GIVING AND SUPPORT

Our musical offerings are supported by contributions from alumni, friends, and generous benefactors. If you enjoy our concerts, please consider giving to support our continued efforts. Giving is simple and can be made through the University system by visiting www.onlinegiving.uark.edu. Simply designate the Department of Music for your gift, choose an amount, and fill out the online submission or call Blake Rickman with Fulbright Development at (479) 575-4272. Your gifts will help the Department better our students through scholarships, performance, and the best in instruction.

The University of Arkansas, Department of Music is housed in the George and Boyce Billingsley Music Building and is accredited by the National Association of Schools of Music. Home to over 300 music students and fifty faculty members, we offer a variety of degree programs at the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Through generous support from alumni and friends, the Department of Music became an All-Steinway School in 2010. The University of Arkansas is the third SEC school to gain the distinction and one of only 150 universities worldwide with the honor.

With the completion of the 600-seat Faulkner Performing Arts Center, the University of Arkansas added a world class performance venue. The Department recital hall, Stella Boyle Smith Concert Hall, is located in the Fine Arts Building, adjacent to the Music Building. The 200-seat Concert Hall offers an intimate setting for chamber and solo recitals. The Department produces more than 300 concerts annually, on and off campus.

All compositions by Jake Hertzog

Tonight's program is a tribute to free jazz, in the way it was conceived by the great Ornette Coleman, that is, "free" as a verb, not a noun. "Free Jazz" means jazz that is unbound by restrictions of form, harmony, melody, tempo, and tradition. These compositions are written in the spirit of Ornette's love of melody and conviction to ask questions about the nature of sound and music. The use of two basses stems from a typical question — "why is there only one bass player?" — and we are lucky tonight to be joined by Garrett Jones and the extra sonics that another musician can bring to the group.

The Chromatosphere is the harmonic plane on which all pitched music exists, and I see free jazz and non-tonal playing as occupying a special place on the Chromatosphere. There are a few selections tonight that combine chromatic and free playing, because the rich colors of the former are in stark contrast to the flashes of color in the later. "Free" is not the absence of harmonic color, but rather the absence of rules deciding those colors in advance.

The chance to play free is to rediscover a child's approach to the music—so next time you grab your instrument, close your eyes, let go of restrictions and what you know, free jazz!
