI 3303. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

SOCI 3301M. Honors Social Data and Analysis Laboratory. 1 Hour.
The lab is an extension of the lecture in SOCI 3303. Using a variety of computer packages, the lab provides practical experience in managing and analyzing social data. Corequisite: SOCI 3303H. Prerequisite: Honors candidacy. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)
This course is equivalent to SOCI 3301L.

SOCI 3303. Social Data and Analysis. 3 Hours.
Introduction to descriptive and inferential statistics, with special emphasis on common techniques in social research. Course focuses on the practical usage of data and application to real-world issues. Corequisite: SOCI 3303L. Prerequisite: SOCI 2013 and junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

SOCI 3303H. Honors Social Data and Analysis. 3 Hours.
Introduction to descriptive and inferential statistics, with special emphasis on common techniques in social research. Course focuses on the practical usage of data and application to real-world issues. Corequisite: SOCI 3303L. Prerequisite: Honors candidacy, SOCI 2013 and junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)
This course is equivalent to SOCI 3303.
SOCI 3313. Social Research. 3 Hours.
Study and experience in implementing a methodological ‘toolbox,’ including theorizing, designing, measuring, sampling, collecting, interpreting, and reporting empirical results for real-world social research applications. Prerequisite: SOCI 2013. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

SOCI 3313H. Honors Social Research. 3 Hours.
Study and experience in implementing a methodological ‘toolbox,’ including theorizing, designing, measuring, sampling, collecting, interpreting, and reporting empirical results for real-world social research applications. Prerequisite: Honors candidacy, SOCI 2013 and junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring) This course is equivalent to SOCI 3313.

SOCI 3413. Special Topics. 3 Hours.
Offerings vary; check for particular course topics offered. Designed to cover specialized topics in greater depth than regular survey courses provide. Prerequisite: SOCI 2013. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

SOCI 3413H. Honors Special Topics. 3 Hours.
Offerings vary; check for particular course topics offered. Designed to cover specialized topics in greater depth than regular survey courses provide. Prerequisite: Honors candidacy and SOCI 2013 or SOCI 2013H. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit. This course is equivalent to SOCI 3413.

SOCI 3423. Social Theory. 3 Hours.
Examines the philosophical underpinnings of sociology; introduces notable classical and contemporary social theorists; develops an appreciation for the ways classical works continue to form the basis for contemporary social thought. Prerequisite: SOCI 2013. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

SOCI 3423H. Honors Social Theory. 3 Hours.
Examines the philosophical underpinnings of sociology; introduces notable classical and contemporary social theorists; develops an appreciation for the ways classical works continue to form the basis for contemporary social thought. Prerequisite: Honors standing, junior standing and SOCI 2013. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring) This course is equivalent to SOCI 3423.

SOCI 3513. Criminal Evidence. 3 Hours.
Examination of how evidence is collected, processed, and presented in court, with an emphasis on the competing interests of crime control and individual liberties. Prerequisite: CRIM 2003. (Typically offered: Fall)

SOCI 3723. Deviant Behavior. 3 Hours.
Sociological overview of disconcerting conduct: its definition, theoretical understandings and research. Specific topics may include: interpersonal violence, self-destructive disorders, controversial lifestyles, substance abuse, as well as the relationship between inequality and disturbing acts. Prerequisite: SOCI 2013. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring) This course is cross-listed with CRIM 3723.

SOCI 399VH. Honors Course. 1-6 Hour.
Honors. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring) May be repeated for up to 12 hours of degree credit.

SOCI 4003. Internship in Sociology. 3 Hours.
(Formerly SOCI 4006) Supervised experience in municipal, county, or state agencies, or any other agency which is approved by the instructor. Prerequisite: SOCI 2013. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

SOCI 4013. Special Topics in Sociology. 3 Hours.
Offerings vary; check for particular course topics offered. Designed to cover specialized topics in greater depth than regular survey courses provide. Prerequisite: SOCI 2013. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

SOCI 4013H. Honors Special Topics in Sociology. 3 Hours.
Offerings vary; check for particular course topics offered. Designed to cover specialized topics in greater depth than regular survey courses provide. Prerequisite: Honors candidacy and SOCI 2013 or SOCI 2013H. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit. This course is equivalent to SOCI 4013.

SOCI 403V. Individual Study in Sociology. 1-3 Hour.
In-depth individual or group study with a faculty member on advanced sociological readings and/or participation in supervised research as an experience-based course. Faculty permission required in advance of enrollment. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

SOCI 4043. Seminar in Sociology. 3 Hours.
Capstone course in sociology. This course is intended to apply and demonstrate the knowledge and skills developed over a college career. Sociological theory and current research findings are applied to everyday life. Emphasis is given to personal, professional and career development. Prerequisite: Senior standing. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

SOCI 4063. Organizations in Society. 3 Hours.
Review of literature on work and organizations, with focus on race, class, gender inequalities, and interactions between society and organizations; discussion of topics related to white collar crime and deviant behavior inside modern corporations. Prerequisite: SOCI 2013. (Typically offered: Spring) This course is cross-listed with CRIM 4063.

SOCI 4143. Juvenile Justice. 3 Hours.
Examination of juvenile justice system and juvenile crime, including historical development of the system and treatment of juvenile delinquents along with legal, correctional, and treatment processes and philosophies. Emphasis on current issues facing delinquents, the system, and delinquency prevention in addition to trends in juvenile crime. Prerequisite: CRIM 2003. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring) This course is cross-listed with CRIM 4143.

SOCI 4153. Race and Society. 3 Hours.
Sociological study of race within the U.S., with an emphasis on understanding how race operates within contemporary social institutions. Critical engagement and discussion of topics relating to race will be encouraged. Prerequisite: SOCI 2013 or AAST 1003 or AAST 2023. (Typically offered: Fall) This course is cross-listed with AAST 4153.

SOCI 4183. Social Network Analysis. 3 Hours.
Introduces the fundamentals of Social Network Analysis (SNA), and its applications for research in various social science fields. Prerequisite: SOCI 2013. (Typically offered: Fall) This course is cross-listed with PLSC 4613.

SOCI 4253. Social Impact of Data Analytics. 3 Hours.
Teaches students to assess social science data by raising awareness regarding the social impacts of data analytics. Particular attention is paid to the ethical issues involved in the potential benefits and risks across each of the four phases of the data cycle: data collection, consolidation, analytics, and use. Prerequisite: SOCI 2013. (Typically offered: Spring)

SOCI 4263. Sociology of Mental Health and Illness. 3 Hours.
Develops critical thinking, writing, and research skills by applying a sociological perspective to studying mental health and illness, including definitions, theories, measurements, and social correlates. Prerequisite: SOCI 2013. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

SOCI 4263H. Honors Sociology of Mental Health and Illness. 3 Hours.
Develops critical thinking, writing, and research skills by applying a sociological perspective to studying mental health and illness, including definitions, theories, measurements, and social correlates. Prerequisite: SOCI 2013. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring) This course is equivalent to SOCI 4263.
SOCI 4443. Terrorism and Homeland Security. 3 Hours.
Examines the evolution of modern terrorism and homeland security, focusing primarily upon American terrorist movements (ideologies, motives, and tactics). Social, political, and criminal justice responses to terrorism are also considered. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Spring)
This course is cross-listed with CRIM 4443.

SOCI 4603. Environmental Sociology. 3 Hours.
The course provides a social perspective on environmental issues. It examines the linkage between society, ecological systems and the physical environment. It provides conceptual framework(s) for analyzing environmental issues, considers the role of humans in environmental issues, and enhances understanding the complexity of the relationship between societal organization and environmental change. Prerequisite: Junior or above standing. (Typically offered: Spring)
This course is cross-listed with HDFS 4603, SUST 4603.

Southern Studies (SOST)
Angie Maxwell
Director of Southern Studies
Old Main 506A
479-575-6007
amax@uark.edu

The Southern Studies minor is designed to provide students with a thorough, interdisciplinary grounding in the major themes, issues, and theoretical assumptions concerning southern history, literature, and politics. Students who secure a southern studies minor will be prepared to pursue careers in business, education, law, and in post-graduate work in history, literature, or political science, particularly as it relates to the Southern region of the United States.

Requirements for a Minor in Southern Studies: Students wishing to minor in Southern Studies must take SOST 2003 Introduction to Southern Studies, a 3-credit hour interdisciplinary course that explores the history, politics, literature, and culture of the U.S. South from the colonial era to the present. Students must also take an additional 15 elective credit hours (5 courses) from among numerous options listed below. Only 6 hours can count toward the requirements of another major or minor.

1 A maximum of 6 hours can be taken in Arkansas-specific courses.

Courses

SOST 2003. Introduction to Southern Studies. 3 Hours.
A three credit hour interdisciplinary course that explores the history, politics, literature, and culture of the U.S. South from the colonial era to the present. Students who minor in Southern Studies will be required to take Introduction to Southern Studies. (Typically offered: Fall Odd Years)

SOST 399V. Special Topics in Southern Studies. 1-3 Hour.
Topics that explore the American South which are not usually presented in depth in regular courses. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

Statistics (STAT)

Giovanni Petris
Director of Statistics Program
314 Science-Engineering Building

Requirements for a Minor in Statistics:
Coursework used toward the mathematics major may not be applied toward a statistics minor.

MATH 2554 Calculus I (ACTS Equivalency = MATH 2405) 4
12 hours of STAT courses, including 9 hours in courses numbered 3000 and above. 12

Total Hours 16

Courses

A problem-oriented course with applications from many fields. Emphasis on understanding the nature of statistical orderliness implied by probability laws. Statistical analysis is treated as a means of decision making in the face of uncertainty. Prerequisite: MATH 1203 or MATH 1204 each with a grade of C or better, or MATH 1313 with a grade of C or better, or a score of at least 50 on the Math Placement Test, or a score of at least 26 on the math component of the ACT exam, or a score of at least 600 on the math component of the old SAT or 620 on the math component of the new SAT. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)
STAT 2823. Biostatistics. 3 Hours.
An introductory course in biostatistics emphasizing methods for collecting, graphing, and understanding data. Special emphasis is placed upon available methods for both exploratory and confirmatory data analysis. Particular attention is given to statistical methods for data sets with discrete variables. Pre- or Corequisite: MATH 2554. Corequisite: Lab component. (Typically offered: Spring)

STAT 3001L. Statistics Methods Laboratory. 1 Hour.
Introduction to the statistical software SAS, including its use for common statistical analyses. A practical complement to the statistical methodology covered in STAT 3003. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

STAT 3003. Statistical Methods. 3 Hours.
Describing Data, Basic Probability, Random variables, Uniform, Normal and Binomial Distributions, Sampling Distributions, Confidence Intervals, Hypothesis testing, Correlation and Regression, Contingency table, Comparing two populations, ANOVA. Prerequisite: MATH 2554 or MATH 2554C. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

STAT 3013. Introduction to Probability. 3 Hours.
A calculus-based introduction to probability. Discrete probability spaces and counting techniques, discrete and continuous probability distributions, random variables, random samples, law of large numbers, central limit theorem. Prerequisite: MATH 2564. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

This course is cross-listed with MATH 3013.

STAT 3113. Introduction to Mathematical Statistics. 3 Hours.
A calculus-based introduction to mathematical statistics, revolving around estimation, hypothesis testing, and Bayesian inference. Emphasis is given to the unifying mathematical and decision-theoretical principles that provide a justification to different estimation and testing procedures. Prerequisite: STAT 3013 or departmental consent. (Typically offered: Spring)

STAT 4013. Statistical Forecasting and Prediction. 3 Hours.
Provides an in depth look at the theory and practice of applied modeling of temporal data for data science, including model building, selection, autocorrelation, auto-regression and moving averages, and prediction for correlated data. Students will gain experience using statistical software to learn from data using applied time series and models. Prerequisite: DASC 3213 or approval by the instructor. (Typically offered: Fall)

STAT 4023. Bayesian Methods. 3 Hours.
Provides an introductory look at the theory and practice of applied Bayesian modeling for data science: including model building, selection, regularization, classification and prediction. Students will gain experience using statistical software to learn from data using applied Bayesian models. Prerequisite: DASC 3213 or approval by the instructor. (Typically offered: Spring)

STAT 4033. Nonparametric Statistical Methods. 3 Hours.
Chi square tests. Kolmogorov-Smirnov goodness-of-fit tests, the Mann-Whitney and Wilcoxon 2-sampling tests, and various nonparametric measures of association. Prerequisite: STAT 2303 or STAT 2823 or departmental consent. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

STAT 4043. Sampling Techniques. 3 Hours.
Considers optimum techniques of simple random, stratified random, cluster, systematic and multistage sampling from finite populations subject to cost precision constraints. Wide range of applications. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

STAT 405V. Internship in Professional Practice. 1-3 Hours.
Professional work experience involving significant use of mathematics or statistics in business, industry or government. Prerequisite: Departmental consent. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 3 hours of degree credit.

STAT 4101L. Introduction to R. 1 Hour.
A hands-on introduction to R software, a free and open-source computing environment used for data manipulation and analysis across a broad spectrum of subject areas. Intended for new users. Content begins with simple data manipulation, then complex data structures and common statistical procedures are covered. (Typically offered: Fall)

STAT 4333. Analysis of Categorical Responses. 3 Hours.
Statistical tools to analyze univariate and multivariate categorical responses. Emphasis is given to Generalized Linear Models, including logistic regression and loglinear models. Prerequisite: Departmental consent. (Typically offered: Spring)

STAT 4373. Experimental Design. 3 Hours.
Topics in the design and analysis of planned experiments, including randomized block, Latin square, split plot, and BIB designs, use of fractional factorial replication, and repeated measures. (Typically offered: Spring)

Theatre (THTR)

Michael Riha
Chair of the Department
619 Kimpel Hall
479-575-2953

Department of Theatre Website (http://fulbright.uark.edu/departments/theatre/)
The Department of Theatre offers the Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) degree in Theatre, a broad spectrum program in the context of a liberal arts education, and the Master of Fine Arts (M.F.A.) degree in six concentrations: Acting, Directing, Playwriting, Costume Design, Scene Design and Lighting Design. (Please see the Graduate Catalog for information regarding the M.F.A. Theatre degree (p. 1545).) Classes at both undergraduate and graduate levels are focused on providing a strong, professional orientation to theatre performance and technology in conjunction with appropriate research-based course work to address the required foundations in theatre history, dramatic literature and dramatic criticism.

The educational objectives of the Department of Theatre are centered on producing graduates prepared to enter the competitive world of professional play production as well as a variety of teaching and research fields. In addition a background in Theatre has proven to be a valuable asset to those wishing to pursue a wide range of corporate and industrial occupations.

The play production program is the “laboratory” for study in Theatre. To that end the department produces an average of 10 plays each year involving students in virtually all aspects of production. Auditions are open to all students on campus.

The Department of Theatre also supports course work in Dance, offering a variety of basic and advanced studio courses.

For requirements for the M.F.A. degrees in theatre, see the Graduate School Catalog.

Requirements for B.A. in Theatre with Design and Technology Concentration Requirements for a Major in Theatre: In addition to the University Core requirements (http://catalog.uark.edu/undergraduatecatalog/academicregulations/universitycore/) and the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences Graduation Requirements (p. 271), the following course requirements must be met. Bolded courses from the list below may be applied to portions of the university/state minimum core requirements.

Three hours of any world language at the 1013 Elementary II level; and three hours of continued coursework in the same world language, or 3 hours of a different world language course.

A University Core fine arts course other than THTR 1003 Theatre Appreciation

Select one course from two of the following categories. These two courses must be completed in addition to coursework used to satisfy the University/state core.

Theatre B.A. with Concentration in Design and Technology

Eight-Semester Degree Program

Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) in the Academic Regulations chapter for University requirements of the program. Core requirement hours may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all core requirements are met, students may substitute a three-hour (or more) general elective in place of a core area.

All theatre majors are required to take an additional two hours of THTR 3001 Production Practicum, one hour to be taken each academic year. Consult Theatre Adviser for more information on these credits.

In addition, all theatre majors must complete 21 hours from one of two concentration areas of study: Design and Technology or Performance.

1 Students who have already taken THTR 1003 or THTR 1003H may substitute this course for THTR 1223 and must also complete one additional University Core (http://catalog.uark.edu/undergraduatecatalog/academicregulations/universitycore/) fine arts course. Theatre majors may not receive credit for both THTR 1223 and THTR 1003/THTR 1003H.

2 Fulfills Fulbright College writing requirement.

Writing Requirement: The Fulbright College research/analytical paper requirement for theatre majors will be fulfilled in THTR 4233 or THTR 4333. Satisfactory completion of an honors project or senior thesis may fulfill the requirement.

Senior Capstone: All theatre majors are required, in the semester before graduation, to successfully complete the Senior Capstone, a faculty assessment of each student’s accomplishments in performance and production.

In addition, all theatre majors must complete 21 hours from one of two concentration areas of study: Design and Technology or Performance.

1 Students who complete THTR 1003 to satisfy this Theatre B.A. requirement must take one additional university fine arts core course. Theatre majors may not receive credit for both THTR 1223 and THTR 1003.
1 Students who have already taken THTR 1003 or THTR 1003H may substitute this course for THTR 1223 and must also complete one additional University Core (http://catalog.uark.edu/undergraduatecatalog/academicregulations/universitycore/) fine arts course. Theatre majors may not receive credit for both THTR 1223 and THTR 1003/THTR 1003H.

2 Fulfills Fulbright College writing requirement.

Writing Requirement: The Fulbright College research/analytical paper requirement for theatre majors will be fulfilled in THTR 4233 or THTR 4333. Satisfactory completion of an honors project or senior thesis may fulfill the requirement.

Senior Capstone: All theatre majors are required, in the semester before graduation, to successfully complete the Senior Capstone, a faculty assessment of each student's accomplishments in performance and production.

Theatre B.A. with Concentration in Performance

Eight-Semester Degree Program

Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) in the Academic Regulations chapter for University requirements of the program. Core requirement hours may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all core requirements are met, students may substitute a three-hour (or more) general elective in place of a core area.

All theatre majors are required to take an additional two hours of THTR 3001 Production Practicum, one hour to be taken each academic year. Consult Theatre Adviser for more information on these credits.

1 THTR 1003 may be substituted for THTR 1223 if the student has already taken the course. Theatre majors should enroll in THTR 1223.
2 Meets 40-hour advanced credit hour requirement. See College Academic Regulations (p. 271).
3 Meets 24-hour rule (24 hours of 3000-4000 level courses in Fulbright College), in addition to meeting the 40-hour rule. See College Academic Regulations (p. 271).
4 Students must complete two semesters of THTR 3001 prior to graduation; however, no more than 2 credits of THTR 3001 may be taken.

Requirements for a Minor in Theatre: A minimum of 18 semester hours in theatre, including THTR 1223 or THTR 1003 or THTR 1003H. One of the following courses or course/lab combinations is also required: THTR 1313, or THTR 1323 and THTR 1321L, or THTR 1683. The remaining hours must be selected from courses at the 3000- or 4000-level, the specific courses to be determined by the student in consultation with a theatre department faculty adviser. The student must notify the department of his or her intent to minor.

Requirements for Graduation with Honors in Theatre: Both the College and the Departmental Honors Program in Theatre provide undergraduate students with an opportunity to participate formally in creative and/or scholarly activities. Honors candidates carry out independent study and research under the guidance of the Theatre faculty and participate in special honors classes, seminars and colloquia. Admission to the Fulbright Honors Program is open to Theatre majors with a minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.5 in all of their coursework. Honors candidates must complete a minimum of 12 hours of honors courses, three of which will be THTR 399VH Honors Thesis. (THTR 399VH may be repeated for up to six of these 12 hours.) To successfully complete the required thesis, students should choose an honors thesis adviser as early as possible. An adviser should be selected, and an Honors Agreement completed, no later than the first semester in a student’s junior year.

Honors candidates must meet the college’s requirements for an honors degree. Students graduating with honors will typically be recognized with the distinction “Theatre Scholar Cum Laude.” Higher degree distinctions (magna cum laude and summa cum laude) are awarded by the Honors Council, are recommended only in truly exceptional cases, and are based upon the whole of the candidate’s program of honors studies.

An analytical approach to the actor's art with emphasis on the techniques of characterization. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

THTR 1883. Acting I for Theatre Majors. 3 Hours.
An introductory acting studio course for theatre majors, exploring the physical, vocal, and imaginative processes required for performance of dramatic texts, and building a vocabulary and technique for acting through exercises and scene-work that will build a foundation for theatre classes within the major. Prerequisite: THTR 1223, or THTR 1683 or THTR 1883. (Typically offered: Fall)

THTR 2313. Fundamentals of Theatrical Design. 3 Hours.
Principles and practices of theatre design including the elements of design and the fundamental principles of art and its application to the areas of set, costume, lighting and sound design. This course studies the designer's role in the production process, design requirements, and aesthetics. Emphasis on the basic principles of two-dimensional art and graphic forms through the use of various media. (Typically offered: Fall)

THTR 2461. Alexander Technique Lessons. 1 Hour.
Students will become aware of habitual patterns of tension and how these patterns interfere with performance, learning, and overall health. The Technique offers practical skills for improving coordination and for re-gaining a sense of ease of movement in all activities. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

THTR 2483. Stage Movement for the Actor. 3 Hours.
Instruction incorporates physical warm-up strategies and exercises designed to improve relaxation; develop flexibility, alignment, strength, kinesthetic awareness, and appreciation of mind/body unity; and to connect stage movement to imagination, character development, and text. Techniques covered include Alexander training, Michael Chekhov work, dance, theater games and gentle yoga practice. Prerequisite: THTR 1223 and (THTR 1683 or THTR 1883). (Typically offered: Fall)

THTR 2513. Drafting for the Theatre. 3 Hours.
Covers basic technical drawing and graphic skills necessary to communicate design ideas to fellow artisans. Both production and design-oriented drafting will be explored using both hand drafting and computer techniques. Prerequisite: THTR 1323 or instructor consent. (Typically offered: Fall Even Years)

THTR 2683. Acting II. 3 Hours.
An acting studio course deepening the exploration of techniques introduced in Acting I, including expanded work on characterization and script analysis through exercises, scene-work and monologue performance. Prerequisite: THTR 1223 or THTR 1003 or THTR 1003H and (THTR 1683 or THTR 1883). (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

THTR 3001. Production Practicum. 1 Hour.
Credit for participation in technical assignments related to mainstage or faculty-directed productions: one (1) credit hour per production. Assignments shall be determined by the faculty. Credit will be awarded only after completion of assignments and only with faculty approval. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring) May be repeated for up to 2 hours of degree credit.

THTR 3011. Performance Practicum. 1 Hour.
Credit for participation in faculty directed productions; one credit hour per production. Assignments shall be determined by the faculty. Credit will be awarded only after satisfactory completion of assignment and with faculty approval. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring) May be repeated for up to 2 hours of degree credit.

THTR 3213. Costume Design. 3 Hours.
Study of the art and practice of stage costume design. Emphasis on the expression of character through costume. Development of rendering and research skills. Prerequisite: THTR 2313. (Typically offered: Fall Even Years)

THTR 3243. Costume Technology. 3 Hours.
Advanced methods of costume construction techniques and the exploration of theatrical pattern drafting will be practiced through projects. Prerequisite: THTR 1313. (Typically offered: Irregular)

THTR 3433. Stage Speech. 3 Hours.
An introduction to the basic skills of speech, voice production and communication for performance and broadcasting. Special focus on General American speech and the characteristics of speech regionalisms. The course will explore breath control, resonance, articulation, pitch, volume, voice quality and stress management. Prerequisite: THTR 1223 and either THTR 1683 or THTR 1883. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

THTR 3463. Introduction to the Alexander Technique. 3 Hours.
The Alexander Technique helps us to become aware of habits of tension and how these patterns interfere with performance, learning, and overall health. The technique offers a systematic process of re-learning how to move with more ease and coordination in all activities. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 12 hours of degree credit.

THTR 3653. Directing I. 3 Hours.
Basic principles and techniques of play direction, including play analysis, audition and rehearsal organization, staging and collaborating with actors. Prerequisite: Theatre major and junior or senior standing, or instructor consent. Prerequisite: THTR 1223 or THTR 1003 or THTR 1003H, and THTR 1313, THTR 1323 and THTR 2683. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)
THTR 3663. Acting Scene Study. 3 Hours.
An advanced acting studio building on techniques introduced in Acting I and II. Intensive work on script analysis, emotional preparation, awakening the imagination, characterization, partner work and playing action. Prerequisite: THTR 1683 or THTR 1883 and THTR 2683. (Typically offered: Spring)

THTR 3673. Auditioning for the Theatre. 3 Hours.
An advanced acting course, focusing on theatrical monopolies and developing the actor's confidence and ability in theatre auditioning. In simulated auditions, students develop and explore contrasting monopolies, including contemporary and classical pieces, comedy, and drama. Students practice speaking techniques, cold and prepared callbacks, musical auditions, video submissions, and resume preparation. Prerequisite: (THTR 1683 or THTR 1883) and THTR 2683. (Typically offered: Irregular)

THTR 3683. Stage Management. 3 Hours.
Principles of stage management in the context of academic and professional theatre production. Issues of theatre management and producing are addressed as they relate to play production activities. Prerequisite: THTR 1223 or THTR 1003 or THTR 1003H and THTR 1313, THTR 1323. (Typically offered: Fall)

THTR 3733. Lighting Design. 3 Hours.
The study of the practical application and technology of stage lighting including history, electricity, conventional and moving lighting instruments, dimming systems, consoles and control systems and related paperwork. Ten lab hours to coincide with departmental productions is required. Prerequisite: THTR 1323 and THTR 2313. (Typically offered: Spring Odd Years)

THTR 3903. Theatrical Makeup. 3 Hours.
The techniques and skills of theatrical makeup and design involved in the creation and execution of character makeup for the stage. Prerequisite: THTR 1313. (Typically offered: Spring Odd Years) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

THTR 3923H. Honors Colloquium. 3 Hours.
Treats a special topic or issue, offered as part of the honors program. Prerequisite: Honors candidacy (not restricted to candidacy in THTR). (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for degree credit.

THTR 399VH. Honors Thesis. 1-6 Hour.
The Honor student will complete a thesis. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 12 hours of degree credit.

World Languages, Literatures and Cultures Website (http://fulbright.uark.edu/departments/world-languages/)

The world languages requirement among the basic courses is satisfied based on each separate department's undergraduate degree program. Students should consult their adviser to confirm the total number of courses needed to satisfy their departmental world language requirement. Students who, on the basis of prior knowledge of language, omit one or more courses in the basic language sequence (1003-2013) may receive college credit for omitted courses if they validate their higher placement by passing an advanced course with a grade of "C" or above.

Conversation courses (3033, 4033) and self-paced (correspondence) courses may not be used to validate such prior knowledge.

For majors in Greek and Latin, go to Classical Studies (p. 348).

For information on advanced degrees in world languages, go to the Graduate School Catalog.

Requirements for B.A. in Arabic

Requirements for a Major in Arabic: In addition to the state minimum core (p. 96) and the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences Graduation Requirements (http://catalog.uark.edu/undergraduatecatalog/collegesandschools/williamfulbrightcollegeofartsandsciences/), the following departmental and major course requirements must be met.

State Minimum Core

Six hours of language-related courses to be fulfilled by completing six hours of a single world language different than the major, or six hours from any combination of language-related area/ethnic studies courses, department-approved WLLC courses (such as WLLC 2413, WLLC 3173, WLLC 4023, WLLC 4033), or classical studies (CLST) courses.

Arabic Courses (24 hours)

ARAB 3016 Intensive Arabic I
ARAB 4016 Intensive Arabic IV
ARAB 3033 Colloquial Arabic

ARAB 4023 Advanced Arabic I
Six hours of ARAB electives 3000-level or higher in language, literature, and culture, selected in consultation with the major advisor.

Additional Studies Requirement
55 additional credit hours required for the degree must include whatever coursework is necessary for the completion of an additional major or minor in any field other than Arabic, or completion of the College Honors core. Within these 55 hours, also, 6 credit hours must be completed towards the University Residency Requirement, and 16 credit hours must be completed towards the 40-hour Rule. Any remaining credit hours can be completed as general electives or applied towards further additional major or minor requirements.

Total Hours 120

1 ARAB 1016 and ARAB 2016 or equivalent may be required prior to taking ARAB 3016.

1 FREN 1003, 1013, 2003, and 2013 or equivalent may be required prior to taking FREN 3003.

Writing Requirement: The college writing requirement may be satisfied by a term paper or other written work submitted for an upper-division world language literature class approved by the chair of the department.

French B.A. Eight-Semester Degree Program

Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) for university requirements of the program. The following eight-semester plan refers to both University Core and additional departmental requirements as presented above. Hours may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all core and departmental requirements are met, students may substitute a three-hour (or more) general elective in place of a core area.

Requirements for and Additional Major in French for Non-Arts and Science Students

Students in colleges and schools other than the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences (Business; Education; Engineering; Agricultural, Food, & Life Sciences; Architecture) must complete 24 hours of coursework in French at the 3000-level and above. This is the same amount of coursework in French in the undergraduate major in French in Fulbright College.

The normal course sequence of FREN courses fulfilling the major requirements for non-native speakers is as follows:

Credit hours required for the degree must include whatever coursework is necessary for the completion of an additional major or minor in any field other than Spanish, or completion of the College Honors core. Within these 52 hours, also, 3 credit hours must be completed toward the University Residency Requirement, and 13 credit hours must be completed toward the 40-hour Rule. Any remaining credit hours can be completed as general electives or applied toward further additional minor or major requirements.

Total Hours  120

1 SPAN 1003, SPAN 1013, SPAN 2003, and SPAN 2013 or equivalent may be required prior to taking SPAN 3003.
2 Students considering future graduate work in Spanish are strongly advised to take both the Spanish and Latin American literature surveys (SPAN 4103 or SPAN 4113 and SPAN 4133 or SPAN 4193).

Writing Requirement: The college writing requirement may be satisfied by a term paper or other written work submitted for an upper-division world language literature class approved by the chair of the department.

Spanish B.A.
Eight-Semester Degree Program
Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) for university requirements of the program. The following eight-semester plan refers to both University Core and additional departmental requirements as presented above. Hours may vary by individual, based on placement and previous credit granted. Once all core and departmental requirements are met, students may substitute a three-hour (or more) general elective in place of a core requirement.

Requirements for an Additional Major in Spanish for Non-Arts and Sciences Students:

Students with majors in colleges and schools other than the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences (Business, Education, Engineering, Agriculture, Architecture) can complete an additional major in Spanish by completing 27 hours of coursework in Spanish at the 3000-level and above. This is the same amount of coursework in Spanish in the undergraduate major in Spanish in Fulbright College.

The normal course sequence of SPAN courses fulfilling the major requirements for non-native speakers is as follows:

SPAN 3003 Advanced Spanish
SPAN 3103 Cultural Readings
SPAN 3033 Conversation and Composition
SPAN 3113 Introduction to Literature
SPAN 4003 Advanced Grammar
SPAN 4000-level electives in literature, culture, or special topic
SPAN 4623 Advanced Proficiency in Spanish (or SPAN 4000-level elective in literature, culture, or special topic)

Total Hours: 27

Substitutions for courses in this list can be approved by Spanish major advisors (for example, for study abroad transfers, and for students who are heritage and native speakers of Spanish).

Requirements for Honors in World Languages: The Honors Program in World Languages gives students of high ability the opportunity to conduct independent research culminating in an honors thesis. In addition to satisfying general graduation requirements and all requirements for honors separately established by the Honors Council, candidates for honors in World Languages must:

1. Complete 12 hours of honors credit. One to six of these may be honors thesis hours; the remaining hours should be taken in disciplines chosen in consultation with the adviser;
2. Complete an honors thesis in the major field, and pass an oral examination on the thesis conducted by an honors committee, as evidence of substantial individual research skills;
3. Demonstrate superior competence in language, culture, and literature by achieving a GPA of 3.5 in all upper-division courses submitted for the major.

Successful completion of these requirements will be recognized by the award of the distinction “Language Scholar Cum Laude.” Higher degree distinctions are recommended only in truly exceptional cases and are based upon the whole of the candidate’s program of honors studies.

Registration in Junior/Senior-Level Walton College Courses

Walton College students must complete the pre-business requirements prior to enrollment in junior- or senior-level courses in Walton College.

Non-degree seeking students and students enrolled in other colleges are subject to the same course prerequisites as students within Walton College. Specific exceptions to this policy must be addressed to the executive director for undergraduate programs in Walton College.

Restrictions on General Education Electives: Only three hours total of general education electives will be allowed in Physical Education Activity (PEAC) or Dance Education Activity (DEAC) courses.

Transfer of Credit Policies

In addition to the university policies controlling the granting of credit for course work taken at other institutions, the following policies apply to transfer work applied to any undergraduate business program:

1. Transfer students considering admission to pursue a major in Walton College must have completed the pre-business courses and requirements listed above and have a 2.50 (on a 4.00 scale) cumulative grade-point average in the pre-business courses and in his or her overall grade-point average. Transfer students will be classified as pre-business students until pre-business core requirements have been completed.

2. A pre-business and overall grade-point average for courses accepted for transfer by the University of Arkansas will be calculated and used to evaluate the completion of the pre-business requirements by students transferring courses from other institutions.

3. Unless exceptions are granted at the time of admission to the University of Arkansas, transfer courses accepted by the university will not be accepted by Walton College for degree purposes unless a grade of “C” or better has been earned in each of these courses. (See the university Transfer of Credit page (p. 104).)

4. A transferred course cannot carry more degree hours than are available in a similar University of Arkansas course. For example, a four-hour principles of economics course transfers as three degree hours.

5. Business courses completed at the freshman or sophomore level at another institution will not count as equivalents of junior- or senior-level courses offered in Walton College (University of Arkansas), and no transfer credit shall be granted for any such course(s) in Walton College.

6. At least 50 percent of program requirements in business and economics must be taken in residence.

7. MGMT 3013, 21-24 hours of upper division courses required for the completion of the major, and 3-6 hours of additional, upper division business courses are required degree must be taken in residence at the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville.

8. Junior- or senior-level core courses in business and economics may be transferred from a school accredited by AACSB International.

1. Degree candidates must meet the university’s general graduation requirements. The university requires that 1) the student take a minimum of 30 semester hours over the requirements for the first degree, and 2) the 30 hours cover a minimum of 36 weeks in residency at the Fayetteville campus. Walton College also requires that the student complete all courses in the pre-business and business core and the major and any additional business requirements (if some of these have been completed on the first degree, they are waived). It is recommended that any additional courses needed to finish the university’s 30-hour requirement be junior or senior business electives. The second degree may be taken after the first is awarded, or both degrees may be awarded simultaneously after completion of all requirements for both.

2. University Requirements. Degree candidates must meet the following: the university’s general entrance requirements, number of credit hours required in residence, and the “requirements for graduation,” including the University Core American history.

3. Hour Requirements. Degree candidates must satisfactorily complete the total number of semester hours specified for the curriculum in courses approved for one of the majors outlined in the succeeding pages. No less than 50 percent of the total credits must be in approved subjects other than business.

NOTE: Not all courses offered by the university will be accepted for degree credit by Walton College. Courses falling into this category are remedial are not acceptable for degree credit.
3. Grade Requirements. Students must earn a grade of "C" or better in all pre-business core course requirements. Each student must have a 2.00 cumulative GPA in each of the following areas:
   a. All work completed at the University of Arkansas.
   b. All courses specifically designated for the major.
   c. All required business core courses and required economics courses.

4. General Education Course Work. A student’s general education course work must satisfy University Core Requirements, additional college/program course-specific requirements, as well as these two area requirements:
   a. Social Issues, Multicultural Environment, and Demographic Diversity.
   b. Micro and Macroeconomics. If a student has not satisfied these area requirements within the fine arts and/or social sciences areas of the university core, these area requirements must be satisfied through general education electives to allow students to complete degree requirements within the hours indicated above.

Courses that satisfy these area requirements are listed below. NOTE that many of these courses will also satisfy University Core Requirements. Where possible, a student should select courses that satisfy both requirements.

Specifically, required junior and senior courses in business or economics must be taken at the University of Arkansas or at an AACSB accredited school. At least 50 percent of the total hours in business and economics must be taken in residence.

6. Catalog/Curriculum Changes. Business is a dynamic profession, and the college and department curricula are updated continuously to keep pace with changes in the business world. Students entering under this catalog will be required to comply with such curricular changes to earn their degree. The total number of hours required for the degree, however, may not be increased, and all work completed in accordance with this catalog prior to the curriculum change will be applied toward the student’s degree requirements. Furthermore, courses incorporated into the curriculum at a level lower than the one the student has completed are not required for that student unless there are specific prerequisites. Students entering under earlier catalogs are responsible for completing the graduation requirements as published in the catalog in effect when they entered the program. Students having interruptions of their academic programs that exceed two calendar years must complete the requirements published in the catalog in effect when they re-enter the program. Exceptions to the graduation requirements must be approved by the executive director for undergraduate programs.

The Walton College offers an eight-semester degree-completion program. In each of the majors listed in this chapter, at least one eight-semester schedule is shown. Some majors offer several concentrations, and eight-semester programs are available for each of the concentrations.

See more about the university’s Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86).

Graduate Studies

The University of Arkansas offers the following advanced degrees in business: Master of Accountancy, Master of Applied Business Analytics, Master of Business Administration, Master of Arts in Economics, Master of Information Systems, Master of Professional Accounting, Master of Science in Finance, Master of Science in Economic Analytics, Master of Science in Supply Chain Management, Doctor of Philosophy in Business Administration, and Doctor of Philosophy in Economics.

For further information about these programs and requirements for admission, see the Graduate School Catalog or write to the assistant director of marketing and recruiting, Graduate School of Business, 475 Willard J. Walker Hall.

Accreditations

The college has been a member of and accredited by AACSB International-The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business since 1931. The accounting program was accredited separately in 1986 at both the bachelor’s and master’s level. The master’s degree in the business administration program was approved in 1963. Accreditation by and membership in AACSB signifies commitment by the college to the goals of promoting and actualizing the highest standards of business education.

Minors in the J. William Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences

Students in Walton College may pursue an academic minor in the J. William Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences. Academic minors usually consist of 15 to 18 hours of course work. The available minors and course requirements are specified in the Fulbright College section of this catalog. Students must notify the Undergraduate Programs Office in Walton College of their intention to pursue a minor as early as possible. Walton College will certify that the requirements of the minor have been satisfied by graduation and, with the assistance of the Fulbright College, will advise students on the requirements to complete a minor. The minor will be designated on the student’s transcript.

Courses that are part of the University Core Requirements or the additional General Education Requirements or any other non-business course that is part of a student’s course of study may also be counted for credit in a minor. For example, ANTH 1023 Introduction to Cultural Anthropology, is a concentration in the B.S.B.A. social science block and can also be used to satisfy the requirements of the anthropology minor. Other courses in a minor can be counted as general education electives. Walton College economics majors in the business economics concentration or the international economics and business concentration may not obtain a Fulbright College minor in economics.

Business Administration Minors for Non-Business Students

Read about the options for non-business students to pursue business administration minors (p. 674).
Other Programs

Internships

Internships are opportunities for students to gain degree and non-degree related work experience prior to graduation. It is a planned, progressive educational strategy in which the student obtains work experience related to his or her academic major or minor and career goals. Participating students earn academic credit for their work experiences and are always paid by their employers. Students can maintain their status as full-time students while participating in an internship, even if their internship requires they spend a semester working full-time.

Walton College students are eligible for academic credit related to an internship if they have 1) completed the pre-business core and have obtained at least 60 hours of credit, 2) a cumulative grade-point average of 2.5 or better, and 3) a grade-point average of 2.5 or better for the last full-term term completed. Students may receive one hour of credit per semester for a job that requires 120 or more total hours worked or two hours of credit per semester for a job that requires 180 hours or more total hours worked. A maximum of six hours of degree credit may be awarded as a junior- senior-level business elective. Students may utilize credit toward major or minor course requirements as approved. Full-time students who work 240 or more total hours in an approved internship are eligible for three hours of academic credit per semester, or per full summer, provided they have a minimum GPA of 2.5, as well as having received a GPA of at least 2.5 in the prior full-term semester. Students may seek either to qualify a job they have found themselves for internship credit, or they may seek an employment opportunity through the Walton Career Services, Willard J. Walker Hall 226. The employment opportunity may be either a full-time, off-campus work assignment that alternates with semesters spent on campus taking courses (an alternating internship), or it may be a part-time job undertaken concurrently with course work (a parallel internship). Once a student has been matched with an approved job, the internship coordinator, the faculty advisor, the student's work place supervisor, and the student work together to formulate career-related learning objectives for the coming semester of work. These objectives must be in writing and in to the internship coordinator or faculty advisor in order for a student to be registered for internship credit. At the end of each semester of work, the student is required to submit a three- to ten-page paper (depending on credit hours to be received) that re-states the student's learning objectives for the semester and discusses how the job experience fulfilled the objectives. The student is also required to submit an employer evaluation form, and the work supervisor is asked to submit an evaluation of the student's work.

For information on participating in Walton College internship programs, a current listing of internship opportunities, and phone numbers of people with whom you may discuss these opportunities, visit the Career Services home page at waltoncollege.uark.edu (http://waltoncollege.uark.edu/coop/).

Honors Program

Walton College honors program consists of two components: the four-year Walton Scholars Program and the Departmental Scholars Program. Students participating in the honors program will be eligible to graduate cum laude, magna cum laude, or summa cum laude. Students who do not participate in the honors program are eligible to graduate with distinction, a classification separate from the cum laude awards. Honors program students will receive priority for participation in the Arkansas Cooperative Education Program, SAKE, the portfolio management class, and financial support for study-abroad programs. They also have access to an honors study area.

Graduation with Honors

The bachelor's degree summa cum laude (with highest honors), magna cum laude (with high honors), or cum laude (with honors) may be conferred only upon those students who have successfully completed the Walton College Honors Program. Both Walton Scholars and Departmental Scholars are eligible for these designations. Students whose cumulative grade-point average place them in the top 10 percent of their graduating class but who have not completed the Honors Program are eligible for the designation "With Distinction" on their official transcript. Among those students completing the Honors Program, the designations summa cum laude, magna cum laude and cum laude shall be determined as follows:

- Top 20 percent of students completing the Honors Program: Summa Cum Laude
- Next 30 percent of students completing the Honors Program: Magna Cum Laude
- Next 50 percent of students completing the Honors Program: Cum Laude

No honors degree will be conferred upon a candidate who has not completed at least 50 percent of his or her degree work at the University of Arkansas or who, in the last four semesters of attendance, has a cumulative grade-point average of less than 3.00 or has received a “D” or “F” in any course in the last semester. Certain other requirements will be outlined on request by the associate dean for undergraduate studies.

Eligibility for the Honors Program

Admission will be offered to incoming freshmen with a minimum ACT/ SAT score of 28/1240 or higher and a high school GPA of 3.75. Honors students are required to maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.50 with no grades of “D” or “F” in any course to remain in the program. All honors students are required to meet with the associate director for honors programs each semester to monitor progress of honors requirements. Students who maintain a GPA of 3.50 but do not complete honors requirements in a timely manner are subject to removal from the Honors Program at the discretion of the director of the honors program.

Probation Guidelines

a. Honors Enrollment Exceptions

If students are admitted into the Walton Honors program as first-semester freshmen with the qualifying criteria (3.75 minimum HS GPA and 28 ACT/1310 SAT), and have their HS GPA recalculated to be lower than the qualifying criteria after successful admission, those students will be placed on a one-semester probation during their first semester at the University of Arkansas.

b. First Time on Probation Students

Members of the Walton Honors program must maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.50 or higher. Should a student's GPA fall below 3.50, that student will be placed on honors probation for the following semester. During this probationary period, the student will retain the privileges of membership in the Walton Honors Program and Honors College, and they will have the chance to raise their cumulative University of Arkansas GPA to 3.50. If at the end of the probationary semester the student's cumulative GPA remains below 3.50, the student will be removed from the Walton Honors program and the Honors College, with the following exception. Students whose semester GPA was above 3.75 during their first probationary semester will be granted a single additional probationary semester. If at the end of the second probationary semester the student’s cumulative GPA remains below 3.50, the student will be removed from the Walton Honors program.

Requirements for Walton Scholars Program:

1. Complete 17 hours in honors courses with a minimum of 9 hours completed from the following honors business courses: ACCT 2013H, BLAW 2013H, ECON 2013H, ECON 2023H, ISYS 2103H, MGMT 2103H, MKTG 3433H, SCMT 2103H, or WCOB 1033H (excluding WCOB 1111H). The remaining honors hours may be selected from the University Core. Completing honors courses in the Fulbright College will fulfill this requirement. MATH 2564 may be used as honors credit towards completion of the 17 required honors hours. Students must complete a minimum of 12 honors hours within the first 30 hours at the Fayetteville campus.

2. Demonstrate proficiency in a foreign language. This requires 0 to 12 hours of course work. Students may demonstrate proficiency by completing the 2013-level course in any foreign language. Students whose native language is not English must complete a 2013-level course other than their native language from Arabic, Chinese, French, German, Italian, Japanese, Spanish, or COMM 2303 and COMM 2323. Students must complete a foreign language or communications course within the first 50 hours at the Fayetteville campus.

3. Students must also complete MATH 2554 with a grade of “C” within the first 45 hours at the Fayetteville campus prior to taking upper level business classes.

4. Complete the following honors courses in Walton College:
   a. Two 3-hour colloquium courses chosen from the following: WCOB 3003H (may be repeated for up to 6 hours of credit), ACCT 4003H, ACCT 4123H, ECON 4003H, FINN 4003H, MKTG 4003H, SCMT 4003H, HNRC 300VH, HNRC 301VH, or HNRC 4013H (other honors colloquium courses (3000/4000 level only) offered in other colleges with approval of the Honors Director). The following courses may be repeated for up to 6 hours of credit with prior approval: WCOB 3003H, ACCT 4003H, ECON 4003H, FINN 4003H, MKTG 4003H, SCMT 4003H, MATH 2564. At least 3 hours of honors colloquium courses must be from the Walton College. Any course outside the Walton College would ordinarily count toward fulfilling general education electives and would not count toward junior/senior business elective credit.
   b. A three-hour thesis (WCOB 499VH): The thesis is a major independent writing project under the leadership of a Walton College or University of Arkansas faculty member and arises from a research project, business plan, business competition, or internship.

5. Complete an alternate honors capstone course MGMT 3013H Honors Strategic Management, which should be completed within the first 90 hours at the Fayetteville campus.

Requirements for the Departmental Scholars program:

Admission to the Honors Program as a departmental scholar will only be offered to current University of Arkansas students who have established a cumulative GPA of 3.75 upon completion of their freshmen year at the University of Arkansas. Transfer students may also apply upon completion of one semester at the University of Arkansas with a GPA of 3.75. All students must complete an application to be considered for acceptance into the departmental scholars program.

Honors students are required to maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.50 with no grades of “D” or “F” in any course to remain in the program. All honors students are required to meet with the associate director for honors programs each semester to monitor progress of honors requirements. Students who maintain a GPA of 3.50 but do not complete honors requirements in a timely manner are subject to removal from the Honors Program at the discretion of the director of the honors program.

1. Complete 9 hours of honors courses to be selected from pre-business core or University Core. MATH 2564 may be used as honors credit towards completion of the 9 required honors hours.

2. Students must demonstrate proficiency in a foreign language by completing a 2003 course in any foreign language. Students whose native language is not English must complete a 2003-level course other than their native language or a third language from Arabic, Chinese, French, German, Italian, Japanese, Spanish or COMM 2303.

3. Students must also complete with a grade of “C” or better within the first 60 hours at the Fayetteville campus and prior to taking upper level business courses.

4. Complete the following courses in Walton College:
   a. Two 3-hour colloquium courses chosen from the following: WCOB 3003H (May be repeated for up to 6 hours of credit), ACCT 4003H, ACCT 4123H, ECON 4003H, FINN 4003H, MKTG 4003H, SCMT 4003H, HNRC 300VH, HNRC 301VH, HNRC 4013H (other honors colloquium courses (3000/4000 level only) offered in other colleges with approval of the Honors Director). The following courses may be repeated for up to 6 hours of credit with prior approval: WCOB 3003H, ACCT 4003H, ECON 4003H, HNRC 300VH, HNRC 301VH, HNRC 4013H, or any honors colloquium courses (3000/4000 level only) offered in other colleges with approval of the Honors Director). The following courses may be repeated for up to 6 hours of credit with prior approval: WCOB 3003H, ACCT 4003H, ECON 4003H, FINN 4003H, MKTG 4003H, SCMT 4003H. At least 3 hours of honors colloquium courses must be from the Walton College. Any course outside the Walton College would count toward fulfilling general education electives and would not count toward junior/senior business elective credit.
   b. A three-hour thesis (WCOB 499VH): The thesis is a major independent writing project under the leadership of a Walton College or University of Arkansas faculty member and arises from a research project, business plan, business competition, or internship.

5. Complete the honors capstone course MGMT 3013H Honors Strategic Management, which should be completed within the first 90 hours at the Fayetteville campus.

Academic Integrity Policy for Honors Students

All Walton College honors students are held to the highest standard with regard to academic achievement and academic integrity. Students violating the Academic Integrity Policy that receive a sanction of 1.0 or greater at the University of Arkansas will be permanently removed from the Walton College Honors Program without the ability to reapply. The student may appeal the decision to the University’s Academic Integrity Board; if the sanction is overturned and removed, the student will be reinstated into the Walton College Honors Program.

B.S.B.A. Requirements

The Bachelor of Science in Business Administration (B.S.B.A.) degree is offered through an educational program in the business and organizational disciplines intended to prepare individuals to make sustained contributions to organizations and society in a global, diverse, and dynamic environment. To achieve this objective the curriculum focuses on developing an individual’s interdisciplinary problem-solving skills, interpersonal and communication skills, ability to adapt to changing technology, spirit of entrepreneurial innovation, and ethical and professional values.

Walton College offers work in the following nine majors for the B.S.B.A. degree. Some majors have concentrations to allow additional specialization.

1. Accounting (p. 608) (ACCT)
2. Business Economics (p. 632) (BECO)
   a. Business Economics
   b. International Economics and Business
3. Finance (p. 638) (FINN)
   a. Banking
   b. Energy Finance
   c. Financial Management/Investment
   d. Real Estate
   e. Risk Management
4. General Business (p. 656) (GBUS)
5. Information Systems (p. 650) (ISYS)
   a. Blockchain Enterprise Systems
   b. Business Analytics
   c. Enterprise Resource Planning
6. Management (p. 656) (MGMT)
   a. Human Resource Management
   b. Small Business and Entrepreneurship
   c. Organizational Leadership
7. Marketing (p. 662) (MKTG)
8. Retail (p. 662) (RETL)
9. Supply Chain Management (p. 668) (SCMT)

Requirements for B.S.B.A. Degree

Students pursuing a degree in Walton College are classified as pre-business with an intended major until all pre-business requirements are fulfilled. To enroll in upper-division courses, a student must obtain at least a 2.50 (on a 4.00 scale) overall grade-point average in addition to the completion of all pre-business core courses (or equivalents), also with a minimum 2.50 GPA. Further, a student must earn a grade of "C" or better in each pre-business core course for admission into the major or for the graduation requirement.

Total Hours 120

1 Pre-Business requirement: These 31 hours must be completed with a GPA of 2.50, an overall GPA of 2.5, and a grade of 'C' or better in each course before a student is allowed to take upper-division business courses. Students intending to pursue a major or minor in Accounting or Finance must complete ACCT 2023.

2 Students majoring in Finance with Energy Finance Concentration must complete GEOS 1133/GEOS 1131L for one of their natural science requirements.

3 A total of 12 hours of general education electives are required for the Bachelor of Science in Business Administration (B.S.B.A.). General education electives should be non-business courses but may include up to six total hours of business courses and no more than three hours of PEAC or DEAC courses. Students may utilize general education electives to complete a minor outside the Walton College. In addition, these electives may fulfill requirements for Social Issues, Multicultural Environment, and Demographic Diversity if not otherwise completed in the University Core. Students majoring in Finance with an Energy Finance Concentration must complete GEOS 4253 as one of their general education elective credits.

4 The additional 15 hours required for University Core are met with the completion of Pre-Business and Business Core. These courses are denoted in bold within the course list.

In addition to the core courses, each student will complete the required pre-business and business courses, junior- senior-level business electives, and major courses as specified by each major.

Each student must have a 2.00 cumulative grade-point average in each of the following areas: all work completed at this university, all courses specifically designated for the major, and all required Walton College core and economics courses. Students must earn a grade of “C” or better in each of the pre-business core courses.

Online B.S.B.A.

The Sam M. Walton College currently offers three undergraduate online degree programs. Business students may pursue an Online B.S.B.A. or minor in the areas of Accounting, General Business and Supply Chain Management. The Walton College Online B.S.B.A. degrees are intended to provide students the opportunity to enroll in a four-year degree program online. In addition, the online degrees afford students who have completed an Associate’s Degree in Business or those who are near completion of their business degree, the option to complete a B.S.B.A. with a major in General Business.

For more information, read more on the program pages:

• Online Accounting B.S.B.A. (p. 608)
• Online General Business B.S.B.A. (p. 647)
• Online Supply Chain Management B.S.B.A. (p. 668)

Online Minors for Business Students: Walton College majors may pursue online minors in Accounting (p. 609) and Supply Chain Management (p. 668).

Online Minors for Non-Business Students: Non-business students may also pursue online minors in Accounting, General Business and Supply Chain Management. For more information, visit the Minors for Non-Business Students page (p. 674).

B.S.I.B. Requirements

The Bachelor of Science in International Business degree is intended for students who wish to learn more about the international aspects of business. It provides preparation for a broad range of careers in business, including accounting, management, marketing, economics, information systems, finance, retail, and supply chain management. This degree is also well suited for students wishing to continue their studies in law, international affairs, or graduate education in business and economics.

This degree requires completion of the University Core and Walton College Core courses, as well as course work in international business, a single foreign language and an area of study related to that language. In addition, students must select a concentration in one of the following areas: accounting, business economics, information systems, finance, general business, management, marketing, retail or supply chain management.

Students pursuing a degree in the Sam M. Walton College of Business are classified as pre-business with an intended concentration until all pre-business requirements are fulfilled. For admission into the intended concentration, a student must obtain at least a 2.50 (on a 4.00 scale) overall grade-point average, in addition to the completion of all pre-business core courses listed elsewhere in the catalog (or equivalents), also with a minimum 2.50 grade-point average. Further, a student must earn a grade of “C” or better in each of the pre-business core courses for admission into the major or for the graduation requirement.

The International Business degree program has eight concentrations:

• Accounting
• Business Economics
• Finance
• General Business
• Information Systems
• Management
• Marketing
• Retail
• Supply Chain Management

In the eight-semester degree program for each concentration, the first four semesters of each of concentration are exactly the same.

Graduation Requirements for the B.S.I.B. Degree

Each student must have a 2.00 cumulative grade-point average in each of the following areas: all work completed at this university, all courses in the business core, and all designated international business courses/functional concentration/world language courses. In addition, students must earn a grade of “C” or better in each of the pre-business core courses.

Courses that are required in either Walton College or the international business core and also are required in one of the business concentrations cannot be used to satisfy both requirements. For example, students who take FINN 3703 to satisfy the finance concentration requirements cannot also use it to satisfy the international business requirements.

E. World Language Requirements (9 hours)*

Students whose native language is English or whose native language is not taught at the University of Arkansas must complete nine hours of university course work in a single world language — three hours of intermediate language and six hours of upper-division course work in communications and business language, or equivalent. Based on prior knowledge of language, students may receive degree credit for courses if they validate their higher placement by passing the business language course (or equivalent) with a grade of “C” or above. Students with no previous world language training or only rudimentary knowledge of a world language will be required to complete up to nine hours of additional world language requirements — in addition to the nine hours of specified language. No degree credit will be given for world language courses below 2003 course level. Students may select one of the following language tracks:

Students whose native language is not English but is taught at the University of Arkansas must select a third language from the list above or substitute six hours of upper-division English language courses (i.e., speech, writing, or U.S. literature), to be selected with the consent of an adviser and department chair. Those students whose native language is not taught at the University of Arkansas will normally be required to select a third language.

F. Area Studies Requirements (6 hours)*

For students taking a world language, six hours of upper-division coursework in the J. William Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences are required. Domestic students can satisfy this requirement in one of three ways:

1. Any upper division foreign language course,
2. Minor in a foreign language, and/or
3. Select upper division courses related to the world language to include:
   a. Arabic — any upper division course for Middle Eastern Studies (MEST) to include MEST 4003, MEST 4003H or additional courses listed under MEST in the university catalog
   b. Chinese/Japanese/Asian Studies — any upper division course for Asian Studies (AIST)
   c. French — any upper division course for EUST
   d. German — any upper division course for EUST, or additional courses listed under LALS in the university catalog
   e. Spanish — any upper division course for Latin American Studies (LALS) to include LALS 4003, LALS 4003H, or additional courses listed under LALS in the university catalog

International students may satisfy this requirement in one of two ways:

1. For students who choose to take a third language, area studies requirements are the same as those for domestic students.
2. For students who choose to take six hours of upper division English to satisfy their language requirement, nine hours of upper division coursework in the J. William Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences... pertaining to the United States to include any upper division course for American Studies (AMST) listed in the university catalog.

G. International Experience Requirement
At a minimum, a student must complete a study abroad program approved by the Walton College of at least four weeks and six credit hours, or work abroad, or work with the international division of a domestic company as part of their program. Students are strongly encouraged, but not required, to seek job experience in a company located in a country related to their foreign language requirement. International students may elect to meet this requirement by working in their home country by obtaining prior approval from their adviser and department chair.

H. Concentrations (21 hours)
Students must take seven courses in one of the following concentrations.

* Students may elect to substitute a Minor in Global Studies (Option 1 only) in lieu of the 9 hours of World Language and the 6 hours of Area Studies requirement for the Bachelor of Science in International Business.

International Business Minor for Business Students

The Walton College offers a minor for students desiring more knowledge in international programs to assist them with their business careers. The minor requires completion of 21 required hours of study (including equivalencies). The 21 hours include the following courses:

Select seven of the following:

- ECON 3843 Economic Development, Poverty & the Role of the World Bank and IMF in Low-Income Countries
- ECON 3853 Emerging Markets
- ECON 3933 The Japanese Economic System
- ECON 4633 International Trade
- ECON 4643 International Macroeconomics and Finance
- ECON 468V International Economics and Business Seminar
- FINN 3703 International Finance
- MGMT 4583 International Management
- MKTG 4633 Global Marketing
- 3 hours of Study Abroad led by Walton College faculty
- SCMT 3643 International Logistics
- Other – Department Chair approval needed

Total Hours: 21

Students must also complete six hours of intermediate foreign language.

Students whose native language is English or whose native language is not taught at the University of Arkansas must complete six hours of university course work in a single foreign language. Students who, on the basis of prior knowledge of language, omit one or both courses in the intermediate language sequence — at 2003 and 2013 level — may receive degree credit for omitted courses if they validate their higher placement by passing the business language course (or equivalent) with a grade of “C” or above. Students with no previous foreign language training or only rudimentary knowledge of a foreign language will be required to complete up to six hours of elementary foreign language. Students whose native language is not English but is taught at the University of Arkansas must select a third language from the list below, or substitute six hours of upper-division English language courses (i.e., speech, writing, or U.S. literature), to be selected with the consent of the department chair. Those students whose native language is not taught at the University of Arkansas will normally be required to select a third language.

Students may select from one of the following language tracks:

Arabic
- ARAB 2016 Intensive Arabic II 6

Chinese
- CHIN 2003 Intermediate Chinese I 3
- CHIN 2013 Intermediate Chinese II 3

French
- FREN 2003 Intermediate French I (ACTS Equivalency = FREN 2013) 3
- FREN 2013 Intermediate French II (ACTS Equivalency = FREN 2023) 3

German
The mission of the William T. Dillard Department of Accounting is to cultivate an environment of educational excellence. We do so by pursuing the following endeavors:

- Providing a learning environment in which students interact with others to identify and solve accounting and business problems.
- Developing and disseminating knowledge that has the potential for significant impact on accounting, business, and education.
- Interacting with the accounting profession, the business and academic communities, and the community at large.

The Department of Accounting offers an undergraduate degree program in accounting and graduate programs at both the master’s and doctoral levels. The department’s programs are accredited by the AACSB – The International Association for Management Education, which ensures quality and promotes excellence and continuous improvement in undergraduate and graduate education. In addition, the accounting department offers courses in Business Law.

Students who desire to earn an International Business minor must notify the Walton College Undergraduate Programs Office of their intent to pursue a minor. All requirements for the minor must be completed prior to the awarding of the student’s undergraduate degree. All specific course prerequisites must be met. Each student must have a 2.00 cumulative grade-point average in the courses offered for the minor. All upper level minor requirements must be taken in residence.

Junior/Senior Business Electives (12 hours)

Selection of electives should be made in consultation with academic advisors.

The following courses are highly recommended to satisfy the junior/senior business elective requirement if not used toward the major: ACCT 310V, ACCT 310VH, ACCT 3543, ACCT 410V, ACCT 4003H, FINN 3013, FINN 3103, ACCT 4123H, ISYS 4213 or any 3-hour Walton College Study Abroad Course. Students in the online program are encouraged to complete ACCT 310V, FINN 3013, ISYS 4213, or any 3-hour Walton College Study Abroad Course.

Maximum of 30 hours of ACCT courses in department (core, major, elective). More than 30 hours allowed if the extra courses are part of interdisciplinary minor or collateral track.

Accounting Students are encouraged to utilize ACCT 310V in the Spring of Year 4 for Internship Credit as a business elective (in combination with compressed sections of ACCT 3543 and ACCT 4673). To do so requires the student to defer 3 credit hours of General Education electives to an alternative Fall, Spring, or Summer semester. This also strengthens the ability of the student to transition into the Masters of Accounting Program.

Accounting B.S.B.A.
Eight-Semester Degree Program:
Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) in the Academic Regulations
chapter for university requirements of the program.

Courses in BOLD must be taken in the designated semester. Courses in ITALIC may be taken in varied sequences as long as other designated requirements for these courses are met. Although other courses listed are not required to be completed in the designated sequence, the recommendations below are preferred.

Total Hours 15

Students who desire to earn an Accounting minor must notify the Walton College Undergraduate Programs Office of intent to pursue a minor. All requirements for the minor must be completed prior to the awarding of the student’s undergraduate degree. All specific course prerequisites must be met. Each student must have a 2.00 cumulative grade-point average in the courses offered for the minor. All upper level minor requirements must be taken in residence.

Admission

Students are admitted to the integrated program according to the following requirements. Admission is granted only for the fall semester; Feb. 15 of the Junior year is the application deadline for those who wish to begin the integrated program the following fall. Students interested in this program must have completed 90 credit hours of study towards the baccalaureate degree (including ACCT 2013, ACCT 3723 and ACCT 3843) by the Feb. 15 deadline.

Acceptance into the integrated program is based upon the discretion of the admissions committee. The committee considers the overall quality of the applications, including the overall grade point average and the grades in ACCT 2013, ACCT 3723 and ACCT 3843. In addition, they are expected to have already mastered basic accounting concepts or, demonstrated, with and official, Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT) score, as well as other relevant examples of academic ability and leadership. To receive serious consideration by the admissions committee, a student should have a minimum GPA of 3.0 within the applicant’s overall university and accounting coursework. Due to the demand for seats in the program, the admissions committee selectively restricts admission into the program based upon the availability of instructional resources. Students must complete at least two long-session semesters in residence in the Master of Professional Accounting or Master of Accountancy program.

Transfer students will be handled on a case-by-case basis.

Satisfactory Progress

Students are expected to make continuous progress toward the degree by completing required accounting coursework each semester. Students who fail to meet the requirements for the M.P.Ac. or M.Acc. program must choose another major of study or finalize their B.S.B.A. in Accounting. Students will be notified before this action is taken and should meet with an academic advisor in the Undergraduate Programs Office upon notification.

Probation

A student is placed on probation if his or her grade point average in core undergraduate accounting courses falls below 3.00. Except with the consent of the M.Acc./M.P.Ac. Program Director a student on probation may not take graduate accounting courses.

Graduation

To receive an integrated B.S.B.A/M.Acc./M.P.Ac. degree, a student must have a grade point average of at least 3.00 in all coursework taken as part of the minimum 30-hour M.Acc. or M.P.Ac. degree. He or she must also have a grade point average in graduate accounting coursework of at least 3.00.

Degree Requirements

The requirements of B.S.B.A./M.Acc./M.P.Ac. Integrated program are:

1. Undergraduate coursework
   a. Complete the B.S.B.A. degree requirements and Accounting Major Requirements detailed above.
   b. Students are strongly encouraged, but not required, to participate in an accounting internship, ACCT 310V, ACCT 310VH, or ACCT 535V.

2. Graduate coursework

Students with appropriate backgrounds in business administration and economics and with an undergraduate concentration in accounting will be required to complete 30 semester hours of course work beyond the baccalaureate degree, at least 21 semester hours of which must be in courses reserved exclusively for graduate students.

All students must be enrolled for a minimum of 9 hours during consecutive fall/spring semesters during their graduate year. The student must be in residence a minimum of 24 weeks (see residency requirements of the Master of Arts/Master of Science).

Students must complete the specified graduate coursework of the M.Acc. or M.P.Ac. degrees as described in the Graduate Catalog.

The M.Acc./M.P.Ac. degree programs do not require a thesis. Successful completion of the integrated B.S.B.A/M.Acc./M.P.Ac. program from the University of Arkansas will qualify a student to take relevant professional examinations.

For further information, write to the M.Acc./M.P.Ac. Adviser, Department of Accounting, Walton College of Business, University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, AR 72701 or contact the Graduate School of Business at gsbl@walton.uark.edu.

This class is designed to give students an internship opportunity to combine their formal academic preparation with an exposure to the accounting profession. Prerequisite: Honors standing, Department consent and ACCT 3723 with a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 3 hours of degree credit.

ACCT 3533. Accounting Technology. 3 Hours.
This course provides an overview of accounting information systems and illustrates the importance of technology to accountants. Students are exposed to a variety of information technologies including manual, file-oriented, and database systems. The relative advantages and disadvantages of each type of system are highlighted and discussed. Prerequisite: ACCT 2013 with a grade of B or better. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

ACCT 3543. Accounting Analytics. 3 Hours.
This course provides students with an overview of the data analytics process in accounting: asking appropriate accounting questions, finding and mastering appropriate accounting data to address those questions, performing test analysis and communicating the results of the data through data visualizations. Extensive hands-on, experiential learning using short Excel and Tableau labs is a key part of the course. Basic knowledge of excel is recommended. Prerequisite: (Non-business majors: (ACCT 2013 with a grade of B or better) and (INEG 2313 or STAT 3013 with a grade of B or better)) or (Business majors: (ACCT 2013 with a grade of B or better) and (WCOB 1033 with a grade of B or better)). (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

ACCT 3723. Intermediate Accounting I. 3 Hours.
This course is designed to study the theoretical basis for financial accounting concepts and principles related to financial reporting. This course emphasizes researching technical accounting pronouncements for application to external financial reporting issues. Prerequisite: ACCT 2013 with a grade of B or better. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

ACCT 3753. Intermediate Accounting II. 3 Hours.
This is the second financial accounting course designed to continue study of financial accounting concepts and principles. This course emphasizes research of technical accounting pronouncements for application to external financial reporting issues. Prerequisite: ACCT 3723 with a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

ACCT 3843. Fundamentals of Taxation I. 3 Hours.
Introduction to federal income taxation with a focus on individuals, including basic tax concepts, income tax principles applicable to individual taxpayers, primary tax law authorities, tax research techniques, and tax planning strategies. Prerequisite: ACCT 2013 with a grade of B or better. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

ACCT 4003H. Honors Accounting Colloquium. 3 Hours.
Explores events, concepts and/or new developments in the field of accounting. Prerequisite: Honors standing, Senior standing and ACCT 3723 with a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Fall)

ACCT 410V. Special Topics in Accounting. 1-3 Hour.
Explore current events, concepts and new developments relevant to Accounting not available in other courses. Prerequisite: Department consent. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.
Business Law Courses

Introduction to the legal and ethical environment in which business operates. Topics covered in this survey course include: introduction to the legal system and the judicial resolution of disputes, constitutional law, administrative law, criminal law, torts, contracts, property law, advertising and marketing law, bankruptcy and credit transactions, business organizations, antitrust, employment law and ethics. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

BLAW 2013H. Honors The Legal Environment of Business. 3 Hours.
Introduction to the legal and ethical environment in which business operates. Topics covered in this survey course include: introduction to the legal system and the judicial resolution of disputes, constitutional law, administrative law, criminal law, torts, contracts, property law, advertising and marketing law, bankruptcy and credit transactions, business organizations, antitrust, employment law and ethics. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

This course is equivalent to BLAW 2013.

Blockchain Enterprise Systems (WBLC)

The Walton College offers an interdisciplinary minor in Blockchain Enterprise Systems for business majors. Blockchains are currently used by many companies for applications ranging from strategic management of data to day operations to customer insights to retail analytics to developing and maintaining a competitive edge.

Minor in Blockchain Enterprise Systems for Business Majors

The minor requires completion of 15 hours of study with all of the upper division courses applied toward the minor in residence. Students who desire to earn a Blockchain Enterprise Systems minor must notify the Walton College Undergraduate Programs Office of intent to pursue a minor. All requirements for a minor must be completed prior to the awarding of the student's undergraduate degree. All specific course prerequisites must be met. Each student must have a 2.00 cumulative grade-point average in the courses offered for the minor. All upper-division minor requirements must be taken in residence.

Data scientists make sense of huge sets of data to help businesses, governments, nonprofits and other organizations make smarter decisions. The university's interdisciplinary Bachelor of Science in Data Science will prepare students for a successful career in data science with a strategic skill set, including the ability to:

- Use and apply state-of-the-art technologies for data representation, retrieval, manipulation, storage, governance, understanding, analysis, privacy, and security.
- Develop descriptive, predictive and prescriptive models to abstract complex systems and organizational problems, and to use computational methods to draw data-supported conclusions.
- Use foundational knowledge and apply critical thinking skills to identify and solve problems, make decisions, and visualize data, all with an awareness of societal and ethical impacts.
- Adapt analytics concepts to interpret and communicate findings and implications to senior decision-makers.
- Work effectively in an interdisciplinary team and transfer findings between knowledge domains and to others with no domain experience.
- Communicate using technical and non-technical language in writing and verbally.

Three colleges at the university — the College of Engineering, the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences, and the Sam M. Walton College of Business — contribute expertise to the overall major while providing deeper insight into the concentrations they offer, including:

- Accounting Analytics
- Bioinformatics
- Biomedical and Healthcare Informatics
- Business Data Analytics
- Computational Analytics
- Data Science Statistics
- Geospatial Data Analytics
- Operations Analytics

• Social Data Analytics
• Supply Chain Analytics

Requirements for B.S. in Data Science with Accounting Analytics Concentration

Below are the general requirements for a Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Data Science, followed by specific requirements for the Accounting Analytics Concentration. Below those is a recommended eight-semester plan to achieve those requirements in a timely fashion.

Requirements for B.S. in Data Science

Each student in Data Science is required to complete 120 hours of coursework including the state minimum core (p. 96). To be eligible for graduation, all students must complete at least 60 hours of Data Science (DTSC) Core required classes at the University of Arkansas. Each student in Data Science is also required to complete an additional 20-21 hours (depending on the student’s chosen concentration) of required and elective concentration courses to meet the requirements for a concentration.

Additional opportunities are available to enhance the educational experience of students in these areas. Students should consult their academic adviser for recommendations.

Requirements for B.S. in Data Science with Computational Analytics Concentration

Below are the general requirements for a Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Data Science, followed by specific requirements for the Computational Analytics Concentration. Below those is a recommended eight-semester plan to achieve those requirements in a timely fashion.

Requirements for B.S. in Data Science

Each student in Data Science is required to complete 120 hours of coursework including the state minimum core (p. 96). To be eligible for graduation, all students must complete at least 60 hours of Data Science (DTSC) Core required classes at the University of Arkansas. Each student in Data Science is also required to complete an additional 20-21 hours (depending on the student’s chosen concentration) of required and elective concentration courses to meet the requirements for a concentration.

Additional opportunities are available to enhance the educational experience of students in these areas. Students should consult their academic adviser for recommendations.

Requirements for B.S. in Data Science

Each student in Data Science is required to complete 120 hours of coursework including the state minimum core (p. 96). To be eligible for graduation, all students must complete at least 60 hours of Data Science (DTSC) Core required classes at the University of Arkansas. Each student in Data Science is also required to complete an additional 20-21 hours (depending on the student's chosen concentration) of required and elective concentration courses to meet the requirements for a concentration.

Additional opportunities are available to enhance the educational experience of students in these areas. Students should consult their academic adviser for recommendations.

* SOCI 2013 General Sociology is a required course for the Social Data Analytics Concentration. The course may also be used to meet three hours toward the University Core Social Science requirements. As such, students may complete three hours of general education electives in lieu of an additional University Core Social Science requirement for a total of 7 hours of general education electives.

Requirements for B.S. in Data Science with Supply Chain Analytics Concentration

Below are the general requirements for a Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Data Science, followed by specific requirements for the Supply Chain Analytics Concentration. Below those is a recommended eight-semester plan to achieve those requirements in a timely fashion.

Requirements for B.S. in Data Science

Each student in Data Science is required to complete 120 hours of coursework including the state minimum core (p. 96). To be eligible for graduation, all students must complete at least 60 hours of Data Science (DTSC) Core required classes at the University of Arkansas. Each student in Data Science is also required to complete an additional 20-21 hours (depending on the student's chosen concentration) of required and elective concentration courses to meet the requirements for a concentration.

Additional opportunities are available to enhance the educational experience of students in these areas. Students should consult their academic adviser for recommendations.

Courses

DASC 1001. Introduction to Data Science. 1 Hour.
Introduction to Data Science is a course providing an overview of Data Science and preparation of Data Science First Year students for the Data Science program and for choosing one of the Data Science program concentrations: Bioinformatics, Biomedical and Healthcare Analytics, Business Data Analytics, Computational Analytics, Data Science Statistics, Geospatial Data Analytics, Operations Analytics, Social Data Analytics, or Supply Chain Analytics. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: and MATH 2554. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

DASC 1104. Programming Languages for Data Science. 4 Hours.
Programming Languages for Data Science provides a semester-long introduction to basic concepts, tools, and languages for computer programming using Python and R, two powerful programming languages used by data scientists. This class will introduce students to computer programming and provide them with the basic skills and tools necessary to efficiently collect, process, analyze, and visualize datasets. Students will gain hands-on experience with de novo programming in Python and R, finding and utilizing packages, and working in both interactive (Jupyter and RStudio) and non-interactive (Unix) environments. Corequisite: Lab component. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

DASC 1204. Introduction to Object Oriented Programming for Data Science. 4 Hours.
Introduction to Object Oriented Programming for Data Science, introduces object-oriented programming in JAVA. It covers object-oriented programming elements and techniques in JAVA, such as primitive types and expressions, basic I/O, basic programming structures, abstract data type, object class and instance, Methods, Java File I/O, object inheritance, collections and composite objects, advanced input / output: streams and files, and exception handling. Students will gain hands-on programming experience using JAVA. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: DASC 1104. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

DASC 1222. Role of Data Science in Today's World. 2 Hours.
Role of Data Science in Today's World is a survey course providing an overview of the Data Science Curriculum and an introduction to the essential elements of data science: data collection and management; summarizing and visualizing data; basic ideas of statistical inference; predictive analytics and machine learning. Students will gain hands-on experience using the Python programming language and Jupyter notebooks. Prerequisite: DASC 1104. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

DASC 188V. Special Topics in Data Science. 1-6 Hour.
Special Topics in Data Science is a course for data science topics not covered in other courses. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 9 hours of degree credit.

DASC 2103. Data Structures & Algorithms. 3 Hours.
Data Structures & Algorithms focuses on fundamental data structures and associated algorithms for computing and data analytics. Topics include the study of data structures such as linked lists, stacks, queues, hash tables, trees, and graphs, recursion, their applications to algorithms such as searching, sorting, tree and graph traversals, divide-and-conquer, greedy algorithms, and dynamic programming, and the theory of NP-completeness. Students will gain hands-on experience using Python or Java. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: DASC 1204. (Typically offered: Fall)

DASC 2113. Principles and Techniques of Data Science. 3 Hours.
Principles and Techniques in Data Science is an intermediate semester-long data science course that follows an overview of data science in today's world. This class bridges between introduction to data science and upper division data science courses as well as methods courses in other concentrations. This class equips students with essential basic elements of data science, ranging from database systems, data acquisition, storage and query, data cleansing, data wrangling, basic data summarization and visualization, and data estimation and modeling. Students will gain hands-on experience using Python and various packages in Python. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: MATH 2564. (Typically offered: Fall)

DASC 2203. Data Management and Data Base. 3 Hours.
Data Management and Data Base focuses on the investigation and application of data science database concepts including DBMS fundamentals, database technology and administration, data modeling, SQL, data warehousing, and current topics in modern database management. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: DASC 1204. (Typically offered: Spring)

DASC 2213. Data Visualization and Communication. 3 Hours.
Data Visualization and Communication is a seminar providing an essential element of data science: the ability to effectively communicate data analytics findings using visual, written, and oral forms. Students will gain hands-on experience using data visualization software and preparing multiple formats of written reports (technical, social media, policy) that build a data literacy and communication toolkit for interdisciplinary work. In essence, this is a course emphasizing finding and telling stories from data, including the fundamental principles of data analysis and visual presentation conjoined with traditional written formats. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: DASC 1104 and DASC 1222. (Typically offered: Spring)

DASC 2594. Multivariable Math for Data Scientists. 4 Hours.
Multivariable Mathematics for Data Scientists provides an in depth look at the multivariate calculus and linear algebra necessary for a successful understanding of modeling for data science. Students will gain an understanding of the mathematical and geometric concepts used in optimization and scientific computation using mathematical and computational techniques. At the end of the course, students will be equipped with the calculus and linear algebra skills and knowledge to be successful in courses in optimization and advanced data science methods. Prerequisite: MATH 2564 and DASC 1104. (Typically offered: Fall)

DASC 3103. Cloud Computing and Big Data. 3 Hours.
Cloud Computing and Big Data covers: introduction to distributed data computing and management, MapReduce, Hadoop, cloud computing, NoSQL and NewSQL systems, Big data analytics and scalable machine learning, real-time streaming data analysis. Students will gain hands-on experience using Amazon AWS, MongoDB, Hive, and Spark. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: DASC 2594 and DASC 2203. (Typically offered: Fall)

DASC 3203. Optimization Methods in Data Science. 3 Hours.
Optimization Methods in Data Science is an advanced mathematical course providing the foundations and concepts of optimization that are essential elements of machine learning algorithms in data science, ranging from mathematical optimization to convex optimization to unconstrained and constrained optimization to nonlinear optimization to stochastic optimization. Students will gain hands-on experience using Python and various optimization packages in Python. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: DASC 2113 and DASC 2594. (Typically offered: Spring)
DASC 3213. Statistical Learning. 3 Hours.
Statistical Learning is a course providing an in depth look at the theory and practice of applied linear modeling for data science: including model building, selection, regularization, classification and prediction. Students will gain hands-on experience using statistical software to learn from data using applied linear models. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: DASC 1104 and ((MATH 3013 and STAT 3003) or (INEG 2313 and INEG 2333)). (Typically offered: Spring)

DASC 4113. Machine Learning. 3 Hours.
Machine learning covers: logistic regression, ensemble methods, support vector machines, kernel methods, neural networks, Bayesian inference, reinforcement learning, learning theory, and their applications in text, image, and web data processing. Students will gain hands-on experience of developing machine learning algorithms using Python and scikit-learn. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: DASC 2103 and DASC 3203. (Typically offered: Fall)

DASC 4123. Social Problems in Data Science and Analytics. 3 Hours.
This course explores the ways data analytics and data science are impacted by or intersect with issues of social justice, poverty and economic inequality, racial and ethnic relations, gender, crime, education, health and healthcare, and other contemporary social problems. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: DASC 1222. (Typically offered: Fall)

DASC 4533. Information Retrieval. 3 Hours.
Information Retrieval is a course providing expertise in processing unstructured data as a key component of data science. It covers text processing, file structures, ranking algorithms, query processing, and web search. Students will gain hands-on experience developing their own search engine from scratch, using Python, C, C++, or Java on a Linux server and making their search engine web accessible. Note: Prior user-level knowledge of Linux for file and directory management and remote login is required for this course. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: DASC 2103. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

DASC 4892. Data Science Practicum I. 2 Hours.
Application of data science, analytics, business intelligence, data mining, machine learning, and data visualization to existing problems. Data Science techniques using current and relevant software and problem-solving methods are applied to current problems for presentation to management. This is the first semester of the required full-year multi-college interdisciplinary practicum using real-world data to solve real-world problems. Corequisite: Lab component, DASC 3213, DASC 4113 and DASC 4123. Prerequisite: DASC 2113, DASC 2213 and DASC 3203. (Typically offered: Fall)

DASC 4993. Data Science Practicum II. 3 Hours.
Application of data science, analytics, business intelligence, data mining, machine learning, and data visualization to existing problems. Data Science techniques using current and relevant software and problem-solving methods are applied to current problems for presentation to management. This is the second semester of the required full-year multi-college interdisciplinary practicum using real-world data to solve real-world problems. Corequisite: Lab component. Prerequisite: DASC 4892 with a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Spring)

Economics (ECON)
Raja Kali
Department Chair
402 Business Building
479-575-ECON (3266)

Economics Department Website (https://walton.uark.edu/departments/economics/)

The department of economics offers two concentrations within the business economics major:

1. Business Economics

The concentration in business economics is intended for those students who are interested primarily in business, but at the same time have a desire to understand the more advanced tools of economic analysis. Such a background is excellent preparation for careers in corporate research and planning, as well as careers with government and regulatory agencies, for graduate study in business and economics, and for law school. Students who want to pursue an advanced degree in business economics can, with appropriate planning, complete a master’s degree at the University of Arkansas within 12 months after receiving a B.S.B.A. degree. Please see the economics department chair for more information.

The international economics and business concentration is intended for students who wish to learn more about the international aspects of economics and business. It provides preparation for a broad range of careers in business, including management, marketing, and finance.

It is strongly recommended that economics majors who plan to continue their studies at the graduate level take at least two semesters of calculus (MATH 2554 and MATH 2564) and linear algebra (MATH 3083). These courses will substitute for the math courses required within Walton College core (MATH 2043 and MATH 2053).

Economics Minors for Business Students
The Department of Economics offers two minors for Walton College students desiring more knowledge of economics to assist them in their business careers. The minors require completion of 15 hours of study and all of the upper division courses applied toward the minor must be taken in residence.

Business Economics Concentration
The major in Business Economics requires 21 hours of major and collateral courses in the discipline as well as satisfying the other requirements for the B.S.B.A. degree. A maximum of 27 hours is allowed in a WCOB major or discipline field of study (i.e., core, major, electives) unless the extra courses are part of an interdisciplinary minor or collateral track. See an adviser for selection of courses.

The courses required for the business economics concentration include those required in Walton College and Fulbright College. In addition, 15 hours of specified courses (listed below) are required:

Eight-Semester Degree Program

Students wishing to follow the eight-semester degree plan should see the Eight-Semester Degree Policy (p. 86) for university requirements of the program.

Courses in BOLD must be taken in the designated semester. Courses in ITALIC may be taken in varied sequences as long as other designated requirements for these courses are met. Although other courses listed are not required to be completed in the designated sequence, the recommendations below are preferred.

2 Must be completed prior to taking any 3000 or 4000 level business courses.

International Economics and Business Concentration

The major in International Economics requires 21 hours of major and collateral courses in the discipline as well as satisfying the other requirements for the B.S.B.A. degree. A maximum of 27 hours is allowed in the Economics major or discipline field of study (i.e., core, major, electives) unless the extra course is part of an interdisciplinary minor or collateral track. See an adviser for selection of courses. The courses required for the international economics and business concentration include those required in Walton College and Fulbright College. In addition, 21 hours of economics and business courses, nine hours of a single foreign language, and six hours at the 3000 level or higher in the same foreign language are specified, and six hours of upper division courses in the Fulbright College in an area of study related to the foreign language studied.

Total Hours: 21

Junior/Senior Business Electives (15 hours)

Foreign Language Requirements (9 Hours)

Students whose native language is English or whose native language is not taught at the University of Arkansas must complete nine hours of university course work in a single foreign language — three hours of intermediate language and six hours of 3000 level or higher. Students who, on the basis of prior knowledge of language, may receive degree credit for courses if they validate their higher placement by passing the business language course (or equivalent) with a grade of ‘C’ or above. Students with no previous foreign language training or only rudimentary knowledge of a foreign language will be required to complete up to six hours of elementary language — at 1003 and 1013 level — in addition to the hours of language specified above.

Students may select one of the following language tracks:

Arabic
- ARAB 2013
- ARAB 2016 Intensive Arabic II 6
- ARAB 3016 Intensive Arabic III 6

Chinese
- CHIN 2003 Intermediate Chinese I 3
- CHIN 2013 Intermediate Chinese II 3
- CHIN 3033 Conversation 3

And any other upper division CHIN

French
- FREN 2003 Intermediate French I (ACTS Equivalency = FREN 2013) 3
- FREN 2013 Intermediate French II (ACTS Equivalency = FREN 2023) 3
- FREN 4333 Introduction to Business French 3
- FREN 3033 or FREN 3003 Advanced French 0-3

German
- GERM 2003 Intermediate German I (ACTS Equivalency = GERM 2013) 3
- GERM 2013 Intermediate German II (ACTS Equivalency = GERM 2023) 3
- GERM 3003 Advanced German I 3
- GERM 4333 Professional German I 3

Italian
- ITAL 2003 Intermediate Italian I 3
- ITAL 2013 Intermediate Italian II 3

Japanese
- JAPN 2003 Intermediate Japanese I 3
- JAPN 2013 Intermediate Japanese II 3
- JAPN 3003 JAPN 3013

Spanish
- SPAN 2003 Intermediate Spanish I (ACTS Equivalency = SPAN 2013) 3
- SPAN 2013 Intermediate Spanish II (ACTS Equivalency = SPAN 2023) 3
- SPAN 3003 Advanced Spanish 3
- SPAN 4333 Business Spanish I 3

Students whose native language is not English but is taught at the University of Arkansas must select a third language from the list above, or substitute six hours of upper-division English language courses (i.e., speech, writing, or U.S. literature), to be selected with the consent of the department chair. Those students whose native language is not taught at the University of Arkansas will normally be required to select a third language.

Area Studies Requirements (6 Hours)

For students taking a foreign language, six hours of upper-division course work in the J. William Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences are required. Domestic students can satisfy this requirement in one of three ways:

1. Any upper division foreign language course,
2. Minor in a foreign language, and/or
3. Select upper division courses related to the foreign language to include:

   - Arabic – any upper division course for Middle Eastern Studies (MEST) to include MEST 4003, MEST 4003H or additional courses listed under MEST in the university catalog,
   - Chinese/Japanese/Asian Studies – any upper division course for Asian Studies (AIST)
   - French – any upper division course for EUST
   - German – any upper division course for EUST
   - Italian – any upper division course for EUST
   - Spanish – any upper division course for Latin American Studies (LALS), to include LALS 4003 Latin American Studies Colloquium, LALS 4003H Honors Latin American Studies Colloquium, or additional courses listed under LALS in the university catalog.

International students may satisfy this requirement in one of two ways:

1. For students who choose to take a third language, area studies requirements are the same as those for domestic students.
2. For students who choose to take six hours of upper division English to satisfy their language requirement, six hours of upper division course work in the J. William Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences pertaining to the United States to include any upper division course in American Studies (AMST) listed in the university catalog.

Maximum of 27 hours of ECON courses in department (core, major, elective). More than 27 hours allowed if the extra courses are part of interdisciplinary minor or collateral track.

Covers special topics in economics not available in other courses. Prerequisite: (ECON 2013 and ECON 2023) or ECON 2143. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

ECON 410VH. Honors Special Topics in Economics. 1-6 Hour.
Covers special topics in economics not available in other courses. Prerequisite: (ECON 2013 and ECON 2023) or ECON 2143. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit. This course is equivalent to ECON 410V.

ECON 4173. Nation Model United Nations. 3 Hours.
This class is designed to prepare students for their participation in a Nation Model United Nations (NMUN) Conference. The NMUN Conference is sponsored by The National Collegiate Conference Association (NCCA), which is the largest college-level Model United Nations conference. This course is designed to advance the research skills of the students by requiring extensive background position papers covering various economic and social issues of their assigned committee and ultimately preparing resolution documents they develop during the conference. They will present their positions via speeches and in caucus settings. This course will broaden the students’ international perspective while they gain a thorough understanding of the primary activities of the United Nations. Prerequisite: Junior standing and departmental consent. (Typically offered: Fall)
ECON 4333. Economics of Organizations. 3 Hours.
An economic perspective on the design of organizations. Applies developments in game theory and contract theory to analyze the role of information and incentives within and between firms. Covers the boundaries of firms, integration and outsourcing, authority and incentives, and alternative organizational structures in an evolving business environment. Prerequisite: (ECON 2013 and ECON 2023) or ECON 2143. (Typically offered: Fall)

ECON 4423. Behavioral Economics. 3 Hours.
Both economics and psychology systematically study human judgment, behavior, and well-being. This course surveys attempts to incorporate psychology into economics to better understand how people make decisions in economic situations. The course will cover models of choice under uncertainty, choice over time, as well as procedural theories of decision making. Prerequisite: ECON 2023 or ECON 2143. (Typically offered: Fall)

ECON 4433. Experimental Economics. 3 Hours.
The course offers an introduction to the field of experimental economics. Included are the methodological issues associated with developing, conducting, and analyzing controlled laboratory experiments. Standard behavioral results are examined and the implications of such behavior for business and economic theory are explored. Prerequisite: ECON 2023 or ECON 2143. (Typically offered: Spring)

ECON 450V. Independent Study. 1-6 Hour.
Permits students on individual basis to explore selected topics in economics. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

ECON 4533. China’s Foreign Trade and International Order: History, Policy, and Theory. 3 Hours.
This interdisciplinary course explores China’s foreign trade and international order by introducing students to the historical context and economic theory necessary for understanding China’s role in the international trading system from the ancient past to the contemporary era. Prerequisite: (ECON 2013 and ECON 2023) or ECON 2143. (Typically offered: Irregular)
This course is cross-listed with PLSC 4533.

ECON 4633. International Trade. 3 Hours.
Problems of the international economy from a microeconomic perspective. Topics include analysis of the pattern and content of trade; trade in factors of production; and the applications of trade theory to the study of trade barriers such as tariffs and quotas. Prerequisite: (ECON 2013 and ECON 2023) or ECON 2143. (Typically offered: Fail and Spring)

ECON 4643. International Macroeconomics and Finance. 3 Hours.
Problems of the international economy from a macroeconomic perspective. Topics include national income accounting and the balance of payments; exchange rates and the foreign exchange markets; exchange rate policy; macroeconomic policy coordination; developing countries and the problem of third world debt; and the global capital market. Prerequisite: (ECON 2013 and ECON 2023) or ECON 2143. (Typically offered: Fail and Spring)

ECON 468V. International Economics and Business Seminar. 1-6 Hour.
Offered primarily in conjunction with international study abroad programs with an emphasis on international economics and business. Prerequisite: (ECON 2013 and ECON 2023) or ECON 2143. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

ECON 4743. Introduction to Econometrics. 3 Hours.
Introduction to the application of statistical methods to problems in economics. Prerequisite: ((ECON 2013 and ECON 2023) or ECON 2143) and ((MATH 2043 or MATH 2554 or higher)) and (WCOB 1033 or STAT 2303). (Typically offered: Spring)

ECON 4753. Forecasting. 3 Hours.
The application of forecasting methods to economics, management, engineering, and other natural and social sciences. The student will learn how to recognize important features of time series and will be able to estimate and evaluate econometric models that fit the data reasonably well and allow the construction of forecasts. Prerequisite: (ECON 2013 and ECON 2023) or (ECON 2143) and (MATH 2043 or MATH 2554) and (WCOB 1033 or STAT 2303). (Typically offered: Fall)

ECON 4763. Economic Analytics. 3 Hours.
This course provides an overview of modern statistical learning methods, including Machine Learning, for senior economics or business majors, along with hands-on experience of in-depth analytics projects using real data. Students will use the most advanced Machine Learning libraries available in Python, R, and MATLAB to gather and organize data as well as to train, validate and test their empirical models. Knowledge of statistical software is recommended. Pre- or Corequisite: ECON 4743 or ISYS 4193. (Typically offered: Fall)

Finance (FINN)

Finance Department Website (https://walton.uark.edu/departments/finance/)

The academic mission of the department of finance is to provide an educational experience that:

- Stimulates student learning through open dialogue and informative discussion both inside and outside the classroom;
- Actively engages students in their own learning through problem-based casework, participation in real-world business activities, and internships in the financial community; and
- Prepares students to successfully meet the rigors of the challenging and diverse career opportunities in finance.

Students who elect to major in finance can choose from one of five concentrations: banking, energy finance, financial management/ investment, risk management, and real estate. This choice should reflect the student’s primary career focus and electives should be used to complement the coursework in the chosen concentration. Careers in finance that are analytically oriented will generally require proficiency in accounting, economics, and quantitative methods. In contrast, careers in finance that are sales or management oriented will generally require marketing and management skills. Finance majors are strongly encouraged to consult with departmental faculty advisers and/or the department chair in developing their curriculum.

General Business (GBUS)
Management Department Chair
402 Business Building
479-575-4566

General Business is the broadest major in Walton College. It is offered by the Department of Management, which also offers a major in management (p. 656). This online program provides the student exposure to all facets of the business process. Maximum flexibility is retained by the student. At the same time, careful use of general and junior/senior business electives allows the student to concentrate additional coursework in one or more selected functional areas.

The Walton College Online Bachelor of Science in Business Administration degree with a major in General Business is intended to provide students the opportunity to enroll in a four-year degree program online. In addition, the online degree affords students who have completed an Associate’s Degree in Business or those who are near completion of their business degree, the option to complete a B.S.B.A. with a major in General Business.

Requirements for Online B.S.B.A. in General Business

Admission
Students must apply to the University of Arkansas, Office of Admissions for consideration and indicate their interest in the online program on the admissions application. Students are required to submit an application for admission, official transcripts (either high school or college transcripts or both), and a $40 application fee.

Requirements for the Online Program

1. Walton College Policy for On-Campus Students Taking Online Courses
   Any student pursuing an on-campus (face to face) undergraduate degree from the University of Arkansas may take up to 35 percent of the total credit hours of regular online (semester/summer) and self-paced online (correspondence) courses for degree credit. On-campus students will be restricted to 2 courses (8 hours) of online classes within their first 30 hours. WCOB 1111 Freshman Business Connection, however, cannot be taken online. Thereafter, students can take up to 12 hours of online classes per academic year. For students who have transferred academic credits from other institutions, the percentage of total credit hours obtained at the University of Arkansas through regular online (semester/summer) and self-paced online (correspondence) courses for degree credit cannot exceed 35 percent of the total remaining hours needed to complete the degree after transfer credits are accounted for. In addition, on-campus students cannot enroll in online courses unless they have a cumulative GPA of at least 2.0 (after their first 15 hours of undergraduate coursework) and they have no more than one outstanding incomplete in a previous online course.

2. Walton College Policy for Online Students Taking On-Campus Courses
   Online students will be restricted to 8 hours of on-campus classes within their first 30 hours. Thereafter, students can take up to 12 hours of on-campus classes per academic year, but no more than 35 percent of their total credit hours on campus may be used in total toward their degree. Ordinarily, no more than 60 hours of coursework can be transferred from the online degree program into an on-campus degree program. Transfer credits for students who transfer into the online degree program will be evaluated the same as transfer credits for the on-campus program. For students who have transferred academic credits from other institutions, the percentage of total credit hours obtained at the University of Arkansas through regular online (semester/summer) and self-paced online (correspondence) courses for degree credit cannot exceed 35 percent of the total remaining hours needed to complete the degree after transfer credits are accounted for.

3. Online students will have priority registration for online courses.

Information Systems Major Requirements

The major in Information Systems requires 27 hours of major in the discipline as well as satisfying the other requirements for the B.S.B.A. degree. A maximum of 30 hours is allowed in the Information Systems major or discipline field of study (i.e., core, major, electives) unless the extra courses are part of an interdisciplinary minor. The Information Systems department encourages its majors to seek an interdisciplinary minor. See an adviser for selection of courses.

NOTE: Course requirements in the Information Systems major total 27 credit hours. Because of prerequisites, students should allow two full years (24 months) to complete this coursework. Prerequisites are strictly enforced.

Courses

ISYS 1120. Computer Competency Requirement. 0 Hours.
Students entering the Walton College are expected to possess basic competencies in MS Windows, Word, Excel, and PowerPoint. The requirement is expected to be completed in an 8-week session. Deficiencies may be remedied through appropriate self-paced, computer-based instruction and/or alternative courses. Prerequisite: Students must earn a pre-assessment score of 70 or higher and department consent. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

ISYS 1123. Business Application Knowledge - Computer Competency. 3 Hours.
An introduction to computer literacy using information business application software; email/Internet; word processing; spreadsheets; presentation; database; collaborative/groupware; and integration of computer applications. Introduces the student to computer Concepts and Microsoft Office (Word, Excel, Windows, and PowerPoint) to manage finances, work with formulas, charts and graphics, and the development of professional worksheets and presentations. Students learn business computing through appropriate self-paced, computer-based instruction. Non-degree credit for business students; may be used to fulfill ISYS 1120 degree requirement if student earns a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

ISYS 2103. Business Information Systems. 3 Hours.
This course presents the fundamentals of business information systems (IS) topics essential to today's business graduate. Applied areas of business will be used to provide the context for the IS topics, business applications, and management challenges. The broad objective of this course is to present students with a business and information systems framework that will allow them to envision how business decisions are enabled and empowered by information systems and technology. Corequisite: MGMT 2053 or ACCT 2023. Prerequisite: WCOB 1033 with a grade of C or better and (ISYS 1120 or (ISYS 1123 with a grade of C or better)). (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

ISYS 2103H. Honors Business Information Systems. 3 Hours.
This course presents the fundamentals of business information systems (IS) topics essential to today's business graduate. Applied areas of business will be used to provide the context for the IS topics, business applications, and management challenges. The broad objective of this course is to present students with a business and information systems framework that will allow them to envision how business decisions are enabled and empowered by information systems and technology. Corequisite: MGMT 2053 or ACCT 2023. Prerequisite: WCOB 1033 with a grade of C or better and (ISYS 1120 or (ISYS 1123 with a grade of C or better)). (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

ISYS 2103. Business Information Systems. 3 Hours.
This course presents the fundamentals of business information systems (IS) topics essential to today's business graduate. Applied areas of business will be used to provide the context for the IS topics, business applications, and management challenges. The broad objective of this course is to present students with a business and information systems framework that will allow them to envision how business decisions are enabled and empowered by information systems and technology. Corequisite: MGMT 2053 or ACCT 2023. Prerequisite: WCOB 1033 with a grade of C or better and (ISYS 1120 or (ISYS 1123 with a grade of C or better)). (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

ISYS 2103. Business Information Systems. 3 Hours.
This course presents the fundamentals of business information systems (IS) topics essential to today's business graduate. Applied areas of business will be used to provide the context for the IS topics, business applications, and management challenges. The broad objective of this course is to present students with a business and information systems framework that will allow them to envision how business decisions are enabled and empowered by information systems and technology. Corequisite: MGMT 2053 or ACCT 2023. Prerequisite: WCOB 1033 with a grade of C or better and (ISYS 1120 or (ISYS 1123 with a grade of C or better)). (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

ISYS 3393. Business Application Development Fundamentals. 3 Hours.
Principles of design and development of windows and web applications using cutting edge visual development tools. The programming language will be a modern language used widely in industry, and the focus will be on its use in client-server, web, and/or mobile applications. Pre- or Corequisite: ISYS 3293. Prerequisite: ISYS 2263 or CSCE 2014 with a grade of 'C' or better. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

ISYS 4173. Blockchain Fundamentals. 3 Hours.
This course provides the fundamental concepts underpinning blockchain technologies. This course focuses on blockchain applications for business. Students will learn about the overall blockchain landscape, including the investments, the size of markets, major players and the global reach, as well as the potential business value of blockchain applications and the challenges that must be overcome to achieve that value. Students will learn enough about the underlying technologies to be well-prepared to develop blockchain applications in future courses. Prerequisite: ISYS 2103 and ACCT 2013, each with a grade of C or better, or CSCE 2004 with a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

ISYS 4193. Business Analytics and Visualization. 3 Hours.
Introductory study of business analytics, visualization, and systems to provide analytics-based information derived from data within and external to the organization. Business analytics used to support management in the decision making. Application of tools in business analytics, problem solving, visualization, and decision making. Prerequisite: (Non-business majors: (INEG 2313 or STAT 3013 with a grade of C or better)) or (Business majors: (WCOB 1033 with a grade of C or better)). (Typically offered: Fall)

Management Department Website (https://walton.uark.edu/departments/management/)

Management is the force responsible for directing organizations toward goals or objectives. Therefore, the management curriculum focuses on the nature and capabilities of human and other resources, as well as how the manager plans, organizes, staffs, coordinates, and evaluates those resources in an organization and its environment. The study of management prepares men and women for positions of leadership in profit and nonprofit organizations of all sizes. Management majors gain insight and skill needed for careers as professional managers throughout organizations. These skills include technical knowledge, communicative capacity, human understanding, and conceptual and problem-solving ability. Two majors are offered in the management department. Requirements of the management major are listed below. Find out more about the general business (p. 597) major.

Students may choose from among three concentrations:

- Human Resource Management
- Small Business and Entrepreneurship*
- Organizational Leadership

* The Small Business and Entrepreneurship concentration is currently under development for fall 2021 and will reside in the new department, Strategy, Entrepreneurship and Venture Innovation (SEVI).

Management Major with Human Resource Management Concentration

The Human Resource Management Concentration is designed to prepare students for careers in human resource-related occupations. Among issues and areas addressed are management-employee relations, quality of work life, compensation and other reward systems, organizational staffing, and training and development. The Human Resource Management track emphasizes the importance of integrating individual goals and organizational objectives.

All management majors must complete MGMT 4243 Ethics and Corporate Responsibility. An additional 21 hours of credit are required for students majoring in management. Six of these credit hours are specified in the concentration. Beyond this, students can choose from specified management and non-management courses in order to complete the requirements for the major.

Management Major Requirements

The major in management requires 24 hours of major and collateral courses in the discipline as well as satisfying the other requirements for the B.S.B.A. degree. A maximum of 27 hours is allowed in a management major or discipline field of study (i.e., core, major, electives) unless the extra courses are part of an interdisciplinary minor or collateral track. See an adviser for selection of courses.

Management Major with Small Business and Entrepreneurship Concentration

The Small Business and Entrepreneurship Concentration is suggested for students who are interested in starting and/or operating a small business or independent company after graduation. The Small Business and Entrepreneurship focus provides excellent preparation for students wishing to obtain a highly integrated view of business operations.

All management majors must complete MGMT 4243 Ethics and Corporate Responsibility. An additional 21 hours of credit are required for students majoring in management. Six of these credit hours are specified in the concentration. Beyond this, students can choose from specified management and non-management courses in order to complete the requirements for the major.

Management Major Requirements

The major in management requires 24 hours of major and collateral courses in the discipline as well as satisfying the other requirements for the B.S.B.A. degree. A maximum of 27 hours is allowed in a management major or discipline field of study (i.e., core, major, electives) unless the extra courses are part of an interdisciplinary minor or collateral track. Marketing Department Website (https://walton.uark.edu/departments/marketing/)

The Department of Marketing offers two majors leading to a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration degree: Marketing and Retail. Requirements for the Marketing major are listed here. Find out more about the major at the Retail page (p. 665).

The major in marketing is designed to prepare students for careers involving product planning, distribution, promotion, and pricing strategies in profit or nonprofit organizations. In addition to a broad overview of the marketing functions within organizations, students are provided with knowledge and skills in consumer behavior, marketing research, and strategic marketing.

Students majoring in marketing are actively subjected to problemsolving situations, both domestic and international, where a variety of contemporary tools are employed to stimulate the strategic decision-making process. Supportive disciplines with which the marketer should be familiar include psychology, sociology, accounting, economics, statistics, quantitative analysis, and research methodology.

The marketing major is intended to provide students with broad knowledge and skills in marketing applicable to a wide range of profit and nonprofit organizations.

Requirements for a Major in Marketing
The major in marketing requires 21 hours of major and collateral courses in the discipline as well as satisfying the other requirements for the B.S.B.A. degree. A maximum of 27 hours is allowed in a marketing major or discipline field of study (i.e., core, major, electives) unless the extra courses are part of an interdisciplinary minor or collateral track. See an adviser for selection of courses.

The Department of Marketing offers a retail major that leads to a B.S.B.A. degree. The department also offers a marketing major (http://catalog.uark.edu/undergraduatecatalog/collegesandschools/sammwaltoncollegeofbusiness/marketingmtg/).

The major in retail is designed to prepare students for careers in retailing or in companies that manufacture, sell, and distribute consumer goods to retailers. In addition to a broad view of the business and retail environments students can select to concentrate their retail studies in accounting, economics, finance, information systems, international retail, management, marketing, or supply chain management. A general retail concentration is also available.

Retail Major Requirements
The retail major requires 24 hours of major and collateral courses in the discipline as well as satisfying the other requirements for the B.S.B.A. degree. A maximum of 27 hours is allowed in a retail major or discipline field of study (i.e., core, major, electives) unless the extra courses are part of an interdisciplinary minor or collateral track. See an adviser for selection of courses.

Supply Chain Management Department Website (https://walton.uark.edu/departments/supplychain/)

The Department of Supply Chain Management offers an undergraduate major leading to a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration degree. The major is designed to prepare students for careers in carrier management, logistics management, and at retailers or in companies that manufacture, sell, and distribute consumer goods to retailers. There is an emphasis on business process integration and students will learn to apply analytical techniques and use the systems approach in managing the flow of materials into and through the production and manufacturing processes of a firm to its customers. Employment opportunities exist in marketing, sales, and operations positions with carriers in all transportation modes, and in positions with shippers having responsibility in one or more areas under logistics management, warehousing, packaging, and materials handling. Opportunities also exist in governmental agencies.

Students may elect to pursue the B.S.B.A. in Supply Chain Management or a Minor in Supply Chain Management in an online format. Students must apply to the University of Arkansas, Office of Admissions for consideration to enroll in the B.S.B.A. and indicate their interest in the online program on the admissions application. Students are required to submit official transcripts (either high school or college transcripts or both), and an application fee. Students interested in pursuing a minor must notify the Walton College Undergraduate Programs Office.

Courses

SCMT 2103. Integrated Supply Chain Management. 3 Hours.
An introduction to integrated supply chain management. Core capabilities in plan, source, make, deliver, service/customer management, new product design, strategy, governance, project management, performance management, technology enablement, and supply chain finance are explored to provide students with a comprehensive cross-functional view of demand-driven value networks. Prerequisite: ACCT 2013 and WCOB 1033 each with a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

SCMT 2103H. Honors Integrated Supply Chain Management. 3 Hours.
An introduction to integrated supply chain management. Core capabilities in plan, source, make, deliver, service/customer management, new product design, strategy, governance, project management, performance management, technology enablement, and supply chain finance are explored to provide students with a comprehensive cross-functional view of demand-driven value networks. Prerequisite: ACCT 2013 and WCOB 1033 each with a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

SCMT 3103. Supply Chain Management Internship. 3 Hours.
This experience is designed to give students an internship opportunity to combine their formal academic preparation with an exposure to the supply chain profession. Prerequisite: Department consent, completion of pre-business core, junior standing, and SCMT 2103 with a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

SCMT 3443. DELIVER: Transportation and Distribution Management. 3 Hours.
Management of functional delivery and customer service capabilities in demand-driven value networks. Applicable interfaces with enabling capabilities such as governance, performance management, analytics, and technology enablement are evaluated. Prerequisite: ((ECON 2013 and ECON 2023) or ECON 2143) and SCMT 2103 with a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

SCMT 3613. SOURCE: Procurement and Supply Management. 3 Hours.
This course covers the critical sourcing and procurement processes: strategic sourcing, source to pay, and supplier relationship management. Additionally, it covers innovative efforts to grow sourcing contribution to demand-driven supply chain integration, including sustainability, technology, and risk management. Prerequisite: ((ECON 2013 and ECON 2023) or ECON 2143) and SCMT 2103 with a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

SCMT 3623. PLAN: Inventory and Forecasting Analytics. 3 Hours.
The intent of this course is to rigorously examine two key elements of logistics: inventory control and forecasting. Coverage of the former topic specifically focuses on inventory control methods for stochastic demand and lead times. Besides a review of the associated theoretical bases, the implementation of such policies in Excel is a central component of the course. Forecasting topics covered in this course include a review of a variety of forecasting techniques and forecast error measurement. Moreover, the linkage between forecasting and inventory control is discussed. As with inventory control, students will learn how to implement various forecasting techniques in Excel. Prerequisite: ((ECON 2013 and ECON 2023) or ECON 2143) and SCMT 2103 with a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

SCMT 3633. Supply Chain Service and Customer Management. 3 Hours.
Management of supply chain service quality, relationships, and customer segmentation in demand-driven value networks. Applicable cross-functional interfaces, performance measurement, and integration opportunities for boundary spanning supply chain professionals are discussed with emphasis on value-added behavioral exchange dynamics. Prerequisite: SCMT 3613. (Typically offered: Irregular)
SCMT 3643. International Logistics. 3 Hours.
Logistics activities in international business with special emphasis on international sourcing and distribution channels, international transportation, import and export procedures, international sale and payment terms, and documentation. Special emphasis is placed on current events and their effect on the management of operations of U.S.-based organizations. Prerequisite: (ECON 2013 and ECON 2023) or (ECON 2143) and SCMT 2103 with a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

SCMT 3653. Project Management: Supply Chain New Product Planning and Launch. 3 Hours.
Applies principles and tools of project management to supply chain industry projects in the new product development launch process to ensure alignment with supply chain processes. Experiential learning in collaborative team settings facilitate new product development and launch solutions to demand-driven value network problems. Prerequisite: (ECON 2013 and ECON 2023) or (ECON 2143 and SCMT 2103) each with a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

SCMT 3663. MAKE: Supply Chain Process Improvement. 3 Hours.
The course focuses on the fundamental concepts, techniques, and tools for managing production and improving business processes across the supply chain, in both manufacturing and service contexts. Philosophies, principles, approaches, and techniques students will learn and experience in this course include Lean, Total Quality Management, Theory of Constraints, Practical Scientific Thinking, and Toyota Kata. Prerequisite: SCMT 2103 with a grade of C or better. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

SCMT 4003H. Honors Supply Chain Management Colloquium. 3 Hours.
Explores events, concepts and/or new developments in the field of Supply Chain Management. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Irregular) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

SCMT 4103. Special Topics in Supply Chain Management. 3 Hours.
Special topics in supply chain management not available in other courses. Topics are selected by the supply chain faculty for each semester each course is offered. Prerequisite: Junior standing. (Typically offered: Irregular)

SCMT 4123. Sustainable Logistics and Supply Chain Management. 3 Hours.
Explores key sustainability concepts across supply chain functions of supply management, operations, and distribution. Course topics include values-based leadership, globalizing sustainability, marketing sustainability, voluntary product standards and governance, stakeholder engagement, reverse logistics, humanitarian logistics, and transportation. Overall, we will consider the feasibility and role of firms in producing sustainability in global supply chains. (Typically offered: Irregular)

SCMT 4633. Supply Chain Performance Management and Analytics. 3 Hours.
Integrates the strategic directives and successful execution by using supply chain performance management and analytics to drive supply chains from end-to-end. Examines and applies data analytics and visualization tools to better manage conflicting supply chain objectives and trade-offs. Prerequisite: SCMT 2103 with a grade of ‘C’ or better. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

SCMT 4653. Supply Chain Strategy and Change Management. 3 Hours.
Evaluate and select appropriate supply chain strategies and change management approaches for business situations. This capstone course leverages plan, source, make, deliver, customer service, and new product development capabilities to meet strategic and financial goals in demand-driven networks. Prerequisite: SCMT 3443, SCMT 3613 and SCMT 3623. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

SCMT 466V. Independent Study in Supply Chain Management. 1-3 Hour.
Permits students to explore selected topics in supply chain management, logistics and transportation. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)

SCMT 4853. Cross-Sector Collaboration for Sustainability. 3 Hours.
This course explores how organizations in the three sectors of society work together in value creation by addressing social and environmental problems manifest in global supply chains. Focusing on business and nonprofit organizations, we investigate the forces that bring about and influence these collaborations from practical and theoretical perspectives. Prerequisite: Junior Standing. (Typically offered: Spring)

Minors for Non-Business Students

For students who are business majors, the requirements for business minors are listed with each major business program.

To facilitate students outside Walton College in obtaining knowledge that will assist them in making sustained contributions to organizations and society in a global, diverse, and dynamic environment, the Walton College offers a business minor for non-business majors. The minor requires completion of 21 required hours of study (including equivalencies) with at least 50 percent of the courses applied toward the minor taken in residence. Each student must have a 2.00 cumulative grade-point average in the courses offered for the minor.

Non-business, degree-seeking students working toward a minor should note the following:

1. Students who elect to obtain a business minor must provide written notice of their intent to the dean’s office of the college in which they are receiving a degree. This notice and all requirements for the business minor must be completed prior to the awarding of the student’s undergraduate degree.
2. Business minor students must complete all 1000- and 2000-level courses required for the business minor and be a junior- or senior-level student to enroll in 3000- or 4000-level business courses.
3. All specific course prerequisites must be met. Although business minor students are not required to satisfy the entire pre-business core, they must complete the required courses and any other prerequisite course specified prior to enrolling in a 3000/4000-level course.
4. Business minor students may complete multiple minors with the exception of General Business and an additional area of business study. Students may not use more than three hours of minor courses toward additional minor requirements.
5. ECON 2143 will substitute for ECON 2013/ECON 2023 for prerequisite purposes. In addition, students who take both ECON 2013 Principles of Macroeconomics (ACTS Equivalency = ECON 2103) and ECON 2023 Principles of Microeconomics (ACTS Equivalency = ECON 2203) will satisfy the economics requirements of the minor.
6. Business minor students are ineligible to take MGMT 3013 Strategic Management.
7. ECON 3053 and WCOB 3043 may not count toward the junior- or senior-level course requirements for the minor.
8. All equivalencies must be approved by the assistant dean for undergraduate programs.
9. Students may choose to pursue Concentration 1–General Business online, as long as they adhere to the requirements for online programs (p. ).

All upper level minor requirements must be taken in residence. All students seeking a business minor are required to complete the Walton College computer competency requirement ISYS 1120 and the following courses:

College of Education and Health Professions

Mission and Objectives

The mission of the College of Education and Health Professions is to enhance the quality of life of the citizens of Arkansas, the nation, and the world through the development of scholar-practitioners in education, health, and human services.
The goals of the College of Education and Health Professions are to:

- Strengthen the academic quality and reputation of the college by developing and enhancing programs of excellence in teaching, research, and service.
- Improve the quality and diversity of our students, faculty, and staff.
- Generate increased private and public support for the college’s research, academic, and service initiatives.

Facilities and Resources

The Sylvia Hack Boyer Office of Academic Student Initiatives and Services (OASIS)
The office provides advising and student support services to undergraduate students in the College of Education and Health Professions from matriculation to graduation.

The Office for Teacher Education
The office provides field placement, teacher licensure, and student assessment. The office also provides support to the academic departments as they pursue state and national accreditation.

Organization
For administrative purposes, the undergraduate programs of the college are organized under four academic units, with majors shown after each unit:

1. Curriculum and Instruction
   a. Career and Technical Education
   b. Childhood Education
   c. Educational Studies
   d. Elementary Education
   e. Special Education
   f. Spanish Education
   g. German Education
   h. French Education
   i. Social Studies Education
   j. English Education
2. Eleanor Mann School of Nursing
   a. Nursing
3. Health, Human Performance and Recreation
   a. Exercise Science
   b. Physical Education
   c. Public Health
   d. Recreation and Sport Management
4. Rehabilitation, Human Resources, and Communication Disorders
   a. Communication Sciences and Disorders
   b. Human Resource and Workforce Development

Facilities
The Graduate Education Building, Peabody Hall, Epley Center for Health Professions, and the Health, Physical Education and Recreation Building serve as the nucleus of the College of Education and Health Profession’s activities.

The Graduate Education Building houses the Department of Rehabilitation, Human Resources and Communication Disorders, an auditorium, several conference and seminar rooms, classrooms, and offices for individual professors, along with administrative and service units such as the Dean’s office, OASIS, and computer laboratory.

Peabody Hall houses the Department of Curriculum and Instruction, classrooms and offices for individual professors, along with the Office for Teacher Education for the College and University.

The Health, Physical Education and Recreation (HPER) Building houses the majority of faculty offices and classrooms for Athletic Training, Public Health, Kinesiology, Recreation and Sport Management, the Office for Studies on Aging, the Exercise Science Research Center, and the University Recreation offices.

The department of University Recreation serves the university community by providing a diverse selection of recreational opportunities and facilities that are designed to enhance the quality of life of each participant. University Recreation is organized into eight program areas: Accessible Recreation, Club Sports, Facility Management, Fitness/Wellness, Instructional Programs, Intramural Sports, and the Outdoor Connection Center. University Recreation operates its main facility in the Health, Physical Education and Recreation Building, which houses an Olympic-sized swimming pool, multiple gymnasiaums, an Indoor Track, the Donna Axum Fitness Center, racquetball courts and the Outdoor Connection Center. In addition to the HPER building, UREC also operates the University Recreation Fitness Center, located on the second floor of the Arkansas Union, which features almost 6,000-square feet of fitness floor space, a 1,500-square foot group exercise room, and men’s and women’s locker and shower facilities. Memberships may be purchased by university faculty, staff and alumni for both the HPER Building and the University Recreation Fitness Center. For additional information, please visit the department of University Recreation website (http://urec.uark.edu).

The Communication Sciences and Disorders program and the Speech and Hearing Clinic are housed in Epley Center for Health Professions. The clinic contains faculty offices, a classroom, a graduate seminar room, teaching and research laboratories, and space and facilities for the provision of services to the speech, language, and hearing impaired. University services are provided through the clinic to university students and the community.

The Eleanor Mann School of Nursing is also housed in Epley Center for Health Professions. The nursing program facilities include administrative offices, faculty offices, two classrooms, simulation laboratories, a conference room, and a computer classroom. The school has affiliation agreements for clinical practice with area health care agencies.

The West Avenue Annex building houses research and service units: the Center for Mathematics and Science Education (CMASE), the Center for Children and Youth, the Arkansas Leadership Academy (ALA) and the Office for Innovation in Education (OIE). Established in 1991, the Arkansas Leadership Academy is a nationally recognized statewide partnership of 13 universities, 9 professional associations, 15 educational cooperatives, the Arkansas Departments of Education, Higher Education, and Workforce Education, the Arkansas Educational Television Network, Tyson Foods Inc., Wal-Mart Stores Inc., and the Walton Family Foundation. The Center for Mathematics and Science Education provides quality resources to private and public educators. The center also serves as the Arkansas NASA Educator Resource Center, disseminating educational materials provided by NASA. The Office for Innovation in Education is funded by the Arkansas Department of Education to develop and test new approaches to deliver and assess K-12 education innovations.
Academic Journals
The college is host to the Journal of Research on the College President, edited by G. David Gearhart, a professor of higher education and Chancellor Emeritus, and the Journal of School Choice, edited by Robert Maranto, 21st Century Endowed Chair in Leadership in the Department of Education Reform.

Degrees Offered
The college offers curricula leading to three degrees - the Bachelor of Science in Education degree (B.S.E.), the Bachelor of Science (B.S.), the Bachelor of Arts in Teaching (B.A.T.), and the Bachelor of Science in Nursing (B.S.N.). Some of these degree programs have concentrations and specialties that are described within their section(s).

College Admission Requirements
All entering students (including freshmen, international, and transfer) admitted to the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, are eligible for admission to the college. Some undergraduate programs require additional admission criteria to complete.

Transfer of Credit
The policies controlling the granting of credit for course work taken at other institutions apply as follows:

1. Courses completed at the lower-division (freshman or sophomore) level at another institution may not count as equivalents of upper-division (junior or senior) level courses offered in the college unless student requests program modification with proper petition approvals.
2. Students should be prepared to submit official course descriptions of transfer course work if there is any question as to whether the college will grant degree credit for such work.

Exploring Majors
Students enrolled in the College of Education and Health Professions are encouraged to declare a major as soon as possible. For assistance contact the Sylvia Hack Boyer Office of Academic Student Initiatives and Services, 350 Graduate Education Building, 479-575-4203.

College Scholarships
Thanks to the generosity of donors, the College of Education and Health Professions offers several scholarship opportunities. These gifts allow the college to support the university’s mission of recruiting and retaining high-achieving students who enrich and diversify the academic environment. Scholarships are available for both graduate and undergraduate students. Please visit the college’s scholarship webpage (https://coehp.uark.edu/for-students/scholarships/) for more information.

Student Organizations
There are many general-interest societies and organizations on the campus, and nearly every department of the university maintains an honor society through which high scholarship is rewarded. Of special interest to students in the college are the following:

- Eta Sigma Gamma - honor society for Public Health
- Kappa Delta Pi – honor society for education
- Phi Delta Kappa – honor fraternity for graduate students
- Kinesiology Club – for kinesiology majors
- Recreation and Sport Management Majors Club – for recreation and sport management students
- Razorback Athletic Training Association (RATA) – for undergraduate kinesiology majors with a concentration in exercise science – pre-athletic training, entry level graduate athletic training students and graduate assistant athletic trainers in women’s and men’s athletics
- National Student Speech-Language-Hearing Association – for communication sciences and disorders majors
- Arkansas Nursing Students Association, National Student Nurse Association, and the Pi Theta chapter of Sigma Theta Tau International Honor Society of Nursing – for nursing majors

College Academic Regulations
Admission Process for Initial Teacher Licensure
Stage I: Enrollment
Enroll in an undergraduate degree program leading to a potential teacher licensure field. Potential fields include the following:

- Agricultural Education – B.S.A.
- Art Education – B.F.A.
- Career & Technical Education (Business Education) – B.S. E. Licensure Program
- Career & Technical Education (Family & Consumer Science) – B.S. E. Licensure Program
- Career & Technical Education (Technology Education) – B.S. E. Licensure Program
- Childhood Education – B.S.E.
- Elementary Education – B.S.E. Licensure Program
- Human Environmental Sciences Education – B.S.H.E.S.
- Kinesiology K-12 – B.S. Licensure Program
- Music Education – B.M.
- Secondary Education – B.A., B.S.
- Special Education - B.S.E. Licensure Program
- Speech-Language Pathology – B.S.

Stage II: Admission to Teacher Education
Complete the Admission to Teacher Education application on the Office of Field Placement and Licensure website (http://teacher-education.uark.edu/admissions/) for details. Satisfactory completion of this form does not guarantee admission to the student teaching semester or the Masters in Arts in Teaching (M.A.T.) degree program or other teacher education programs.

Stage III: Program Admission
The following minimum criteria are necessary to be eligible for consideration for admission to a teacher education program:
1. Meet all requirements in stages I and II.
2. Consult with faculty adviser for additional requirements set by the chosen program.

Initial Licensure

Students who have completed the stages listed above must obtain a licensure packet from the Teacher Certification Officer, 338 Graduate Education Building, prior to entering internship/student teaching. A mandatory meeting is held each semester before starting either an internship or a student teaching experience.

Students should always consult the Teacher Certification Officer or adviser regarding licensure requirement changes. Students will not be licensed to teach in Arkansas until they have met all requirements for licensure as set forth by the Arkansas Department of Education.

College Honor Roll

At the close of each semester, the college recognizes students who qualify for the Honor Roll. Students must carry a minimum of 12 semester hours to be eligible for the Honor Roll and obtain a minimum term GPA of 3.75.

Graduation with Distinction

Graduation with Distinction will be conferred to College of Education and Health Professions students (who are not participating in the college “Honors Program”) based upon their University of Arkansas cumulative grade-point average at the time of graduation. To earn this distinction, a student must have completed at least one-half of the course work required for his or her degree at the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville. The graduation with distinction designation will be assigned as follows:

1. For highest distinction, the student must have a minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.95.
2. For high distinction, the student must have a minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.80.

Degree Requirements

Minimum Requirements for the B.S.E. or B.S. or B.S.N. Degree

The candidates for a baccalaureate degree from the college must meet university requirements, which specify at least 120 semester hours of work with a grade-point average of at least 2.00 on all work attempted in the university. Students exempting any course must still meet the 120-hour graduation requirement and should consult their adviser for specific program requirements. Exemption of courses does not result in credit earned. The students must comply with the prescriptions and restrictions listed below and under General Studies and must complete the requirements in one or more of the approved degree programs.

Students must also meet all other university requirements for graduation, including the University Core requirements (http://catalog.uark.edu/undergraduatemenu/academicregulations/universitycore/). Students are required to have a pre-graduation check at least one semester prior to the graduation term. Students who complete the pre-graduation check and meet all university and College of Education and Health Professions requirements may apply for graduation under the guidelines detailed on the Graduation Requirements page (p. 100). All course work, university requirements, and college requirements must be completed by the deadline for the term in which applied. Students not graduating in spring, but wishing to participate in the spring commencement ceremony, must apply for graduation by the established priority deadline for the spring term. For clarification, please contact the Sylvia Hack Boyer Center for Student Services, 336 Graduate Education Building, at 479-575-4203.

Graduate Studies

The Graduate School, in cooperation with the college, offers advanced work in education and health professions leading to the degrees of Master of Arts in Teaching, Master of Science, Master of Education, Educational Specialist, Doctor of Education, and Doctor of Philosophy.

The graduate programs include:

- Adult and Lifelong Learning
- Athletic Training
- Childhood Education
- Communication Sciences and Disorders
- Community Health Promotion
- Counselor Education
- Curriculum and Instruction
- Educational Leadership
- Educational Statistics and Research Methods
- Educational Technology
- Education Policy
- Elementary Education
- Higher Education
- Human Resource and Workforce Development
- Kinesiology
- Middle-Level Education
- Nursing
- Physical Education
- Recreation and Sport Management
- Rehabilitation
- Secondary Education
- Special Education

The Graduate School awards the graduate degrees. Students who are interested in registering for graduate courses or in becoming candidates for these degrees should consult the dean of the Graduate School and the Graduate School Catalog.

Students who plan to study for an advanced degree in the subject-matter field should consult with the head of the department concerning course requirements to be eligible to begin graduate study. Specialization requirements for a B.S.E. degree in the College of Education and Health Professions may not be sufficient in every field to gain admission for graduate study without deficiencies.

Accreditations

The University of Arkansas holds membership in and is accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. The college is also a member of the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education.

The graduate program in communication disorders is accredited by the Council on Academic Accreditation of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association, but the program is currently on probation. Find out more in the Graduate Catalog (p. 1294).
The counselor education graduate program is nationally accredited through the Council for the Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP).

The Bachelor of Science in Nursing (B.S.N.) degree program is accredited by the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education. It is also approved by the Arkansas State Board of Nursing.

The M.S. degree program in Rehabilitation Counseling is accredited by the Council on Rehabilitation Education (CORE). Graduates of the accredited program are eligible to sit for the Certified Rehabilitation Counselor (CRC) examination.

The B.S. degree program in Public Health is accredited by the Council on Education for Public Health (CEPH).

The teacher education program of the College of Education and Health Professions is accredited by the Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation (CAEP). This accreditation covers the initial teacher preparation programs and/or advanced educator preparation programs. Because of the accreditation by the Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation, students who complete the curricula as outlined in this catalog are eligible to be recommended for licensure in states that agree to certify graduates who are recommended by the College of Education and Health Professions as having fulfilled its requirements. Students who complete the approved program of study leading to initial licensure are eligible to receive licenses to teach at the grade level or in the fields for which they have made preparation upon application and presentation of acceptable scores on the appropriate Praxis exams. However, students must follow licensure guidelines set forth by the Arkansas Department of Education to be licensed to teach.

Undergraduate students in the college may declare any official academic minor available at the University of Arkansas. Students must notify the Sylvia Hack Boyer Office of Academic Student Initiatives and Services of their intent to pursue a minor. The college, with the assistance of the college offering the minor, will certify that the requirements of the minor have been satisfied. The academic minor will be designated on the student’s official transcript. Requirements for the minor are listed in the catalog under the department offering the minor.

Other Programs

Curricula Offered for Initial Licensure

Nursing Licensure: Completing the minimum requirements for the degree of Bachelor of Science in Nursing will satisfy the academic requirements for licensure as a Registered Professional Nurse. Students must complete all of the requirements set forth by the Arkansas State Board of Nursing to be licensed as a registered nurse. See adviser for details.

Teacher Licensure and Licensure of other School Personnel

The University of Arkansas offers approved undergraduate programs of study for initial licensure in childhood education, career and technical education (business education, family and consumer science, technology education), kinesiology (P-12 physical education), school counseling, special education, speech-language pathology, music and art education, and agriculture education, initial teacher licensure programs in secondary education (English/language arts, drama/speech, social studies, science, mathematics, world language), and childhood education in the Masters of Arts In Teaching (M.A.T.) degree program. The M.A.T. degree program is offered in consecutive summer, fall, and spring semesters with initial enrollment in the summer semester. The M.A.T. is a graduate degree program and requires a minimum of 33 semester hours. The M.A.T. degree program has two areas of emphasis: childhood education and secondary education in drama/speech, English, foreign language, mathematics, science and social studies. Consult the Admissions Process for Initial Teacher Licensure Stages I-III and the Graduate School Catalog for admission and graduation requirements for the M.A.T. degree program. The approved program of study for initial licensure in speech-language pathology is the Master of Science degree in Communication Disorders. Procedures for obtaining licensure parallel those used with M.A.T. graduates. There are some non-M.A.T. licensure programs. See the appropriate sections of this catalog for that information. For bachelor’s degree licensure requirements in career and technical education, music and art education, and some areas of agriculture education, see appropriate sections of this catalog.

The State Board of Education issues the regulations governing the licensure of teachers in Arkansas. The Board specifies minimum cut-off scores for all Praxis exams. Each application for a teacher’s license requires completion of an approved program of study, completion of a state and national background check, and documentation of passing the Praxis exams. Those wishing to add an additional license or endorsement, should contact the Teacher Certification Officer in 338 Graduate Education Building for the approved programs of study or go to the menu “Additional Licensure Plan (http://coehp.uark.edu/licensure.html)” on the college’s website.

University Teacher Education Board
The University Teacher Education Board is composed of the associate deans; faculty representatives from the College of Education and Health Professions; the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences; the Dale Bumpers College of Agricultural, Food and Life Sciences; public school teachers and/or administrators, and students. The functions are to • Govern the teacher education and licensure program.

• Establish general policies and procedures necessary to maintain quality in degree programs.
• Oversee the general coordination of the initial licensure process
• Approve new courses and course changes in individual licensure program.

The Board serves as a liaison for the faculties involved and emphasizes the importance of teacher education as one of the primary responsibilities of the university.

Honors Program
The College of Education and Health Professions (COEHP) Honors Program is designed for students who value and want to be challenged by an exceptional educational experience and intensively focus their studies. The program creates and supports an academic environment of intellectual adventure and provides a carefully integrated and demanding curriculum. The rewards are immense: high academic achievement; involvement in undergraduate research; academic distinction of summa cum laude, magna cum laude, or cum laude and confirmation of an honors degree on the student’s transcript; and recognition at commencement.

The mission of the Honors Program is to: establish and maintain an honors community of learning that is intellectually rigorous, personally and culturally enriching, and fosters learning and discovery through independent and collaborative inquiry; allow students to be creative, inquisitive and innovative; support student research and experiential learning; support student academic ventures through mentoring, travel funding, and research support; provide the opportunity to present work at undergraduate research symposia; challenge students to connect the classroom with the larger world by expanding social and cultural experiences and promoting leadership, and prepare students for admission to and success within graduate and professional schools in the United States and abroad.

Benefits of participating in the Honors Program include: small class sizes, close contact with talented faculty, opportunity for independent study that counts toward the requirements of the Honors Program, special academic counseling and priority registration, increased confidence and skill in writing, honors housing, Latin Honors designation on transcript, enhanced career opportunities, and increased advantages for graduate or professional school applicants.

Admission to the University of Arkansas Honors College assures automatic admission to the COEHP Honors Program for incoming freshmen. The student can apply for admission electronically through the Honors College website (https://honorscollege.uark.edu/apply/). The following are admission criteria for students seeking admission to the COEHP Honors Program:

Entering Freshmen
• 28 ACT or 1310 SAT score (Critical Reading plus Math). Honors admission is based on your highest composite ACT or SAT score, not on superscores.
• 3.5 or greater high school GPA

Students Applying as Continuing or Transfer
(within and outside the University of Arkansas)
• 3.5 or greater cumulative GPA
• Applications from students who are currently on probation in another UA college’s Honors Program will be evaluated following the conclusion of their probationary semester.
• Applications will not be accepted from students who are within three full semesters of anticipated graduation date.

Expectations
At the end of each academic semester, the COEHP Honors Program will review academic records of all enrolled COEHP Honors students. A student’s cumulative GPA must be 3.50 or greater to remain in good standing within the COEHP Honors Program; if the cumulative GPA falls between 3.00 and 3.49, the student will be placed on probation for one academic semester. At that time, the student is strongly encouraged to remove any honors courses from their schedule. At the end of the probationary period if the student’s cumulative GPA is 3.50 or greater, they will be reinstated in good standing within the COEHP Honors Program; if the cumulative GPA is less than 3.50 the student will be removed from the COEHP Honors Program and the student must remove any Honors courses from their schedule. If the student’s cumulative GPA falls below 3.00 at any point, the student will be immediately removed. from the COEHP Honors Program and the student must remove any Honors courses from their schedule.

All COEHP honors students are held to the highest standard with regard to academic achievement and academic integrity. Students violating the Academic Integrity Policy that receive a sanction of 1.0 or greater at the University of Arkansas will be permanently removed from the COEHP Honors Program without the ability to reapply. The student may appeal the decision to the University's Academic Integrity Board; if the sanction is overturned and removed, the student will be reinstated into the COEHP Honors Program.

Honors Degrees

The College of Education and Health Professions is dedicated to providing programs designed to meet the Honors student's needs. To achieve this aim, the college faculty has developed the COEHP Honors Program — an honors program for students of superior academic talent. Students successfully completing the COEHP Honors Program will receive the following academic accolades:

- GPA of 3.9 or greater – summa cum laude
- GPA of 3.7 or greater – magna cum laude
- GPA of 3.5 or greater – cum laude

Requirements for COEHP Honors Program: Requirements for the COEHP Honors Program include meeting all university, COEHP, and department degree requirements. Additionally, students must maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.5, complete a minimum of 18 credit hours of honors courses, and complete and defend an honors thesis/project. Of the 18 honors credit hours, a minimum of 10 must be completed within the student's program of study (except in situations as described in the following paragraphs), including the Honors Tutorial (3901H) and 3 hours of Honors Thesis (498VH), which may be split across multiple semesters.

Nursing students shall complete NURS 3842H in place of the Honors Tutorial (3901H). Non-nursing students who choose to complete their Honors thesis/project with a nursing faculty mentor shall also complete NURS 3842H in place of the Honors Tutorial (3901H). A nursing student who is completing their Honors thesis/project with a faculty mentor outside of their major or outside of COEHP shall complete NURS 3842H, but will still be required to complete 4 hours of thesis courses in their mentor’s home department/program.

For Exercise Science students, Honors Research Methods in Exercise Science (EXSC 3723H) may be substituted for the Honors Tutorial (3901H)

Students who wish to complete the Honors thesis/project with a COEHP faculty mentor outside of their major should enroll in the Honors Tutorial and Honors Thesis courses that correspond with the faculty member’s department/program; these hours shall be counted toward the 10 hour requirement. Students who wish to complete the Honors thesis/project with a non-COEHP faculty mentor should accumulate a minimum of 4 hours of Honors research/independent study courses that correspond with the faculty mentor’s department/program; these hours shall be counted toward the 10 hour requirement.

Honors courses must be completed in residence at the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville campus in order to satisfy the required 18 honors credits to receive the COEHP Honors distinction. Any honors credits awarded based on AP/IB results shall not be used to fulfill this requirement. Transfer students from other four-year institutions may initiate an appeal with the COEHP Honors Council if they wish to have transfer Honors credit satisfy part of the 18 hour requirement.

For more information about the COEHP Honors Program or to complete an application form, please visit coehphonors.uark.edu (https://coehphonors.uark.edu).

Courses

EDHP 1001. Freshman Seminar. 1 Hour.
The course is designed to support and assist freshmen in becoming successful, self-directed learners. Focus will be upon campus resources to help learners accomplish this goal and upon strategies for successful learning. The course will meet twice a week for the first eight weeks. Students will receive one hour of ungraded credit or a grade of F. (Typically offered: Fall)

EDHP 1600. Undergraduate Research Assistant. 0 Hours.
Undergraduate research. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

EDHP 2600. Undergraduate Research Assistant. 0 Hours.
Undergraduate research. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

The program in Career and Technical Education offers a degree program leading to a Bachelor of Science in Education for the preparation of teachers, supervisors, and administrators in career and technical education. Students must choose one of three concentrations, each of which leads to teacher licensure:

- The concentration in Business Education offers on-campus students the chance to become effective educators and communicators as they learn to teach the latest computer technologies and subject matter focused on the core areas of business. The concentration provides rigorous and intellectually stimulating programs that offer students a broad variety of professional careers in business education and technology.

- The concentration in Family and Consumer Sciences Education offers on-campus students the ability to learn critical and creative thinking skills through a variety of courses including parenting and human development; family studies; nutrition and foods; textiles and apparel production; and housing and design. The diverse curriculum offers studies that mirror real life, enabling students in this concentration to develop both personal and professional skills.
- The concentration in Technology Education prepares students to teach technology, pre-engineering, or other technical subject matter at the high school, middle-level, or community college. Additionally, the program prepares students to enter mid-level technical/management careers in business and industry.

Admission to the B.S.E. in Career and Technical Education is competitive and admission will be determined by the Career and Education faculty based on the items listed with the concentration requirements. Students seeking admission to the Career and Technical Education program at the University of Arkansas must be aware of the deadlines and admissions policies. These deadlines and limitations are designed to ensure that all students have a high quality experience.

The University of Arkansas program in career and technical education has been approved by the State Board for Career and Technical Education for the preparation of teachers, supervisors, and administrators in career and technical education.

Requirements for B.S.E. in Career and Technical Education with Business Education Concentration

Stage I: Pre-Admission

1. Obtain a GPA of 2.7 or better on UA coursework.
2. Complete technical courses with a grade of 'C' or better.
3. Complete pre-education core courses with a grade of 'C' or better.
4. Obtain a passing score on the Math, Reading, and Writing sections of the Praxis Core or ACT as defined by the Arkansas Department of Education.
5. Complete CATE 3103 during the fall semester of the sophomore year.

Stage II: Admission to the CATE Program

Admission to the Career and Technical Education (CATE) program occurs the semester after that the candidate has completed CATE 3103 Introduction to Professionalism.

The application process includes:

1. Submission of the application to teacher education through the university-wide Teacher Education Office (see the Teacher Education Application Fee) during spring semester of sophomore year. This includes:
   - Completing and passing the criminal background check
   - Passing the Praxis I core academic subjects test by meeting or exceeding the Arkansas Department of Education cut-off scores. This test should be taken upon completion of ENGL 1013 (http://catalog.uark.edu/search/?P=ENGL%201013), and required math for each CATE concentration area.

   2. Submission of the CATE application.
   3. Oral interview with CATE faculty.
   4. Submission of writing sample.

   *Note: Another background check will be required prior to graduation in order to be eligible for licensure.

Stage III: Requirements for Program Continuation

1. Maintain a cumulative GPA of 2.7 or better.
2. Complete or present proof of registration for the Praxis II Content exam required by the Arkansas Department of Education Licensure area.
3. All professional education courses must have a grade of 'C' or better. No teaching methods courses may be taken as self-paced (correspondence).

Admission Requirements for Internship Semester (Spring, Senior Year)

All students in the Career and Technology Education program must complete the following requirements before being admitted to the spring semester of their senior year.

General Requirements

1. Students must complete the application to teacher education through the Teacher Education Office (see the Teacher Education Application Fee) during spring semester of sophomore year. This includes completing and passing the criminal background check, and also passing the Praxis I core academic subjects test by meeting or exceeding the Arkansas Department of Education cut-off scores. This test should be taken upon completion of ENGL 1013, and required math for each concentration.
2. All professional education courses must have a grade of 'C' or better. No teaching methods courses may be taken as self-paced (correspondence) courses. CATE 3103, CATE 4013, CATE 4023, and CATE 4033 are fall-only courses. CATE 4052 and CATE 406X are spring-only courses. All technical courses must be completed prior to the student teaching semester.
3. Earn a cumulative GPA of 2.70 or better by the end of the fall semester, senior year. Students are not permitted to student teach if the GPA requirement is not met.
4. Students must have passed Praxis II: Content Knowledge to be admitted to the spring semester, senior year.
5. Candidate must complete a successful ‘internship admission interview’ with Career and Technical Education faculty. Note these interviews are scheduled with all senior students during the fall semester.
6. Satisfactorily complete the internship/student teaching experience at a school/district in Benton or Washington County that has been approved by the Field Experience Coordinator.

All students seeking licensure in the State of Arkansas are subject to a criminal background check. Background checks can take up to six months to process; therefore, students are advised to complete and submit the forms to the proper authorities at least six months in advance of graduation (or six months prior to applying for a teaching license). Arkansas will not grant a teaching license to anyone who has been convicted of a felony.
All CATE program courses must have a grade of “C” or better. No teaching methods courses may be taken as self-paced (correspondence) courses.

1 Core areas must be completed as outlined in Catalog of Studies, see the University Core Requirements (http://catalog.uark.edu/undergraduatemcatalog/academicregulations/universitycore/).

Requirements for B.S.E. in Career and Technical Education with Technology Education Concentration

Stage I: Pre-Admission

1. Obtain a GPA of 2.7 or better on UA coursework.
2. Complete technical courses with a grade of ‘C’ or better.
3. Complete pre-education core courses with a grade of ‘C’ or better.
4. Obtain a passing score on the Math, Reading, and Writing sections of the Praxis Core or ACT as defined by the Arkansas Department of Education.
5. Complete CATE 3103 during the fall semester of the sophomore year.

Stage II: Admission to the CATE Program

Admission to the Career and Technical Education (CATE) program occurs the semester after that the candidate has completed CATE 3103 Introduction to Professionalism.

The application process includes:

1. Submission of the application to teacher education through the university-wide Teacher Education Office (see the Teacher Education Application Fee) during spring semester of sophomore year. This includes completing and passing the criminal background check, and also passing the Praxis I core academic subjects test by meeting or exceeding the Arkansas Department of Education cut-off scores. This test should be taken upon completion of ENGL 1013, and required math for each CATE concentration area.

2. Submission of the CATE application.

3. Oral interview with CATE faculty.

4. Submission of writing sample.

*Note: Another background check will be required prior to graduation in order to be eligible for licensure.

Stage III: Requirements for Program Continuation

1. Maintain a cumulative GPA of 2.7 or better.
2. Complete or present proof of registration for the Praxis II Content exam required by the Arkansas Department of Education Licensure area.
3. All professional education courses must have a grade ‘C’ or better. No teaching methods courses may be taken as self-paced (correspondence).

Admission Requirements for Internship Semester (Spring, Senior Year)

All students in the Career and Technology Education program must complete the following requirements before being admitted to the spring semester of their senior year.

1. All professional education courses must have grade ‘C’ or better to award degree credit.

Internship Semester (Spring Semester/Senior Year) Admission Criteria:

1. Candidate must hold a cumulative GPA of 2.70 or higher.
2. Candidate must have completed the application to teacher education through the Teacher Education Office (see the Teacher Education Application Fee (p. 72)) during spring semester of sophomore year. This includes passing the Praxis Core exam and successfully completing the required criminal background check.
3. Candidate must have taken and passed the Praxis II content examination during the previous semester or earlier.
4. Candidate must complete a successful “Internship admission interview” with Career & Technical Education faculty. Note these interviews are scheduled with all senior students during the fall semester.

Note: All students seeking licensure in the State of Arkansas are subject to a criminal background check. Forms needed to complete this procedure may be obtained in 340 Graduate Education Building on the University of Arkansas campus. These forms may also be obtained from any police station (including the University of Arkansas Police station) or directly from the Arkansas State Department. These background checks take up to six months to process; therefore, students are advised to complete and submit the forms to the proper authorities at least six months in advance of graduation (or six months prior to applying for a teaching license). Arkansas will not grant a teaching license to anyone who has been convicted of a felony.
